1. Eſdr. 9. 1 E Ezra roſe vp from before the houſe of God, and went into the chamber of Iohanen the ſonne of Eliſhib: he went euen thither, but he did eate neither bread, nor drinke water: for he mourned becauſe of the tranſgreſſion of them of the captivity.

11 Now therefore giue praiſe vnto the Lord God of your fathers, and doe his will, and ſeparate your ſelues from the people of the land, and from the ſtrange wives.

12 And all the Congregation answered, and ſayd with a loud voyce, So will we doe according to thy words vnto vs.

13 But the people are many, and it is a rainy weather, and we are not able to ſtand without either 12 the work of one day or two: for we are many that haue offered in this thing.

14 Let our rulers ſtand therefore before all the Congregation, and let all them which haue taken ſtrange wives in our cities, come at the time appointed, and with them the Elders of euery city, and the Iudges thereof, till the fierce wrath of our God for this matter taine away from vs.

NEHEMIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

God death in all ages and at all times set up worthy persons for the commoditie and profite of his Church, as now within the compass of twenty yeeres hee raised up divers excellent men for the preservation of his people after their returne from Babylon, as Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah. Whereof the first was their Captaine to bring them home, and provide that the Temple was builded: the second reformed their manners, and pleased religion: and the third builded up the walls, delivered the people from oppression, and provided that the Law of God was put in execution among them. Hee was a godly man and in great authority with the king, so that the king favoured him greatly, and gave him most ample letters for the accomplishment of all things which he could desire. This booke is also called of the Latines the second of Ezra, because he was the writer thereof.

CHAP. I.

4 Nehemiah bewaileth the calamity of Ierusalem.
 5 Hee confesseth the finnes of the people, and prayeth
 God for them.

He wordes of Nehemiah the sonne of Hachaliah. In the month Chisleu, in the twentieth yere, as I was in the palace of Shushan,

3 Came Hanani one of my brethren, hee and the men of Iudah, and I asked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.

3 And they said vnto mee, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the prouince, are in great affliction, & in reproch, and the wall of Ierusalem is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I heard these wordes, I fate downe and wept, and mourned certaine dayes, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen,

5 And sayd, O Lord God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth covenant and mercy for them that loue him, and obserue his commandements.

6 I pray thee let thine eares be attent, and thine eyes open to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee daily, day and night for the children of Israel thy seruants, and confesse the finnes of the children of Israel, which we haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned:

7 We haue grievously sinned against thee, and haue not kept the commandements, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements, which thou commaundest thy seruant Moses.

8 I beseech thee, remember the word that thou commaundest thy seruant Moses, saying, Yee will transgresse, and I will scatter you abroad among the people.

9 But if yee turne vnto me and keepe my com-mandements, and doe them, though your scattering were to the vttermost part of the heauen, yet wil I gather you from thence, and wil bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen, to place my Name there.

10 Now these are thy seruants and thy people, whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power and by thy mighty hand.

11 O Lord, I beseech thee, let thine eare nowe hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, & to the prayer of thy seruants, who desire to feare thy Name, and I pray thee cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of this man: for I was the kings butler.

CHAP. II.

1 After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Ari-xerxes, 11 hee came to Ierusalem, 17 and builded the wall.

Nowe in the moonth Nisan, in the twentieth yeere of king Artahastate, the wine flood before him, and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the king. Now I was not beforetime sad in his presence.

2 And the king said vnto me, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sick? this is nothing but sorow of heart. Then was I fore afraid,

3 And I said to the king, God fane the king for euer: why should not my countenance be sad, when the city and house of the sepulchres of my fathers li-eth waste, and the gates thereof are decouered with fire?

4 And the King sayd vnto mee, For what thing doest thou require? Then I prayed to the God of heauen,

5 And sayd vnto the King, If it please the King, and if thy seruant haue found fauour in thy sight,
 I desire that thou wouldest send mee to Iudah vnto the cite of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it.

6 And the King sayd vnto mee (the Queene also sitting by him) How long shall thy iourney be? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the king, and he sent me, and I set him a time.

7 After, I said vnto the king, If it please the king, let them giue me letters to the captains beyond the River, that they may conuey mee ouer, till I come into Iudah,

8 And letters vnto Asaph the keeper of the kings park, that he may giue mee timber to builde the gates of the palace (which appertained to the house) and for the walls of the cite, and for the house that I shall enter into. And the king gaue me according to the good hand of my God vpon me.

9 Then came I to the captains beyond the river.

time, and gave them the Kings letters. And the King had sent captains of the army, and horsemen with me.

10 But Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah a servant an Ammonite heard it, & it grieved them sore, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Ierusalem, and was there three days.

12 And I slept in the night, I, and a few men with mee: for I told no man what God had put in mine heart to doe at Ierusalem, and there was not a beast with me, save the beast whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came before the dragon well and to the dung port, and viewed the walls of Ierusalem, how they were broken downe, and the ports thereof desoured with the fire.

dus.

14 Then I went forth vnto the gate of the fountaine, vnto the Kings fishpoule, and there was no roume for the beast that was vnder me to passe.

15 Then went I vp in the night by the brooke, and viewed the wall, and turned backe, and coming backe, I entered by the gate of the valley, and returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tell it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priests, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterward I sayd vnto them, Ye see the misery that wee are in, how Ierusalem lieth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs build the wall of Ierusalem, that we be no more a reproch.

18 Then I tolde them of the hand of my God, (which was good ouer mee) and also of the Kings wordes that he had spoken vnto me. And they said, Let vs rise and build. So they strengthened their hand to good.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the servant an Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs, and despised vs, and said, What a thing is this that ye do? Will ye rebel against the King?

20 Then answered I them, and said to them, The God of heauen he will prosper vs, & we: his seruants will rise vp and build: but as for you, yee haue no portion, nor right, nor memorial in Ierusalem.

CHAP. III.

The number of them that builded the wall.

Then arose Eliashib the hie Priest with his brethren the Priests, & they built the sheepe gate: they repaired it, and set vp the dores thereof: euen vnto the tower of Meah repaired they it, and vnto the tower of Hananeel.

2 And next vnto him builded the men of Iericho, and briside him Zaccur the sonne of Imri.

3 But the fifth port did the sons of Senaah build, which also layd the beames thereof, and set on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

5 And next vnto them fortified the Tekoites: but the great men of them put not their neckes to the worke of their lords.

6 And the gate of the old fishpoule fortified Iehoiada the sonne of Paseah, & Melchullam the sonne of Besodaiah: they laid the beames thereof, and set on the dores thereof, and the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

7 Next vnto them also fortified Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Iadon the Meronothite, men of Gibeon and of Mizpah, vnto the charne of the duke, which was beyond the river.

10r, men

12 Next vnto him also fortified Shallam the son of Halloeth, the ruler of the halfe part of Ierusalem, he and his daughters.

13 The valley gate fortified Hannan and the inhabitants of Zannah: they built it, and set on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, euen a thousand cubites on the wall vnto the dung port.

14 But the dung port fortified Malchiah the son of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth part of Beth-hacarem: he built it, and set on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof.

15 But the gate of the fountaine fortified Shallam the sonne of Col-hozeh, the ruler of the fourth part of Mizpah: he builded it, and covered it, and set on the dores thereof, the lockes thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall vnto the fishpoule of Ieliah by the kings garden, and vnto the steps that go downe from the city of David.

10r, Silas

16 After him fortified Nehemiah the son of Azbuk, the ruler of the halfe part of Beth-zur vntil the other side ouer against the sepulchres of David and to the fishpoule that was repaired, & vnto the house of the mighty.

17 After him fortified the Leuites, Rehun the son of Bani, and next vnto him fortified Habbabiah the ruler of the halfe part of Keilah in his quarter.

18 After him fortified their brethren, Banai the son of Hanadad, ruler of the halfe part of Keilah.

19 And next vnto him fortified Ezer the son of Iehua the ruler of Mizpah, the other portion ouer against the going vp to the corner of the armour.

20 After him was earnest Baruch, the sonne of Zaccari, and fortified another portion from the corner vnto the dore of the house of Eliashub the high Priest.

21 After him fortified Merimoth, the sonne of Urijah, the sonne of Hakkoz, another portion from the dore of the house of Eliashub, euen as long as the house of Eliashub extended.

22 After him also fortified the Priests, the men of the plaine.

23 After them fortified Benjamin, and Hashub ouer against their house: after him fortified Azariah the sonne of Maasiah, the sonne of Ananiah by his house.

24 After him fortified Binnui the sonne of Henadad another portion from the house of Azariah vnto the turning, and vnto the corner.

25 Palal the sonne of Uzai from ouer against the corner, and the high tower that lieth out from the kings house, which is beside the court of the prison. After him Pedaiah the sonne of Parosh.

26 And the Netinims they dwelt in the fortresse vnto the place ouer against the water gate Eastward, and to the tower that lieth out.

27 After him fortified the Tekoites another portion ouer against the great tower, that lieth out, euen vnto the wall of the fortresse.

28 From aboue the hedge gate Iohn fortified the Priests, euey one ouer against his house.

29 After them fortified Zadok the sonne of Immer ouer against his house: and after him fortified Shemaiah, the sonne of Shechaniah the keeper of the East gate.

30 After him fortified Hananiah the sonne of Shelemiah, and Hanan the sonne of Zalaph, the sext, another portion: after him fortified Melchiam the son of Berechiah, ouer against his chamber.

31 After him fortified Malchiah the goldsmiths sonne, vntill the house of the Netinims, and of the merchants ouer against the gate Miphkad, and to the chamber in the corner.

32 And betwene the chamber of the corner vnto the sheepe gate, fortified the goldsmiths and the merchants.

CHAP. IIIII.

7 The building of Ierusalem is hundred, 15 But God breaketh their enterprise. 17 The Iewes build with one hand, and hold their weapons in the other.

BVt when Sanballat heard that wee builded the wall, then was hee wroth and sore grieved, and mocked the Iewes.

2 And said before his brethren and the army of Samaria, thus he said, What do these weake Iewes? will they fortifie themselves? will they sacrifice? will they smite it in a day? will they make these stoues whole againe out of the heapes of dust, seeing they are burnt?

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they build, yet if a foxe govp, he shall euen breake downe their stony wall.

4 Heare O our God (for wee are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a pray in the land of their captivity.

5 And couer not their iniquity, neither let their sinne be put out in thy preface: for they haue provoked vs before the builders.

6 So wee build the wall, and all the wall was ioyned vnto the halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

7 ¶ But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodims heard that the wals of Ierusalem were repaired (for the breaches began to bee stopped) then they were very wroth,

8 And conspired all together to come & to fight against Ierusalem, and to f hinder them.

9 Then we prayed vnto our God, and set watchmen by them day and night, because of them.

10 And Iudah said, The strength of the beastes is weakened, and there is much earth, so that wee are not able to build the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had said, They shall not know, neither see, till we come into the mids of them and slay them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Iewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they tolde vs ten times, From all places whence ye shall returne, they will be vpon vs.

13 Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall vpon the tops of the stoues, and placed the people by their families, with their swords, their speares and their bowes.

14 Then I beheld, and resee vp, and sayd vnto the princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not afraid of them: remember the great Lord, and learefull, and fight for your brethren, your sonnes, and your daughters, your wiues, and your houses.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowne vnto vs, then God brought their counsell to nought, and we turned all againe to the wall, euey one vnto his worke.

16 And from that day halfe of the young men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them helde the speares and shields, and bowes, and habergins: and the rulers stood behinde all the house of Iudah.

17 They that builded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, & they that laded, did the work with one hand, and with the other held the sword.

18 For euey one of the builders had his sword girt on his loynes, and so builded: and hee that blew the trumpet, was beside me.

19 Then said I vnto the princes, & to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therfore ye heare the sound of the trumpet, resort ye thither vnto vs: our God shall fight for vs.

21 So we laboured in the work, & halfe of them held the speares, from the appearing of the morning, till the starres came forth.

22 And at the same time said I vnto the people, Let euey one with his seruant lodge within Ierusalem, that they may bee a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

23 So neither I nor my brethren, nor my seruants, nor the men of the ward which followed mee, none of vs did put off our clothes, for euey one put them off for wishing.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppressed and necessitous. 6 Nehemiah remedies it. 14 Hee took not the portion of others that had ruled before, lest he should grieue the people.

NOW there was a great cry of the people, and of their wiues, against their brethren the Iewes.

2 For there were that said, Wee, our sonnes and our daughters are many, therefore we take vp come, that we may eat and liue.

3 And there were that said, We must gage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houses, and take vp come for the familie.

4 There were also that said, We haue borrowed money for the kings tribute vpon our lands and our vineyards.

5 And now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren, and our sonnes as their sonnes, & loe, we bring into subiection our sonnes and our daughters, as seruants, and there bee of our daughters now in subiection, and there is no power in our hands: for other men haue our lands and our vineyards.

6 Then was I very angry, when I heard their crye and these wordes.

7 And I thought in my mind, and I rebuked the princes and the rulers, and sayd vnto them, You lay burdens euey one vpon his brethren: and I set a great assembly against them.

8 And I sayd vnto them, Wee (according to our abilitie) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe, or shall they bee solde vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not answere.

12. They said they, We will restore it, and will not require it of them: wee will doe as thou hast said. Then I called the Priests, and caused them to sweare, that they should doe according to this promise.

13. So Iooke my lap, and said, So let God shake out euery man that will not performe this promise from his house, and from his labour, even thus let him be shaken out and emptied. And all the congregation said, Amen, and praised the Lord: and the people did according to this promise.

14. And from the time that the King gaue mee charge to be gouernour in the land of Iudah from the twentieth yeece, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yere of King Artahsalhite, that is twelue yere, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the bread of the gouernour.

15. For the former gouernours that were before me, had been chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, besides fourtie shekels of silver: yea, and their seruants bare rule ouer the people: but so did not I, because of the feare of God.

16. But rather I fortified a periss in the worke of this wall, and wee bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17. Morouer, there were at my table an hundred and fiftie of the Iewes and rulers, which came vnto vs, from among the heathen that are about vs.

18. And there was prepared daily an ox, & sixe chohen sheepe, and birds were prepared for me, and I within ten daies wine for all in abundance, Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grievous vnto this people.

AND when Sanballat and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, and that there were no more breaches therein (though at that time I had not set vp the doores vpon the gates)

2. Then ent Sanballat and Geshem vnto mee, saying, Come thou, that we may meete together in the villages in the plaine of Ono: and they thought to doe me enill.

3. Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to doe, and I cannot come downe: why should the worke cease, while I leaue it, and come downe to you?

4. Yet they sent vnto me foure times after this sort. And I answered them after the same manner.

5. Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto mee the fift time, with an open letter in his hand.

6. Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and I Gashmu hath said it, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebel, for the which cause thou buildest the wall, and thou wilt be their king according to these words.

7. Thou hast also ordained the Prophets to preach of thee at Ierusalem, saying, There is a king in Iudah: and now according to these words it shall come to the kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

8. Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these words that thou sayest for thou faintest them of thine owne heart.

9. For all they asayed vs, saying, Their hands shall be weakened from the worke, and it shall not be done: now therefore encourage thou me.

10. And I came to the house of Shemaiah the sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Mehetabeel, and hee shew me some of Delaiah he said, Let vs come together into the house of God in the middle of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple: for they will come to slay thee: yea, in the night will they come to kill thee.

11. Then I said, Should such a man as I flee? Who is he, being as I am, that would goe into the Temple to lye? I will not goe in.

12. And so, I perceived that God had not sent him, but that he pronounced this prophesie against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13. Therefore was he hired, that I might be afraid and doe thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euill report that they might reproch me.

14. My God, remember thou Tobiah and Sanballat according vnto these their works, and Neodiah the Prophetesse also, and the rest of the Prophets that would haue put me in feare.

15. Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the five and twentieth day of Elul in two and fiftie dayes.

16. And when all our enemies heard thereof, euen all the heathen that were about vs, they were afraid, and their courage failed them: for they knew that this worke was wrought by our God.

17. And in these dayes were there many of the princes of Iudah, whose letters went vnto Tobiah, and those of Tobiah came vnto them.

18. For there were many in Iudah, that were sworn vnto him: for he was the sonne in lawe of Shechaniah the sonne of Arah: and his sonne Iehonathan had the daughter of Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah.

19. Yea, they spake in his praise before me, and told him my words, and Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

CHAP. VII.

1. After the wall once builded, is the watch appointed. 6. They that returned from the captiuitie are numbered.

NOW when the wall was builded, and I had set vp the doores, and the porters, and the singers, and the Levites were appointed.

2. Then I commanded my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the prince of the palace in Ierusalem (for he was doubtlesse a faithfull man, and feared God aboue many)

3. And I said vnto them, Let not the gates of Ierusalem be opened, vntill the heat of the Sunne: and while they stand by, let them shut the doores, and make them fast: and I appointed wardes of the inhabitants of Ierusalem euery one in his ward, and euery one ouer against his house.

37 After him fortified the Tekoites another portion ouer against the great tower, that lieth ouer, ouer vnto the wall of the fortresse.

38 From aboute the horsegate fourth fortified the Priests, euery one ouer against his house.

39 After them fortified Zadok the sonne of Immer ouer against his house: and after him fortified Sheaniah, the sonne of Shechaniah the keeper of the East gate.

40 After him fortified Hananiah the sonne of Shelemiah, and Haman the sonne of Zalaph, the sixth, another portion: after him fortified Melchiam the son of Berechiah, ouer against his chamber.

41 After him fortified Malchiah the goldsmiths sonne, vntill the house of the Nethinims, and of the merchants ouer against the gate Miphkad, and to the chamber in the corner.

42 And betwene the chamber of the corner vnto the sheepe gate, fortified the goldsmiths and the merchants.

CHAP. IIIII.

7 The building of Ierusalem is hindered. 15 But God breaketh their enterprise. 17 The Lewes build with one hand, and hold their weapons in the other.

BYc when Sanballat heard that wee builded the wall, then was hee wroth and sore grieved, and mocked the Lewes,

8 And said before his brethren and the army of Samaria, thus he said, What do these weake Lewes? will they fortifie themselves? will they sacrifice? will they finish it in a day? will they make these stoues whole againe out of the heapes of dust, seeing they are burnt?

9 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they build, yet if a foxe govp, he shall euen breake downe their stony wall.

10 Heare O our God, (for we are despised) and turne their shame vpon their owne head, and giue them vnto a pray in the land of their captivity.

11 And couer not their iniquity, neither let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for they haue provoked vs before the builders.

12 So wee built the wall, and all the wall was ioyned vnto the halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

13 ¶ But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodims heard that the wals of Ierusalem were repaired (for the breaches began to bee stopped) then they were very wroth, 14 And conspired all together to come & to fight against Ierusalem, and to hinder them.

15 Then we prayed vnto our God, and set watchmen by them day and night, because of them.

16 And Imda said, The strength of the bearers is weakened, and there is much earth, so that wee are not able to build the wall.

17 Also our aduersaries had said, They shall not know, neither see, till we come into the mids of them, and slay them, and cause the worke to cease.

18 But when the Lewes (which dwelt beside them) came, they tolde vs ten times, From all places whence ye shall returne, they will be vpon vs.

19 Therefore set I in the lower places behind the wall vpon the tops of the stoues, and placed the people by their families, with their swords, their speares and their bowes.

20 Then I beheld, and rose vp, and said vnto the princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not afraid of them: remember the great Lord, and fearefull, and fight for your brethren, your sonnes, and your daughters, your wives, and your houses.

21 And when our enemies heard that it was knowne vnto vs, then God brought their counsell to nought, and we turned all againe to the wall, euery one vnto his worke.

22 And from that day halfe of the young men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them helde the speares and shields, and bowes, and habergeines: and the rulers stood behinde all the house of Iudah.

23 They that builded on the wall, and they that bare burdens, & they that laded, did the worke with one hand, and with the other held the sword.

24 For euery one of the builders had his sword girt on his loynes, and so builded: and hee that blew the trumpet, was beside me.

25 Then said I vnto the princes, & to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

26 In what place therfore ye heare the sound of the trumpet, resort ye thither vnto vs: our God shall fight for vs.

27 So we laboured in the worke, & halfe of them held the speares, from the appearing of the morning, till the starrs came forth.

28 And at the same time said I vnto the people, Let euery one with his seruant lodge within Ierusalem, that they may bee a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

29 So neither I nor my brethren, nor my seruants, nor the men of the ward which followed mee, none of vs did put off our clothes, I saw euery one put them off for wishing.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppressed and necessitous. 6 Nehemiah remedies it. 14 He took not the portion of others that had ruled before, lest he should grieve the people.

NOW there was a great cry of the people, and of their wives, against their brethren the Lewes.

2 For there were that said, Wee, our sonnes and our daughters are many, therefore we take vp corne, that we may eat and liue.

3 And there were that said, We must gage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houses, and take vp corne for the famine.

4 There were also that said, We haue borrowed money for the kings tribute vpon our lands and our vineyards.

5 And now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren, and our sonnes as their sonnes, & loe, we bring into subiection our sonnes and our daughters, as seruants, and there bee of our daughters now in subiection, and there is no power in our hands: for other men haue our lands and our vineyards.

6 Then was I very angry, when I heard their crie and these wordes.

7 And I thought in my mind, and I rebuked the princes and the rulers, and said vnto them, You lay burdens euery one vpon his brethren: and I set a great assembly against them.

8 And I said vnto them, Wee (according to our ability) haue redeemed our brethren the Lewes, which were solde vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe, or shall they bee solde vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not answer.

9 I said also, That which ye doe, is not good.

11 Restore, I pray you, vnto them this day their lands, their vineyards, their olmes, and their houses: and remit the hundred part of the silver, and of the corne, of the wine, and of the oyle that ye exact of them.

12 They said they, We will restore it, and will not require it of them: wee will doe as thou hast said. Then I tolled the Priests, and caused them to swear, that they should doe according to this promise.

13 So I shooke my lap, and said, So let God shake out every man that will not performe this promise from his house, and from his labour, even thus let him be shaken out and crapiied. And all the congregation said, Amen, and praised the Lord: and the people did according to this promise.

14 And from the time that the King gaue mee charge to be gouernour in the land of Iudah from the twentieth yere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yere of king Artaxerxes, that is twelue yere, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the bread of the gouernour.

15 For the former gouernours that were before me, had been chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, besides fourtie shekels of silver: yea, and their seruants bare rule ouer the people: but I did not I, because of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and wee bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Morouer, there were at my table an hundred and fiftie of the Iewes and rulers, which came vnto vs, from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared daily an ox, & sixe chofen sheepe, and birds were prepared for me, and I within ten daies wine for all in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

19 Remember me, O my God, in goodnesse, according to all that I haue done for this people.

C H A P. VI.

8 Note what answereth with great wisdom and reule to an adversary. 11 Hee was discouraged by the false prophets.

AND when Sanballat and Tobiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, and that there were no moe breaches therein (though at that time I had not set vp the doores vpon the gates)

2 Then ent Sanballat and Geshem vnto mee, saying, Come thou, that we may meeete together in the villages in the plaine of Ono: and they thought to doe me euill.

3 Therefore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to doe, and I cannot come downe: why should the worke cease, whiles I leave it, and come downe to you?

4 Yet thev sent vnto me foure times after this sort, And I answered them after the same manner.

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto mee the fift time, with an open letter in his hand.

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathens, and [Gashmu hath said it, that thou and the Iewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buildest the wall, and thou wilt be their king according to these words.

7 Thou hast also ordained the Prophets to preach of thee at Ierusalem, saying, There is a king in Iudah: and now according to their words it shall come to the kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these words that thou sayest for thou faintest them of thine owne heart.

9 For all they afayed vs, saying, Their hands shall be weakened from the worke, and it shall not be done: now therefore I encourage thou me.

10 And I came to the house of Sheaniah the sonne of Delaiah the sonne of Mehetabel, and hee then mine hand.

11 And he said, Let vs come together into the house of God in the middell of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple: for they will come to slay thee: yea, in the night will they come to kill thee.

12 Then I said, Should such a man as I flee? Who is he, being as I am, that would goe into the Temple to line? I will not goe in.

13 And he perceived that God had not sent him, but that he pronounced this prophesie against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

14 Therefore was he hired, that I might be afraid and doe thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euill report that they might reproch me.

15 My God, remember thou Tobiah and Sanballat according vnto these their works, and Nehemiah the Prophets also, and the rest of the Prophets that would haue put me in feare.

16 ¶ Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the five and twentieth day of Elul in two and fiftie dayes.

17 And when all our enemies heard thereof, euen all the heathen that were about vs, they were afraide, and their courage failed them: for they knew that this worke was wrought by our God.

18 And in these dayes were there many of the princes of Iudah, whose letters went vnto Tobiah, and chose of Tobiah came vnto them.

19 For there were many in Iudah, that were sworn vnto him: for he was the sonne in lawe of Shechaniah the sonne of Arah: and his sonne Iehonathan had the daughter of Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah.

20 Yea, they spake in his praise before me, and told him my words, and Tobiah sent letters to put me in feare.

Now when the wall was builded, and I had set vp the doores, and the porters, and the singers, and the Leuites were appointed.

2 Then I commanded my brother Hanani, and Hananiah the prince of the palace in Ierusalem (for he was doubtlesse a faithfull man, and feared God aboue many)

3 And I said vnto them, Let not the gates of Ierusalem be opened, vntill the heat of the Sunne: and while they stand by, let them shut the doores, and make them fast: and I appointed wardes of the inhabitants of Ierusalem euery one in his ward and euery one ouer against his house.

And all the people assembled themselves together in the street that was before the water gate, and they spake vnto Ezra the scribe, he would bring the booke of the law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Law before the Congregation both of men & women, and of all that could heare and vnderstand it, in the first day of the seventh month.

3 And he read therein in the street that was before the watergate (from the morning vntil the midday) before men and women, and them that vnderstood it, and the eares of all the people hearkened vnto the booke of the Law.

4 And Ezra the Scribe stood vpon a pulpit of wood, which he had made for the preaching, and besid him stood Mattithiah and Shema and Ananiah, and Vriiah, and Hilkiah, and Maaseiah on his right hand, and on his left hand Pedaiiah, and Mishael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Hashbadana, Zechariah and Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for he was aboue all the people. And when hee opened it, all the people stood vp.

6 And Ezra praised the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their hands: and they bowed themselves, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Ieshua and Bani, and Sherebiah, Iamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Iozabab, Hanan, Pelsiah, and the Leuites caused the people to vnderstand the Law, and the people stood in their place.

8 And they read in the booke of the Lawe of God distinctly, and gaue the sense, and caused them to vnderstand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and Scribe, and the Leuites that instructed the people, said vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lord your God: mourne not, neither weepe: for all the people wept when they heard the words of the Law.

10 Hee said vnto them, Goe, and eate of the fat, and drinke the sweet, and send part vnto them, for whom none is prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be ye not sorry therefore: for the ioy of the Lord is your strength.

11 And the Leuites made silence therowout all the people, saying, Holde your peace: for the day is holy, be not sad therefore.

12 Then all the people went to eate & to drinke, and to send away part, and to make great ioy, because they had vnderstood the words that they had taught them.

13 And on the second day the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Priests and the Leuites were gathered vnto Ezra the Scribe, that hee also might instruct them in the words of the Law.

14 And they found written in the Law (that the Lord had commanded by Moses): that the children of Israel should dwell in * booths in the feast of the seventh month.

15 And that they should cause it to bee declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Ierusalem, saying, Goe forth vnto the mount, and bring olie branches, and pine branches, and branches of myrtus, and palme branches, and branches of thicke trees to make booths, as it is written.

16 So the people went forth, & brought them, and made them booths, euery one vpon the roote of his house, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, & in the street by the water gate, and in the street of the gate of Ephraim.

17 And all the Congregation of them that were come againe out of the captiuitie, made booths and sat vnder the booths: for since the time of Ieshua the sonne of Nun vnto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was very great ioy.

18 And he read in the booke of the Law of God euery day from the first day vnto the last day. And they kept the feast seven dayes, & on the eight day a sollemne assembly, according vnto the maner.

12 And leddest them in the day with a pillar, of 13 *Thou camest downe also vpon mount Sinai, to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou, O God of mercies, gracious and full of comforsookest them not.

 neither the pillar of fire by night to shew them light, and the way whereby they should goe.

20 Thou gauest also thy good Spirit to instruct them, and withheldest not thy MAN from their mouth, and gauest them water for their thirst.

21 Thou diddest also feed them fourtie yeres in the wilderness, they lacked nothing: * their clothes waxed not olde, and their feet swelled not.

22 And thou gauest them kingdomes, & people, and scatteredst them into corners: so they possessed

23 And thou didst multiply their children like the starres of the heauen, and broughtest them into the land, whereof thou hadst spoken vnto their fa-

24 So the children went in and possessed the land, & thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, namely the Canaanites, and gauest them gainst thee, and east thy law behind their backs, and slew thy Prophets (which protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blas-phemies.

27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them Sanitours, who saved them out of the hand of their aduersaries.

28 But when they had rest, they returned to doe euill before thee: therefore ledest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times.

29 And protestedst among them, thou might-est bring them againe vnto thy law: but they behaved themselves proudly, and hardened not vnto thy commandements, but sinned against thy iudge-ments (* which a man should doe and liue in them) Leu. 18. 5.
 and pulled away the shoulder, and were stiffnecked Ex. 10. 11.
 and would not heare.

30 Yet thou didst forbear them many yeres, gal. 3. 13.
 and protestedst among them by thy Spirit, ewen by Ex. 18. 5.
 the hand of thy prophets but they would not heare, didst pro- therefore gauest thou them into the hande of the long vpon people of the lands, them vpon

31 Yet for thy great mercies thou hast not consumed them, neither forsaken them, for thou art a gracious and mercifull God.

32 Nowe therefore our God, * thou great God, Exod. 34.
 mightie and terrible, that keepst covenant and 6. 7.
 * mercie, let not all the affliction that hath come vnto Ps. 143.
 vs, seeme a little before thee, that is, to our kings, 1. 2.
 to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers, and to all thy people since the time of the kings of Asshur vnto this day.

33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou hast dealt truly, but wee haue done wickedly.

34 And our kings and our princes, our priests and our fathers haue not done thy law, nor regarded thy commandements nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast protested among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their kingdome, and in thy great goodnes that thou hast vnto them, and in the large and fat land which thou didst set before them, and hau not conuerted from their euill works.

36 Behold, wee are seruants this day and the land that thou gauest vnto our fathers, to eate the fruite thereof, and the goodnes thereof, behold, wee are ser-uants therein.

37 And it yeeldeth much fruit vnto the kings whom thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes and they haue domination ouer our bodies, and ouer our cattell at their pleasure, and wee are in great affliction.

38 Now because of all this wee make a sure counant and write it, and our princes, our Leuites, and our Priests scale vnto it.

C H A P. X.

The names of them that scale: the covenant between God and the people.

Levites, the porters, the singers, the Nethinims, and all that were separated from the people of the lands unto the Law of God, their wives, their sonnes, and their daughters, all that could vnderstand.

28 The chiefe of them received it for their brethren, and they came to the cuse, and to the oth to walke in Gods Law, which was given by Moses the servant of God, to observe and do all the Commandements of the Lord our God, and his iudgements, and his statutes:

29 And that wee would not give our daughters to the people of the land, neither take their daughters for our sonnes.

30 And if the people of the land brought ware on the Sabbath, or any victuals to sell, that wee would not make it of them on the Sabbath and on the holy dayes: * and that wee would let the se-dow, 15. 1. tenth yeere be free, and the debts of euery ¶ person be band son.

31 And wee made statutes for our felues to give by the yeere the thirde part of a shekel for the seruice of the house of our God,

32 For the shewbread, and for the dayly offering, and for the dayly burnt offering, the Sabbaths, the new Moones, for the solemne feastes, and for the things that were sanctified, and for the sin offerings to make an atonement for Israel, and for all the worke of the house of our God.

33 Wee cast also lots for the offering of the wood, unto the Priests, the Levites, & the people to bring it into the house of our God ¶ by the house of our fathers, yeerely at the times appointed to burne it vpon the altar of the Lord our God, as it is written in the Law.

34 And to bring the first fruites of our land, and the first of all the fruites of all trees, yeere by yeere into the house of the Lord.

35 And the first borne of our sonnes, and of our cattel, as it is written in the Law, and the first borne of our bullocks, and of our sheepe, to bring it into the house of our God, vnto the Priests that minister in the house of our God.

36 And that wee should bring the first fruites of our dough, and our offerings, and the fruit of euery tree, of wine, and of oyle, vnto the Priests, to the chambers of the house of our God: and the tithes of our land vnto the Levites, that the Levites might haue the tithes in all the cities of our tranell.

37 And the Priest the sonne of Aaron shall bee with the Levites, when the Levites take tithes, and the Levites shall * bring vp the tenth part of the New. 11 tithes vnto the house of our God, vnto the chambers 16.
of the treasure house.

38 For the children of Israel, and the children of Levi shall bring vp the offerings of the corne, of the wine, and of the oyle vnto the chambers, and there shall be the vessels of the Sanctuary: and the Priests that minister, and the porters, and the singers, and we will not forsake the house of our God.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who dwelled in Ierusalem after it was builded, 21 and who in the cities of Iudah.

And the rulers of the people dwell in Ierusalem: the other people also cast lots, to bring one out of ten to dwell in Ierusalem the holy City, and nine parts to be in the cities.

2 And the people thanked all the men that were willing to dwell in Ierusalem.

3 These now are the chiefe of the province, that dwelt in Ierusalem but in the cities of Iudah euery one dwelt in his owne possession, in their cities of Israel, the Priests and the Levites, and the Nethinims, and the sonnes of Salomons seruants.

4 And in Ierusalem dwelt certaine of the children of Iudah, and of the children of Benjamin. Of the sonnes of Iudah, Athaiah, the sonne of Yzziah, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Shephatiah, the sonne of Maaleel, of the sonnes of Perez.

5 And Maaseiah the sonne of Baruch, the sonne of Col-hozeh, the sonne of Hazaliah, the sonne of Adaiah the sonne of Ioiairib, the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Shiloni.

6 All the sonnes of Perez that dwelt at Ierusalem were foure hundred threescore and eight valiant men.

7 These also are the sonnes of Benjamin, Sallu, the sonne of Meshullam, the sonne of Ioed, the sonne of Pedaiah, the sonne of Kolaiah, the sonne of Ma-seiah, the sonne of Ithiel, the sonne of Iethaiah.

8 And after him Gaba, Sallai, nine hundred and twentie and eight.

9 And Ioel the sonne of Zichri was gouernour ouer them: and Iudah the sonne of Senuah was the second ouer the cite.

10 Of the Priests, Iedaiah the sonne of Ioiairib, Ia-chin.

11 Seraiah, the sonne of Hilkiyah, the son of Me-shullam, the sonne of Zadok, the sonne of Meraioth the sonne of Ahitub was chiefe of the house of God.

12 And their brethren that did the worke in the Temple, were eight hundred twenty and two: and Adaiah the sonne of Ieroham the sonne of Pelatiah, the sonne of Amzi the sonne of Zechariah, the sonne of Pashur, the sonne of Malchiah:

13 And his brethren chiefe of the fathers, two hundred and two and Cortie: and Amashai the son of Azareel, the sonne of Ahazai, the sonne of Melhi-

36 And his brethren, Shemaiah, and Azareel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethaneel, and Uthai, Hanani, with the musical instruments of David the man of God, and Ezra the Scribe went before them.

37 And to the gate of the fountaine, euen ower against them went they vp by the staires of the ci-tie of Dauid at the going vp of the wall beyond the house of Dauid, euen vnto the water gate Eftward.

38 And the second company of them that gave thanks, went on the other side, & I after them, and the halfe of the people was vpon the wall, and vpon the tower of the furnaces, euen vnto the broad wall.

39 And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpon the old gate, and vpon the fish gate, & the tower of Hanneel, and the tower of Meah, euen vnto the shepgates: and the flood in the gate of the ward.

40 So floode the two companies of them that gaue thanks in the house of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

41 The Priests also, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Miniamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, with trumpets, 43 And Masfiah, and Shemaiah, & Eleazar, and Yzzi and Jehohanan, and Malchirah, and Elam, and Ezer: and the singers [†]sang loud, having Izrahiah which was the overseer.

43 And the same day they offered great sacrifices and reioyced: for God had giuen them great ioy, so that both the women and the children were ioyfull: and the ioy of ierusalem was heard farre off.

44. Also at the same time were men appointed over the chambers of the store for the offerings, for the first fruits and for the tithes, to gather into them out of the fields of the cities, the portions of the Law for the Priests and the Levites: for Judah rejoiced for the Priests, and for the Levites that served.

45 And both the fingers and the porters kept the ward of their God, and the ward of the purification according to the commaundement of David and Salomon his sonne.

46 * For in the dayes of David and Asaph, of olde ~~were~~ chiefe fingers, and songs of praise and thankesgiuing vnto God.

47 And in the dayes of Zerubabel, and in the dayes of Nehemiah did all Israel giue portions vnto the fingers and porters, every day his portion, and they gaue the holy things vnto the Leuites, and the Leuites gaue the holy things vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Law is read. 3 They separate from them all strangers. 15 Nehemiah reproveth them that breake the Sabbath. 20 An ordinance to serve God.

ANd on that day did they reade in the booke of Moses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite and the Moabite * should not enter into the Congregation of God.

3 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread, * but hired Balaam against them, that he should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

3 Now when they had heard the Law, they separated from Israel all those that were mixed.

4 ¶ And before this had the Priest Eliashib the oversight of the chamber of the house of our God, being kinsman to Tobijah :

5 And he had made him a great chamber, and there had they afore time laid the offerings, the in-

6 But in all this time was not in Jerusalem for in the two and thirtieth yeere of Artahbastes king of Babel came I vnto the king, and I after certaine dayes I obtained of the king.

7 And when I was come to Jerusalem, I understood the evil that Eliphaz had done for Tobiah, in that he had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God.

8 And it grieved me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleafe the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God with the meate offering and the incense.

10 And I perceiued that the portions of the Leuites had not beene giuen, and that euery one was fled to his land, own the Leuites and fingers that executed the worke.

11 Then reprov'd I the rulers and Gid, Why is the house of God forsaken? and I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Iudah the tithes of corne, and wine, and of oyle vnto the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers over the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the Scribe, and of the Levites Pedaiah, and under their hand Hananiah the sonne of Zaccur, the sonne of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithfull: and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, herein, and wipe not out my kindeſſe, that I haue ſhewed on the houſe of my God, and on the offices thereof.

15 In those dayes saw I Iudah them that trode wine presses on the Sabbath, and that brought in sheaves, & which laded asses also with wine grapes, and figges, and all burdens, and brought them into Ierusalem vpon the Sabbath day. And I protested to them in the day that they sold signalls.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish and all wares and sold on the Sabbath vnto the children of Iudah euē in Ierusalem.

17 Then reprov'd I the rulers of Iudah, and said vnto them, What euill thing is this that yee doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, and vpon their citie: yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israel in breaking the Sabbath.

19 And when the gates of Ierusalem began to be darke before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, and some of my seruants for I at the gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chapmen and merchants of all merchandise remained once or twise all night without Ierusalem.

21 And I protested among them, and said vnto them, Why tary ye all night about the wall? if ye do it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

23 ¶ And I said vnto the Leuitesthat they should cleane themselues, and that they should come and keepe the gates to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon me according to thy great mercie.

23 In those dayes also I saw Iewes that married wines of Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab,

34 And

17 And their children shall haile in the speech of Ahldad, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the ewe people, and of the other people.

18 Then I reposed them, and cursed them, and smote certaine of them, and pulled off their haire, and took an othe of them by God, Yee shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes neither shall yee take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

19 Did not Salomon the King of Israel liue by these things, yet among many nations was there no king like him, for he was beloved of his God, and God had made him king ouer Israel: yet strange women caused him to liue.

20 Shall mee then obey vnto you to doe all this great euill, and to transgress against our God, euen to marrie strange wives?

21 And one of the sonnes of Ioiada the sonne of Elisabeth the hie Priest, was the son in Law of Samballath the Hasmonee: but I charged him from me.

22 Remember them, O my God, that defile the Priesthood, and the covenant of the Priesthood, and of the Leuites.

23 Then cleansed I them from all strangers, and appointed the wards of the Priests, and of the Leuites, euery one in his office.

24 And for the offering of the wood at times appointed and for the first fruits. Remember mee O my God, in goodnesse.

CH E S T E R

THE ARGUMENT.

Because of the diversity of names, whereby they use to name their Kings, and the supposition of yeccc, wherein the Hebrews and the Grecians doe vary, diuers authors write diuersly as touching this Abasuerus, but it cometh Dan. 6. 1. and 9. 1. that hee was Darius King of the Medes, and (some of Affricas, called also Abasuerus) which was a name of honour, and signified great and chiefe as chiefe head. Herin is declared also the great mercies of God toward his Church: who neuer faileth them in their greatest dangers but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, hee ruer streeth up some, by whom hee sendeth comfort and assurance. Herin also is described the ambition, pride and enuie of the wicked, when they come to honour, and their iudiciall fall when they are at the height: and how God preferreth and preferreth them which are zealous of his glory, and haue a care and loue toward their brethren.

CH A P. I.

1 King Abasuerus maketh a royall feast. 12 Whereunto the Queene Vashti will not come. 19 For which cause she is divorced. 20 The king decreeth touching the pretence of man.

IN the dayes of Ahasuerus (this is Ahasuerus that reigned from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundred & seuen and twenty prouinces)

2 In those dayes when the king Ahasuerus sat on his throne, which was in the palace of Shushan,

3 In the third yere of his reigne, he made a feast vnto all his princes, & his seruants, euen the power of Persia and Media, and to the captaines, & gouernours of the prouinces, which were before him,

4 That hee might shew the riches and glorie of his kingdom, and the honour of his great Maiestie many dayes, euen an hundred & fourescore dayes.

5 And when these dayes were expired, the king made a feast to all the people that were found in the palace of Shushan: both vnto great and small, seuen dayes, in the court of the garden of the kings palace.

6 Under an hanging of white, greene, and blew clothes fastened with cords of fine linnen and purple, in siluer rings, and pillars of marble: the beds were of gold and of siluer, vpon a pavement of porphyre, and marble, and alabastrer, and blew colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in vessels of gold, and changed vessell after vessell, and royall wine in abundance according to the power of the king.

8 And the drinking was by an order, none might compel: for so the king had appointed vnto all the officers of his house, so that they should doe according to euery mans pleasure.

9 The Queene Vashti made a feast also for the women in the royall house of king Ahasuerus.

10 Vpon the seauenth day when the king was merry with wine, hee commanded Memucan, Biztha, Harbon, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the seuen eunuches (that serued in the presence of king Ahasuerus)

11 To bring Queene Vashti before the king with the crowne royall, that hee might shew the people and the princes her beautie: for shee was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vashti refused to come at the kings word: which hee had giuen in charge to the eunuches: therefore the king was very angry, and his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the king said to the wise men that knew the times (for so was the kings manner towards all that knew the law and the iudgement.

14 And the next vnto him was Carshena, She-tar, Admatha, Tarshish, Meres, Marfena, and Memucan, the seuen princes of Persia & Media, which saw the king face, & sat the first in the kingdom.)

15 What shall wee doe vnto the Queene Vashti according to the law, because she did not according to the word of the king Ahasuerus, by the commission of the eunuches?

16 Then Memucan answered before the king and the princes. The Queene Vashti hath not onely done euill against the King, but against all the princes, and against all the people that are in all the prouinces of king Ahasuerus.

17 For the acte of the Queene shall come abroad vnto all women, so that they shall despise their husbands in their own eyes, and shall say, The king Ahasuerus commanded Vashti the Queene to be brought in before him, but she came not.

18 So shall the princes of Persia and Media this day say vnto all the Kings princes when they heare of the acte of the Queene: thus shall there be much despitefulnesse and wrath.

19 If it please the king, let a royall decree proceede from him, and let it be written among the statutes of Persia and Media, (& let it not be transgressed) that Vashti come no more before king Ahasuerus:

hathen: and let the king give her royall estate vnto her companion: that is better then she.

20 And when the decree of the king which shall be made, shall be published thoroughout all his kingdom (though it be great) all the women shall give their husbands honour both great and small.

21 And this saying pleased the king & the princes, and the King did according to the word of Memucan.

22 For he sent letters into all the provinces of the king, into euery province according to the writing thereof, & to euery people after thei language, that euery man should beare rule in his owne house, and that he should publish it in the language of that same people.

CHAP. II.

2 After the queene is not away, certaine young maids are brought to the king. 29 Ester pleaseth the king, and is made queene. 31 Mordecai discouereth vnto the king this that would betray him.

After these things, when the wrath of King Ahasuerus was appeased, he remembered Vashti, and what shee had done, and what was decreed against her.

2 And the Kings seruants that ministred vnto him, saide, Let them seeke for the King beautifull young virgins.

3 And let the King appoint officers thorow all the provinces of his kingdom, and let them gather all the beautifull young virgins vnto the palace of Shushan into the house of the women, vnder the hand of Hege the kings eunuch, keeper of the women, to give them their things for purification.

4 And the maid that shal please the king, let her rigne in the stead of Vashti. And thus pleased the king, and he did so.

5 ¶ In the citie of Shushan there was a certaine Jew, whose name was Mordecai the sonne of Iair, the sonne of Shimei, the sonne of Kish, a man of Iemini.

6 Which had bin caried away from Ierusalem with the captiuitie that was caried away with Iekoniash king of Iudah (whom Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel had caried away)

7 And he nourished Hadassah, that is Ester, his vnckles daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the maid was faire and beautifull to looke on: and after the death of her father and her mother, Mordecai tooke her for his owne daughter.

8 And when the Kings commandement, and his decree was published, and many maidens were brought together to the palace of Shushan, vnder the hand of Hege, Ester was brought also vnto the kings house vnder the hande of Hege the keeper of the women.

9 And the maid pleased him, and she found fauour in his sight: therefore he caused her things for purification to be giuen her speedily, and her faire, and sent comely maids to bee giuen her out of the Kings house, and he gaue charge to her and to her maids of the best in the house of the women.

10 But Ester shewed not her people, & her kindred: for Mordecai had charged her that she should not tell it.

11 And Mordecai walked euery day before the come of the womans house, to knowe if Ester did well, and what should be done with her.

12 And when the course of euery maide came to goe in to king Ahasuerus, after that she had bene twelue months according to the maner of the women (for so were the daies of their purifications accomplished, sixe months with oyle of myrrhe, and sixe months with sweet odours, and in the purifying of the women)

13 And thus went the maids vnto the king: whatsoever he required, was giuen her to goe with her out of the womens house vnto the kings house.

14 In the evening she went, and on the morning she returned into the second house of the women, vnder the hande of Blasphig the kings eunuch, which kept the concubines: she came into the king no more, except he pleased the king, and that shee were called by name.

15 Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vnckle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his owne daughter) came, that she should goe in to the king, she desired nothing, but what Hege the Kings eunuch the keeper of the women said, and Ester found fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her.

16 ¶ So Ester was taken vnto king Ahasuerus into his house royall in the tenth month, which is the month Tebeth, in the seventh yeere of his reigne.

17 And the king loued Ester aboue all the women, and she found grace and fauour in his sight more then all the virgins: so that he let the crowne of the kingdom vpon her head, & made her queene in stead of Vashti.

18 Then the king made a great feast vnto all his princes and his seruants, which was the feast of Ester, and gaue rest vnto the provinces, and gaue gifts according to the power of a king.

19 And when the virgins were gathered the second time, then Mordecai sate in the kings gate.

20 Ester had not yet shewed her kinred nor her people as Mordecai had charged her: for Ester did after the word of Mordecai, as when she was nourished with him.

21 ¶ In thulue dayes when Mordecai sate in the kings gate, two of the kings eunuchs, Bigthan and Teresh, which kept the doore, were wroth, & sought to lay hand on the king Ahasuerus.

22 And the thing was knowne to Mordecai, and he told it vnto queene Ester, and Ester certified the king thereof in Mordecai name: and when inquisition was made, it was found so: therefore they were both hanged on a tree, and it was written in the booke of the Chronicles before the King.

CHAP. III.

1 Haman after he was called, obtained of the king that all the Iewes should be put to death, because Mordecai had not done him worship as other had.

After these things did King Ahasuerus promote Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, and exalted him, and set his seate aboue all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the Kings seruants that were at the kings gate, bowed their knees, and reuerenced Haman: for the king had so commanded concerning him: but Mordecai bowed not the knee, neither did reuerence.

3 Then the Kings seruants which were at the kings gate, said vnto Mordecai, Why traungrest thou the kings commandement?

4 And albeit they spake daily vnto him, yet hee would not heare them, therefore they told Haman, that they might see how Mordecais matters would stand: for he had told them that he was a Jewe.

5 And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not the knee vnto him nor did reuerence vnto him, then Haman was full of wrath.

6 Now he thought it too little to lay hands on Mordecai: and because they had shewed him this, the people of Mordecai, Haman sought to destroy all the Jewes that were thorowout the whole kingdome of Ahasuerus, even the people of Mordecai.

7 In the first moneth (that is the moneth Nisan) in the twelfth yere of king Ahasuerus, they call Pur (that is a lot) before Haman, from day to day, and from moneth to moneth, unto the twelfth moneth, that is the moneth Adar.

8 Then Haman bid vnto King Ahasuerus, There is a people scattered and dispersed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they do not obseme the kings lawes: therefore it is not the kings profit to suffer them.

9 If it please the King, let it bee written that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver by the hands of them that have the charge of this businesse, to bring it into the Kings treasure.

10 Then the king tooke his ring from his hand, and gave it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, the Jewes aduerarie.

11 And the King said vnto Haman, Let the siner be thine, and the people to doe with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the kings | Scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first moneth, & there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the kings officers, and to the captaines that were owner every prouince, and to the rulers of every people and to every prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to every people according to their language in the name of king Ahasuerus (was it written and sealed with the kings ring).

13 And the letters were sent by posts into all the kings prouinces to roote out, to kil & to destroy all the Jewes, both yong and olde, children and women in one day, vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle them as a pray.

14 The contents of the writing was, That there should be given a commandement in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should bee ready against the same day.

15 And the postes compelled by the kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was given in the palace at Shushan: and the King and Haman sate drinking, but the citie of Shushan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Mordecai in the Queenes knowledge of the cruelties of the King against the Jewes. 2 Shee wills that they pray for her.

NOW when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and ashes, and went out into the mids of the citie, and cried with a great crye and a bitter.

2 And he came euen before the kings gate, but he might not enter within the kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in every prouince and place, whither the kings charge and his commission came, there was great sorrow among the Jewes, and fasting & weeping, and mourning, and many lay in sackcloth and in ashes.

4 Then Esters maides and her eunuches came and tolde it her: therefore the Queene was spread for weaue, and she sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but hee receiued it not.

5 Then called Ester Hatach one of the kings eunuches, whome hee had appointed to serue her, & she had and gave him a commandement vnto Mordecai, so canst thou know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai, vnto the fore her street of the city, which was before the kings gate.

7 And Mordecai told him of all that which had come vnto him, & of the summe of the filer that Ester had promised to pay vnto the kings treasures, because of the Jewes, for to destroy them.

8 Also he gave him the copie of the writing, and commission that was given at Shushan to destroy them, that he might shew it vnto Ester, and declare it vnto her, & to charge her, that she should go in to the king, and make petition and supplication before him for her people.

9 So when Hatach came, hee told Ester the words of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester said vnto Hatach, and commanded him to say vnto Mordecai, 11 All the kings seruants, and the people of the Kings prouinces doe know, that whosoever, man or woman that cometh to the king into the inner court which is not called, there is a law of his, that hee shall die, except him to whome the King holdeth out the golden rod that hee may liue. Now I haue not bin called to come vnto the king these thirtie days.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters words.

13 And Mordecai said, that they should answer Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe that thou shalt escape in the kings house, more then all the Jewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, comfort and deliuerance shall appeare to the Jewes out of another place, but thou and thy fathers house shall perish, and who knoweth whether thou art come to the kingdome for such a time?

15 Then Ester commanded to answer Mordecai,

16 Go and assemble all the Jewes that are round in Shushan, and fast yee for mee, and eate not nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night, I also and my maides will fast likewise, and so will goe in to the king, which is not according to the law: and if I perish, I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commanded him.

CHAP. V.

1 Ester enteth in to the king, and biddeth him and Haman to a feast. 2 Haman prepares a gallie for Mordecai.

AND on the third day Ester put on her royall apparell, and stood in the court of the Kings palace within, ouer against the kings house, and the King sate vpon his royall throne in the kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

2 And when the King sawe Ester the queene standing in the court, the fowd fauour in his sight: and the king held out the golden scepter that was in his hand: so Ester drew neere, and touched the top of the scepter.

3 Then said the King vnto her, What wilt thou queene Ester? and what is thy request? it shall bee euen giuen thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

4 Then said Ester, If it please the King, let the king and Haman come this day vnto the banquet that I haue prepared for him.

5 And the king said, Cause Haman to make haste, that he may doe as Ester hath said. So the king and Haman came to the banquet that Ester had prepared.

6 And the King said vnto Ester, at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition that it may bee giuen thee? and what is thy request? it shall euen be performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

7 Then

7 Then answered Esther, and said, My petition and my request is,

8 If I have found favour in the sight of the king, and if it please the king to give me my petition, and to performe my request, let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and I will do to morrow according to the kings saying.

9 ¶ Then went Haman forth the same day ioyfull and with a glad heart. But when Haman sawe Mordecai in the kings gate, that hee stood not vp, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

10 Nevertheless Haman refrained himself: and when he came home, he sent and called for his friends, and Zeresh his wife.

17 And Haman told them of the glory of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the king had promoted him, and how that he had set him above the princes and servants of the king.

13 Haman said moreover, Yea, After the queen did let no man come in with the king to the banquet that she had prepared, save me: and to morrow I am bidden also to vote her with the king.

12 But all this doeth nothing auaille me, as long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the kings gate.

14. Then said Zeresh his wife, and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fiftie cubits high, and to morrow speake thou vnto the king that Mordecai may be hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioyfully with the King vnto the banquet. And the thing pleased Haman, & he caused to make the tree.

CHAP. VI

I The king turneth over the Chronicles, and findeth the fidelitie of Mordecai, 10 and commaundeth Haman to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

THe same night the King slept not, and he commanded to bring the booke of the records, and the Chronicles and they were read before the king.

*had told of Bigtana and Tereſh, two of the kings Eunuches, keepers of the doore, who ſought to lay hands on the king Ahaſueruſh.

3 Then the king said, What honour and dignitie hath been giuen to Mordecai for this? And the kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, There is nothing done for him.

4 And the king said, Who is in the court? (Now Haman was come into the inner court of the kings house, that he might speake vnto the king to hang Mordecai on the tree, that he had prepared for him.)

5 And the kings seruants sayd vnto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court, And the King said, Let him come in.

6 And when Haman came in, the king said vnto him, What shall be done vnto the man whom the king will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whom would the king doe honour more then to me?

7 And Haman answered the King, The man whom the king would honour,

8 Let them bring for him royall apparell, which the king desires to weare, and the horse that the king rideth vpon, and that the crowne royall may be set vpon his head.

¶ And let the raiment and the horse be deli-uered by the hand of one of the Kings most noble princes, and let them apparell the man (whom the King will honour) and cause him to ride vpon the horse thorow the street of the citie, and proclaim before him, Thus shall it be done vnto the man, whom the king will honour.

16 Then the King said vnto Haman, Make haile, take the raiment, and the horse, as thou hast sayd, and doe so vnto Mordecai the Iew, that sitteth at the kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou hast spoken.

11 So Haman took the raiment, and the horse, and arrayed Mordecai, and brought him on horsebacke thorow the streete of the citie, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done to the man, whom the King will honour.

12 And Mordecai came again to the king's gate, but Haman halted home mourning, and his head covered.

13 And Haman told Zereth his wife, and all his friends, all that had befallen him. Then said his wife men and Zereth his wife unto him, If Mordecai be of the seede of the Iewes before whom thou hast begun to fall, thou shalt not preuaile against him, but shalt surely fall before him.

14 And while they were yet talking with him, came the kings eunuches, and haſted to bring Haman vnto the banquet that Eſter had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

3 The Egypte biddeth the king and Haman again, and prayeth for her self and her people. & She accuseth Haman, and he is hanged on the gallows which he had prepared for Mordecai.

So the king and Haman came to banquet with the Queene Ester.

3 And the king said againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition. Queene Ester, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? It shalbe euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

3 And Afterthe Queene answered, and sayd, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O king, and if it please the king, let my life bee giuen me at my petition, and my people at my request.

4 For we are sold, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slaine and to perish: but if we were sold for seruants, and for handmaids, I would haue held my tongue: although the aduersary could not recompense the kings losse.

5 Then king Ahabucrosh answered, and said vnto the Queene Ester, Who is he? and where is he that ~~th~~ presumeth to doe thus?

6 And Esther said, The aduersarie and enemy is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was afraid before the King and the Queene.

7 And the king arose from the banquet of wine, in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: but Haman stood vp to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for hee sawe that there was a mischief prepared for him of the King.

8 And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the houle where they dranke wine, Haman was fallen vpon the bed whereon Esther sat: therefore the king layd, Will hee force the Queene also before me in the houle? As the worde went out of the Kings mouth, they covered Ha-mans face.

9 And Harbonah one of the Eunuchs said in the presence of the king, Behold, there standeth yet the tree in Hamans house fifty cubits high, which Haman had prepared for Mordecai, that spake good for the king. Then the king said, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the tree that hee had prepared for Mordecai : then was the kings wrath pacified.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the death of Haman was Mordecai exalted. 14 Comfortable letters are sent unto the Jews.

The same day did king Ahashuerush give the house of Haman the adversary of the Jewes, vnto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai came before the king: for Ester told what he was vnto her.

2 And the king tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gave it vnto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

3 And Ester spake yet more before the King, and tell downe at his feet weeping, and besought him that hee would put away the wickednesse of Haman the Agagite, and his decree that hee had imagined against the Jewes.

4 And the King held out the golden scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stood before the King.

5 And said, If it please the King, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing bee acceptable before the king, and I please him, let it bee written, that the letters of the deuise of Haman the foune of Ammedatha the Agagite may be called againe, which hee wrote to destroy the Jewes, that are in all the kings prouinces.

6 For how can I suffer and see the euill that shal come vnto my people? Or how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kindred?

7 And the King Ahashuerus shaid vnto the queene Ester, and to Mordecai the Jew, Behold, I haue giuen Ester the house of Haman, whom they haue hanged vpon the tree, because he laid hand vpon the Jewes.

8 Write yee also for the Jewes as it liketh you in the kings name, and seale it with the kings ring, (for the writings written in the Kings name, and sealed with the Kings ring, may no man reuoke.)

9 Then were the kings Scribes called at the same time, euen in the third month, that is, the moneth Sisan, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commaunded vnto the Jewes, and to the princes, and captaynes, and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen vnto Ethiopia, an hundred and seuen and twenty prouinces, vnto euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their speech, and to the Jewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

10 And he wrote in the king Ahashuerus shs name, and sealed it with the kings ring: and hee sent letters by posts on horsebacke, and that rode on beasts of price, and dromedaries and colts of mares,

11 Wherein the king granted the Jewes (in what cities soeuer they were) to gather themselues together, and to stand for their life, and to roote out, to slay, and to destroy all the power of the people, and of the prouince that vexed them, both children and women, and to spoyl their goods:

12 Vpon one day in all the prouinces of King Ahashuerus sh, euen in the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar.

13 The copie of the writing was, how there should be a commandement giuen in all and euery prouince, published among all the people, and that the Jewes should bee ready against that day to avenge themselues on their enemies

14 So the postes rode vpon beasts of price, and dromedaries, and went forth with speede to execute the kings commandement, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the king in royal apparell of blew and white, and with a great crown of gold, and with a garment of fine linen, and purple, and the citie of Shushan reioyced, and was glad.

16 And vnto the Jewes was come light, and joy, and gladnesse and honour.

17 Also in all and euery prouince, and in all and euery cite and place, where the Kings commandement and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnesse to the Jewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Jewes: for the feare of the Jewes fell vpon them.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commandement of the King the Jewes put their adversaries to death. 14. The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17. The Jewes keepe a fast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

So in the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the Kings commandement and his decree drew neere to be put in execution, in the day that the enemies of the Jewes hoped to haue power ouer them, (but it turned contrary: for the Jewes had rule ouer them that hated them)

2 The Jewes gathered themselues together into their cities thorowout all the prouinces of the King Ahashuerus sh, to lay hand on such as sought their hurt, and no man could withstand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes, and the captaynes, and the officers of the King exalted the Jewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

4 For Mordecai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went thorow all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Jewes smote all their enemies with strokes of the sword, and slaughter, and destruction, & did what they would vnto those that hated them.

6 And at Shushan the palace, slew the Jewes, and destroyed five hundred men.

7 And Parthandatha, and Dalphon and Aspatha.

8 And Poratha, and Adalshi, and Aridatha.

9 And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaiezatha.

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammedatha the adversary of the Jewes, slew they: but they laid not their hands on the spoile.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slaine, vnto the palace of Shushan before the King.

12 And the king said vnto the queene Ester, The Jewes haue slaine in Shushan the palace and destroyed five hundred men, & the ten sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the Kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may bee giuen thee? or what is thy request moreover, that it way be performed?

13 Then said Ester, If it please the king, let it be granted also to morrow to the Jewes that are in Shushan, to doe according vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans ten sonnes.

14 And the king charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Haman: ten sonnes.

15 & So the Jewes that were in Shushan, assembled themselues vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and slew three hundred men in Shushan, but on the spoile they layd not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Jewes that were in the kings prouinces, assembled themselues, and stood for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of them that hated them, seventy and five thousand: but they laid not their hand on the spoile.

17 It was on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, of, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushan, assembled themselves on the thirteenth day and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwell in the walled towne, kept the fourteenth day of the month Adar with ioy and feasting, even a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 ¶ And Mordecai wrote these words, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were through all the prouinces of the king Ahasuerus, both neere and farr.

21 Enioyning them that they should keepe the fourteenth day of the month Adar, & the fifteenth day of the same, euery yeere, 22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the mouth which was turned vnto them from sorrow to ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting and ioy, and to send presents euery man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

23 And the Iewes promised to doe, as they had begun, and as Mordecai had written vnto them, 24 Because Haman the foune of Hammedatha the Agagite all the Iewes aduersary, had imagined against the Iewes to destroy them, and had cast Pur (that is a lot) to consume and destroy them.

25 And when he came before the king, he commanded by letters, Let his wicked devise (which he imagined against the Iewes) turne vpon his owne head, and let them hang him & his sons on the tree.

26 Therefore they called these daies Purim, by the name of Pur, and because of all the wordes of this letter, and of that which they had seene besides this, and of that which had come vnto them,

27 The Iewes also ordained & promised for them and for their seed, and for all that they ioyned vnto them, that they would not faile to obserue those two daies for euery yeere according to their writing, and according to their season.

28 And that these dayes should be remembered, and kept throughout euery generation and euery family, and euery prouince, and euery city: euen these dayes of Purim should not faile among the Iewes, and the memoriall of them should not perish from their seed.

29 And the Queene Ester the daughter of Abihail, & Mordecai the Iew wrote with all iauthoritie | Or, (to confirme this letter of Purim the second time) strength,

30 And hee sent letters vnto all the Iewes to the hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces of the kingdom of Ahasuerus, with wordes of peace and truth, 31 To confirme these dayes of Purim, according to their season, as Mordecai the Iew, and Ester the Queene had appointed them, and as they had promised for them selves, and for their seed with fasting and prayer.

32 And y decree of Ester confirmed these wordes of Purim, and was written in the booke.

CHAP. X.

The estimation and authority of Mordecai.

And the king Ahasuerus laide a tribute vpon the land, and vpon the yles of the sea.

2 And all the acts of his power, & of his might, and the declaration of the dignitie of Mordecai, wherewith the King magnified him, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Media and Persia?

3 For Mordecai the Iew was the second vnto king Ahasuerus, and great among the Iewes, and accepted among the multitude of his brethren, who procured the wealth of his people, and spake peaceably to all his seed.

Q U O B. THE ARGVMENT.

In this history is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not only extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but also in his mind and conscience by the sharp temptations of his wife and chiefe friends: which by their vehement words & subtill disputations brought him almost to despair: for they set forth God as a sturce Iudge and mortall enemy vnto him, which had cast him off therefore in vaine he should seek vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding he did constantly resist them and as length had good success. In this story we haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, his husbandrie is well: as he his aduersaries haue an euill matter, but they defend it craftily. For Iob held that God did not alwaies punish men according to their sins, but that he had secret iudgements wherof men knew not the cause, and therefore men could not reas. on against God therein, but he should be commended. Moreover he was assured that God had not reuiled him, yet through his great torments and affliction he brasteth forth into many incontinences both of words and iudgements, and sheweth himselfe as a desperate man in many things, and as one that would resist God: and thus in his good cause which he doeth not hand well. As in the aduersaries maintaineth with many goodly arguments, that God punisheth continually according to the trespasses, grounding vpon Gods providence, his iustice, and mans finnes, yet their intention is euill: for they laboure to bring Iob into despair, and so they maintain an euill cause. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iust man, Ezek. 14. 14. and Iames Iereth out his patience for an example. James 5. 11.

CHAP. I.

1 The holiness, riches, and care of Iob for his children. 10 Satan bath permission to tempt him. 13 He grompeth him by taking away his substance & his children. 20 His faith and patience.

Here was a man in the land of Uz, called Iob, and this man was an upright and iust man, one that feared God, and eschewed euill.

2 And hee had seuen sonnes, and three daughters.

3 His substance also was sent thousand sheepe, and three thousand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred she asses, & his family was very great, so that this man was the greatest of all the men of the East.

4 And his sonnes went and banquetted in their houses euery one his day, and sent, and called their three sisters to eate and to drinke with them.

5 And when the dayes of their banquetting were gone about, Iob sent & sanctified them, and rose vp early

Early in the morning, and offered burnt offerings according to the number of them all. For Job thought, It may be that my sonnes have sinned, and blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Job every day.

¶ Now on a day, when the children of God came, and stood before the Lord, Satan came also among them.

7 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

8 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my servant Job, how none like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill?

9 Then Satan answered the Lord, and sayde, Doeth Job feare God for nought?

10 Hast thou not made an hedge about him, and about his house, and about all that he hath on every side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.

11 But stretch out now thine hand, and touch all that he hath, so for if hee will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

12 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, all that he hath is in thine hands: only vpon himselfe (saith thou) not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord.

13 ¶ And on a day when his sonnes & his daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 14 There came a messenger vnto Job, and sayde, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places.

15 And the Sheabens came violently, and tooke them: yea, they haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

16 And whiles hee was yet speaking, another came, and sayd, The fire of God is fallen from the heauen, and hath burnt vp the sheepe and the seruants, and deuoured them: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

17 And whiles hee was yet speaking, another came, and said, The Caldeans set out three bands, and fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them, and haue slaine the seruantes with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

18 And whiles hee was yet speaking, came another, and sayd, Thy sonnes and thy daughters were eating and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house, 19 And beholde, there came a great winde from beyond the wilderness, and smote the foure corners of the house, which fell vpon the children, and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

20 Then Job arose, and rent his garment and shored his head, and fell downe vpon the ground, and worshipped, 21 And said, Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I returne thither: the Lord hath giuen, and the Lord hath taken it: blessed bee the Name of the Lord.

22 In all this did not Job sinne, nor charge God foolishly,

CHAP. II.

1 Satan hath permission to afflict Job. 2 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 3 His three friends visite him.

¶ And on a day the children of God came, and stood before the Lord, and Satan came also among them, and stood before the Lord.

2 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and said, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

3 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my servant Job, how none like him in the earth? an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and escheweth euill? for ye haue conspired in his vprightnes, although thou monest me against him, to destroy him without cause.

4 And Satan answered the Lord, and said, Skin for skin, and all that euer a man hath, will hee giue for his life.

5 But stretch out now thine hand, and touch his bones, and his flesh, so for if hee will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

6 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, hee is in thine hand, but saue his life.

7 ¶ So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, and smote Job with sore boyles, from the sole of his foot vnto his crowne.

8 And hee tooke a potsherd to scrape him, and he sate downe among the ashes.

9 Then said his wife vnto him, Doeest thou continue yet in thine vprightnesse? Blaspheme God and die.

10 But hee sayd vnto her, Thou speakest like a foolish woman: what? shall we receiue good at the hand of God, and not receiue euill? In all this did not Job sinne with his lips.

11 Now when Jobs three friends heard of all this euill that was come vpon him, they came euery one from his owne place, to wit, Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite: for they were agreed together to come to lament with him, and to comfort him.

12 So when they lift vp their eyes asafar off, they knew him not: therefore they lift vp their voyces and wept, and euery one of them rent his garment, and sprinkled dust vpon their heads toward the heauen.

13 So they sate by him vpon the ground seven daies and seven nights, and none spake a word vnto him: for they saw that the griefe was very great.

CHAP. III.

1 Job complaineth and curseth the day of his birth. 2 He desireth to die, as though death were the end of all mans misfortune.

¶ Afterward Job opened his mouth, and cursed his day.

2 And Job cried out, and said, Let the day perish, wherein I was borne, and the night when it was sayd, There is a man childde conceived.

3 Let that day be darknesse, let not God regard it from above, neither let the light shiae vpon it:

4 But let darknes, and the shadow of death staine it: let the cloud remaine vpon it, and let them make it fearefull as a bitter day.

5 Let darknesse possesse that night, let it not be ioyned vnto the dayes of the yere, nor let it come in to the count of the monthes.

6 Yea, desolate be that night, and let no ioy bee in it.

7 Let them that curse the day, (being ready to renew the morning) curse it,

8 Let the starres of that twilight be dim thorow darknesse of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it see the dawning of the day.

9 Because it shut not vp the doores of my mothers wombe, nor hid forrow from mine eyes.

10 Why died I not in the birth? or why died I not me when I came out of the womb?

12. Why did the knees bow under me? and why did I shake the breasts?

13. For should I now have lies and be quiet, I should have slept then and been at rest.

14. With the kings and counsellors of the earth, which have builded themselves in desolate places?

15. Or with the princes that had gold, and have filled their houses with silver.

16. Or why was I not hid from violently birth, either as infants which have not seen the light?

17. The wicked have there rested from their tyranny and there they that laboured valiantly are at rest.

18. The prisoners left together, & hear not the voice of the oppression.

19. There are small and great, and the servant is free from his master.

20. Wherefore is the light given to him that is in misery? and life vnto them that have heavy hearts?

21. Which long for death, and if it come not they would chuse for it more than treasures.

22. Which loy for gladness, and reioyce when they can find the graine.

23. Why is the light given to the man whose way is hid, and whom God hath hedged in?

24. For my fighting cometh before I eat, and my roarings are poured out like the water.

25. For the thing I feared it come vpon mee, and the thing that I was afraid of, it come vnto me.

26. I had as peace, neither had I quietnes, neither had I rest, yet trouble is come.

CHAP. III.

1. Isaiah reprehendeth of impietie, 7 and wisdome, 17 And of the presumption of his time righteously.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said, 2. If wee asay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieved? but who can withhold himselfe from speaking?

3. Behold, thou hast taught many, and hast strenghtened the weary hands.

4. Thy words have confirmed him that was falling, and thou hast strengthened the weak knees.

5. But now is come vpon thee, and thou art grieved: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.

6. Is not this thy feare, thy confidence, thy patience, and the vprightnesse of thy wayes?

7. Remember, I pray thee, who ever perished being an innocent? or where were the vpright destroyed?

8. As I haue seene, they that plow iniquity, and sow wickednesse, reape the same.

9. With the blast of God they perish, and with the breath of his wrath are they consumed.

10. The roaring of the lion, and the voyce of the lionesse, and the teeth of the lions whelpes are broken.

11. The lion perisheth for lacke of pray, and the lions whelpes are scattered abroad.

12. But a thing was brought to me secretly, and mine eares hath receiued a little thereof.

13. In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men,

14. Feare came vpon mee, and dread, which made all my bones to tremble.

15. And the winde passed before me, and made the haire of my flesh to stand vp.

16. Then stood one, and I knew not his face: an image was before mine eyes, and in silence heard I his voice, saying,

17. Shall man be more just than God? or shall a man be more pure than his maker?

18. Behold, hee standeth as a foolishnesse in his garments, and is as fully vpon his Angels.

19. How much more in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall be destroyed before the moeth.

20. They be destroyed from the morning into the evening: they perish for euer without regard.

21. Doe not their dignity go away with them? doe they not die, and that without wisdom?

CHAP. V.

1. Eliphaz sheweth the difference betweene the children of God and the wicked: 5 The fall of Sabe wicked, 9 Gods power, who destroyeth the wicked, and delivereth the righteous.

Call now if any will answer mee, and to which of the Saints will I retorne?

2. Double hee anger killeth the foolish, and enuy slayeth the idot.

3. I haue seene the foolish well succeed, and suddenly I cursed his habitation, saying,

4. His children shall be farre from saluation, and they shall be destroyed in the gate, and shall deliuer them.

5. The hungry shall eate vp his kinswell: yea, they shall take it from among the thernes, and the thorny shall drinke vp their substance.

6. Formicery commeth not forth of the dust, neither doeth affliction spring out of the earth.

7. But man is borne vnto trouble, as the sower seed hee vnto weard.

8. But I would inquire at God, and curse my talk vnto God:

9. Which doth great things and vntersuchable, and marious things without number.

10. He giueth raine vpon the earth, and poureth water vpon the streets.

11. And setteth vp on him them that be low, that the sorrowfull may be exalted to saluation.

12. He scattereth the desires of the crafty: so that their hands cannot accomplish that, which they doe enterprise.

13. He taketh the wife in their craftinesse, and the counsel of the wicked is made foolish.

14. They meet with darkness in the day time, and grope at noone day, as in the night.

15. But hee saureth the power from the sword, from their mouth, and from the hand of the violent man.

16. So that the poore hath hope, but his quicke shall stop her mouth.

17. Behold, blessed is the man whom God correcteth: therefore refuse thou the chastising of the Almighty.

18. For he maketh the wound, and bindeth it vnto him smiteth, and his hands make whole.

19. Hee shall deliuer thee in fine troubles, and in the seuereth the euill shall not touch thee.

20. In famine hee shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sword.

21. Thou shalt bee hidde from the scourge of the tongue, and thou shalt not be afraid of destruction when it commeth.

22. But thou shalt laugh at destruction and death, and shalt not be afraid of the beast of the earth.

23. For the stones of the filds shall be in league with thee: and the beasts of the fild shall be at peace with thee.

24. And thou shalt know, that peace shall be in thy Tabernacle, and thou shalt visit like habitation and shak not faine.

27 Thou shalt perceiue also that thy feed that be great, and thy posterity as the grasse of the earth.

28 Thou shalt goe to thy grave in a full age.

29 A riddle of conie, submitted in due season into the furnace.

30 Loe, thus haue we enquired of it, and so it is: heare this, and knowe it for thy selfe.

CO. H. A. P. VII.

Job answered, and said, I haue heard of thee, but now I see thee face to face. I haue heard of thee, but now I see thee face to face.

31 O that my griefe were well weighed, and my miseries were laid together in the balance.

32 For it would be now heavier than the sand of the sea; therefore my words are swallowed vp.

33 For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me, the warning wherof doeth driue vp my spirit, and the terrors of God fight against me.

34 Doth the wild ass bray when he hath grassed? or loweth the ox when he hath fodder?

35 That which is unsavoury, shall it bee eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the whire of an egge?

36 Such things as my soule refused to touch, as were sorrowes, are my meat.

37 O that I might haue my desire, and that God would graunt me something that I long for.

38 That is, that God would destroy me; that he would let his anger goe out on me.

39 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorrow, yet him not spare) because I haue not denied the words of the holy One.

40 What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine end? I should prolong my life?

41 Is my strength the strength of stones? or is my flesh of brass?

42 Is it not so, that there is in me no helpe? and that I strength is taken from me?

43 He that is in misery, ought to be comforted of his neighbour; but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty.

44 My brethren haue deceiued me, as a brooke, and as the rising of the riuers they passe away.

45 Which are blackish with yce, and wherein the now is hid.

46 But in time they are dried vp with heats, and are consumed; and when it is hote, they faile out of their places.

47 Or they depart from their way and course, yea, they vanish and perish.

48 They that go to Tema, considered them; and they that go to Sheba, waited for them.

49 But they were confounded: when they hoped they came thither, and were alhamed.

50 Surely now are ye like vnto it: ye haue seene my fearefull plague, and are afraid.

51 Was it because I said, Bring vnto me, or giue a reward vnto me of your substance?

52 And deliuer mee from the enemies hand, or ransom me out of the hand of tyrants?

53 Teach me, and I will hold my tongue: and cause me to vnderstand wherein I haue erred.

54 How stedfast are the words of righteousness? and what can any of you iustly reprove?

55 Doe ye imagine to reprove words, that the talke of the afflicted should be as the wind?

56 Ye make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherless, and digge a pit for your friend.

57 Now therefore be content to looke vpon me; for I will not lie before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you, let there be none inquiry: returne, I say, and ye shall see yet my righteousness in that behalfe. Is there inquiry in my tongue? doth not my mouth speele for you?

CH. A. P. VIII.

1 I bid thee, the flourisher of misery of mine life.

2 As a seruant looketh for the shadow, and as an hireling looketh for his end of his worke.

3 So haue I had, as inheritance, the months of vanity, and painefull nights haue bene appointed vnto me.

4 If I sold me downe, I said, When shall I arise, and measuring the cuening, I am euensull with twining, and from vnto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is clothed with wormes and filthiness of the dust, my skinne is rent and become horrible.

6 My dayes are swifter then a weauers shuttle, and they are spent without hope.

7 Remember that my life is but a wind, and that mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure.

8 The eye which hath seene me, shall see me no more: thine eyes are vpon me, and I shall be no longer.

9 As the cloudes vanisheth, and goeth away, so he that goeth downe to the grave, shall come vp no more.

10 He shall returne no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, for will speake in the trouble of my spirit, and mule in the bitterness of my mind.

12 Am I a sea, or a whale fish, that thou keepest me in ward?

13 When I say, My couch shall relieue me, and my bed shall bring comfort in my medication.

14 Then searest thou me with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule chuseth rather to be strangled, and to die, then to be in my bones.

16 I abhorre it, I shall not liue alway: spare me then, for my dayes are but vanity.

17 What is man, that thou dost magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart vpon him?

18 And dost visit him euery morning, and criest him euery moment?

19 How long wilt thou depart from me? thou wilt not let mee alone whiles I may swallow my spittle.

20 I haue sinned, what shall I doe vnto thee, O thou prefeurer of men, why hast thou set mee as a merke against thee, so that I am a burden vnto my selfe?

21 And why dost thou not pardon my trespass, and take away mine iniquity? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

CH. A. P. VIII.

1 I bid thee, the which that Job is a sinner, because God punisheth the wicked, and preferreth the good.

2 Then answered Biddad the Shuhite, and said, How long wilt thou talke of these things?

3 And how long shall the words of thy mouth be as a mighty wind?

4 Doeth God peruert iudgement? or doeth the Almighty subuert iustice?

5 If thy lonnes haue sinned against him, and he hath sent them into the place of their iniquity:

6 Yet if thou wilt, early seeke vnto God, and pray to the Almighty:

6 If thou be pure and vpright, then surely hee will awake vpon thee, and he will make the habitation of thy righteousnesse prosperous.

7 And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter end shall greatly increase.

8 Enquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.

9 (For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes vpon earth are but a shadow.)

10 Shall not they reach thee, and tell thee, and vnter the words of their heart?

11 Can a rush growe without myre? or can the grass grow without water?

12 Though it were in greene, and not cut down, yet shall it wither before any other herbe.

13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.

14 His confidence also shall bee cut off, and his trust shall be as the house of a spider.

15 He shall leane vpon his house, but it shall not stand: hee shall hold him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.

16 The tree is greene before the Sunne, and the branches spread out the garden thereof.

17 The rookes thereof are wrapped about the fountains, and are folded about the house of stones.

18 If I plucke it from his place, and it denie, saying, I haue not seene thee, 19 Behold, it will reioyce by this means, that it may grow in another mould.

20 Behold, God will not cast away an vpright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hand, 21 Till hee haue filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lips with ioy.

22 They that hate thee shall bee clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

C H A P. IX.

1 Iob declareth the mighty power of God, and that mans righteousness is nothing.

Then Iob answered, and said, I know verely that it is so: for how should man compare to God be iustified?

2 If hee would dispute with him, hee could not answere him one thing of a thousand.

3 He is wise in heart, and mighty in strength: who hath beene fierce against him, and hath prospered?

4 He remoueth the mountaines, and they feele not when he ouerthroweth them in his wrath.

5 He renoueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake.

6 He commandeth the Sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres, as vnder a signet.

7 He him selfe alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.

8 He maketh the starres Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South.

9 Hee doeth great things and vnsarchable: yea, maruillous things which out of number.

10 Lo, when hee goeth by me, I see him not: and when hee passeth by, I perceiue him not.

11 Behold, when hee taketh a pray, who can make him to restore it? who shall say vnto him, What dost thou?

12 God will not withdraw his anger, and the most mighty helps doe stowe vnder him.

13 How much less shall I answere him? or how should I finde out my words with him?

14 For though I were iust, yet could I not answere, but I would make supplication to my iudge.

15 If I cry, and he answere mee, yet would I not believe that he heard my voice.

16 For hee destroyeth mee with a tempest, and woundeth me with his arrowe.

17 He will not suffer me to take my breath: hee filleth me with bitterness.

18 If I speake of strength, he behold, he is strong: if I speake of iudgement, who shall bring mee in to please?

19 If I would iustifie my selfe, mine own mouth shall condemne me: if I would be perfect, hee shall iudge me wicked.

20 Though I were perfect, yet I knowe not my soule: therefore abhorre I my selfe.

21 This is one point: therefore I said, Hee destroyeth the perfect and the wicked.

22 If the scourge should suddenly slay, should God laugh at the punishment of the innocent?

23 The earth is placed into the hand of the wicked: he couereth the faces of the iudges thereof: if not, where is he, or who is he?

24 My dayes haue beene more swift then a post: they haue fled, and seeke no good thing.

25 They are passed as with the moit (swift ships), and as the eagle that flieth to the pray.

26 If I say, I will forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath, and comfort me, 27 Then I am afraid of all my sorowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.

28 If I bewailed why labour I thus in vaine?

29 If I wash my selfe with snow water, and purge my hands most cleane, 30 Yet shalt thou plunge me in the pit, and mine owne clothes shall make me filthy.

31 For hee is not a man as I am that I should answere him: we come together to iudgement.

32 Neither is there any sumpire that might lay his hand vpon vs both.

33 Let him take his rod away from mee, and let not his feare astonish me:

34 Then will I speake, and feare him not: but because I am not so, I hold me still.

C H A P. X.

1 Iob is weary of his life, and reuerceth out his strength before God.

2 He desireth him to slay his hand,

3 And for perion of death.

My soule is cut off though I liue: I will leane my complaint vpon my selfe, and will speake in the bitterness of my soule.

2 I will say vnto God, Condemne me not: shew me wherefore thou contendest with me.

3 Thinkest thou it good to oppress me, and to call off the labour of thine hands, and to fauour the counsell of the wicked?

4 Hast thou carnall eyes? or dost thou see as man seeth?

5 Are thy dayes as mans dayes? or thy yeeres as the time of man,

6 That thou enquirest of mine iniquities, and searchest out my sinne?

7 Thou knowest that I cannot doe wickedly: for none can deliuer me out of thine hand.

8 Thine hands haue made mee, and fashioned me wholly round about, and withethou destroy me?

9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made mee as the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

10 Hast thou not powdered me out as milke? and turned me to curd like chesse?

11 Thou hast clothed me with skine and flesh, and shewed me together with bones and sinewes.

12 Thou hast giuen me life and grace: and thy visitation hath preferred my spirit.

13 Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I know that it is so with thee.

14 If I have sinned, then thou wilt frankly looke vnto me, and wilt not holde mee guiltlesse of mine iniquitie.

15 If I haue done wickedly, woe vnto mee: If I haue done righteously, I will not lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

16 But let it increase: hunt thou mee as a lion; retorne and shew thy selfe marvellous vpon me.

17 Thou renewest thy plagues against mee, and thou increasest thy wrath against mee: changes and armies of sorrowes are against me.

18 Wherefore then hast thou brought me out of the wombe? O that I had perished, and that none eye had seene me!

19 And that I were as I had not been, but brought from the wombe to the grave.

20 Are not my dayes fewe? let him cease, and leaue off from me, that I may take a little comfort.

21 Before I goe, and shall not retorne, turne to the land of darknes, and shadow of death:

22 Into a land, I say, darke as darkness it selfe, and into the shadow of death where is none order, but the light is there as darkness.

CHAP. XI.

1 Iob is vnjustly reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incompreensible. 14 He is mercifull to the penitent.

18 The reassurance that hee giveth.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, & said, 2 Should not the multitude of wordes bee answered? or should a great talker be justified?

3 Should men also their peace at thy lies? and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed?

4 For thou hast said, My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But oh that God would speake and open his lips against thee!

6 That he might shew thee the secrets of wisdom, how thou hast defered double, according to right: know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquity.

7 Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou find out the Almighty to his perfection?

8 The heau'n is as he, what canst thou do? it is deeper then the hell, how canst thou know it?

9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea.

10 If he cut off and shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man would bee wise, though man new borne is like a wild asse colt.

13 If thou prepare thine heart, and stretch out thine hands toward him:

14 If iniquitie bee in thine hande, put it farre away, and let no wickedaffe dwell in thy Tabernacle.

15 Then truly shalt thou lift vp thy face without spot, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare:

16 But thou shalt forget thy misery, and remember it as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shal appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine, and bee as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bold, because there is hope: and thou shalt dig pits, and shalt lie downe safely.

19 *For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraide: yea, many shall make sure vnto thee.

20 But the eyes of the wicked shall faile, and their hope shall be sorrow of minde.

CHAP. XII.

1 Iob accuseth his friends of ignorance. 7 Hee declareth the might and power of God. 17 And how he changeth the course of things.

Then Iob answered, and said, 2 In deepe because that yee are the people wisely, wisdom must die with you.

3 But I haue vnderstanding as well as you, and am not inferiour vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

4 *I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and he heareth him: the iust and the vpright is laughed to scorne.

5 He that is ready to fall, is a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

6 The tabernacles of robbers doe prosper, and they are in safety that provoke God, whom God hath enriched with his hand.

7 Aske now the beastes, and they shall teach thee: and the fowles of the heauen, and they shall tell thee:

8 Or speake to the earth, and it shall shew thee: or the fishes of the sea, and they shall declare vnto thee.

9 Who is ignorant of all these, but that the hand of the Lord hath made these?

10 In whose hande is the soule of every liuing thing, and the breath of all mankind?

11 Doeth not the eares discern the words? and the mouth taste mete for it selfe?

12 Among the ancient is wisdom, and in the length of dayes is vnderstanding.

13 With him is wisdom and strength: he hath counsell and vnderstanding.

14 Behold, hee will breake downe, and it cannot be built: he shutteth a man vp, and he cannot be loosed.

15 Behold, he withholdeth the waters, and they drie vp: but when he sendeth them out, they destroy the earth.

16 With him is strength and wisdom: he that is decciued, and that deceiveth, are his.

17 He causeth the counsellors to goe as spoyle, and maketh the iudges fooles.

18 He looseth the collar of kings, and girdeth their loynes with a girdle.

19 Hee leadeth away the princes as a pray, and overthroweth the mighty.

20 He taketh away the speech from the faithfull counsellors, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

21 He powreth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mighty weak.

22 He discouereth the deepe places from their darknes, and bringeth forth the shadow of death to light.

23 Hee encreaseth the people, and destroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

24 Hee taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the wilderness out of the way.

25 They grope in the darke without light: and he maketh them to stagger like a drunken man.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The penitent shal be saved, and the hypocrite condemned. 20 He prayeth vnto God that he would not handle him rigorously.

Loe,

L O, mine eye hath ferre alia: mine care hath heard and vnderstood it.

1 I know alio as much as you know: I am not inferior vnto you.

2 But I will speake to the Almighty, and I desire to dispute with God.

3 For indeed you forge lies, and all you are phisicians of no value.

4 Oh that you would hold your tongue: that it might be imputed vnto you for wildome.

5 Now heare my disputation, and giue care to the arguments of my lips.

6 Will ye speake wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

7 Will ye accept his person? or will ye contend for God?

8 Is it well that he should seeke of you? wil you make a lie for him as counsell for a man?

9 He will surely reprove you, if yee doe secretly accept any person.

10 Shall not his excellencie make you afraide? and his feare fell vpon you?

11 Your memories may be compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of clay.

12 Held your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what will.

13 Wherefore doe I take my flesh in my teeth, and put my soule in mine hand?

14 Loe, though he slay me, yet will I trust in him, and I will reprove my waies in his sight.

15 He shalbe my saluation also: for the hypocrite shall not come before him.

16 Heare diligently my wordes, and marke my talke.

17 Behold now: if I prepare me to iudgement, I know that I shalbe iustified.

18 Who is he that will plead with me? for if I now hold my tongue, I die.

19 But doe not these twowthings vnto me, then wil I not hide my selfe from thee:

20 With-traw thine hand from mee, and let not thy feare make me afraid.

21 Then call thou, and I will answer: or let me speake, and answer thou me.

22 How many are mine iniquities and sinnes? shew me my rebellion and my sinne.

23 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and takest me for thine enemy?

24 Wilt thou breake a leafe driuen to and fro? and wilt thou pursue the drie stubble?

25 For thou writest bitter things against me, and makest me to possesse the iniquities of my youth.

26 Thou putttest my leete also in the stocks, and looktest narrowly vnto all my pathes, & makest the print thereof in the soles of my feet.

27 Such one consumeth like a rotten thing, and as a garment that is motheaten.

CHAP. XIII.

1 To describe the shortnesse and misery of the life of man. 2 Hope in faith in the godly. 3 The condition of mans life.

M An that is borne of a woman, is of short continuance, and full of trouble.

2 Hee shooteth forth as a floure, and is cut downe: he vanissheth alio as a shadow, and continueth not.

3 And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such one, and enquest mee to enter into iudgement with thee.

4 Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthiness? there is not one.

5 Are not his daies determined? the number of his moneths appointed thee: thou hast appointed his bounds, which he cannot passe.

6 Turne from him that hee may cease vntill his desired day, as an hireling.

7 For there is hope of a tree, if it be cut downe, that it will yet sprout, and the branches thereof will not cease.

8 Though the root of it waxe olde in the earth, and the stocke thereof be dead in the ground, 9 Yet by the sent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughs like a plant.

10 But man is sicke and dieth, and man perissheth, and where is he?

11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and drieth vp,

12 So man sleepeeth, and riseth not: for hee shall not wake againe, nor be raised from his sleepe till the heauen be no more.

13 Oh that thou wouldst hide me in the grane, and keepe mee secret vntill thy wrath were past, and wouldst giue me terme, and remember me!

14 If a man die, shall he liue againe? All the daies of mine appointed time wil I wait, till my changing shall come.

15 Thou shalt call me, and I shall answer thee: thou shalt louest the worke of thine owne hands.

16 But now thou numbrest my steps, and dost not delay my sinnes.

17 Mine iniquitie is sealed vp as in a bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednesse.

18 And surely as the mountain that falleth cometh to nought, and the rocke that is remooued from his place:

19 As the water breaketh the stones, when thou ouerflowest the things which grow in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away, he changeth his face when thou callest him away.

21 And he knoweth not if his sounes shalbe honourable, neither shall hee vnderstand concerning them, whether they shalbe of low degree.

22 But as his flesh is vpon him, he shalbe sorrowfull, & while his soule is in him, it shall mourne.

CHAP. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because hee ascribeth wildome and purpouse to himselfe. 2 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

T Hen answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,

2 Shalla a wife man speake words of the wind, and fill his belly with the East winde?

3 Shall he dispute with wordes not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

4 Surely thou hast cast off pure, and restrainest prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seeing thou hast chosen the tongue of the craftie.

6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lips testifie against thee.

7 Art thou the first man that was borne? and wast thou made before the hills?

8 Hast thou heard the secret counsell of God, and dost thou restraîne wildome to thee?

9 What knowest thou that wee know not? and vnderstandest that is not in vs?

10 With vs are both ancient & very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Seem the consultations of God small vnto thee? is thisthing strange vnto thee?

12 Why dost thou thine heart take thee away? and what doe thine eyes meane,

16, spirit.

13 That thou art wroth to God for thy pleasure, and bringest such words out of thy mouth?

14 What is man that he should be cleaner and he that is borne of woman that he should be just?

15 Behold, he found no redress in his saints: yea, the heavens are not cleme in his sight.

16 How much more can man be abominable, and filthy which drinketh iniquitie like water?

17 I will tell thee: heare me, and I will declare that which I haue seene.

18 Which wise men haue told, as they haue blared of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:

19 To whom alone the land was giuen, and no stranger passed thorow them.

20 The wicked man is continually as one that tramailt his child, and the number of yeeres is hid from the tyrant.

21 A sound of feare is in his eares, & in his prospectiue the destroyer shall come vpon him.

22 He beleueth not to reuinte out of darkenes: for he seeth the sword beate him.

23 He wandreth to and fro for bread, where hee may: he knoweth that the day of darkenes is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction and anguish shall make him afraid: they shall preuaile against him as a king ready to the battell.

25 For hee hath stretched out his hand against God, and made himselfe strong against the Almighty.

26 Therefore God shall runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, and against the most thicke part of his shield.

27 Because he hath covered his face with his faces, and hath sellops in his hauke.

28 Though hee dwell in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes.

29 He shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall hee prolong the perfection thereof in the earth.

30 He shall neuer depart out of darkenesse the firste shall dry vpon his branches, and he shall goe away with the breath of his mouth.

31 Hee beleueth not that hee erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shall be his change.

32 His branch shall not be get. ene, but shall be cut off before his day.

33 God shall destroy him, as the vine her sower grape, and shall caite him off, as the olive doeth her floure.

34 For the Congregation of the hypocrites shall be desolate, and fire shall denounce the houses of bribes.

35 For they conceiue mischief, and bring forth vanitie, and their belly hath prepared deceit.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Tob moued by the importunacie of his friends, 7 comforteth in what extremities hee is, 19 and taketh God to himselfe. o be answered.

By 10 answered and said,

1 I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

2 Shall there be none end of words of wind? or what maketh thee bold to so answer?

3 I could also speake as yee doe: (but would God your soules were in my soules steade) I could keepe you company in speaking, and could shake mine head at you.

4 But I would strengthen you with my mouth & the comfort of my lips should affuage your sorrow.

5 Though I speake, my sorrow cannot be asswaged: though I cease, what release haue I?

6 But now he maketh mee wearie: O God, thou hast made all my congregation desolate.

7 And hast made mee full of wrinkles which is a witnesse thereof, and my leane flesh is withered vpon me, testifying the same in my face.

8 His wrath hath tormented me, and hee hateth me, and gnasheth vpon me with his teeth: mine enemy hath sharpened his eyes against me.

9 They haue opened their mouthes vpon mee, and smitten mee vpon the cheek in reproch: they gather them cluies together against me.

10 God hath deliuered me to the vniuit, & hath made mee to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked.

11 I was in wealth, but hee hath brought me to nought: he hath taken me by the necke, and beaten me, and let me as a marke for himselfe.

12 His archers compass me round about: hee cutteth my reins, and doeth not spare, and powreth my gall vpon the ground.

13 He hath broken mee with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a giant.

14 I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skine, and haue abased my home vnto the dust.

15 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadowe of death is vpon mine eyes.

16 Though there be no wickednes in mine hands, and my prayer be pure.

17 O can thou couer not thou my blood, and let my crying hide no place.

18 For loe, now my witnesse is in the heauen, and my record is on high.

19 My friends speake eloquently against me: but mine eye powreth out teares vnto God.

20 O that a man might plead with God, as man with his neighbour.

21 For the yeeres accounted come, and I shall go the way, whence I shall not returne.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Tob saith that hee consume his way, and yet doeth patiently abide it, 10 Hee comforteth his friends to repentance, 15 shewing that hee loobeth but for death.

My breath is corrupt, my dayes are cut off, and the graue is ready for me.

2 There are none but mockers with mee: and mine eyes continueth in their bitterness.

3 Lay downe now, & put me in suretie for thee: who is he that will touch mine hand?

4 For thou hast bid their heart from vnderstanding: therefore shalt thou not see them vpon on hee.

5 For the eyes of his children shall faile, that speakeeth flattery to his friends.

6 He hath also made me a by-word of the people, and I am as a tabret before them.

7 Mine eye therefore is dimmed for griefe, and all my strength is like a shadow.

8 The righteous shall be astonished at this, and the innocent shall be moued against the hypocrite.

9 But the righteous will holde his way, and hee whose hands are pure shall increase his strength.

10 All you therefore turne you, and come now, and I shall not finde one wise among you.

11 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart.

12 Haue changed the night for the day, and the light that approached for darkenesse.

13 Though I hope, yet the graue shall bee mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke.

14 I shall say to corruption, Thou art my father, and to the wombe, Thou art my mother and my sister.

15 Where is this now my hope? or who shall confesse the thing that I hoped for?

16 They shall goe downe into the bottom of the pits surely it shall lie together in the dust.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bilgad releaseth the paines of the vnfaithfull and wicked.

Then answered Bilgad the Shuhite, and said,
1 When wilt thou make an end of your words? cause vs to vnderstand, and then we will speake.

2 Wherefore are we counted as beasts, and are vile in your sight?

3 Thou art as one that treadeth his foule in his anger. Shall the earth be forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remooued out of his place?

4 Yea, the light of the wicked shall be quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine,

5 The light shall be darke in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him.

6 The steps of his strength shall bee restrained, and his owne counsell shall cast him downe.

7 For he is taken in the net by his feete, and hee walketh vpon the snares.

8 The graine shall take him by the heele, and the thiefe shall come vpon him.

9 A snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.

10 Fearefullnesse shall make him afraid on euery side, and shall drine him to his feete.

11 His strength shall be famine: and destruction shall be ready at his side.

12 It shall deuoure the innerpart of his skin, and the first borne of death shall deuoure his strength.

13 His hope shall be rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the king of teare.

14 Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not his) and brimstone shall be scattered vpon his habitation.

15 His rootes shall beedried vpon beneath, and a boue shall his branch be cut downe.

16 His remembrance shall perissh from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete.

17 They shall drine him out of the light vnto darkenesse, and chase him out of the world.

18 He shall neither haue son nor nephew among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

19 The posteritie shall be astonied at his day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient.

20 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth hot God.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Job reprooueth his friends, 15 and reciteth his miseries and grievous paines. 23 He assureth himselfe of the generall resurrection.

But Job answered, and said,
2 How long will yee vex me soule, and torment me with words?

3 Ye haue now ten times reproched me, and are not ashamed: ye are impudent toward me.

4 And though I had indeed erred, mine error remaineth with mee.

5 But indeed if yee will aduance your selues against me, and rebuke me for my reproch,

6 Know now that God hath ouerthrowen mee, and hath compassed me with his net.

7 Behold, I cry out of violence, but I haue none answere: I cry, but there is no iudgement.

8 Hee hath hedged vp my way that I cannot passe, and hee hath set darkenesse in my pathes.

9 He hath spoiled me of mine honour, and taken the crowne away from my head.

10 He hath destroyed me on euery side, and I am gone: and hee hath remooued my hope like a tree.

11 And hee hath kindled his wrath against mee, and conuerted me as one of his enemies.

12 His armies came together, & made their way vpon me, and camped about my tabernacle.

13 He hath remooued my brethren far from me, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.

14 My neighbours haue forsaken mee, and my familiars haue forgotten me.

15 They that dwell in my house, and my maidens, tooke me for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.

16 I called my seruant, but hee would not answere, though I prayed him with my mouth.

17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine owne bodie.

18 The wicked also despised mee, and when I rose, they spake against me.

19 All my secret friends abhorred mee, and they whom I loued are turned against me.

20 My bone cleaue to my skine, and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the skin of my teeth.

21 Haue pitie vpon me: haue pitie vpon me (O yee my friends) for the hand of God hath touched mee.

22 Why doe yee persecute me as God? and are not satisfied with my flesh?

23 Oh that my words were now written! Oh that they were written euen in a booke.

24 And graven with an yron pen in leade, or in stone for euer!

25 For I am sure that my Redeemer liueth, and hee shall stand the last on the earth.

26 And though alter to my skine worms destroy this body, yet shall I see God in my flesh.

27 Whom I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall beholde, and none other for mee, though my reins are consumed within me.

28 But yee said, Why is hee persecuted? And there was a deepe matter in me.

29 Be ye afraid of the sword: for the sword will be aneenged of wickednesse, that yee may know that there is a iudgement.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar sheweth that the wicked and the common shall haue a short end, 22 Though for a time they flourish.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, & said,
2 Doubtlesse my thoughts cause me to answere, and therefore I make haste.

3 I haue heard the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answere.

4 Knowest thou not this of old? and since God placed man vpon the earth,

5 That the reioycing of the wicked is short, and that the ioy of hypocrites is but a moment?

6 Though his excellency mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the clouds.

7 Yet shall hee perissh for euer like his dung, and they which haue seene him shall say, Where is hee?

8 He shall flee away as a dream, and they shall not find him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night.

9 So that the eye which had seene him, shall doe so no more, and his place shall see him no more.

10 His children shall flatter the poore, and his hands shall restore his substance.

11 His bones are full of the frame of his youth, and it shall lie downe with him in the dust.

12 When wickednesse was sweete in his mouth, and he hid it under his tongue.

Y 4 and

13 And imagined it, and would not looke it, but kept it close in his mouth.

14 Then his meat in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the midst of him.

15 He hath deuoured substance, and he shall vomit it: for God shall draw it out of his belly.

16 He shall strike the gall of Aspes, and the Viper tongue shall slay him.

17 He shall not see the rivers, nor the floods, and streams of brooke and butter.

18 He shall reſtore the labour, and shall deuoure no more, euē according to the substance ſhall be his exchange, and he shall enjoy it no more.

19 For he hath vntoone many: hee hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoiled houses which hee builded not.

20 Surely hee shall feele no quietnesse in his body, neither shall hee reſt of that which hee desired.

21 There shall none of his meate be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.

22 When hee shall be filled with his abundance, he shall be in paine, and the hand of all the wicked shall asſaile him.

23 Hee shall bee about to fill his belly, but God shall send vpon him his fierce wrath, and shall cause to raine vpon him, euē vpon his meate.

24 He shall flee from the yron weapons, and the bow of Steele shall strike him thusow.

25 The sword is drawen out, and cometh forth of the body, and ſtincth of his gall, so feare cometh vpon him.

26 All darkenesse shall bee hid in his secret places: the fire that is not blown, shall deuoure him, and that which semeth in his Tabernacle shall be destroyed.

27 The heauen shall declare his wickednesse, and the earth shall rise vp against him.

28 The increase of his house shall goe away: it shall flow away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of the wicked man from God, and the heritage that he shall haue of God for his words.

C H A P. XXI.

7 Job declareth how the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proud: 11 in ſomuch that they blaſpheme God. 16 Their destruction is at hand. 25 None ought to be iudged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperitie.

But Job answered and said,

1 Hearc diligently my words, and this shall be in stead of your consolations.

2 Suffer me that I may ſpeake, and when I haue ſpooken, mocke on.

3 Doe I direct my talke to man? If it were so, how should not my spirit be troubled?

4 Marke me, and bee ashalmed, and lay your hand vpon your mouth.

5 Euen when I remember, I am afraid, & feare taketh hold on my ſide.

6 Wherefore doe the wicked liue, and waxe old, and grow in wealth?

7 Their feede is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes.

8 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

9 Their bullocke gendereth, and faileth not: their cow calueth and casteth not her calfe.

10 They send forth their children like sheepe, and their sonnes dance.

11 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the organs.

12 They spend their days in wealth, and destruction cometh vnto them in the night.

13 They say vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the knowledge of thy wayes.

14 Who is the Almighty, whom we should feare him? and what profit shall we haue, if we should pray vnto him?

15 Lo, their mouth is full of their word: therefore let the counsell of the wicked bee far from mee.

16 How oft shall the counsell of the wicked bee put out? and their destruction come vpon them: they will dinde themselves in his wrath.

17 They shall be as stubble before the wind, and as chaffe that the storme carrieth away.

18 God will lay vpon the sorrow of the father for his children: when he rewardeth him, he shall know it.

19 His eyes shall see his destruction, and he shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty.

20 For what pleasure hath hee in his house after him, when the number of his monethes is cut off?

21 Shall any teach God knowledge, who iudgeth the highest things?

22 One dieth in his full strength, being in all eale and prosperitie.

23 His breasts are full of milke, and his bones runne full of marrow.

24 And another dieth in the bitterness of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.

25 They shall sleepe both in the dust, and the wormes shall couer them.

26 Behold, I know your thoughts and the enterprises wherein with yee doe me wrong.

27 For yee say, Where is the princes house? and where is the tabernacle of the wicked dwelling?

28 May yee not aske them that goe by the way? and yee cannot deny their signes.

29 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of destruction, and they shall bee brought forth to the day of wrath.

30 Who shall declare his way to his face? and who shall reward him for that he hath done?

31 Yet shall he be brought to the grasse, and remaine in the heape.

32 The sinne valley shall be sweet vnto him, and euery man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable.

33 How then comfort yee me in vaine, seeing in your answers there remaine but lies?

C H A P. XXII.

1 Eliphaz affirmeth that Job is punished for his sin. 6 He accuseth him of conuersation, 13 and that hee denied Gods providence. 21 He exhorteth him to repentance.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said,

2 May a man be profitable vnto God, as hee that is wise, may be profitable to himselfe?

3 Is it any thing vnto the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him that thou makest thy wayes vp right?

4 Is it for feare of thee that he will accuse thee? or goe with thee into iudgment?

5 Is not thy wickednesse great, and thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken the pledge from thy brother for nought, and spoiled the clothe of the naked.

7 To such as were wearie thou hast not giuen water to drinke, and hast withdrawn bread from the hungry.

8 But the mightie man had the earth, and hee that was in authoritie dwelt in it.

9 Thou hast cast out widowers empty, and the armes of the fatherlesse were broken.

10 Therefore stande one round about shee, and fear shall suddenly trouble thee.

11 Of darkness, that thou shalt not see, and abundance of waters shall couer thee.

12 Is not God on high in the heauens? and behold the height of the firmament how high they are.

13 Yet thou sayest, How should God know? can he see through the darke cloud?

14 Hee clouds the height that he cannot see, and hides himselfe in the circle of heauen.

15 Hast thou marked the way of the world, wherein wicked men haue walked?

16 Which were cut downe before the time, whose foundation was as a riuer that overflowed:

17 Which said vnto God, Depart from vs, and auid what the Almighty could doe for them.

18 Yet hee filled their house with good things:
but let the counsell of the wicked bee farre from mee.

19 The righteous shall see them, and shall re-ioyce, and the innocent shall laugh them to scorne.

20 Surely our substance is hid, but the fire hath consumed the remnant of them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, with him, and make peace, thereby thou shalt haue pro-peritie.

22 Receiue, I pray thee, the Law of his mouth, and lay vp his words in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt be built vp, and thou shalt put iniquitie farre from thy Tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay vp gold for dust, and the gold of Ophir, as the flintes of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, and thou shalt haue plenty of silver.

26 And thou shalt then delight in the Almighty, and lift vp thy face vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decree a thing, and he shall establish it vnto thee, and the light shall shine vpon thy wayes.

29 When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted vp: and God shall save the humble person.

30 The innocent shall deliuer the land, and it shall be preferred by the purenesse of thine hands.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Job affirmeth that hee both knoweth the power and iustice of the Judge, 10 and that hee is not punished onely for his sinnes.

But Job answered, and said,

1 Though my talke be this day in bitterness, and my plague greater then my groining,

2 Would God I knew how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.

3 I would plead the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

4 I would know the words that hee would an-swere me, and would vnderstand what hee would say vnto mee.

5 Would hee pleade against mee with his great power? No, but he would put strength in me.

6 These the righteous might reason with him, so should I be deliuered for euer from my Iudge.

7 Behold, if I goe to the East, hee is not there, if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:

8 If to the North, where hee worketh, yet I cannot see him, he will hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot behold him.

9 But he knoweth my way, and trieth mee, and I shall come forth like the gold.

10 My foot hath followed his steps: his way hath I kept, and haue not declined.

11 Neither haue I departed from the commandement of his lips, and I haue obserued the words of his mouth more then mine appointed food.

12 Yet he is in one minute, and who can catch him? yea, he doeth what his minde desireth.

13 For hee will performe that which is decreed of mee, and many such things are with him.

14 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraid of him.

15 For God hath softened mine heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me.

16 For I am not cut off in darkness, but he hath hid the darkness from my face.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Job describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked, 13 how all things are gouerned by Gods providence, 17 and the destruction of the wicked.

How should not the times bee hid from the Almighty, seeing that they which know him see not his dayes?

3 Some remove the land markes, that rob the flockes and feede the rest.

4 They lead away the asse of the fatherlesse, and take the widowers ox to pledge.

5 They make the poore to come out of the way, so that the poore of the earth hide themselves together.

6 Behold, as wilde asses in the wilderness, go forth to their busines, and rise early for a pray:
the wilderness giueth him and his children foode.

7 They reape his promise in the field, but they gather the late vintage of the wicked.

8 They cause the naked to lodge without garment, and without couering in the cold.

9 They are wet with the showres of the moun-taines, and they embrace the rocke for want of a couering.

10 They plucke the fatherlesse from the breast, and take the pledge of the poore.

11 They cause him to goe naked without clothing, and take the gleanings from the hungry.

12 They that make cyle betwene their wallles, and tread their winepresses, suffer thirst.

13 Men cry out of the ciue, and the foules of the flaine cry out: yet God doth not charge them with silly.

14 These are they that abhorre the light: they know not the wayes thereof, nor continue in the pathes thereof.

15 The murderer if hee early, and killeth the poore and the needie: and in the night hee is as a theife.

16 The eye also of the adulterer waiteth for the twilight, and saith, None eye shall see mee, and dis-guiseth his face.

17 They dig throw houses in the darke, which they marked for themselves in the day: they know not the light.

18 But the morning is euen to them as the shadow of death: if one know them, they are in the terrors of the shadow of death.

19 Hee is swift vpon the waters: their portion shall be cursed in the earth: he will not behold the way of the vineyard.

20 As the drie ground and beate consume the snow waters, so shall the graue consume the sinners.

21 The pittifull man shall forget him: the worme shall

Job felt his sweetness he shall be no more remembered, and the wicked shall be broken like a tree.

21 He doeth euill to treat the barren, that doeth not beare, neither doeth he good to the widow.

22 Hee draweth alio the mightie by his power, and when he riseth vp noise is sure of life.

23 Though men giue him assurance to be in safetie, yet his eyes are vpon their wayes.

24 They are exalted for a litle, but they are gone, and are brought low as all others: they are destroyed, and cut off as the top of an eare of corne.

25 But if it bee not so, where is hee? or who will proue me a liar, and make my words of no value?

CHAP. XXV.

Bildad proueth that no man is cleane nor without sinne before God.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,
1 Power and feare is with him, that maketh peace in his high places.

2 Is there any number in his armies? and vpon whom shall not his light arise?

3 And how can a man be iustified with God, or how can he be cleane, that is borne of woman?

4 Beholde, hee will giue no light to the moone, and the starres are vncleane in his sight.

5 How much more man, a worne, euen the sounne of man, which is but a worne?

CHAP. XXVI.

Job sheweth that a man cannot be pe God, and proueth it by his miracles.

But Job answered, and said,
1 Whom helpeth thou? him that hath no power? Quest thou the arme that hath no strength?

2 Whom counsellest thou? him that hath no wisdom? thou shewest right well as the thing is.

3 To whom dost thou declare these wordes? or whose spirit cometh out of thee?

4 The dead things are formed vnder the waters, and neede vnto them.

5 The graue is maked before him, and there is no conring for destruction.

6 He stretcheth out the North ouer the empie place, and hangeth the earth vpon nothing.

7 Hee bindeth the waters in his clouds, and the cloud is not broken vnder them.

8 He holdeth backe the face of his throne: and creadeth his cloud vpon it.

9 He hath set bounds about the waters, vntill the day and the night come to an end.

10 The pillars of heauen tremble and quake at his reproofe.

11 The sea is calme by his power, and by his vnderstanding he smiteth the pride thereof.

12 His spirit hath garnished the heauens, and his hand hath formed the crooked serpent.

13 Loe these are part of his wayes: but how litle a portion heere we of him: and who can vnderstand his fearefull power?

CHAP. XXVII.

The confidence and perfittnesse of Job. 13 The reward of the wicked out of the tyrants.

Moreouer Job proceeded and continued his payable, saying.

1 The liuing God hath taken away my iudgement: for the Almighty hath put my soule in bitterness.

2 Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the spirit of God in my nostrils,

3 My lips surely shall speake no wickednes, and my tongue shall utter no deceit.

4 God forbid that I should iustifie you: vntill

1 I see, I will neuer take away mine innocencie from my selfe.

2 I will keepe my righteoulesse, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reprove mee of my dayes.

3 Mine enemy shall bee as the wicked, and hee that riseth against me, as the vniuersions.

4 For what hope hath the hypocrite when hee hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his foale?

5 Will God heare his cry, when trouble cometh vpon him?

6 Will hee set his delight on the Almighty? will hee call vpon God at all times?

7 I will teach you what is in the hand of God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almighty.

8 Behold, all yee your selues haue seene it: why then do you thus vanish in vanitie?

9 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receiue of the Almighty.

10 If his children bee in great number, the sword shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread.

11 His remnant shall bee buried in death: and his widowes shall not weepe.

12 Though he should heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare raiment as the clay, 13 He may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall diuide the siluer.

14 He buildeth his house as the moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

15 When the rich man sleepe, hee shall not be gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

16 Terrors shall take him as waters: and a tempest shall cary him away by night.

17 The East winde shall take him away, and hee shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place.

18 And God shall cast vpon him, and not spare, though he would saue himselfe out of his hand.

19 Every man shall clap their hands at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Job sheweth that the wisdom of God is vnsearchable.

The siluer surely hath his veine, and the gold his place where they take it.

2 Iron is taken out of the dust, and brasse is molten out of the floue.

3 God putteth an end to darkenesse, and he trieth the perfection of all things: hee seeth a bound of darkenesse, and of the shadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out against the inhabitant, and the waters forgotten of the foote, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the same earth someth bread, and vnder it as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The stones thereof are a place of Saphires, and the dust of it is gold.

7 There is a path which no soule hath knowen, neither hath the kites eye seene it.

8 The lions whelpes haue not walked it, nor the lea passed thereby.

9 Hee putteth his hand vpon the rockes, and overthroweth the mountain by the rockes.

10 He breaketh riners in the rockes, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods, that they doe not ouerflow, and the thing that is hid bringeth hee to light.

12 But where is wisdom found? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

12 Man knoweth not the price thereof: for it is not sold in the land of the living.

13 The depth saith, It is not in mee: the sea also saith, It is not with me.

14 Gold shall not be given for it: neither shall silver be weighed for the price thereof.

15 It shall not be valued with the wedge of gold of Ophir, nor with the precious Onix, nor the Saphire.

16 The gold nor the Chrystal shall be equal vnto it, nor the exchange shall be for plate of fine gold.

17 No mention shall be made of brass, nor of the gabfish: for wisdom is more precious then perle.

18 The Topaz of Ethiopia shall not bee equal vnto it, neither shall it bee valued with the wedge of pure gold.

19 Whence then cometh wisdom, & where is the place of vnderstanding.

20 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, and is hid from the foules of the heauen?

21 Destruction and death say, Wee haue heard the name thereof with our eares.

22 But God vnderstandeth the way thereof, and he knoweth the place thereof.

23 For he beholdeth the ends of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen.

24 To make the weight of the windes, and to weigh the waters by measure.

25 When he made a decree for the rains, and a way for the lightning of the thunders, 26 Then did he see it, and counted it: hee prepared it, and also considered it.

Prout. 1. 7. 27 And vnto man he said, Behold, the feare of the Lord is wisdom, and to depart from euill is vnderstanding.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Job comp' a' with the prosperitie of the time p'f. 7. 21 His authorities, 12 iustice and equitie.

2 O Job proceeded, and continued his parable, saying,

8 br. mo. with be- sen. 3 Oh that I were as in time past, when God preferred mee!

4 When his light shined vpon mine head, and when by his light I walked through the darkenesse,

5 As I was in the dayes of my youth: when Gods providence was vpon my tabernacle:

6 When the Almighty was yet with mee, and my children round about me:

7 When I washed my paths with butter, and when the rocks powred me out riuers of oyle:

8 When I went out to the gate, euill to the iudgement seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seat in the fire ste.

9 The young men saw mee, and hid themselves, and the aged arose, and stood vp.

10 The princes stayed talke, and laid their hand on their mouth.

11 The voice of princes was hid, & their tongue cleaued to the soole of their mouth.

12 And when the eare heard me, it blessed mee: and when the eye saw me, it gaue witness to me.

13 For I deliuered the poore that cryed, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

14 The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon mee, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

15 I put on iustice, and it covered me: my iudgement was as a robe and a crowne.

16 I was the eyes to the blind, and I was the seete to the lame.

17 I was a father vnto the poore: and when I knew not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

18 I brake up the routes of the wicked, and plucked the pray out of his teeth.

19 Then I said, I shall die in my nest, and I shall multiply my dayes as the land.

20 For my route is spread out by the water, and the dew shall lie vpon my branch.

21 My glory shall renew toward mee, and my bow shall be restored in mine hand.

22 Vnto me men gaue eare, and waited, and held their tongue at my counsel.

23 After my words they replied not, and my talke dropped vpon them.

24 And they waited for me, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth as for the latter raine.

25 If I laughed on them, they beleueed it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance to fall.

26 I appointed out the way, and did sit as chiefe, and dwelt as a King in the arnie, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Job complains that he is conuicted of the most contemptible, 11. 21. In an 9 of his seruic first and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

2 Now they that are younger then I, mocke mee: they whose fathers I haue refused to let with the dogges of my flockes.

3 For where should the strength of the ir hand haue serued me, seeing age perished in them?

4 For pouertie and famine they were solitarie, fiering into the wilderness, which is darke, desolate, and waste.

5 They cut vp hurdles by the bushes, and the br. ma. 10ues.

6 They were chased forth from among men, they dwelt at them as at a thiele.

7 Therefore they dwell in the clefts of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rockes.

8 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselves.

9 They were the children of foolles, and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the carth.

10 And now am I their song, & I am their talke.

11 They abhorre me, and flee farre from mee, and spare not to spit in my face.

12 Because that God hath loosed my corde and humbled mee, they haue loosed the bundle before mee.

13 The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue pushed my feet, and haue troden on mee, as on the pathes of their destruction.

14 They haue destroyed my pathes: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none helpe.

15 They came as a great breach of waters, and vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.

16 Feare is turned vpon mee: and they pursue my soule as the wind, and mine health passeth away as a cloud.

17 Therefore my soule is now powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken hold on mee.

18 It perceeth my bones in the night, and my sinewes take no rest.

19 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, with compasseth me about as the collar of my coat.

20 Hee hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like ashes and dust.

21 When I cry vnto thee thou dost not heare me, neither regardst thou, when I stand vp.

16. wif mynt, or Lew.

21 Thou turnest thy selfe croetly against me, and 22 enemy vnto me with the strength of thine hand.
23 Thou takest me vp, and caust me to ride vpon the winde, and hastest my strength to faile.
24 Surely I know that thou wilt bring mee to death, and to the haufe appointed for all the liuing.
25 Doubtlesse, none can stretch his hand vnto the graue, though they cry in his destruction.
26 Did not I weep with him that was in trouble?
was not my soule in heauinesse for the poore?
27 Yet when I looked for good, euill came vnto mee: and when I waited for light, these came darkenesse.
28 My bowels did boyle without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.
29 I went mourning without sunne: I stood vpon in the Congregation and cryed.
30 I am a brother to the dragons, and a companion to the ostriches.
31 My skine is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heat.
32 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organs into the voice of them that weep.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Jab receiuethe the innocencie of his wiue and number of his seruises, which he declareth: but ought to bee the life of the faithfull.
I made a Covenent with mine eyes: why then should
I thinke on a maide?
2 For what portion should I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the Almighty from on high?
3 Is not destruction to the wicked, and strange punishments to the workers of iniquitie?
4 Deeth not he beheld my wayes, and tell all my secrets?
5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceit, 6 Let God weigh me in the iust ballance, and he shall know mine rightnesse.
7 If my sleepe hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hands, 8 Let me see, and let another eat: yea, let my plants be rooted out.
9 If mine heart hath bene deceived by a woman, or if I haue laid waite at the doore of my neighbour,
10 Let my wife grinde vnto another man, and let other men bowe downe vpon her:
11 For this is a wickednesse, and iniquitie to bee condemned:
12 Yea, this is a fire that shall deuoure to destrution, and which shall roote out all mine increase.
13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my ser-uants and of my maide, when they did contend with me,
14 What then shall I doe when God standeth vp? and when hee shall visite mee, what shall I answer?
15 He that hath made mee in the wombe, hath he not made him? hath not he alone fashioned vs in the wombe?
16 If I restrained the poore of their desire, or haue haue caused the eyes of the wi. low to faile, 17 Or haue eaten my morsels alone, and the fatherlesse hath not eaten thereof.
18 (For from my youth he hath growen vp with me as with a father, and from my mother's wombe
I haue bene a guide vnto her.)
19 If I haue seene any perisll for want of clothing, or any poore without covering.

20 If his toyne haue not blessed me, because he was warned with the fleece of my sheepe, 21 If I haue lifted vp my hand against the fatherlesse, when I saw that I might helpe him in the gate, 22 Let mine arme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone.
23 For Gods punishment was fearefull vnto me, and I could not be deliuered from his highnesse.
24 If I made gold mine hope, or haue said to the wedde of gold, Thou art my confidence, 25 If I reioiced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much, 26 If I did behold the sunne when it shined, or the moone walking in her brightnesse, 27 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or if my mouth did kisse mine hand.
28 (This also had bene an iniquitie to bee condemned: for I had denied the God aboue.)
29 If I reioiced at his destruction that hated me:
or was moued to my when euill came vpon him, 30 Neither haue I suffered my mouth to sinne by wishing a curse vnto his soule.
31 Did not the men of my tabernacle say, Who shall giue vs of his flesh? we cannot be satisfied.
32 The stranger did not lodge in the streete, but I opened my doores vnto him that went by the way.
33 If I haue hid my sinne as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my bosome, 34 Though I could haue made afeide a great multitude: yet the most contemptible of the families did feare mee: so I kept silence, and went not out of the doore.
35 Oh that I had some to heare me! beheld my signe that the Almighty will witnesse for me: though mine aduersarie should write a booke against me, 36 Would not I take it vpon my shoulder, and binde it as a crowne vnto me?
37 I will tell him the number of my goings, and goe vnto him as to a prince.
38 If my land cry against mee, or the furrowes thereof complaine together, 39 If I haue eaten the fruites thereof without siluer: or if I haue grieved the soules of the masters thereof,
40 Let thistles grow in stead of wheat, and cockle in the stead of barley.

THE WORDS OF IOB ARE ENDED.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Elihu reprooueth them off fully. 8 Acemakesh not a man wise, but the spirit of God.
O these three men ceased to answer Iob, because they esteemed themselves iust.
2 Then the wrath of Elihu, the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, of the family of Ram, was kindled:
his wrath, I say, was kindled against Iob, because he iustified himselfe more then God.
3 Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not find an answer, and yet condemned Iob.
4 (Now Elihu had waited till Iob had spoken:
for they were more ancient in yeeres then he) 5 So when Elihu saw that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled:
6 Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite answered, and said, I am young in yeeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to shew you mine opinion.

† 16. wu tall in is owne eyes.

7 For I said, The daies shall speake, and the multitude of yeeres shall teach wisdom.

8 Surely there is a spirit in man, but the inspiration of the Almighty giveth understanding.

9 Great men are not alway wise, neither doe the aged alway understand judgement.

10 Therefore, I say, Heare mee, and I will shew also mine opinion.

11 Behold, I did waite vpon your wordes, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, whiles you sought out reasons.

12 Yes, when I had considered you, loe, there was none of you that reprooed Iob, nor answered his words:

13 Left ye should say, We haue found wisdom, for God hath callt him downe, and so man.

14 Yet hath he not directed his words to me, neither will I answer him by your words.

15 Then they fearing, answered no more, but left off their talke.

16 When I had waited (for they spake not, but stood still, and answered no more)

17 Then answered I in my turne, and I shewed mine opinion.

18 For I am full of matter, and the spirit within me compelleth me.

19 Behold, my belly is as the wine which hath no vent, and like the new bottles that brast.

20 Therefore will I speake that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and will answer.

21 I will not woe accept the person of man, neither will I giue titles to man.

22 For I may not giue titles, leaſt my Maker should take me away suddenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu accuseth Iob of ignorance. 13. He sheweth that God hath diuers manners to instruct man, and to draw him from sinne. 19. He askt Elihu man, and suddenly he rebueth him. 26. Man being detoured giveth thanks to God.

W Herefore Iob, I pray thee heare my talke, and hearken vnto all my wordes.

2 Behold now, I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.

3 My wordes are in the vprightnesse of mine heart, and my lips shall speake pure knowledge.

4 The Spirit of God hath made mee, and the breath of the Almighty hath giuen me life.

5 If thou canst giue mee answer, prepare thy selfe, and stand before me.

6 Behold, I am according to thy wish, in Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.

7 Behold, my terrour shall not feare thee, neither shall mine hand be heauie vpon thee.

8 Doubtlesse thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy words:

9 I am cleane without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquity in me.

10 Loe, he hath found occasions against me, and counted me for his enemye.

11 He hath put my feete in the stockes, and looketh narrowly vnto all my paths.

12 Behold, in this hast thou not done right: I will answer thee, that God is greater then man.

13 Why dost thou strue against him? for hee doeth not giue account of all his matters.

14 For God speaketh once or twice, and one seeth it not.

15 In dreames and visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, and they sleepe vpon their beddes.

16 Then he openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which he had tried,

17 That he might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and that he might take the pride of man.

18 And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.

19 He is also stricken with sorrow vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is for e.

20 So that his life causeth him to abhorre bread, and his soule dainty meate.

21 His flesh faileth that it cannot bee strene, and his bones which were not setene, clatter.

22 So his soule draweth to the grave, and his life to the barres.

23 If there bee a messenger with him, or an interpreter, one of a thousand to declare vnto man his righteousness.

24 Then will hee haue mercede on him, and will say, Deliver him, that he goe not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.

25 Then shall his flesh be as flesh as a childes, and shall returne in the dayes of his youth.

26 He shall pay vnto God, and hee will bee fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with ioy.

27 For he will render vnto man his righteousness.

28 He looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and peruerced righteousness, and it did not profite me, 29 He will deliver his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.

30 Loe, all these things will God worke twice or thrice with a man, 31 That hee may turne backe his soule from the pit to be illuminate in the light of the lining.

32 Marke wel, O Iob, and heare me: keep silence, and I will speake.

33 If there bee matter, answer mee, and speake: for I desire to iustifie thee.

34 If thou hast not heare mee: hold thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdom.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

5 Elihu chargeth Iob that he callth himselfe righteous. 13. He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24. God destroyeth the mighty. 30. By him the hypocrite reioiceth.

M oreouer, Elihu answered, and said,

2 Heare my wordes, ye wise men, and hearken vnto me, ye that haue knowledge.

3 For the eare trieth the words, as the mouth tasteth meate.

4 Let vs seeke iudgement among vs, and let vs know among our selues what is good.

5 For Iob hath said, I am righteous, and God hath taken away my iudgement.

6 Should I lie in my right? my wound of the arrow is grievous without my sinne.

7 What man is like Iob, that drinketh scornfullnesse like water?

8 Which goeth in the company of them that worke iniquity, and walketh with wicked men.

9 For he hath said, It profiteth a man nothing that he should walke with God, 10 Therefore hearken vnto mee, ye men of wisdom, God forbid that wickednesse should bee in God: and iniquity in the Almighty.

11 For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to finde according to his way.

12 And certainly God will not doe wickedly, neither will the almighty peruerce iudgement.

13 Whom hath he appointed ouer the earth, or who hath placed him whole world?

14. If he see his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himselfe his spirit and his breath, 15. All flesh shall perish together, and man shall returne vnto dust.

16. And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this, and hearken to the voice of my words.

17. Shall hee that hath iudgement gouerne me, and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust?

18. Wilt thou say vnto a King, Thou art wicked? or to princes, Ye are vngodly?

19. How much liſte to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, and regardeth not the rich more than the poore? for they breake all the worke of his hands.

20. They shall die suddenly, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and they shall passe forth, and take away the mighty without hand.

21. For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he seeth all his goings.

22. There is no darkenesse nor shadow of death, that the workers of iniquity might be hid therein.

23. For hee will not lay on man so much that hee should enter into iudgement with God.

24. He shall breake the mighty without seeking, and shall set vp ocher in their stead.

25. Therefore shall he declare their works: he shall turne the night, and they shall be destroyed.

26. He striketh them as wicked men in the places of the seers,

27. Because they have turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes:

28. So that they haue caused the voice of the poore to come vnto him, and he hath heard the crye of the afflicted.

29. And when hee giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble? and when hee hideth his face, who can behold him, whether it be vpon nations, or vpon a man onely?

30. Because the hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are feared.

31. Surely it apperaineth vnto God to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.

32. But if I see not, teach thou me: if I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more.

33. Will hee performe the thing through thee? for thou hast reproued it, because that thou hast chosen, and not I. Now speake what thou knowest.

34. Let woe of vnderstanding tell vnto thee, and let a wife man hearken vnto me:

35. Iob hath not spoken of knowledge, neither were his words according to wisdom.

36. I desire that Iob may be tried vnto the end, touching the answers for wicked men.

37. For he addeth rebellion vnto his sinne: hee clappeth his hands among vs, and multiplieth his words against God.

CHAP. XXXV.

6. Neither do the godlinesse profite, nor vnprofitableness hurt God, but man. 13. The wicket crye vnto God, and are not heard.

Elihu spake moreover, and said, 3. Thinkest thou this righte, that thou hast said, I am more righteous then God?

3. For thou hast said, What profiteth it thee, and what auaideth it me, so purge me from my sinne?

4. Therefore will I answer thee, and thy companions with thee.

5. Looke vnto the heauen, and see and behold the cloudes, which are higher then thou.

6. If thou sinnest, what doest thou against him? yea when thy sinnes be many, what doest thou vnto him?

7. If thou bee righteous, what giueth thou vnto him? or what receiveth he at thine hand?

8. Thy wickednesse may hurt a man as thou art, and thy righteousness may profite the sonne of man.

9. They cause many that are oppressed to crye, which crye out for the violence of the mighty.

10. But now saith, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?

11. Which teacheth vs more then the b-alls of the earth, and giueth vs more wisdom then the fowles of the heauen.

12. Then they crye because of the violence of the wicked, but he answereth not.

13. Surely God will not heare vaine, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14. Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him.

15. But now, because his anger hath not visited, nor called to count the euill with great extremity, 16. Therefore Iob openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth words without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1. Elihu sheweth the power of God, and his justice, 9. and wherefore hee purgeth. 13. The prayers of the wicked.

Elihu also proceeded, and said, 2. Suffer me a little, and I will instruct thee, for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.

3. I will fetch my knowledge afarre off, and will attribute righteousness vnto my Maker.

4. For truly my wordes shall not be false, and he that is perfect in knowledge, speaketh with thee.

5. Behold, the mighty God casteth away noise that is mighty, and valiant of courage.

6. He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7. Hee withdreweth not his eye from the righteous, but they are with Kings in the throne, where he placeth them for euer: thus they are exalted.

8. And if they be bound in fetters, and tied with the cords of affliction,

9. Then will he shew them their worke and their finnes, because they haue been proud.

10. He openeth alio their eare to discipline, and commaundeth them that they returne from iniquity.

11. If they obey & serue him, they shall end their dayes in prosperitie, and their yeeres in pleasures.

12. But if they will not obey, they shall passe by the sword, and perish without knowledge.

13. But the hypocrites of heart increase the wrath: for they call vnto when he bindeth them.

14. Their foule dieth in youth, and their life among the whoremongers.

15. He deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in poore.

16. Euen so would he haue taken thee out of the strait place into a broad place, and not shut vp beneath, and that which resteth vpon thy table, had been full of fat.

17. But thou art full of the iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equitie maintaine all things.

18. For Gods wrath is, lest he should take thee away in thine abundance: for no multitude of gifts can deliuer thee.

19. Will he regard thy riches? hee regardeth not gold, nor all them that excell in strength.

20. Bee not carefull in the night how he destroyeth the people out of their place.

11. Take thou heed, looke not to iniquity: for thou hast chosen it rather: then affliction.

12. Behold, God exalteth by his power; what teacher is like him?

13. Who hath appointed to him his way? or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

14. Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold.

15. All men see it, and men behold it afarie off.

16. Behold, God is excellent and wee know him not, neither can the number of his yeres be searched out.

17. When hee restraineth the drops of water, the raine poureth downe by the vapour thereof.

18. Which raise the clouds do drop, and let fall abundantly vpon man.

19. Who can know the diuisions of the clouds, and the thunders of his Tabernacle?

20. Behold, he speaketh his light vpon it, and conereth the bottome of the sea.

21. Fortherby he iudgeth the people, and giueth meate abundantly.

22. He couereth the light with the cloudes, and commandeth them to go againt it.

23. His companion sheweth him thereof, and there is danger in rising vp.

CHAP XXXVII.

1. Elia proueth that the vnsearchable wisdom of God is manifest by his workes, 4 As by the thunders, 6 The snow, 9 The whirlwind, 11 And the raine.

AT this also my heart is astonished, and is moued out of his place.

2. Heare the sound of his voyce, and the noyse that goeth out of his mouth.

3. Hee directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the world.

4. After it is noyse foundeth: he thundreth with the voice of his Majesty, and he will not stay them when his voice is heard.

5. God thundreth maruileously with his voyce: he worketh great things, which we know not.

6. For hee saith to the snow, Be thou vpon the earth: likewise to the small raine and to the great raine of his power.

7. With the force thereof he shutteth vp enery man, that all men may know his worke.

8. Then the beasts go into the den, and remaine in their places.

9. The whirlwind cometh out of the South, and the cold from the North wind.

10. At the breath of God the frost is giuen, and the breadth of the waters is made narrow.

11. He maketh also the clouds to labour to water the earth, and scattereth the cloud of his light.

12. And it is turned about by his gouernment, that they may do whatsoeuer he commandeth them vpon the whole world:

13. Whether it be for punishment, or for his land, or of mercy, he causeth it to come.

14. Hearken vnto this, O Iob: stand and consider the wondrous workes of God.

15. Didst thou know when God disposed them, and caused the light of his cloud to shine?

16. Hast thou known the varietie of the cloude, and the wondrous workes of him that is perfite in knowledge?

17. Or how thy clothes are warme when he maketh the earth quiet through the South wind?

18. Hast thou stretched out the heauens, which are strong, and as a molten glasse?

19. Tell vs what we shall say vnto him: for wee cannot dispute our matter because of darkness.

20. Shall it be told him when I speake? or shall man speake when he shall be destroyed?

21. And now men see not the light, which shineth in the cloudes, but the winde passeth and cleareth them.

22. The brightnesse cometh out of the North: the praise thereof is to God which is terrible.

23. For the Almighty: we cannot find him out: for he is excellent in power and indgement, and abundant in iustice: he searcheth not.

24. Let men therefore feare him: for he will not regard any that are wise in their owne conceits.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God speaketh to Iob, and declareth the wondrous workes of men in the consideration of his creatures by whose excellency the power, iustice, and prouidence of the Creator is knowne.

THEN answered the Lorde vnto Iob out of the whirlwind, and said,

1. Who is this that darkeneth the counsell by words without knowledge?

2. Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

3. Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? declare if thou hast vnderstanding.

4. Who hath laid the measures thereof, if thou knowest, or who hath stretched the line out for it?

5. Whereupon are the foundations thereof set, or who laid the corner stone thereof?

6. When the starres of the morning praised me together, and all the children of God reioyced?

7. Or who hath shut vp the sea with dores, when it issued and came forth as out of the wombe?

8. When I made the clouds as a covering thereof, and darkness as the swaddling bands thereof?

9. When I established my commandment vpon it, and set barres and dores.

10. And said, Hitherto shalt thou come, but no further, and here shall it stay thy proud waues.

11. Hast thou commanded the morning sincerely dayes? hast thou caused the morning to know his place?

12. That it might take hold of the corners of the earth, & that the wicked might be shaken out of it?

13. It is turned as clay to fashion, and all stand vp as a garment.

14. And from the wicked their light shall be taken away, and the high arme shall be broken.

15. Hast thou entered into the bottoms of the sea? or hast thou walked to seeke out the depth?

16. Haue y gates of death been opened vnto thee? or hast thou seen the gates of the shadow of death?

17. Hast thou perceiued the breadth of the earth? tell if thou knowest all this.

18. Where is the way where light dwelleth? and where is the place of darkness?

19. That thou shouldest receiue it in the bounds thereof, and that thou shouldest knowe the paths to the house thereof?

20. Knewest thou it because thou wast the borne, and bearest the number of thy dayes great?

21. Hast thou entered into the treasures of the snow? or hast thou scene the treasures of the haile,

22. Which I haue hid against the time of trouble, against the day of warre and battell?

23. By what way is the light parted, which scattereth the East wind vpon the earth?

24. Who hath diuided the spouses for the raine, or the way for the lightning of the thunders,

25. To cause it to raine on y earth where no man is, and in the wilde places where there is no man?

27 To fillst the wide and waste place, and to cure the bind of the herbets (spring forth)

28 Who is the father of the rains? or who hath begotten the drops of the dew?

29 Out of whose wombe came the yee? who hath increased the frost of the heauen?

30 The waters are hid as with a stone: and the face of the depth is frozen.

31 Canst thou restrain the sweet influences of the Pleiades? or loose the bands of Orion?

32 Canst thou bring forth Mazzaroth in their time? Canst thou also guide Arcturus with his foeces?

33 Knowest thou the course of ^{the} raven? or canst thou set the rule thereof?

34 Canst thou lift vp thy voyce to the cloudes, that the abundance of water may conser thee?

35 Canst thou send the lightnings that they may walk, and say vnto thee, Loe here we are?

36 Who hath put wisdom in the reines? nor who hath giuen the heart vnderstanding?

37 Who can number clouds by wisdom? or who can cense the bottels of heauen,

38 When the earth groweth into hardnesse, and the clots are fast together?

CHAP. XXXIX.

The bounty and p^rouidence of God, which extendeth turn to the yong rauen, giueth man full occasion to put his confidence in God, 37 to confesse and humble his himself.

Wilt thou hunt the pray for the lion? or fill the appetite of the lions whelps,

2 When they couch in their places, and remaine in the cooerto lie in wait?

3 Who prepareth for the rauen his meat, when his birds cry vnto God, wandring for lack of meat?

4 Knowest thou the time when the wilde goats bring forth yong? or doest thou marke when the kinds doe calue?

5 Canst thou number the moneths that they fulfill? or knowest thou the time when they bring forth?

6 They bow themselves: they bruis their yong, and cast out their sorrowes,

7 Yet their yong waxe fat, and grow vp with corne: they goforth, and returne noe vnto them.

8 Who hath set the wild asse at liberty? or who hath loosed the bonds of the wild asse?

9 frs I which haue made the wilderness his house, and the salt places his dwellings,

10 He derideth the multitude of the city: he heareth not the crie of the druer.

11 He seeketh out the mountaine for his pasture, and searcheth after euery greene thing.

12 Will the vnicorne serue thee? or will heary by thy cribe?

13 Canst thou bind the vnicorne with his band, to labour in the sallow? or will he plow the valleys after thee?

14 Wilt thou trust in him, because his strength is great, and cast off thy labour vnto him?

15 Wilt thou beleue him that hee will bring home thy feed, and gather it vnto thy barn?

16 Hast thou giuen the pleasant wings vnto the peacocks? or wings and feathers vnto the ostrich?

17 Which leaueth his egges in the earth, and maketh them hote in the dust,

18 And forgetteth that the foote might scatter them, or that the wild beast might breake them.

19 Hee sweeth himselfe cruell vnto his yong ones, as they were not his, and is without feare, as if he traualled in vain.

20 For God hath despised him of wisdom, and hath giuen him no part of vnderstanding.

21 When time is, he mounteth on high: he mocketh the horse and his rider.

22 Hast thou giuen the horse strength? or coue-red his necke with reyn?

23 Hast thou made him afraid as the grasshopper?
his strong reyn is fearefull.

24 He diggeth in the valley, and reioyces in his strength: he goeth forth to meet ^{his} himselfe d man.

25 Hee mocketh at feare, and is not afraid, and turneth not backe from the sword,

26 Though the quiner rattle against him, the glittering spears, and the shield.

27 He swalloweth the ground for fiercenesse and rage, and he beleueth not that it is the poist of the trunche.

28 He saith among the trumpets, Ha, ha: he smel-leth the battell afarre off, and the noise of the captaines, and the shouting.

29 Shal the hawke lie by thy wisdom, stretching out his wings toward the South?

30 Doth the eagle mount vp at thy commandement, or make his nest on high?

31 She abideth and remaineth in the rocke, men vpon the top of the rocke, and the tower.

32 From thence the spiech for meat, and her eyes behold afarre off.

33 His yong ones also sneke vp blood: & where the flaine are there is the.

34 Moreover, the Lord spake vnto Iob, and sayd, 35 Is this to learne, to strine with the Almighty?
he that reproneth God, let him answer to it.

36 Then Iob answered the Lord, saying,

37 Behold, I am vile: what shall I answer thee?
I will lay my hand vpon my mouth,

38 Once haue I spoken, but I will answer no more:
yea, twise but I will proceed no further.

CHAP. XL.

How weak man's power is being compared to the works of God: 10 whole power appeareth in the creation, and gouerning of the great beasts.

Again the Lord answered Iob out of the whil- Cha. 38. 1
wind, and said,

2 Gird vp now thy loines like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

3 Wilt thou disaunt my in iugement? or wilt thou condemne me, that thou mayest be satisfied?

4 Or hast thou an arme like God? or doest thou thunder with a voice like him?

5 Decke thy selfe now with maiesty and excellency, and aray thy selfe with beauty and glory.

6 Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and behold euery one that is proud, and abase him.

7 Looko on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him lowe: and destroy the wicked in their place.

8 Hide them in the dust together, and bind their faces in a secret place.

9 Then will I confesse vnto thee also, that thy right hand can smite thee.

10 Behold now Behemoth, (whom I made with thee) which eateth grass as an oxe.

11 Behold, now his strength is in his loynes, and his force is in the nauiell of his belly.

12 When he taketh pleasure, his taile is like a cedar, the finewes of his itones are wrapt together.

13 His bones are like itones of brasse, and his smal bones like itanes of yron.

14 He is the chiefe of the wayes of God: he that made him, will make his sword to approach vnto him.

15 Surely the mountains bring him forth grass, where all the beasts of the field play.
16 Liest he vnder the trees in the covert of the reede and fennet?

17 Can the trees couer him with their shadowe can the willowes of the river compasse him about?

18 Beholde, hee speepleth the river, and batteth not: he trusteth that he can draw vp Iordan into his mouth.

19 Hee taketh it with his eyes, and thrusteth his noe thorow whatsoever meeteth him.

20 ¶ Canst thou drawe out Liniathan with an hooke, and with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue?

21 Canst thou call an hooke into his nose? canst thou pearce his iawes with an angle?

22 Will he make many prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire?

23 Will he make a covenant with thee? and wilt thou take him as a seruant for euer?

24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird? or wilt thou bind him for thy maids?

25 Shal the companions banquet with him? shal they diuide him among thy merchants?

26 Canst thou fill the basket with his skinner? or the fishpanier with his head?

27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember the bat-till, and doeno more so.

28 Behold, his hope is in vaine: for shall not one perish, euen at the sight of him?

CHAP. XLII.

1 By the greatness of thine mighter Liniathan God breaketh his greatnes and his power which nothing can resist.

2 One is so fierce that dare stirre him vp. Who is he then that can stand before me?

3 Who hath prevented me that I should make an end? All vnder heauen is mine.

4 I will not keepe silence concerning his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion.

5 Who can discouer the face of his garment? or who shall come to him with a double bridle?

6 Who shall open the doores of his face? his teeth are fearefull round about.

7 The maiesty of his scales is like strong shields, and are sure sealed.

8 One is set to another, that no wind can come betweene them.

9 One is ioyned to another: they stick together, what thy cannot be sundred.

10 His needles make the light to shine, and his eyes are like the eye lids of the morning.

11 Out of his mouth go lamps, and sparks of fire leape out.

12 Out of his nostrils cometh out smoake, as out of a boyling pot or caldron.

13 His breath maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.

14 In his necke remaineth strength, and labor is reioiced before his face.

15 The members of his body are ioyned, they are strong in themselves, and cannot be moued.

16 His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether millstone.

17 The mighty are afraid of his maiesty, and for feare they faint in themselves.

18 When the sword doeth touch him, he will not rise vp, nor for the speare, dart, nor habergion.

19 Hee esteemeth yron as straw, and brasse as ro-ten wood.

20 The archer cannot make him flee: the stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.

21 The darkness counted as straw: & he laugh-eth at the shaking of the speare.

22 Sharp stones are vnder him, and he spreadeth shaue things vpon the mire.

23 He maketh the depth so helle like a pot, and maketh the sea like a pot of oiment.

24 Hee maketh a path to thine after him: and would thinke the depth as an heare head.

25 In the earth there is none like him: he is made without feare.

26 He beholdeth all high things: he is a king ouer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLIII.

¶ The repentance of Job. 9. Her prayers for his friends. 12. His goods are restored double vnto him, 13. His children, age, and death.

1 Then Iob answered the Lord, and said,
I know that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no thought hid from thee.

2 Who is hee that hideth counsell without knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnder-stood not, now things too wonderful for mee, and which I knew not.

3 Heare, I beseech thee, and I will speake: I will demand of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

4 I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

5 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.

6 ¶ Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, the Lord also said vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye haue not spoken of mee the thing that is right, like my seruant Iob.

7 Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullocks, and seuen rammes, and goe to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shall pray for you: for I will accept him, lest I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my seruant Iob.

8 So Eliphaz the Temanite, & Bildad the Shahite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had saide vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.

9 ¶ Then the Lord turned the captivity of Iob, when hee prayed for his friends: also the Lord gaue
Iob twice so much as he had before.

10 Then came vnto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had been of his acquaintance before, & did eat bread with him in his house, and had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euill that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a piece of money, and e-uery one an earring of gold.

11 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for he had fourtene thousand sheep, and six thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand she asses.

12 Hee had also seuen sonnes and three daughters.

13 And he called the name of one Iemimah, and the name of the second Keziah, and the name of the third Keren-happuch.

14 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.

15 And after this liued Iob an hundred and forty yeeres, and saw his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, and saw foure generations.

16 So Iob died, being old and full of dayes.

THE PSALMES OF DAVID.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost to be esteemed as a most precious treasure, wherein all things as a cōtēment that appertēne to true felicitie, as well in this life present, as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge & heavenly wisdom are here set op vnto vs to take thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great and his maiesty of God, here we may see the brightnesse thereof shine most clearely. If we would see his incomprehensible wisdom, here is the schoole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his infinite bounty, and approach nere thereto, and fill our hands with that treasure, here we may haue a most true & comfortable taste thereof. If we would know wherein standeth our saluation, or how to attaine to life eternall, here is Christ our only redeemer and mediator most tenderly described. The rich man may learne the true use of his riches. The poore man may finde full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall know the true ioy, & how to keepe it when he is therein. They that are afflicted and oppressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and how they ought to praise God when he sendeth them deliuerance. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of God shall see how the hand of God is euer against them, and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he breetheth them, in so much as they cannot touch a haire of ones head, except he permit it, and how in the end their destruction is most miserable. Briefly here we may haue most present remedies against all temptations & troubles of mind and conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, live in the true feare and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is laid up for all them that loue the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

PSAL. I.

Whether it be in Elias, or any other that gathered the Psalms into a Booke, it seemeth he did set this Psalm first in manner of a Preface, to exhort all godly men to study & meditate the heavenly wisdom. For the effect herof, 1. That they be blessed which give thei[n]selves wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures. 2. And that the wicked conuersers of God, though they seeme for a while happy, yet at length shall come to miserable destruction.

Blessed is the man that doth not walke in the counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seat of the scornfull.

* But his delight is in the law of the Lord, & in his law doth he meditate day & night.

3 For he shall be like a tree, planted by the riuers of waters, that will bring forth her fruit in due season: whose lease shall not fade: so whatsoever he shall doe, shall prosper.

4 The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the wind drineth away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the iudgement, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.

6 For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

PSAL. II.

1 The Princes David reioyce that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdom for euer, and aduance it vnto the end of the world. 10 And therefore exhorteth kings and rulers, that they would humbly submit themselves vnder Gods go, because it is in vaine to resist God. Herein is signified Christ's kingdom.

Why doe the heathen rage, and the people murmur in vaine?

2 The Kings of the earth band themselves and the princes are assembled together against the Lord and against his Christ.

3 Let vs breake their bands, and cast their cords asunder.

4 * But hee that dwelleth in the heauen shall laugh: the Lord shall haue them in derision.

5 Then shall he speake vnto them in his wrath, and vexe them in his sore displeasure, saying,

6 Encu I haue set my King vpon Zion mine holy Mountaine.

7 I will declare the decree: that is, the Lord hath sayd vnto me, * Thou art my sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

8 Aske of me, and I shall giue thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the endes of the earth for thy possession.

9 * Thou shalt crush them with a scepter of yron, and breake them in pieces like a potters vessel.

10 Be wise now therefore ye kings, bee learned, ye iudges of the earth.

11 Seawe the Lord in feare, and reioyce in trembling.

12 Kisse the Sonne, lest he be angry, and ye perish in the way, when his wrath shall suddenly burne, blessed are all that truit in him.

PSAL. III.

1 David driven forth of his kingdom, was greatly tormented in mind for his sinnes against God, & therefore calleth vpon God, & was established throug his promises against the great railings and terrours of his enemies, yea, against death it selfe, which he saw present before his eyes. 7 Finally, he reioyceth for the good success that God gaue him and all the Church.

* A Psalm of David, when he fled from his sonne Absalom.

Lord, how are mine aduersaries increased? how many rise against me?

3 But thou, Lord, art a buckler for me: my glory and the lifter vp of mine head.

4 I did call vnto the Lord with my voice, and he heard me out of his holy mountaine. Selah.

5 I laid me downe and slept, and rose vp againe: for the Lord sustained me.

6 I will not bee afraid for ten thousand of the people that should besiege me round about.

7 O Lord arise: helpe me my God: for thou hast sinken al mine enemies vpon the cheeke bones: thou hast broken the teeth of the wicked.

P S A L M III.

1 When Saul persecuted him, he called vpon God, trusting most assuredly in his promise, and sheweth boldly reproach his enemies, who wilfully resisted his dominion, 7 And finally preferreth the fauour of God before al world's iustices.

¶ To him that excelleth on Negiath.

A Psalme of David.

HEARE me when I call, O God of my righteousness: thou hast set me at liberty, when I was in distress: haue mercie vpon me, and hearken vnto my prayer.

2 O yee sonnes of men, how long will ye turne my glory into shame, louing vanitie, and seeking lies? Selah.

3 For bee ye sure that the Lord hath choson to himselfe a godly man: the Lord will heare when I call vnto him.

4 Tremble and stand not: examine your owne heart vpon your bed, and be still. Selah.

5 Offer the sacrifices of righteousness, and trust in the Lord.

6 Many say, Who will shewe vs any good? but Lord, lift vp the light of thy countenance vpon vs.

7 Thou hast giuen me more ioy of heart, then they haue had when their wheate and their wine did abound.

8 I will lay me downe, and also sleepe in peace: for thou Lord only makest me dwell in safety.

P S A L M V.

1 David oppressed with the cruelty of his enemies, and feeling greater dangers, callith to God for succor, shewing how requisite it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After being assured of prosperous successe, hee conceiueh comfort, 12 Concluding that when God shall deliuer him, others also shall be partakers of the same mercies.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon Nehiloth.

A Psalme of David.

HEARE my words, O Lord: vnderstand my meditation.

2 Hearken vnto the voice of my crie, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray.

3 Hear me my voice in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning will I direct mee vnto thee, and I will waite.

4 For thou art not a God that loqueth wickednesse, neither shall euill dwell with thee.

5 The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquitie.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and deceitfull.

7 But I will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.

8 Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousness, because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.

9 For no confidence is in their mouth: within they are very corruption: their throat is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God: let them fall from their counsels: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

11 And let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and come thou them: and let them that lonethy Name reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt bless the righteous, and with fauour wilt compass him, as with a shield.

P S A L M VI.

1 When David by his sinnes had provoked Gods wrath, and now felt not only his hand against him but also continued the horrors of death threatening, he doth shew his griefe, 6 Bewailing that if God took him away in his indignation, hee should lacke occasion to praise him as he was wont to doe whilst he was among men. 9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercie, he sheweth rebuke to his enemies, which reioyced in his affliction.

¶ To him that excelleth on Negiath vpon the eight tune. A Psalme of David.

O Lord rebuke me in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 Haue mercie vpon mee, O Lord, for I am weak, O Lord heale me: for my bones are vexed.

3 My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord how long wilt thou delay?

4 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule, saue mee for thy mercies sake.

5 For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue who shall praise thee?

6 I fainted in my mourning: I cause my bed every night to swim, and water my couch with my teares.

7 Mine eye is dimmed for despise, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.

8 Away from me all yee workers of iniquities: for the Lord hath heard the voice of my weeping.

9 The Lord hath heard my petition: the Lord will reeue my prayer.

10 All mine enemies shall be confounded and sore vexed: they shall be turned backe, and put to shame iudicially.

P S A L M VII.

1 Being falsely accused by Cush one of Sauls kinsmen, hee callith to God to be his defender. 3 To whom he commendeth his innocencie, 9 First shewing that his conscience did not accuse him of any euill toward Saul, 10 Next, that it touched Gods glory to award sentence against the wicked. 12 And so entring into the consideration of Gods mercies & promises he waxeth bold, and denieth the want of enterprises of his enemies, 16 Threatning that they shall fall on their own necke, which they haue purposed for others.

¶ Shigaion of David which hee sang vnto the Lord concerning the wordes of Cush the sonne of lemmi.

O Lord my God, in thee I put my trust: saue me from all that pericute me, and deliuer me.

2 Left hee deuoure my soule like a lion, and teare it in pieces, whilst there is none to helpe.

3 O Lord my God, if I haue done this thing, if there be any wickednesse in mine hands,

4 If I haue rewarded euill vnto him that had peace with me, (yea, I haue deliueed him that vexed me without cause)

5 Then let the enemy persecute my soule and take it: yea, let him tread my life downe vpon the earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah

6 Arise, O Lord, in thy wrath, & lift vp my selfe against the rage of mine enemies, and awake for me according to judgment that thou hast appointed.

7 So shall the congregation of the people compass thee about: for their sakes therefore returne on him.

8 The Lord shall iudge the people: iudge thou me, O Lord, according to my righteousness, and according to mine innocencie: that is in me.

9 Oh let the malice of the wicked come to an end: but guide thou the iust: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reins.

10 My defence is in God, who preferreth the vpright in heart.

11 God iudgeth the righteous, and him that contemneth God euerie day.

12 Except he turne, he hath whet his sword: hee hath bent his bow and made it ready.

13 He hath also prepared him deadly weapons: hee will ordaine his arrows for them that persecute me.

14 Behold, hee shall trauell with wickednesse: for he hath conceived mischief, but hee shall bring forth a lie.

15 He hath made a pit, and digged it, and is fallen into the pit that he made.

16 His mischief shall returne vpon his owne head, and his cruelty shall fall vpon his owne pate.

17 I will praise the Lord according to his righteousness, and will sing praise to the Name of the Lord most high.

PSAL. VIII.

1 The Prophet considering the excellent liberality and fatherly providence of God towards man, whom he made as it were a god ouer all his workes doeth not only give great thanks, but is astonied with the admiration of the same as one nothing able to compass such great mercies.

¶ To him that excelleth on Gittith.

A Psalm of David.

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world: which hath set thy glory above the heauens.

3 Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou ordained strength, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest kill the enimie & the auenger.

3 When I behold thine heauens, even the works of thy fingers, the moone and the starres which thou hast ordained,

4 What is man, say I, that thou art mindful of him? and the sonne of man that thou visitest him?

5 For thou hast made him a little lower then God, and crowned him with glory and worship.

6 Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things vnder his feete.

7 All sheep & oxen: yea, & the beasts of field: the foules of the aire, and the fish of the sea, and that which passeth thorow the paths of seas.

9 O Lord our God, how excellent is thy Name in all the world!

PSAL. IX.

1 As if he had giuen thanks to God for the sundrie victories that he had sent him against his enemies, and also proued by manifold experience how ready God was to stand in all his troubles: 14 He being now likewise in danger of new enemies, refresheth God so helpe him according to his word, 17 and to destroy the malicious arrogancie of his aduersaries.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon Muth Labben.

A Psalm of David.

I Will praise the Lord with my whole heart: I will speake of all thy marvellous workes.

2 I will bee glad, and reioyce in thee: I will sing praise to thy Name, O most High.

3 For that mine enemies are turned backe: they shall fall and perih at thy presence.

4 For thou hast maintained my right and my cause: thou art set in the throne, and iudget right.

5 Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer.

6 Ommenic destructions are come to a perpetuall end, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memorial is perished with them.

7 But the Lord shall sit for euer: hee hath prepared his throne for iudgement.

8 For he shall iudge the world in righteousness, and shall iudge the people which equitie.

9 The Lord also will be a refuge for the poore: a refuge in due time, euen in affliction.

10 And they that know thy Name, will trust in thee: for thou, Lord, hast not failed them that seek thee.

11 Sing praises to the Lord which dwelleth in Zion: shew the people his workes.

12 For when he maketh inquisition for blood, he remembereth it, & forgetteth not the complaint of the poore.

13 Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord: consider my trouble, which I suffer of them that hate mee, thou that liftest me vp from the gates of death.

14 That I may shew all the prayes within the gates of the daughter of Zion, and reioyce in thy saluation.

15 The heathen are sunken down in the pit that they made: in the netty they hid is their foot taken.

16 The Lotde is knowne by executing iudgement: the wicked is snared in the workes of his own hands. Halleluon, Selah.

17 The wicked shall turne into hell, and all nations that forget God.

18 For the poore shall not be alway forgotten, the hope of the afflicted shall not perish for euer.

19 Vp Lord: let not man preuaile: let the heathen then be iudged in thy sight.

20 Put them in feare, O Lord, that the heathen may know that they are but men. Selah.

PSAL. X.

1 He complaineth of the fraud, rapine, tyranny, and all kindes of wrong which worldly men vse, assigning the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldly prosperitie, and therefore setting aspart all feare & reuerence towards God, thinke they may doe all things without controuling. 15 Therefore he calleth vpon God to send some remedy against these desperate evils, 16 and as length comforteth himselfe in the hope of deliuerance.

W My standest thou farre off, O Lord, and hidest thee in due time, even in affliction?

The wicked with pride doeth persecute the poore: let them be taken in the crafts that they haue imagined.

3 For the wicked hath made boast of his owne hearts desire, and the conuicious blesteth himselfe he continueth the Lord.

4 The wicked is so proud, that hee seeketh not for God: hee thinketh alway, There is no God.

5 His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are high above his sight: therefore I desist hee all his enemies.

6 He saith in his heart, I shall neuer bee moued, nor be in danger.

7 His mouth is full of cursing and deceit, and fraud: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquity.

13 Wherefore doth the wicked contemne God? he saith in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

14 Yet thou hast seene: for thou beholdest mischief & wrong, that thou maist take it into thine handes: the poore commiteth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.

15 Brake thou the arme of the wicked, and malicious: search his wickednesse, and thou shalt finde none.

PSAL. XI.

1 This Psalm cometh two parts. In the first David sheweth how hard assaults of tentations he sustained, and in how great anguish of minde he was when Saul did persecute him. 2 Then next he rejoyceth that God sent him succour in his necessity, declaring his iustice aswell in governing the good as the wicked men, as the whole world.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. IN the Lord put I my trust, how say ye then to my soule. Flee to your mountaine as a bird?

3 For loe, the wicked bend their bow, and make ready their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shoot at them which are vpright in heart.

4 For the foundations are cast downe: what hath the righteous done?

5 The Lord is in his holy palace: the Lordes Throne is in the heauen: his eyes will consider: his eye-lids will try the children of men.

6 The Lord will try the righteous: but the wicked & him that loneth iniquitie doth his soule hate.

7 Vpon the wicked the shall raine snares, fire and brimstone, and stormie tempest: this is the portion of their cup.

8 Fortherighteous Lord loueth righteousnesse: his countenance doth behold the iust.

PSAL. XII.

1 The Prophet lamenting the miserie of the estate of the people and the decay of all good order, describeth: and finally to send succour to his children. 2 Then comforting himselfe and others with the assurance of Gods helpe, hee commendeth the constant veritie that God obserueth in keeping his promises.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon the eight tunes. A Psalm of David.

HELPE Lord, for there is not a godly man left: for the faithfull are failed from among the children of men.

3 They speake deceitfully every one with his neighbour, flattereth with their lipps, and speake with a double heart.

4 The Lord cut off all flattering lipps, and the tongue that speaketh proud things:

5 Which haue said, With our tongue will we preuaile: our lips are our owne: who is Lord ouer vs?

6 Now for the oppression of the needie, and for the sighes of the poore: I will vp, saith the Lord, and will set at libertie whom the wicked hath snared.

7 The words of the Lord are pure words, as the silver, tried in a furnace of earth, and seven fold.

8 Thou wilt keepe them, O Lord: thou wilt preserve him from this generation for ever.

9 The wicked walke on every side: when they are exalted, it is a shame for the finnes of men.

PSAL. XIII.

1 David saith as were overcome with sin by and new affliction, such is God as his only refuge, and so as the length being encouraged through Gods promises, he conceiveth much sure confidence against the extreme horrors of sin.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. HOW long wilt thou forget me, O Lord, for ever? how long wilt thou hide thy face from me?

2 How long shall I take counsell within my selfe, having wearied daily in mine heart? how long shall mine enemy be exalted above me?

3 Behold, and hate me, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes that I see not in death:

4 Lest mine enemy say, I have prevailed against him: and they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide.

5 But I trust in thy mercie: mine heart shall reioyce in thy salvation: I will sing vnto the Lord, because he hath dealt lovingly with me.

PSAL. XIII.

1 He describeth the perversenature of men, which were so grown to licentiousnes, that God was brought to utter contempt. 2 For the which thing although he was greatly grieved, yet he is persuaded that God would send some present remedy, he comforteth himselfe and others.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

THE fool hath said in his heart, There is no God: they haue corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good.

2 The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand, and seeke God.

3 All are gone out of the way: they are all corrupt: there is none that doeth good, nor one.

4 Doe not all the workers of iniquitie knowe that they eat vp my people, as they eat bread? they call not vpon the Lord.

5 There they shall bee taken with feare, because God is in the generation of the iust.

6 You haue made a mocke at the counsell of the poore, because the Lord is his trust.

7 Oh giue iustitiae vnto Israel out of Zion: when the Lord turneth the captiuitie of his people, then Iakob shall reioyce, and Israel shall be glad.

¶ Note that of this 14 Psalm, the 5. d. and 7. verses, which are put into the common translation, and may seeme to some to be left out in this, are not in the same Psalm in the Hebrew text, but are rather put in more fully to expresse the manners of the wicked: and are gathered out of the 5. 140. & 10. Psalmes the 19. of the Prophet Isaiah, and the 35. Psalm and are alledged by S. Paul, and placed together in the third in the Romanes.

PSAL. XV.

1 This Psalm teacheth what condition God doth require of his people, and what he requireth of his Temple among them, which was to the intent that they by living uprightly and godly, might witness that they were his people, and holy people.

¶ To him that excelleth.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Lord who shall dwell in thy Tabernacle? who shall rest in thine holy mountaine?

2 He that walketh vprightly, & worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart.

3 He that disdaineth not with his tongue, nor doeth euill to his neighbour, nor receiveth a false report against his neighbour:

4 In whose eyes a vile person is contemned, but hee honoureth them that feare the Lord: hee that sweareth to his owne hindrance, & changeth not.

5 He that giveth not his money vnto vsury, nor taketh reward against the innocent: hee that doeth these things shall neuer be moued.

P S A L. XVI.

1 Dauid prayeth to God for succour, not for his works, but for his faithfull, & protesting that hee hateth all idolatry taking God onely for his comfort and felicity, & who suffereth his soul to take nothing.

¶ Micham of Dauid.

Reserue me, O God: for in thee doe I trust.
2 O my soule, thou haist saide vnto the Lord, Thou art my Lord: my well doing extendeth not to thee,

3 But to the Saints that are in the earth, and to thee excellent: all my delight is in them.

4 The sorowes of them that offer to another god shall be multiplied: their offerings of blood will I not offer, neither make mention of their names with my lips.

5 The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance, and of my cup: thou shalt maintaine my lot.

6 The lines are fallen vnto mee in pleasant places: yea, I haue a faire heritage

7 I will praise the Lord, who hath giuen mee countell: my finnes also teach me in the nights.

8 I haue seene the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand, therefore I shall not slide.

9 Wherefore mine heart is glad, & my tongue reioyceth: my rehallo doeth rest in hope.

10 For thou wilt not leaue my soule in grave: neither wilt thou suffer thine holy One to see corruption.

11 Thou wilt shew mee the path of life: in thy presence is the fulnesse of ioy: and at thy right hand there are pleasures for euermore.

P S A L. XVII.

1 Here he complaineth to God of the aruall pride and arrogancie of Saul, and the malice of his enemies, who shew rage without any cause: then hee sheweth his glory. 2 Therefore he desireth God to reuenge his innocency, and deliuer him.

¶ The prayer of Dauid.

Heare the right, O Lord, consider my cry: hearken vnto my prayer of lips vnfaigned, 2 Let my sentence come forth from thy presence, and let thine eyes behold equitie.

3 Thou hast proued and visited mine heart in the night: thou hast tryed mee, and foundest nothing: for I was purposed that my mouth should not offend.

4 Concerning the works of men, by thy words of thy lips, I kept me from the paths of the cruel man.

5 Stay my steps in thy paths, that my feete doe not slide.

6 I haue called vpon thee: surely thou wilt heare mee, O God: incline thine eare vnto me, and hearken vnto my words.

7 Shew thy marvellous mercies, thou that art the Saviour of them that trust in thee, from such as visit thy right hand.

8 Keepe me as the apple of thine eye: hide mee vnder the shadow of thy wings,

9 From the wicked that oppress me from mine enemies which compass me round about for my soule.

10 They are inclosed in their owne fat, & they haue spoken proudly with their mouth.

11 They haue compassed vs now in our steps: they haue set their eyes to bring downe to the ground:

12 Like as a lion that is greedy of pray, and as it were a lions whelp, lurking in secret places.

13 Vp Lord, disspoint him, cast him downe: disspaire my soule from the wicked: with thy sword, 14 From men by thine hand, O Lord: from men of the world, who haue their portion in this life, whose bellies thou fillest with thine hid treasure: ranny their children haue enough, and leaue the rest of their substance for their children.

15 But I will behold thy face in righteounesse, & durst when I awake, I shall be satisfied with thine image.

P S A L. XVIIII.

1 This Psalm is the first beginning of his prayer, on & thanksgiving in the entering into his kingdom, wherein he extollsh and praiseth most highly the marvellous mercies and grace of God, who hath shew proued and defended him. 2 Also he setteth forth the image of Christs kingdom, that the faithfull may be assured that Christ shall alwayes conquer and overcome by the vnspokeable power of his Father, though all the whole world should rise there against.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of Dauid the seruant of the Lord, which saith vnto the Lord the words of this song, (in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul) and said.

I Will loue thee dearly, O Lord my strength.

2 * The Lord is my rocke, and my fortress, and hee deliuereth me, my God, and my strength:

in him will I trust, my shield, the horn also of my saluation, and my refuge.

3 I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthy to be praised: so shall I be safe from mine enemies.

4 The sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednesse made me afraid.

5 The sorowes of the grave haue compassed me about: snares of death ourtooke me.

6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lorde, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, and my cry did come beforesh him, euen into his cares.

7 Then the earth trembled and quaked: the foundations also of the mountaines moued and shooke, because he was angry.

8 Smooke went out at his nostrils, and a consuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled thereat.

9 He bowed the heauens also, & came downe: and darknesse was vnder his feet.

10 And hee rode vpon Cherub, and did flie, and he came flying vpon the wings of the wind.

11 Hee made darknesse his secret place, and his pavillion round about him, euen darknesse of waters, and clouds of the aire.

12 At the brightness of his presence his clouds passed, hailestones and coales of fire.

13 The Lord also thundered in the heauen: & the highest gaue his voice, hailestones and coales of fire.

14 Then hee sent out his arrowes and scattered them, and he increased lightnings and destroyed them.

15 And the channels of waters were scene, & the foundations of the world were discovered, as thy rebuking.

rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrils.

16 Hee hath sene downe from aboue and taken me, he hath drawen me out of many waters.

17 Hee hath deliuered mee from my strong enemy, and from them which hate me: for they were too strong for me.

18 They presented mee in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 He brought me forth also into a large place: he deliuered me, because he favoured me.

20 The Lord rewarded mee according to my righteousness: according to the purenesse of mine hands he recompented me:

21 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

22 For all his Lawes were before mee, and I did not cast away his Commandements from me.

23 I was vpright also with him, and haue kept me from my wickednesse.

24 Therefore the Lord rewarded mee according to my righteousness, and according to the purenesse of my hands in his sight.

25 With the godly thou wilt shewe thy selfe godly: with the vpight man thou wilt shewe thy selfe vpight.

26 With the pure thou wilt shew they selfe pure, and with the froward thou wilt shew thy selfe froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt cast downe the proude lookers.

28 Surely thou wilt lighte my candle: the Lord my God will lighten my darkenesse.

29 For by thee I haue broken thorow an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The way of God is vncorrupt: the word of the Lord is tried in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mightie saue our God?

32 God girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way vpight.

33 He maketh my feet like hinds feet, and setteth me vpon mine high places.

34 Hee teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bow of brass is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen me the shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath stayed mee, and thy louing kindnesse hath caused me to increase.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder me, and mine heeles haue not slid.

37 I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feet.

39 For thou hast girded mee with strength to battell: for thou hast rose against mee, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast giuen mee the necks of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They cryed, but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but he answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did tread them flat as the clay in the stretes.

43 Thou hast deliuered mee from the contentions of the people: thou hast made me the head of the heathen: a people whom I haue not knownen, shall serue me.

44 As soone as they heare, they shall obey mee: the strangers shall be in subiection to mee.

45 Strangers shall shake away, & feare in their priue chambers.

46 Let the Lord line, and blessed be my strength, and the God of my saluation be exalted.

47 For God that giueth mee power to auenge me, and subdaeth the people vnder me.

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies: thou hast set me vp from them that rose against mee: thou hast deliuered me from the cruel man.

49 Therefore I will praise thee, O Lord, among the nations, and will sing vnto thy Name.

50 Great delinencas giueth he vnto his King, and sheweth mercy to his anointed, euen to David, and to his seed for euer.

PSAL. XIX.

1 To the intent hee might moue the faithful to a deeper consideration of Gods glory, hee setteth before the eyes the most exquisite workmanship of the heauens, with their proportion and ornaments. 2 And afterward calleth them to the Law, wherein God hath revealed himselfe more familiarly to his chosen people. The which peculiar grace he commending the Law, be setteth forth more at large.

1 To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. The heauens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth the worke of his hands.

2 Day vnto day vttereth the same, and night vnto night teacheth knowledge.

3 There is no speech nor language, where their voyce is not heard.

4 Their line is gone forth thorow all the earth, and their words into the endes of the world: in them hath he set a Tabernacle for the Sonne.

5 Which commeth forth as a bridegrome out of his chamber, and reioyeth like a mightie man to runne his race.

6 His going out is from the end of the heauens: and his compasse is vnto the ends of the same, and none is hid from the heat thereof.

7 The Law of the Lord is perfect, conuerting the soule: the testimonie of the Lord is sure, and giueth wise dome vnto the simple.

8 The statutes of the Lord are right, & reioyce the heart: the Commandement of the Lord is pure, and giueth light vnto the eyes.

9 The feare of the Lord is cleane, & endureth for euer: the iudgements of the Lord are truth: they are righteous altogether.

10 And more to be desired then gold, yea, then much fine golde: sweeter also then hony and the hony combe.

11 Moreouer, by them is thy seruant made circumspect, and in keeping of them there is great reward.

12 Who can vnderstand his faults? cleanse mee from secret faulces.

13 Keepe thy seruant also from presumptuous sinnes: let them not reigne ouer mee: so shall I be vpight, and made cleane from much wickednesse.

14 Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of mine heart bee acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer.

PSAL. XX.

1 A prayer of the people vnto God, that it would please him to heare their King, and receive his sacrifice which he offered before hee went to battell against the Ammonites.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. The Lord heare thee in the day of trouble: the Name of the God of Iakob defend thee.

2 Send thee helpe from the Sanctuary, and strengthen Rescues thee out of Zion.

Let him remember all thine offerings, and turne the burnt offerings into ashes, Selah.

And grant thee according to thine heart and fulfill all thy purpose.

That we may reioyce in thy saluation, and set up the banner in the Name of our God: when the Lord shall performe all thy petitions.

Now know I that the Lord will helpe his anointed, and will heare him from his Sanctuary, by the mighty helpe of his right hand.

Some trust in charrets, and some in horses: but wee will remember the Name of the Lord our God.

They are brought downe, and fallen, but wee are risen and stand vp right.

Saua Lord: let the King heare vs in the day that we call.

PSAL. XXI.

David in the person of the people praiseth God for the victory attaininge in to God, & was to the strength of man. Wherem the holy Ghost directeth the faithful to Christ, who is the possession of this kingdom.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. He King shall reioyce in thy strength, O Lord, yea, how greatly shall he reioyce in thy saluation!

Thou hast given him his hearts desire, and hast not denied him the request of his lips. Selah.

For thou didst present him with liberal blessings, and didst set a Crowne of pure golde vpon his head.

Hee asked life of thee, and thou gauest him a long life for ever and euer.

His glory is great in thy saluation: dignitie and honour hast thou laid vpon him.

For thou hast fet him, as blessings for ever: thou hast made him glad with the ioy of thy countenance.

Because the King trusteth in the Lord, and in the mercy of the most high, he shall not slide.

Thine hand shall find out all thine enemies, & thy right hand shall find out them that hate thee.

Thou shalt make them like a fiery ouen in time of thine anger: the Lord shall destroy them in his wrath, and the fire shall deuoure them.

Their fruit shalt thou destroy from the earth, and their seed from the children of men.

For they intended euil against thee, and imagined mischief, but they shall not preuaile.

Therefore shalt thou put them apart, & the strings of thy bow shalt thou make ready against their faces.

Be thou exalted, O Lord, in thy strength: so will we sing, and praise thy power.

PSAL. XXII.

David complained because he was brought into such extremities that he was past all hope, but after he had rehearsed the sorrows and grieues wherewith he was vexed. He recovereth himselfe from the bottomes of despair, and groweth in hope. And here vnder his owne person hee teacheth forth the figure of Christ, whom hee did foresee by the spirit of prophesie, that hee should maruailously & strangely be desceibed and abused before his fauour should raise and exalts him againe.

To him that excelleth vpon] Ailelech Hashshar. A Psalm of David.

My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken mee, and art so farre from my health, and from the words of my roaring?

O my God, I cry by day but thou hearest not, I cry by night, but I haue no audience.

But thou art holy, and dost inhabit the praises of Israel.

Our fathers trusted in thee: they trusted, and thou didst deliuer them.

They called vpon thee, and were deliuered: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.

But I am a worme, and not a man: a shame of men, and the contempt of the people.

All they that see me haue me in derision, they make a mow, and nod the head, saying,

He trusted in the Lord, let him deliuer him: let him saue him, seeing he leueth him.

But thou didst draw me out of the wombe: thou gauest me hope, when at my mothers breasts.

I was cast vpon thee, when from the wombe, thou art my God from my mothers belly.

Be not farre from me, because trouble is nere: for there is none to helpe me.

Many young buls haue compassed mee: mighty buls of Bashan haue closed me about.

They gape vpon me with their mouths, as a ramping and roaring lion.

I am like water poured out, and all my bones are out of ioynt: mine heart is likewise: it is molten in the midst of my bowels.

My strength is daied vp like a potheard, and my tongue cleaueth to my iawes, and thou hast brought me into the dust of death.

For dogs haue compassed mee, and the assembly of the wicked haue inclosed mee: they pearced mine hands and my feet.

I may tell all my bones, as they beheld, and looke vpon me.

I thy part my garments among them, and cast lots vpon my vesture.

But be not thou far off, O Lord, my strength: hasten to helpe me.

Deliuer my soule from the sword, my desolate soule from the power of the dog.

Saua me from the Lions mouth, and answere me in sauing me from the hornes of the Vnicorne.

I wil declare thy Name vnto my brethren, in the midst of the Congregation will I praise thee, saying.

Praise the Lord, ye that feare him: magnifie ye him all the seed of Isakob, and feare ye him, all the seed of Israel.

For he hath not despised nor abhorred the affliction of the poore: neither hath he hid his face from him, but when he called vnto him, he heard.

My praise shall be of thee in the great Congregation: my vowes will I performe before them that feare him.

The poore shall esteeme thee satisfied: they that seeke after the Lord, shall praise him: your heart shall liue for euer.

All the ends of the world shall remember themselves, and turne to the Lord, and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before thee.

For the kingdome is the Lords, and he ruleth among the nations.

All they that be fat in the earth, shall eat and worship: all they that go downe into the dust shall bow before him, euen he that cannot quicken his owne soule.

Their seed shall serue him: it shall bee counted vnto the Lord for a generation.

Thy shall come, and shall declare his righteousness vnto a people that shall be borne, because he hath done it.

By the kinde of the mourning, and this was the name of some common song.

1 Because the Prophet had pronounced the great mercies of God at divers times, and in sundry places, he gathereth a certaine assurance, fully performing himself that God will continue the very same goodness towards him for ever.

A Psalm of David.

1 The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want.
2 Hee maketh me to rest in greene pasture, and leadeth mee by the still waters.
3 He restoreth my soule, and leadeth mee in the pathes of righteousness for his Names sake.
4 Yes, though I should walke thorow the valley of the shadow of death, I will feare no euill: for thou art with mee, thy rod and thy staffe they comfort mee.

5 Thou dost prepare a table before mee in the sight of mine adversaries: thou dost annoy my head with oyle, and my cup runneth ouer.

6 Doubtlesse kindnesse and mercy shall follow mee all the dayes of my life: and I shall remaine a long season in the house of the Lord.

PSAL. XXI.

1 Albeit the Lord God hath made and governeth all the world, yet toward his chosen people his gracious goodnesse doth much abundantly appeare in that among them he will bestow his dwelling place. Which though it was appointed among the children of Abraham, yet only they doe enter aright into this inheritance, which are the true worshippers of God purged from the filth of this world. 2 Finally he magnifieth Gods grace for the building of the Temple, to the end he might stir up all the faithful to the true service of God.

A Psalm of David.

1 The earth is the Lords, and all that therein is: the world and they that dwell therein.

2 For he hath founded it vpon the seas, and established it vpon the floods.

3 Who shall ascend into the mountaine of the Lord? and who shall stand in his holy place?

4 Turne he that hath innocent hands, and a pure heart: which hath not lift vp his minde vnto vanitie, nor sworne deceitfully.

5 He shall receive a blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of his saluation.

6 This is the generation of them that seeke him, of them that seeke thy face, this is Iacob. Selah.

7 Lift vp your heads, ye gates, and be ye lift vp ye euersliding doores, and the King of glory shall come in.

8 Who is this King of glory? the Lord strong and mightie, the Lord mightie in battell.

9 Lift vp your heads ye gates, and lift vp your euersliding doores, and the King of glory shall come in.

10 Who is the King of glory? the Lord of hostes, he is the King of glory. Selah.

PSAL. XXV.

1 The Prophet touched with the consideration of his sinnes, and alshamed wth the cruel malice of his enemies, & prayeth to God most feruently to haue his sinnes forgiven, especially such as he had committed in his youth. He beginneth every verse according to the Hebrew letters two or three excepted.

A Psalm of David.

1 Vnto thee, O Lord lift I vp my soule.

2 My God, I trust in thee, let me not be confounded: let not mine enemies ioyce ouer mee.

3 So all that hope in thee shall not be ashamed: but let them be confounded, that transgress without cause.

4 Shew mee thy wayes, O Lord, and teach mee thy pathes.

5 Lead me forth in thy truth, and teach mee for thou art the God of my saluation, in thee doe I trust all the day.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies, and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue bene for euer.

7 Remember not the sinnes of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindnesse remember thou mee, for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord.

8 Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore will he teach sinners in the way.

9 Them that be meeke will he guide in judgement, and teach the humble his way.

10 All the paths of the Lord are mercy & truth vnto such as keepe his covenant, and his testimonies.

11 For thy Names sake, O Lord, be mercifull vnto mine iniquities, for it is great.

12 What man is he that feareth the Lord? him will he teach the way that he shall chuse.

13 His soule shall dwell at ease, and his seed shall inherite the land.

14 The secret of the Lord is reuealed to them that feare him: and his covenant he will vnderstand.

15 Mine eyes are euer toward the Lord: for hee will bring my feet out of the net.

16 Turne thy face vnto me, and haue mercy vpon me: for I am detolate and poore.

17 The sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.

18 Look vpon mine affliction and my trouble, and forgive all my sinnes.

19 Behold mine enemies, for they are many, and they hate me with cruell hatred.

20 Keepe my soule, and deliuer me: let mee not be confounded, for I trust in thee.

21 Let mine vprightness and equitie preserue me: for mine hope is in thee.

22 Deliuer Israel, O God, out of all his troubles.

PSAL. XXVI.

1 David oppressed with many miseries, finding no helpe in the world, callth for aid from God: and assured of his integritie toward Saul, desireth God to be his Iudge, to defend his innocencie. 2 Finally hee maketh mention of his sacrifice which hee will offer for his deliverance, and desireth to be in the company of the faithful in the Congregation of God, where hee was banished by Saul, promising integritie of life, and open prayer and thanksgiving.

A Psalm of David.

1 Iudge mee, O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocencie: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide.

2 Prone mee, O Lord, and trie me: examine my reines, and my heart.

3 For thy louing kindnes is before mine eyes: I therefore haue I walked in thy truth.

4 I haue not haunted with vaine persons, neither kept company with the dissemblers.

5 I haue hated the assembly of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked.

6 I will wash mine hands in innocencie, O Lord, and compassethine altar.

7 That I may declare with the voice of thanksgiving, and set forth all thy wondrous workes.

8 O Lord, I haue loued the habitation of thine house, and the place where thine honour dwelleth.

9 Gather not my soule with the fuscies, nor my life with the bloody men.

10 In whose hands is wickedness, and their right hand is full of bribes.

11 But I will walke in mine innocent-redemption and therefore, and be mercifull vnto me.

12 My foot standeth in uprightnesse: I will praise thee, O Lord, in the Congregations.

PSAL. XLVII.

1 David maketh this Psalm being delivered from great perils, as appeareth by the praies and thanksgiving annexed. 2 Wherein we may see the constant faith of David against the assaults of all his enemies. 3 And also the end wherfore hee desireth to live and to be delivered, early to worship God in his Congregation.

A Psalm of David.

The Lord is my light and my situation, whome shall I feare: the Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, even mine enemies, and my foes came vpon mee, to take vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an host pitched against mee, mine heart should not be afraid: though war be raised against me, I will trust in this.

4 One thing have I desired of the Lord, that I will require, that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, to beholde the beautie of the Lord and to visite his Temple.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pavilion shall he hide me, and set me vp vpon a rocke.

6 And now shall hee lift vp mine head above mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of ioy: I will sing and praise the Lord.

7 Hearken vnto my voyce, O Lord, when I cry: haue mercy also vpon me, and heare me.

8 Where thou hidst, seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from mee, nor cast thy servant away in displeasure: thou hast bene my succour: leaue mee not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.

10 Though my father and my mother should forsake me, yet the Lord will gather me vp.

11 Teach me thy way, O Lord, and leade me in a right path because of mine enemies.

12 Giue mee not vnto the lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnessers risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelty.

13 I should have fainted, except I had beleened to thee the goodnesse of the Lord in the land of the living.

14 Hope in the Lord: be strong, and hee shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

PSAL. XXVIII.

1 Bring in great feare and heavinesse of heart: to see God dishonoured by the wicked, hee desireth to bee rid of them, 4. and cryeth for vengeance against them: and at length affurth himselfe, that God hath heard his prayer. 9 Vnto whose tuition he commendeth all his faithfull.

A Psalm of David.

Vnto thee, O Lord, doe I cry: O my strength, be not deaf to ward mee, lest if thou answer mee not, I be like them that goe downe into the pit.

2 Heare the voyce of my petitions, when I cry vnto thee, when I hold vp mine hands toward thine holy Oracle.

3 Draw mee not away with the wicked, & with the workers of iniquities: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

4 Reward them according to their deedes: and according to the wickednesse of their intentions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: render them their reward.

5 For they regard not the worke of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands: therefore brake them downe, and build them not vp.

6 Praised be the Lord, for hee hath heard the voyce of my petitions.

7 The Lord is my strength and shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I praise him.

8 The Lord is their strength, and hee is the strength of the deliverances of his anointed.

9 Save thy people, and bleste thine inheritance: feed them also, and exalt them for ever.

PSAL. XXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the princes and rulers of the world (which for themselves put thine there is no God) 3 as the least to feare him for the thunders and tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 11 And though thereby God sheweth sinners yet in his alwayes: mercifull to his, and mooueth them thereby to praise his Name.

A Psalm of David.

Give vnto the Lord, yee sonnes of the mightie: giue vnto the Lord glory and strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glory due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary.

3 The voyce of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glory maketh it to thunder: the Lord is vpon the great waters.

4 The voyce of the Lord is mightie: the voyce of the Lord is glorious.

5 The voyce of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

6 Hee maketh them also to leape like a calfe: Lebanon also and Shiron like a young Unicorn.

7 The voice of the Lord divideth the flames of fire.

8 The voice of the Lord maketh the wilderness to tremble: the Lord maketh the wilderness of Kadesh to tremble.

9 The voice of the Lord maketh the hinds to calue, and discovereth the forests: therefore in his Temple doth every man speake of his glory.

10 The Lord sitteth vpon the flood, and the Lord doeth remaine King for ever.

11 The Lord shall giue strength vnto his people: the Lord shall blese his people with peace.

PSAL. XXX.

1 When David was delivered from great danger, hee rendereth thanks to God, exhorting others to doe the lik, and to learne by his example, that God is rather mercifull, then severe and rigorous toward his children, 7 and also that the fall from prosperity to adversity is sudden. 8 This done, hee returneth to prayer, promising to praise God for ever.

A Psalm or song of the dedication of the house of David.

2. SAW. 7.2.

I will magnifie thee, O Lord, for thou hast exalted mee, and hast not made my foes to reioyce over me.

2 O Lord my God, I cryed vnto thee, and thou hast restored me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought vp my soule out of the graue: thou hast reuined me from them that goe downe into the pit.

4 Sing praies vnto the Lord, ye his Saints: and giue thanks before the remembrance of his Holinesse.

Psalm 146. And in my prospect I said, I shall never be moved.

7 For thou Lord of thy goodness hast made my mountain to stand strong: but thou didst hide thy face, and I was troubled.

8 Then cryed I vnto thee, O Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profit is there in my blood, when I goe downe to the pit? shall the dust giue thanks vnto thee? or shall it declare thy truth?

10 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie vpon mee: Lord be thou mine helper.

11 Thou hast turned my mourning into ioy: thou hast loosed my sacke, and girded me with gladnes.

12 Therefore shall my tongue praise thee and not cease: O Lord my God, I will giue thanks vnto thee for ever.

PSALM XXXI.

David delivered from some great danger, first reprooeth his meditation how hee had by the power of faith, when death was before his eyes, his enemy being ready to take him. 15 Then be affirmeth that the favour of God is alwayes ready to those that feare him. 20 Finally, he exhorteth all the faithfull to trust in God, and to loue him, because hee preferreth and strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

Psalm 71. IN thee, O Lord, haue I put my trust, let mee neuer be confounded: deliuer me in thy righteousness.

2 Bow downe thine eare to mee: make haste to deliuer me: be vnto me a strong rocke, and an house of defence to saue me.

3 For thou art my rocke and my fortress: therefore for thy Names sake direct me and guide mee.

4 Draw me out of the net that they haue layde priuily for me: for thou art my strength.

5 In thine hande I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of truth.

6 I haue hated them that giue themselves to deceitfull vanities: for I trust in the Lord.

7 I will be glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou hast seene my trouble: thou hast known my soule in aduersities.

8 And thou hast not shut mee vp in the hand of the enemy: but hast set my feet at large.

9 Haue mercie vpon me, O Lord: for I am in trouble: mine eyes, my soule, and my belly are consumed with griefe.

10 For my life is wasted with heauinesse, & my yeres with mourning: my strength faileth, for my paine, my bones are consumed.

11 I was a reprob among all mine enemies: but specially among my neighbors, and a feare to mine acquaintance, who seeing mee in the streete, fledde from me.

12 I am forgotten as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessell.

13 For I haue heard the rayling of great men: feare was on euery side, while they conspired together against me, and consulted to take my life.

14 But trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my God.

15 My times are in thine hand: deliuer me from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.

16 Make thy face to shine vpon thy seruant, and saue me through thy mercy.

17 Let mee not be confounded, O Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked bee put to confusion, and to silence in the grave.

18 Let the lying lippe bee made dumbe which cruelly, proudly, and spitefully speake against the righteous.

19 How great is thy goodness: which thou hast layd vp for them that feare thee, and done to them tharther in thee, even before the faces of men.

20 Thou dost hide thy face from the peccate of men: thou keepst them secretly in thy Tabernacle from the strife of tongues.

21 Blessed be the Lord: for he hath shewed his marvellous kindness toward me in a strong citie.

22 Though I said in my harte, I am cut off of thy sight, yet thou heardest the voice of my prayer, when I cried vnto thee.

23 Ioue yet the Lord all his Saints: for the Lord preferreth the faithfull, and rewardeth abundantly the proud doer.

24 All ye that trust in the Lord, be strong, and crie, he shall establish your heart.

PSALM XXXII.

David punished in his sinfull sickness for his sinnes, commeth then blessed to whom God doeth not impute their iniquities. 5 And after that he had confessed his sinnes and obtained pardon, 6 He exhorteth the wicked men to loue godly, 11 and the good to reioyce.

¶ A Psalm of David to giue instruction.

Blessed is hee whose wickednesse is forgiven, and whose sinne is covered.

2 Blessed is the man whose sinne the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, & in whose spirit there is no guile.

3 When I held my tongue, my bones consumed, or when I roared all the day.

4 (For thine hand is heauie vpon mee day and night, and my moysture is turned into the drought of Summer. Selah.)

5 Then I acknowledged my sinne vnto thee, and hid mine iniquitie: for I thought, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednesse vnto the Lord, and thou forganest the punishment of my sinne, Selah.

6 Therefore shall every one that is godly make his prayer vnto thee, in a time when thou mayest be found: surely in the flood of great waters they shall not come nere him.

7 Thou art my secret place: thou preferrest me from trouble: thou compassst me about with ioyfull deliuerance. Selah.

8 I will instruct thee, and teach thee in the way that thou shalt goe, and I will guide the with mine eye.

9 Be ye not like an horse, or like a mule which vnderstand not: whose mouthes thou dost binde with bit and bridle, lest they come nere thee.

10 Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but he that trusteth in the Lord, mercy shall compass him.

11 Be glad yee righteous, & reioyce in the Lord, and be ioyfull all ye that are vpright in heart.

PSALM XXXIII.

He exhorteth good men to praise God, for that hee hath not onely created all things, and by his providence governeth the same, but also is full of his promises. 10 He vnderstandeth mans heart, & cantereth the counsell of the wicked, 16 so that no man can be preferred by any creature or mans strength: but they that put their confidence in his mercy, shall be preferred from all aduersities.

Reioyce in the Lord, O yee righteous: for it becometh vpright men to be thankfull.

a Praise

5 Praise the Lord with harpe: sing vnto him with viol and instrument of ten strings.

6 Sing vnto him a new song: sing cheerfully with a loud voice.

7 For the word of the Lord is righteous, and all his workes are faithful.

8 He teacheth righteousnesse and iudgement: the earth is full of the goodnesse of the Lord.

9 By the word of the Lord were the heauens made, and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth.

10 He gathereth the waters of the sea together vpon an heape, and layeth vp the depths in his treasures.

11 Let all the earth feare the Lord: let all them that dwell in the world, feare him.

12 For he spake, and it was done: hee commanded, and it stood.

13 The Lord breaketh the counsell of the heathen, and bringeth to nought the desires of the people.

14 The counsell of the Lord shall stand for euer, and the thoughts of the heart throughout all ages.

15 Blessed is that nation, whose God is the Lord: owne people shal he hath chosen for his inheritance.

16 The Lord looketh downe from heauen, and beholdeth all the children of men.

17 From the habitation of his dwelling hee beholdeth all them that dwell in the earth.

18 He fashioneth their hearts euerie one, and vnderstandeth all their workes.

19 The king is not feared by the multitude of an host, neither is the mightie man deliuered by great strength.

20 An horse is a vaine helpe, and shall not decline by his great strength.

21 Behold, the eye of the Lord is vpon them that feare him, and vpon them that trust in his mercie.

22 To deliuer their soules from death, and to preserve them in famine.

23 Our soules waiteth for the Lord: for hee is our helpe and our shield.

24 Surely our hearts shall reioyce in him, because we trusted in his holy Name.

25 Let thy mercie, O Lord, bee vpon vs, as wee trust in thee.

PSALM XXXIII.

1 After David had escaped Achish, according as it is written in the 1 Sam. 21. 11. whom in this title he calleth Abimelech (which was a generall name to all the kings of the Philistines) he praiseth God for his deliverance, 3 prouoking all others by his example to trust in God, so here and to serue him: 7 Who defendeth the godly with his Angels, 16 And venterly destroyeth the wicked in their sinnes.

2 APsalme of Dauid, when hee changed his behaviour before Abimelech, who drewe him away and departed.

I Will alway giue thanks vnto the Lorde: his praise shal be in my mouth continually.

3 My soule shall glory in the Lord: the humble shall heare it, and be glad.

4 Praise ye the Lord with me, and let vs magnifie his Name together.

5 I sought the Lord and he heard me: yea, hee deliuered me out of all my feare.

6 They shall looke vnto him, and runne to him: and their faces shall not be ashamed, for ay.

7 This poore man cryed, and the Lord heard him and saued him out of all his troubles.

7 The Angel of the Lord pitcheth round about them that feare him, and deliuereth them.

8 Take yee and see, how gracious the Lord is, blessed is the man that trusteth in him.

9 Feare the Lord, yee his Saints: for nothing wanteth to them that feare him.

10 The yowes doe lacke and suffer hunger, but they which seeke the Lord, shall want nothing that is good.

11 Come children, hearken vnto me: I will teach you the feare of the Lord.

12 * What man is he, that desireth life, and 10. 1. Pet. 3. with long dayes for to see good?

13 Keepe thy tongue from euill, and thy lips that they speake no guile.

14 Eschew euill and do good: seeke peace and follow after it.

15 The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their cry.

16 But the face of the Lord is against them that doe euill, to cut off their remembrance from the earth.

17 The righteous cry, and the Lord heareth them, and deliuereth them out of all their troubles.

18 The Lord is nere vnto them that are of a courtie heart, and will save such as bee afflicted in spirit.

19 Great are the troubles of the righteous, but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all.

20 He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

21 But malice shall slay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous, shall perill.

22 The Lord redeemeth the soules of his seruants: and none that trust in him shall perill.

PSALM XXXV.

1 So long as I sate in misery to Dauid, all that had any authoritie vnder him, so faster their king (as in the counsell of the world) did also most cruelly persecute Dauid: against whom hee prayeth God to plead and to avenge his cause, 8 That they may be taken in their netts and snares which they laie for him, that his innocencie may be declared, 17 and that the innocent, which taketh part with him, may reioyce and praise the Name of the Lord, that this deliuereth his seruants. 28 And so he prouoketh to speake forth the iustice of the Lord, and to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

3 APsalme of Dauid.

PLead thou my cause, O Lord, with them that strine with mee: fight thou against them that fight against me.

2 Lay hand vpon the shield and buckles, and stand vp for mine helpe.

3 Bring out also the speare, and stoppe the way against them that persecute me, say vnto my soule, I am thy saluation.

4 Let them be confounded and put to shame, that seke after my soule: let them be turned back, and brought to confusion that imagine mine hurt.

5 Let them be as chaffe before the winde, and let the Angel of the Lord scatter them.

6 Let their way be darke and slippery: and let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

7 For without cause they haue hid the pit, and their net for me: without cause they haue digged a pit for my soule.

8 Let destruction come vpon him at vsuaries, and let his net that he hath laid priuily, take him: let him fall into the same destruction.

9 Then my soule shall bee joyful in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation.

10. clef of the earth: meaning, himselfe for others his misery.

10 All my bones shall say, Lord, who is like unto thee, which deliverest the poore from him that is too strong for him? yea, the poore, and him that is in misery, from him that spoyls him!

11 Cruell witnesses did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knew not.

12 They rewarded mee euill for good, to haue spoiled my soule.

13 Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke: I humbled my soule with fasting, and my prayer was turned vpon my bosome.

14 I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewaileth his mother.

15 But in mine aduersitie they reioyced, and gathered themselves together: the abjects assembled themselves against mee, and I knew not: they saue me, and crafted not.

16 With the false coublers at bankers, gnashing their teeth against me.

17 Lord, how long wilt thou behold thou deliver my soule from their tumult, even my desolate soule from the Lions.

18 So will I give thee thanks in a great congregation: I will praise thee among much people.

19 Let not them that are mine enemies, vainly reioyce ouer mee, neither let them wink with the eye, that hate me without a cause.

20 For they speake not as friends: but they imagine deceitfull words against the quiet of thy land.

21 And they gaped on mee with their mouths, saying, Aha, aha, our eye hath seene.

22 Thou hast seene it, O Lord: keepe not silence: be not farre from mee, O Lord.

23 Arise and wake to my iudgement, even to my cause, my God, and my Lord.

24 Iudge me, O Lord my God, according to thy righteousness, and let them not reioyce ouer me.

25 Let them not say in their hearts, O our soule reioyce: neither let them say, We haue desoured him.

26 Let them bee confounded and put to shame together, that reioyce at mine hurt: let them bee clothed with confusion and shame, that lift vp themselves against me.

27 But let them bee ioyfull and glad that lene my righteousness: yea, let them say alway, Let the Lord bee magnified, which loueth the prosperity of his seruant.

28 And my tongue shall vtter thy righteousnesses, and thy praise euery day.

PSALM XXXVI.

The Prophet grievously vexed by the wicked, doth complain of their malicious wickedness. 6 Then he turneth to consider the vnspokeable goodness of God toward all creatures: 9 But specially toward his children, that by the faith thereof they may be comforted and assured of his deliverance by this ordinary course of Gods works. 13 Who in the end destroyeth the wicked, and saileth him in.

¶ To him that excelleth. AP salme of David, the seruant of the Lord.

Wickedness is faith to the wicked man, even in mine heart, that there is no feare of God before his eyes.

1 For hee flattereth himselfe in his owne eyes, while his iniquity is found worthy to be hated.

2 The wordes of his mouth are iniquity and deceit: hee hath left off to vnderstand and to doe good.

3 Hee imagineth mischief vpon his bed: hee stretcheth himselfe vpon a way, that is not good, and doeth not abhorre euill.

4 Thy mercie, O Lord, reacheth vnto the heauens, and thy faithfulness vnto the clouds.

5 Thy righteousness is like the light of the morning: thy iudgements are like a great deepe: thou Lord, dost save man and beast.

6 How excellent is thy mercie, O God! therefore the children of men trust vnder the shadow of thy wings.

7 They shall bee furnished with the fatnesse of thine house, and thou shalt giue them drinks out of the riner of thy pleasures.

8 For with thee is the well of life, and in thy light shall wee see light.

9 Extend thy loving kindness vnto them that know thee, and thy righteousness vnto them that are vpright in heart.

10 Let not the foote of pride come against mee, and let not the hand of the wicked man moue mee.

11 There they are fallen that work iniquities: they are cast downe, and shall not be able to rise.

PSALM XXXVII.

This Psalm containeth exhortation and consolation for the weak, that are grieved at the prosperity of the wicked, and the affliction of the good. 7 For how profitably former the wicked doe line for the time, he doth affirme their felicitie to be vaine and transitory, because they are not in the favour of God, but in the end they are destroyed as his enemies. 11 And how miserably that the righteous stand to line in the world, yet blessed a peace, & he is in the favour of God, hee is delivered from the wicked and persecuted.

AP salme of David.

FRET not thy selfe because of the wicked men, neither be enuious for the euill doers.

2 For they shall some be cut downe like gasse, and shall wither as the greene herbe.

3 Trust thou in the Lord, and doe good: dwell in the land, and thou shalt be fed assuredly.

4 And delight thy selfe in the Lord, and he shall giue thee thine hearts desire.

5 Commit thy way vnto the Lord, and trust in him, and he shall bring it to passe.

6 And he shall bring forth thy righteousness as the light, and thy iudgement as the noone day.

7 Wait patiently vpon the Lord, and hope in him: fret not thy selfe for him which prospereth in his way: nor for the man that bringeth his enterprises to passe.

8 Cease from anger, and leaue off wrath: fret not thy selfe also to doe euill.

9 For euill doers shall be cut off: and they that wait vpon the Lord, they shall inherite the land.

10 Therefore yet a little while, and the wicked shall not appeare, and thou shalt looke after his place, and he shall not be found.

11 But meek men shall possesse the earth, and haue their delight in the multitude of peace.

12 The wicked practiseeth against the iust, and gnasheth his teeth against him.

13 But the Lord shall laugh him to scorne: for he seeth that his day is coming.

14 The wicked haue drawn their swordes, and haue bent their bowe, to cast downe the poore and needy, and to slay such as bee of vpright conuersation.

15 But their sword shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shall be broken.

16 A final thing vnto the iust man is better then great riches to the wicked, and mighty.

17 For the armes of the wicked shall be broken: but

For, clef of the earth: meaning, himselfe or others in their misery.

12 For, the manner of God's judgement is as the rain in the seed-bed.

Mat. 13

but the Lord vpholdeth the iust men.

18 The Lord knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shall be perpetual.

19 They shall not bee confounded in the perillous time, and in the dayes of famine they shall haue enough.

20 But the wicked shall perishe, and the enemies of the Lord shall be consumed as the fat of lambes: as with the smoke shall they consume away.

21 The wicked bowdoweth, & payeth not againe: but the righteous is mercifull and giueth.

22 For such as be blessed of God shall inherite the land, and they that be cursed of him, shall be cut off.

23 The paths of man are directed by the Lord: for he loneth his way.

24 Though hee fall, he shall not bee cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

25 I haue beene yong and am old: yett I saw neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.

26 But he is euer mercifull and tendeth, and his seed enioyeth the blessing.

27 Flee from euill and doe good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lord loneth iudgement, and forsaketh not his Saints: they shall be preferred for euer more: but the seed of the wicked shall be cut off.

29 The righteous men shall inherite the land, and dwell therein for euer.

30 The mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdom, and his tongue will like of iudgement.

31 For the Lawe of his God is in his heart, and his steps shall not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But the Lord will not leane him in his hand, nor condemne him when he is iudged.

34 Waiteth on the Lord, and keepe his way, and hee shall exalt thee that thou shalt inherite the land: when the wicked men shall perishe, thou shalt see.

35 I haue seene the wicked strong, and spreading himselfe like a greene bay tree.

36 Yet hee passed away, and loe he was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be found.

37 Marke the vpright man, and behold the iust: for the end of that man is peace.

38 But the transgressors shall be destroyed together, and the end of the wicked shall be cut off.

39 For the saluation of the righteous men shall be of the Lord: he shall be their strength in the time of trouble.

40 But the Lord shall helpe them, and deliuer them: hee shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them because they trust in him.

PSAL XXXVIII.

1 David singeth of some grievous distaste, acknowledging howe easye to be chastised of the Lord for his sinnes, and therefore prayeth God to turne away his wrath.

2 He uttereth the greatnesse of his griefe by many words and circumflances, as wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire, forsaken of his friends, euill incited of his enemies. 3 But in the end with firme confidence he commendeth his cause to God, and hopeth for speedy helpe at his hand.

4 A Psalm of David for remembrance.

Lord rebuke mee not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 For thine arrowes haue light vpon mee, and thine hand lieth vpon mee.

3 There is nothing found in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones because of my sinne.

4 For mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weighty burden they are too heauy for me.

5 My wounds are purified and corrupt, because of my foolishnesse.

6 I am bowed: and crooked very sore: I goe mourning all the day.

7 For my reines are full of burning, and there is nothing found in my flesh.

8 I am weakened and sore broken: I roare for the very griefe of mine heart.

9 Lord, I pour out my whole desire before thee, and my sighing is not hid from thee.

10 Mine heart & panteth: my strength faileth mee, and the light of mine eyes, euen they are not mine owne.

11 My louers and my friends stand aside from my plague, and my kinsmen stand asunder off.

12 They also that seeke after my life, lay snates, and they that goe about to doe mee euill talke wicked things, and imagine deceit continually.

13 But I as a deafe man heard not, and am as a dumbe man which openeth not his mouth.

14 Thus am I as a man that heareth not, and in whose mouth are no reprooves.

15 For on thee, O Lord, doe I waite: thou wilt heare me, my Lord, my God.

16 For I said, Heare mee, lest they reioyce ouer mee: for when my foote slippeth, they extoll themselves against me.

17 Surely I am ready to halt, and my sorrow is euer before me.

18 When I declare my paine, and am sore for my sinne, 19 Then mine enemies are aline, & are mighty, and they that hate me wrongfully are many.

20 They also that reward euill for good, are mine aduersaries, because I follow goodnes.

21 Forsake me not, O Lord: bee not thou farre from me, my God.

22 Hasten thee to helpe mee, O my Lord, my salvation.

PSAL XXXIX.

1 David uttereth with what great griefe and distresses of mind he was driven to: sheweth out of his complaint of his infirmities.

2 For hee confesseth that when he had remitted silence, hee brast forth yet into words, that hee would not through the greatnesse of his griefe.

3 Then he rehearseth certain requests which taile of the infirmity of man.

4 And rejoiceth with them many prayers: but all do shewe a minde wonderfully troubled, that it may plainly appeare how hee did strive mightily against death and desperation.

5 To the excellent musician Jeduthun.

A Psalm of David.

I Thought, I will take heede to my wayes, that I sinne not with my tongue: I will keepe my mouth bridled, while the wicked is in my sight.

2 I was dumbe, & spake nothing: I kept silence from good, and my sorow was more stirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within mee, and while I was musing, the fire kindled, and I spake with my tongue, saying,

4 Lord, let me know mine ende, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let me know how long I haue to liue.

5 Behold, thou hast made my dayes as an handbreadth, & mine age as nothing in respect of thee: surely every man in his best state is altogether vanitie. Selah.

6 Doubtlesse man walketh in a shadow, & disquieteth himselfe in vaine: hee heapeth vp riches, and and cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And now Lord, what wait I for mine hope is even in thee.

8 Deliver mee from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke unto the foolish.

9 I should have bene dumbe, and not have opened my mouth, because thou didst it.

10 Take thy plague away from me: for I am consumed by the stroke of thine hand.

11 When thou with rebukes dost chasten man for iniquitie, thou as a moth makest his beauty to consume: surely every man is vanity. Selah.

12 Heare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my crye: keepe not silence at my teares, for I am a stranger with thee, & a sojourner as all my fathers.

13 Stay thine anger from me, that I may recover my strength, before I go hence and be not.

PSAL. XL.

1 David delivered from yre at danger doth magnifie and praise the grace of God for his deliverance, and commendeth his providence to ward all mankind. 5 Then doth he promise to give himselfe wholly to Gods service, and so declares how God is truly worshipped. 14 After ward he giueth thanks, and praises God, and haueing complained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for aid and succour.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. I waited patiently for the Lord, and hee inclined vnto me, and heard my cry.

2 He brought me also out of the horrible pit, out of the miry clay, and set my feet vpon the rock, and ordered my goings.

3 And he hath put in my mouth a new song of praise vnto our God: many thal see it, and feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, and regardeth not the proud, nor such as turne aside to lies.

5 O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull works so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I would declare and speake of them, but they are more then I am able to expresse.

6 Sacrifice and offering thou didst not desire: (for mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offering and faine offering hast thou not required.

7 Thou sayd I, Loe, I come: for in the roll of the booke it is written of me, 8 I desire to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy law is within mine heart.

9 I have declared thy righteousness in the great Congregation: loe, I will not reframe my lips: O Lord, thou knowest.

10 I have not hid thy righteousness within mine heart, (as I have declared thy truth, & thy saluation: I have not concealed thy mercy and thy truth from the great Congregation.

11 Withdraw not thou thy tender mercy from me, O Lord: let thy mercy and thy truth alway preserue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed me: my sinnes haue taken such hold vpon me, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are more in number then the haire of mine head: therefore mine heart hath failed me.

13 Let it please thee, O Lord, to deliuer mee: make haste, O Lord, to helpe me.

14 Let them bee confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy it: let them be driuen backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them bee destroyed for a reward of their shame, which say vnto me, Alas, alas:

16 Let all them that seeke thee, reioyce and be glad in thee: and let them that love thy saluation, say alway, The Lord be praised.

17 Though I be poore & needy, the Lord thinketh on me: thou art mine helper and my deliverer: my God, make no trying.

PSAL. XLII.

1 David being grievously afflicted, his spirit stoneth that pity his case, 9 And complaineth of the treason of his owne friends & familiar, as came to passe in Iudas, Iohn 13. 18. After he feeling the great mercies of God greatly exalting him, and not suffering his enemies to triumph against him, 23 Giueth much hearty thanks vnto God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

Blessed is hee that judgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord wil keep him, & preferue him aliter: he shalbe blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.

3 The Lord wil strengthen him vpon the bed of sorrow: thou hast turned all his bed in his sicknesse.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercy vpon mee: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies speake euill of me, saying, When shall he die, and his name perish?

6 And if he come to see me, he speaketh lies, but his heart heapeth iniquity within him, and when he cometh forth, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate mee, whisper together against me: euen against me doe they imagine mine hurt.

8 A mischief is light vpon him, and hee that lieth, shall no more rise.

9 Yea, my familiar friend whome I trusted, which did eat of my bread, hath lift vp the heele against me.

10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercy vpon mee, and raise me vp: so I shall reward them.

11 By this I know that thou fauourest mee, because mine enemy doth not triumph against me.

12 And as for me thou vpholdest me in mine integrity, and dost set me before thy face for euer.

13 Blessed be the Lord God of Israel euermore with our end. So be it, euen so be it.

PSAL. XLIII.

1 The Prophet grievously complaineth, that being hated by his persecutors, he could not be present in the congregation of Gods people, protesting that although he was separated in body from them yet his heart was thitherward affectioned. 7 And last of all he sweareth that he was not so farre overcome with the se forward and thoughts, 8 but that he continually put his confidence in the Lord.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

As the Hart brayeth for the riuers of water, so panteth my soule after thee, O God.

2 My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when shall I come and appeare before the presence of God?

3 My teares haue been my meat day and night, while they daily say vnto me, Where is thy God?

4 When I remembered these things, I powred out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, and ledde them into the house of God with the voice of singing and praise, as a multitude that keepeth a feast.

Why art thou cast downe, my soule, and va-quett within me? wait on God: for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his pretence.

My God, my soule is cast downe within mee, because I remember thee from the land of Iordun, and Hermonim, and from the mount Mizar.

Our deepe calleth another deepe by the noise of the water spouts: all thy waves and thy floods are gone out me.

The Lord will grant his louing kindness in the day, and in the night will I sing of him, when a prayer vnto the God of my life.

I will say vnto God which is my rock, Why hast thou forgotten me? why goe I mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me?

To my bones are cut a funder, while mine enemies reproch me, saying dayly vnto me, Where is thy God?

Why art thou cast downe my soule? and why art thou disquieted within mee? wait on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: for is my present helpe and my God.

PSAL XLIIII.

1 His speeth to be desired from them which confess against him, that he might iustly praise God in his holy Congregation.

Iudge me, O God, and defend my cause against the mercifull peoples desire me from the deceitful and wicked man.

For thou art the God of my strength, why hast thou put me away? why goe I so mourning, when the enemy oppresseth me?

Send thy light and thy truth: let them leade me: let them bring me vnto thine holy mountaine, and to thy tabernacles.

Then will I goe vnto the Altar of God, turn vnto the God of my ioy and gladnes: and vpon the harpe will I giue thanks vnto thee, O God, my God.

Why are thou cast downe my soule, and why art thou disquieted within mee? wait on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: for is my present helpe and my God.

PSAL XLIIII.

1 The faithful remember the great mercie of God downward his people. 9 After they complaine, because they feele it no more. 17 Also they alledge the commandments made with Abraham, for the keeping whereof they, then what grievous things they suffered. 23 Finally they pray vnto God not to consume their afflic-tion, seeing the same redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

WE haue heard with our eares, O God: our fathers haue tolde vs the works, that thou hast done in thy daies, in the old time:

Howe thou hast driuen out the heathen with thine hand, & planted them: howe thou hast destroyed the people, and caused them to grow.

For they inherited not the land by their owne sword, neither did they owne arme saue them: but thy right hand and thine arme, and the light of thy countenance, because thou didst fauour them.

Thou art my King, O God: send helpe vnto Isakob.

Through thee haue we thrust backe our aduer-saries: by thy Name haue wee troden downe them that rose vp against vs.

For I doe not trust in my bow, neither can my sword saue me.

But thou hast saued vs from our aduersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.

Therefore will we praise God continually, and will confesse thy Name for euer. 5 clark.

But now thou art farre off, and partest vs to confusion, and goest not forth with our armie.

Thou makest vs to turne backe from the ad-uersary, and they which hate vs, spoile for themselues.

Thou thrustest vs as sheepe to bee eaten, and dost scatter vs among the nations.

Thou sellest thy people without gaine, and dost not increase their price.

Thou makest vs a reproch to our neighbours, a iest and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.

Thou makest vs a proverbe among the asti-out, and a nodding of the head among the people.

My confusion is daily before me, & the shame of my face hath covered me.

For the voice of the slanderer and rebuker, for the enemy and anenger.

All this is come vpon vs, yet doe wee not forget thee, neither deale we falsely concerning thy con-uenant.

Our heart is not turned backe, neither our steps gone out of thy pathes.

Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of dragons, and covered vs with the shadow of death.

If we haue forgotten the Name of our God,
and holden vp our hands to a strange god,

Shall not God search this out? for he knoweth the secreters of the heart.

Surely for thy sake we are slaine continually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.

Vp, why sleepest thou, O Lord? awake, be not asleepe off for euer.

Wherefore hidest thou thy face? and forgettest our misery and our affliction?

For our soule is beaten downe to the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground.

Rise vp for our inuicour, and redeeme vs for thy mercies sake.

PSAL XLV.

1 *The maiestie of Salomon his honour, strength, beau-tie, riches and power are praised, and also his marriage with the Egyptian being an heathen woman is re-fected. 10 If that she can renounce her people, and the loue of her country, and giue her selfe wholly to her husband.
Vnder the which figure the wonderfull maiestie and increase of the kingdomes of Christ and his Church his spouse now taken of the Gentiles is described.*

To him that excelleth on Sholomannim a song of loue to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

The heart will utter forth a good matter: I will intreat in my works of the king: my tongue is as the pen of a swift walter.

Thou art fairer then the children of men:
grace is powred in thy lips, because God hath blessed thee for euer.

Gird thy sword vpon thy thigh, O most mighty, to win, thy worship and thy glory.

And prosper with thy glory: ride vpon the word of truth, and of meeknesse, and of righte-ousnesse: so thy right hand shall reach thee: terrible things.

Thine arrowes are sharpe to pearce the heart of the kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee.

13. The kings daughter is all glories within her clothing is of broidered gold.

14. She shall be brought vnto the King in raiment of needles work: the virgins that follow after her, and her companions shall be brought vnto her.

16. Instead of thy fathers shall thy children bee: thou shalt make them princes thow all the earth.

17. I will make thy Name to be remembered thow all generations: therefore shall the people giue thanks vnto thee world without end.

It is written by the Prophet concerning this great benefit, doth exhort the faithful to give themselves wholly into the hand of God, doubting nothing but that under his protection they shall safe against all the assaults of their enemies, because this is his delight to affwage the rage of the wicked, when they are most busy against the iust.

P. S. A L. XLVIII.

1. A notable deliuerance of Ierusalem from the hand of many Kings is memoriall for the which thanks are giue to God, and the state of this cite is praised, that hath God so perfectly as alway ready to defend them. This Psalm seemeth to bee made in the time of Abas, Iosaphat, Aza, or Ezechiab: for in their times chiefly was the cite by strange princes assailed.

¶ A song or Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Great is the Lord, and greatly to bee praised in the city of our God, euen vpon his holy mountaine.

2. Mount Zion lying Northward is faire in situation: it is the ioy of the whole earth, and the city of the great King.

3. In the palaces thereof God is knowne for a refuge.

4. For so the kings were gathered, and went together.

5. When they saw it, they marvelled: they were astonied, and suddenly driuen backe.

6. Feare came there vpon them, and sorrow, as vpon a woman in travail.

7. As with an East wind thou breakest the ships of Tarshish, so were they destroyed.

8. As we haue heard, so we haue scene in the city of the Lord of hostes, in the cite of our God: God will establish it for euer, Selah.

9. Wee wait for thy louing kindnesse, O God, in the mids of thy Temple.

10. O God, according vnto thy Name, so is thy praise vnto the worlds end: thy right hand is full of righteousness.

11. Let mount Zion reioyce, and the daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudgements.

12. Compassionate about Zion, and go round about it, and tell the towers thereof.

13. Marke well the wall thereof: beholde her towers, that ye may tell your posteritie.

14. For this God is our God for euer and euer: he shall be our guide vnto the death.

P S A L M LXXIX.

1 The holy Ghost calleth all men to the consideration of man's life. 2 Showing them what he most blessed, that are most ready, and therefore not to be feared, and shewing how his flesh up our sinners to consider that all things are ruled by Gods providence. 3 In his hand are the worlds might, in his right hand the worlds power. 4 So doth he preserve his and will reward them in the day of their salvation. 5 Thus it is.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm committed to the singers of Korah.

Hear thus all ye people: give care all ye that dwell in the world,

2 As well low as high, both rich and poor.

3 My mouth shall speak of wisdom, and the meditation of my heart is of knowledge.

4 I will incline mine ear to a parable, and utter my grame in a true word be heard.

5 Wherefore should I feare in the still dayes, when iniquitie shall compass me about, as at my heeles?

6 They trust in their goods, & boast themselves in the multitude of their riches.

7 Yet a man can by no means redeeme his brother: he cannot give his ransom to God.

8 (So precious is the redemption of their soules, and the continuance for ever)

9 That he may live still for ever, and not see the graue.

10 For hee feeth that wise men die, and also that the ignorant and foolish perish, as if leane their riches for others.

11 For they thinke their houses & their habitations shall continue for ever, even from generation to generation, and I call their lands by their names.

12 But man shall continue in honour: hee is like the beasts that die.

13 This their way uttereth their foolishness: yet their posterity delight in their talke. Selah.

14 Like sleep they lie in graue death devourerth them, & the righteous shall have dominion over them in y morning: for their beauty shall consume, when they shall goe from their house to graue.

15 But God shall deliver my soule from the power of the grane: I for he will receive me. Selah.

16 Be not thou afraid when one is made rich, and when the glory of his house is increased, 17 For he shall take nothing away when he dieth, neither shall his pompe descend after him.

18 For while hee liveth, hee reioyced himselfe: and men will praise thee, when thou makest much of thy selfe.

19 He shall enter into the generation of his fathers, and they shall not live for ever.

20 Man is in honour, and understandeth not: he is like to beasts that perish.

P S A L M L.

1 Because the Church is alway full of hypocrites, & which doe imagine that God will be worshipped with outward ceremonies only, without the heart, and especially the lawes were of this opinion because of their figures & ceremonies of sibe law, thinking that their sacrifices were sufficient. 2 Therefore the Prophet doth reprove this offence, & pronounceth the Name of God to be blasphemed, where holiness is set in reverence. 3 For he declareth the worship of God to be spiritual, where as they worshipping in parts, in vocations and thanksgiving.

¶ A Psalm of Asaph.
The God of gods, the Lord hath spoken, and called the earth from the rising vp of the sunne, unto the going downe thereof.

2 Out of Zion which is the perfection of beauty, hath God thine.

3 Our God shall come, & shall not keepe silence: a fire shall devour before him: and a mighty tempest shall be moved round about him.

4 He shall call the heauen above, and the earth to iudge his people.

5 Gather my Saints together vnto me, those that make a covenant with me with sacrifice.

6 And the heauen shall declare his righteousness: for God is to iudge himselfe. Selah.

7 Hear, O my people, and I will speake: heare, O Israel, and I will testify vnto thee: for I am God, even thy God.

8 I will not reprove thee for thy sacrifices, or thy burnt offerings, that have not bene continually before me.

9 I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goats out of thy folds.

10 For all the beasts of the forest are mine, and the beasts on a thousand mountains.

11 I know all the fowles of the mountain: and the wild beasts of the field are mine.

12 If I be hungry, I will not tell thee: for the world is mine and all that therein is.

13 Will I eat the flesh of bulles? or drinke the blood of goats?

14 Offer vnto God praise, and pay thy vowes vnto the most High.

15 And call vpon mee in the day of trouble: so will I deliver thee, and thou shalt glorifie me.

16 But vnto the wicked said God, What hast thou to do? declare mine ordinances, that thou shouldst take my covenant in thy mouth.

17 Saying thou hast to be reformed, and hast cast my words behind thee?

18 For when thou seest a thiefe, thou runnest with him, and thou art partaker with the adulterers.

19 Thou givest thy mouth to euill, and with thy tongue thou forgettest deceit.

20 Thou fittest and speakest against thy brother, and slanderest thy mothers name.

21 These things hast thou done, and I helde my tongue: therefore thou thoughtest that I was like thee: but I will reprove thee, and set them in order before thee.

22 O consider this, yee that forget God, least I reare you in pieces, and there be none that can deliver you.

23 He that offereth praise, shall glorifie me: and to him that disposeth his way aright, will I shew the saluation of God.

1 When David was rebuked by the Prophet Nathan for his great offences, hee did not only acknowledge the same to God with protestation of his naturall corruption and iniquity, but also left a memoriall thereof to his posterity. 2 Therefore first hee desired God to forgive his finnes, 3 And to renew in him his holy Spirit, 4 with promise that he will not be remiss of those great graces. 5 Finally, fearing lest God would punish the whole Church for his faults, hee requesteth that he would rather increase his graces towards the same.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David, when the Prophet Nathan came vnto him, after he had gone in to Bath-sheba.

cleans me from my sinne.

3 For I knowe mine iniquities, and my sinne is ever before me.

4 Against thee, against thee only have I sinned, and done euill in thy sight, that thou mayest be iust when thou speakest, and pure when thou iudgeth.

5 Behold, I was borne in iniquity, and in sinne hath my mother conceived me.

6 Behold, thou lovest truth in the inward affections: therefore hast thou taught mee wisdom in the secret of mine heart.

Zec. 14. 5 7 Purge me with * hyssope, and I shall be cleane: wash me, and I shall be whiter then snowe.

9 Hide thy face from my sinnes, and put away all mine iniquities.

10 Create in me a cleane heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me.

11 Cast mee not away from thy presence, and take not thy holy Spirit from me.

13 Then shall I teach thy wayes vnto the wicked, and sinners shall be converted vnto thee.

14 Deliver me from blood, O God, which art the God of my saluation, and my tongue shall sing ioyfully of thy righteousnesse.

15 Open thou my lips, O Lord, and my mouth shall shew forth thy praise.

16 For thou desirest no sacrifice, though I would giue it: thou delightest not in burnt offering.

17 The sacrifices of God are a contrite spirit: a contrite and a broken heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.

18 Bee fauourable vnto Zion for thy good pleasure: build the walles of Ierusalem.

19 Then shalt thou accept the sacrifices of righteousness, when the burnt offering and oblation: then shall they offer calves vpon thine Altar.

P S A L. LII.

1 David describeth the errant tyranny of his aduersary Dore, who by false iurmes called Ahimelech with the rest of the Priests to be slaine. 5 David propheseth his destruction, 6 and encourage the faithful to put their confidence in God, whose iudgements are most sharpe against his aduersaries. 9 And finally he rendereth thanks to God for his deliuerance. In this Psalme is lively set forth the kingdom of Antichrist.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David to giue instruction. When Dore the Edomite came and slew Saul, and sayd to him, David is come to the house of Ahimelech.

Why boastest thou thy telle in thy wickednes, O man of power? the louing kindnesse of God endureth dayly.

1 Thy tongue imagineth mischief, and is like a sharpe razor that cutteth deceitfully.

2 Thou dost loue euill more then good, and lies, more then to speake the truth. Selah.

3 Thou lovest all wordes that may destroy, O deceitfull tongue!

4 So shall God destroy thee for ever: hee shall take thee, and plucke thee out of thy tabernacle, and roote thee out of the land of the liuing. Selah.

5 Therighteous also shall see it, and feare, and shall laugh at him, saying,

6 Behold the man that tooke not God for his strength, but trusted vnto the multitude of his riches, and put his strength in his malice.

7 But I shall be like a greene olive tree in the house of God: for I trusted in the mercie of God for ever and ever.

8 I will alway praye thee, for that thou hast done this, and I will hope in thy Name, because it is good before thy Saints.

P S A L. LIII.

1 He describeth the crooked nature, 4 the crueltie, 5 and punishment of the wicked when they looke not for it, 6 and desireth the deliuerance of the godly, that they may reioyce together.

¶ To him that excelleth on Mahaleth. A Psalm of David to giue instruction.

The foole hath said in his heart, there is no God. They have corrupted and done abominable wickednesse: there is none that doeth good.

2 God looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand and seeke God.

3 * Everyone is gone backe: they are altogether corrupt: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

4 Doe not the workers of iniquity knowe that they eate vp my people as they eate bread? they call not vpon God.

5 There they were afraid for feare, where no feare was: for God hath scattered the bones of him that beseged thee, thou hast put them to confusion, because God hath cast them off.

6 Oh giue saluation vnto Israel out of Zion: when God turneth the captivity of his people, then Iacob shall reioyce, and Israel shall be glad.

P S A L. LIIII.

1 David brought into great danger by the reason of the Ziphims, 5 calleth vpon the Name of God to destroy his enemies, 6 promising sacrifice and free offering for so great deliuerance.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalm of David to giue instruction. When the Ziphims came and sayd vnto Saul, * Is not David hid among vs?

Saueme, O God, by thy Name, and by thy power iudge me.

2 O God heare my prayer: hearken vnto the words of my mouth.

3 For strangers are risen vp against mee, and tyrants seeke my soule: they have not set God before them. Selah.

4 Behold, God is mine helper: the Lord is with them that vphold my soule.

5 Hee shall reward euill vnto mine enemies: Oh cut them off in thy truth.

6 Then I will sacrifice freely vnto thee: I will praise thy Name, O Lord, because it is good.

7 For he hath deliuered me out of all trouble, & mine eye hath seene my desire vpon mine enemies.

P S A L. LV.

1 David bringeth in great assurance and distrust of complainers of the crueltie of Saul, 13 And of the faithfulness of his familiar acquaintance, 17 Uttering most ardent affection to moue the Lord to pittie him. 23 After being assured of deliuerance, hee testifieth forth the grace of God, as though hee had a ready obtained hearing.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalm of David to giue instruction.

Hear me prayer, O God, and hide not thy selfe from my supplication.

2 Hearken vnto me, and answer me: I mourne in my prayer and make a noise.

3 For the voice of the enemy, and for the vexation of the wicked, because they haue brought iniquity vpon me, and furiously hate me.

For waters upon thy grace and promise.

Rom. 9.

1. Sam. 28.

4 My heart trembleth within mee, and the terrours of death are fallen vpon me.

5 Fears and trembling are come vpon me, and an horrible feare hath euered me.

6 And I said, Oh that I had wings like a dove: then would I flee away and rest.

7 Behold, I would take my flight farre off, and lodge in the wilderness. Selah.

8 Hee would make halfe for my deliuerance, from the stormy wind and tempest.

9 Destroy, O Lord, and diuide their tongues: for I haue seene cruelty and strife in the citie.

10 Day and night they goe about it vpon the wall thereof: both iniquity and mischief are in the mids of it.

11 Wickednesse is in the mids thereof: deceit and guile depart not from her streetes.

12 Surely mine enemy did not defame me: for I could haue borne it: neither did mine aduersarie exalt himselfe against me: for I would haue hid me from him.

13 But it was thou, O man, euen my companion, my guide and my familiar:

14 Which delighted in consulting together, and went into the house of God as companions.

15 Let death seize vpon them let them go downe quicke into the grave: for wickednesse is in their dwellings. 1 Sam. 24. 4.

16 But I will call vnto God, and the Lord will saue me.

17 Encuing, and morning, & at noon will I pray, and make a noise, and he will heare my voice.

18 Hee hath deliuered my soule in peace from the battell, 1 Sam. 24. 4. 10r dnd most sh that was against mee: for many were with me.

19 God shall heare and afflicte them, euen he that reigneth of old. Selah. Because they haue no changes, therefore they feare not God.

20 Hee laid his hand vpon such as bee at peace with him, and he brake his Couenant.

21 The words of his mouth were softer then butter, yet warre was in his heart: his wordes were more gentle then oyle, yet they were swords.

22 Calsthy a burden vpon the Lord, and he shall nourish thee: he will not suffer the righteous to fall for euer.

23 And thou, O God, shalt bring them downe into the pit of corruption: the bloody and deceitfull men shall not liue halfe their dayes: but I will trust in thee.

P S A L. LVI.

1 David being brought to Achish the King of Gath, 1 Sam. 21. 12. complaineth of his enemies, and demandeth succour; 3. Putteth his trust in God and in his promise; 12. And proueth to perseme his vowe, which he had taken vpon him, whereof thou wast the effect, to praise God in his Church.

2 To him that exallesh. A Psalm of David on Micham concerning the dumbe done in a farre country, whē the Philistines tooke him in Gath.

3 Mercifull vnto me, O God, for man would swallow me vp: hee sighteth continually and vexeth me.

4 Mine enemies would daily swallow mee vp: for many fight against me, O thou most High.

5 When I was afraid, I trusted in thee.

6 I will reioyce in God, because of his word, I trust in God, & will not feare what flesh can do vnto me.

7 Mine owne words giue me daily: all their thoughts are against me to doe me hurt.

8 They gather together, and keepe themselves close, they marke my steps, because they waite for 7 They thinke they shall escape by iniquity: O God, cast these people downe in thine anger.

8 Thou hast counted my wanderings: put my teares into thy bottell: are they not in thy reeffer?

9 When I cry, then mine enemies shall turne backe: this I knowe, for God is with me.

10 I will reioyce in God, because of his word: in the Lord will I reioyce because of his word.

11 In God do I trust: I will not be afraid what man can doe vnto me.

12 Thy vowes are vpon me, O God: I will render praises vnto thee.

13 For thou hast deliuered my soule from death, and also my fecte from falling: that I may walke before God in the light of the lining.

P S A L. LVII.

1 David being in the desert of Zaphan, where the inhabitants did betray him, and at length in the same came with Saul, 2. Callesth most earnestly vnto God with full confidence that he will performe his promise, and take his cause in hand, 5. As he has he will shew his glory in the heauens and the earth against his cruell enemies, 9. Therefore doeth he render laud and praise.

¶ To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalm of David on Micham. * When he fled from Saul in the cave.

1 Ane mercie vpon me, O God, haue mercie vpon me: for my soule trusteth in thee, and in the shadow of thy wings will I trust, till these afflictions ouerpasse.

2 I will call vnto the most High God, euen to thee. the God that performeth his promise toward me.

3 He will send from heauen, and saue me from the reproofe of him that would swallow me. Selah. God will send his mercie, and his truth.

4 My soule is among lions: I lie among the children of men, that are set on fire: whose teeth are speares and arrowes, and their tongue a sharpe sword.

5 Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauen, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

6 They haue layd a net for my steps: my soule is pressed downe: they haue digged a pit before me, and are fallen into the mids of it. Selah.

7 Mine heart is prepared, O God, mine heart is prepared: I will sing and giue praise.

8 Awake my tongue, awake viole and harpe: I will awake early.

9 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

10 For thy mercie is great vnto the heauen, and thy truth vnto the cloudes.

11 Exalt thy selfe, O God, aboue the heauen, and let thy glory be vpon all the earth.

P S A L. LVIII.

8 He describeth the malice of his enemies, 16. First, of Saul, who both secretly and openly sought his destruction, from whom he appealeth to Gods iudgment, 10. shewing that the iust shall reioyce when they see the punishment of the wicked to the glory of God.

¶ To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalm of David on Micham.

1 S it true? O Congregation, speake ye iustly? O sonnes of men, iudge ye vprightly?

2 Yea, a therye: imagine mischief in your heart: your hands execute cruelty vpon the earth.

3 The wicked are strangers from the wombe: euen from the belly haue they erred, and speake lies.

4 Their poison is euen like the poison of a serpent: like the deaf adder that stoppeth his eare.

5 Which heareth not the voice of the chanter, though he be most expert in charming.

6 Breaker their teeth, O God, in their mouths: break the iawes of the young lions, O Lord.

7 Let them melt like the waters, let them passe away: when he shooteth his arrows in them bee as broken.

8 Let him consume like a snail that melteth, and like the vntimely fruit of a woman that hath not seen the sinne.

9 As saw flah before your pots feeble the fire of therores: so let him carry them away as with a whirlwind in his wrath.

10 The righteous shall reioyce when he seeth the vengeance: he shall wash his feet in the blood of the wicked.

11 And men shall say, Verely there it fruite for the righteous: doubtlesse there is a God that iudgeth in the earth.

PSAL. LIX.

1 David being in great danger of Saul, who sent to slay him in his bed, prayeth vnto God: 3 Declareth his innocencie and then saies, 5 desiring God to destroy all vnto that sin of malicious wickednes. 11 Whom though he keepe alive for a time to exercise his people yet in the end he will consume them in his wrath, 13 That he may be known to be the God of Iakob to the end of the world. 16 For thus he singeth praises to God assured of his mercie.

¶ To him that excelleth. Dextrey not. A Psalm of David on Michiam. When Saul sent, and they did watch the house to kill him.

O My God, deliuer me from mine enemies: defend me from them that rise vp against me.

2 Deliuer mee from the wicked doers, and saue me from the bloody men.

3 For loe, they haue laid wait for my soule: the mightie men are gathered against me, not for mine offence, not for my sinne, O Lord.

4 They ranne and prepaie themselves without a fault on my part: arise therefore to assit mee, and behold.

5 Euen thou, O Lord God of hostes, O God of Israel, awake to visite all the heathen, and bee not mercifull vnto all that transgresse maliciously. Selah.

6 They go to and fro in the evening: they bark like dogs, and go about the citie.

7 Behold, they brag in their talke, and swords are in their lips: for, Who say they, doeth heare?

8 But thou, O Lord, shalt haue them in derision, and thou shalt laugh at all the heathen.

9 He is strong: but I will waite vpon thee: for God is my defence.

10 My mercifull God will preuent me: God will let me see my desire vpon mine enemies.

11 Slay them not, lest my people forget it: but scatter them abroad in thy power, and put them downe, O Lord our shield.

12 For the sinne of their mouth, and the words of their lips: and let them be taken in their pride, euen for their periuery, and lies that they speake.

13 Consume them in thy wrath, consume them that they be no more: and let them know that God ruleth in Iakob, euen vnto the ends of the world. Selah.

14 And in the evening they shall goe to and fro, and bark like dogs, and goe about the citie.

15 They shall run here and there for meate, and surely they shall not be satisfied, though they tarie all night.

16 But I will sing of thy power, and will praise thy mercie in the morning: for thou hast bene my defence and refuge in the day of my trouble.

17 Vnto thee, O my strength, will I sing: for God is my defence, and my mercifull God.

PSAL. LX.

1 David being vnto king our Iudah, and having had many victories, sheweth by certain signes, that God sloued him king, assuring the people that God will prosper them if they approve the same. 11 After he prayeth vnto God to punish that they be backsliden.

¶ To him that excelleth vpon Shushan Eduth, or Michiam. A Psalm of David to teach. When 2. Sam. 8. he fought against Aram Naharaim, and against 1. and 10. Aram Zobah, when Iob returned and slew 12. thou, twelve thousand Edomites in the salt valley. 18. 3.

O God thou hast cast vs out, thou hast scattered vs, thou hast bene angry, turne againe vnto called Melepo.

2 Thou hast made the land to tremble, and hast made it to gape: hcale the breaches thereof, for it is shaken.

3 Thou hast shewed thy people heauie things: thou hast made vs to drinke the wine of giddiedne.

4 But now thou hast giuen a banner to them that feare thee, that it may be displayed because of thy truth. Selah.

5 That thy beloued may be deliuered, helps with thy right hand and heare me.

6 God hath spoken in his holinesse: therefore I will reioyce: I shall diuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth.

7 Gilead shall be mine, & Manasse: shall be mine: Ephraim also shall be the strength of mine head: Iudah is my law-giner.

8 Moab shall be my washpot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: Palestina shewe thy selfe ioysfull for me.

9 Who will lead me into the strong city? who will bring me vnto Edom?

10 Wilt not thou, O God, which hadst cast vs off, and didst not goe forth, O God, with our armie?

11 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

12 Through God we shall deualliantly: for hee shall tread downe our enemies.

PSAL. LXI.

1 Whether that he were in danger of the Ammonites, or being pursued of Absalom, here he cryeth to be heard and deliuered, 7 and confirmed in his kingdomes. 8 He promisseth perpetuall praises.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalm of David.

Hear me cry, O God: giue eare vnto my prayer.

2 From the ends of the earth will I cry vnto thee: when mine heart is oppressed, bring me vpon the rocke that is higher then I.

3 For thou hast bin my hope, and a strong tower against the enemy.

4 I will dwell in thy Tabernacle for euer: and my trust shall be vnder the couering of thy wings. Selah.

5 For thou, O God, hast heard my desires: thou hast giuen an heritage vnto those that feare thy Name.

6 Thou shalt giue the king a long life: his yeres shall be as many ages.

7 He shall dwell before God for euer: prepare mercy and faithfulness: as they may preceue him.

8 So will I alway sing praise vnto thy Name in performing daily my vowes.

PSAL. LXII.

This Psalm partly containeth meditations, whereby David encourageth himselfe to trust in God against the assaults of his enemies. And because our minds are easily castly distance from God by the allurements of the world he sheweth y^e reproach that cometh, so the insensate might almost fall to the Lord.

¶ To the excellent Musick. Ieduthun.

A Psalm of David.

YET my soule keepeth silence vnto God: of him commeth my saluation.

2 Yet he is my strength and my saluation, & my defence: therefore I shall not much be mooued.

3 How long wilt ye imagine mischief against a man? ye shall all flaine: ye shall be as a bowed wal, or as a wall shaken.

4 Yet they conspire to cast him downe from his dignitie: their delight is in lies, they blesse with their mouthes, but curse with their heare. Selah.

5 Yet my soule keepe thou silence vnto God:
for mine hope is in him.

6 Yet is he my strength and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not be moued.

7 In God is my saluation, & my glory, the rocke of my strength: in God is my trust.

8 Trust in him alway ye people: powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Selah.

9 Yet the children of men are vanitie: the chiefe men are lies: to lay them vpon a ballance, they are altogether lighter then vanitie.

10 Trust not in oppression nor in robbery: bee not vaine: if riches increase, set not your heart thereon.

11 God spake once or twise, I haue heard it that power belongeth vnto God,

12 And to thee, O Lord, mercie: for thou rewardest euery one according to his worke.

PSAL. LXIII.

1 David after he had bene in great danger by Saul in the desert of Ziph, made this Psalm, 2 wherein he giveth thanks to God for his wonderful deliurance, in whose mercies he trusted, euen in the midst of his miseries, 3 prophesying the destruction of Gods enemies:
12 and contrariwise happiness to all them that trust in the Lord.

¶ A Psalm of David when hee was in the wildernesse of Iudah.

O God, thou art my God, early will I seek thee:
my soule thirsteth for thee: my flesh longeth greatly after thee in a barren and dry land without water.

2 Thus I behold thee as in the Sanctuary, when I behold thy power and glory.

3 For thy louing kindnesse is better then life:
therefore my lips shall praise thee.

4 Thus will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift up mine hands in thy Name.

5 My soule shall be satisfied as with marrow and fatnesse, and my mouth shall praise thee with ioy, full lips.

6 When I remember thee on my bed, and when I thinke vpon thee in the night watches.

7 Because thou hast bene mine helper, therefore vnder the shadow of thy wings will I reioyce.

8 My soule cleaueth vnto thee, for thy right hand upholdeth me.

9 Therefore they that seek thee my soule to destroy it, they shall goe into the lowest parts of the earth.

10 They shall call him downe with the edge of the sword, and they shall be a portion for foxes.

11 But the king shall reioyce in God, and all that swear by him shall reioyce in him: for the mouth of them that speake lies shall be stopped.

1 David prayeth against the fury and false reports of his enemies, 7 he declareth their punishment and destruction, 10 To the comfort of the iust and the glory of God.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

Hear me voyce, O God, in my prayer: preferus my life from feare of the enemy.

2 Hide me from the conspuracie of the wicked, and from the rage of the workers of iniquitie,

3 Which haue whet their tongue like a sword, and shot forth their arrowes bitter words:

4 To shote at the vpright in secret: they shoute at him suddenly, and feare not.

5 They incourage themselves in a wicked purpose: they commue together to lay snares priniely, and say, Who shall see them?

6 They haue sought out iniquities, and haue accomplished that which they sought out, euen euery one his secret thoughts, and the depth of his heart.

7 But God will shoot an arrow at them suddenly: their strokes shall be as one.

8 They shall cause their owne tongue to fall vpon them: and whosoener shall see them shall see away.

9 And all men shall see it, and declare the worke of God, and they shall vnderstand what hee hath wrought.

10 But the righteous shall bee glad in the Lord, and trust in him: and all that are vpright of heart shall reioyce.

PSAL. LXV.

1 A praise and thanksgiving vnto God by the faithfull, who are signified by Zion, 4 for the conser-uation and gouernance of them, 9 and for the plentiful blessings powred forth vpon all the earth, but specially toward his Church.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm or song of David.

O God, praise waiteth for thee in Zion, and vnto thee shall the vow be performed.

2 Because thou heardest the prayer, vnto thee shall all flesh come.

3 Wicked deeds haue preuailed against me, and thou wilt be mercifull vnto our transgressions.

4 Blessed is he whom thou chusest and canest re-come to thee: he shall dwell in thy courts, and wee shall be satisfied with the pleasures of thine House, euen of thine holy Temple.

5 O God of our saluation, thou wilt answer vs with fearefullnes in thy right confessions, O thou the hope of all the ends of the earth, and of them that are farr off in the sea.

6 Hee establisheth the mountains by his power, and is guided about with strength.

7 He appealeth the noise of the seas, and y^e noise of the waves thereof, and the tumults of the people.

8 They also that dwell in the uttermost parts of the earth shall be afraid of thy signes: thou shalt make the East and the West to reioyce:

9 Thou visitest the earth, and waterest it: thou makest it very rich: the riuer of God is full of water: thou preparest them corne: for so thou appointest it.

10 Thou waterest abundantly the furrowes ther-of: thou causest the raine to descend into the valleys thereof: thou makest it soft with showers, and blessed the bad thereof.

11 Thou crownest the yeere with thy goodnesse, and thy steps drop fatnesse.

12 They drop vpon the pastures of the wildernes: and the hills shall be compassed with gladnesse.

13 The pastures are clad with sheepe: the valleys also shall be couered with corne: therefore they shout for ioy, and sing.

R To him that excelleth. A song or Psalm.
 1 Bioyce in the Lord, all ye inhabitants of the earth.

2 Sing forth the glory of his Name: make his praise glorious.

3 Say vnto God, How terrible art thou in thy worketh through the greatnesse of thy power shall thine enemies be in subjection vnto thee.

4 All the world shall worship thee, and sing vnto thee, singing of thy Name. Selah.

5 Come and behold the workes of God: hee is terrible in all doing toward the sonnes of men.

6 Hee hath turned the Sea into dry land, they passed thorow the river on foote: there did wee reioyce in him.

7 He ruleth the world with his power: his eyes beholde the nations: the rebellious shall not exalt themselves. Selah.

8 Praise our God, yee people, and make the voyce of his praise to be heard.

9 Which holdeth our soules in life, and suffereth not out foete to slip.

10 For thou, O God, hast pronounced vs, thou hast tryed vs as silver is tried.

11 Thou hast brought vs into the snare, and laid a snare for our loynes.

12 Thou hast caused men to ride ouer our heads: we went into fire and into water, but thou broughtest vs out into a weathly place.

13 I will go into thine house with burnt offerings: and will pay thee my vowes, 14 Which my lips haue promised, & my mouth hath spoken in mine affliction.

15 I will offer vnto thee the best offerings of fat rammes with incense: I will prepare bullockes and goats. Selah.

16 Come & hearken, all yee that feare God, and I will tell you what he hath done to my soule.

17 I called vnto him with my mouth, and hee was exalted with my tongue.

18 If I regard wickednes in mine heart, the Lord will not heare me.

19 But God hath heard mee, and considered the voyce of my prayer.

20 Praised be God, which hath not put backe my prayer, nor his mercy from me.

4 Let the people be glad and reioyce: for thou shalt iudge the people righteously, and gouerne the nations vpon the earth. Selah.

5 Let the people praise thee, O God: let all the people praise thee.

6 Then shall the earth bring forth her increase, and God, our God, shall blesse vs.

7 God shall blesse vs, and all the ends of the earth shall feare him.

PSAL. LXVIII.

1 In this Psalm David stretcheth forth as a glass, the wonderful mercie of God toward his people. 2 Who by all means and most strange ways declared himselfe to them. 15 And therefore Gods Church by reason of his promises, graces and victories doeth exult with out comparison all worldly things. 24 He exhorteth therefore all men to praise God for ever.

R To him that excelleth. A Psalm or song of David.

God will arise, and his enemies shall be scattered: they also that hate him shall flee before him.

2 As the smoke vanisheth, so shall thou drine them away: and as waxe melteth before the fire, so shall the wicked perish at the presence of God.

3 But the righteous shall be glad, and reioyce before God: yea, they shall leape for ioy.

4 Sing vnto God, and sing praises vnto his Name: exalt him that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name Iah, and reioyce before him.

5 He is a Father of the Fatherlesse, and a iudge of the widower, even God in his holy habitation.

6 God maketh the solitary to dwell in families, and deliuere them that were prisoners in stocks: but the rebellious shall dwell in a drie land.

7 O God, when thou wentest forth before thy people: when thou wentest thorow the wilderness, (Selah)

8 The earth shooke, and the heauens dropped at the presence of this God: euen Sinai was moved at the presence of God, euen the God of Israel.

9 Thou, O God, sentest a gracious raie vpon thine inheritance, and thou diddest reficill it when it was wearie.

10 Thy Congregation dwelled therein: for then O God, hast of thy goodnesse prepared it for the poore.

11 The Lord gaue matter to the women to tell of the great a mie.

12 Kings of the armies did see: they did see, and she that remained in the house, diuided the spoile.

13 Though yee haue lien among pots, yet shall ye be as the wings of a dove that is couered with silver, and whose feathers are like yellow gold.

14 When the Almighty scattered Kings in it, it was white as the snow in Zalmon.

15 The mountaine of God is like the mountaine of Bashan: it is an hie mountaine, as mount Bashan.

16 Why leape yee, ye hie mountaine? for this Mountaine, God delighteth to dwell in it: yea, the Lord will dwell in it for euer.

17 The chariots of God are twentie thousand thousand Angels. and the Lord is amongst them in the Sanctuary of Sinai.

18 Thou art gone vp on high: thou hast led captiuitie captiue, and receiued gifts for men: yea, euen the rebellious hast thou led, that the Lord God might dwell there.

19 Praised be the Lord, euen the God of our saluation, which leadeth vs daily with benefits. Selah.

20 This is our God, euen the God that saueh vs: and to the Lord God be the glory of death.

21 Surely God will wound the head of his enemies, and the hairy pate of him that walketh in his sinne.

22 The Lord hath said, I will bring my people againe.

gaine from Bathan: I will bring them againe from the depth of the sea:

23 That thy foot may be dipped in blood, and the tongue of thy doges in the blood of the enemies: as in it.

24 They haue feruē, O God, thy goinge, the goings of my God, and my King, which are in the Sanctuary.

25 The fingers were before, the players of instruments after: in the middes were the stringes playing with timbrels.

26 Praise ye God in the assemblies, and the Lord ye that are of the fountaine of Israel.

27 There was little Benjamin with the ruler, and the princes of Iudah with their assembly: the princes of Zebulun, and the princes of Naphtali.

28 Thy God hath appointed thy strength: stablish, O God, that which thou hast wrought in vs.

29 Out of thy Temple vpon Ierusalem: and Kings shall bring presents vnto thee.

30 Destroy the company of the spearmen, and multitude of the mightie halles, with the calices of the people, that tread vnder ferece peece of flint: scatter the people that delight in warre.

31 Thus shall the princes come out of Egypt: Ethiopia shall halfe to stretch her hands vnto God.

32 Sing vnto God, O ye kingdoms of the earth: sing praise vnto the Lord. (Selah.)

33 To him that rideth vpon the most high heauen, which were from the beginning: behold, hee will send out by his voyce a mightie sound.

34 Ascribe the power to God: for his Maieitie is vpon Israel, and his strength in the cloudes.

¶ To him that exelleth vpon Shofhannim.

A Psalm of Dauid.

1 SAUER me, O God: for the waters are entred, euen to my soule.

2 I sticke fast in the deepe mire, where no stay is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me.

3 I am weary of crying: my throat is dry: mine eyes faile, while I waite for my God.

4 They that hate mee without a cause, are more then the haire of my head: they that would destroy me, and are mine enemies falsly, are mightie, so that I resorted that which I tooke not.

5 O God thou knowest my foolishnesse, and my faults are not hid from thee.

6 Let not then that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, bee shamed for me: let not those that seeke thee, bee confounded through mee, O God of Israel.

7 For thy sake haue I suffered reproofe: shame hath becomeed my face.

8 I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an aliant vnto my mothers sonnes.

9 For the zeale of thine house hath eaten mee, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon mee.

10 I wepe, and my soule faileth: but thou wast to my reproofe.

11 I put on a sacke also: and I became a proverbe vnto them.

12 They that sate in the gate spoke of mee, and the drunkards sang of mee.

13 Bre Lord, I make my prayer vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercie, O God, heare mee in the truth of thy saluation.

14 Deliuer me out of the mire, that I sink not: let me be deliuered from them that hate mee, and out of the deepe waters.

15 Let not the water flood drowne mee: neither let the deep swallow mee vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me.

16 Heare me, O Lord, for thy loving kindnes is good: turne vnto me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

17 And hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make haste and heare me.

18 Draw neere vnto my soule, and redeeme it: deliuer me because of mine enemies.

19 Thou hast known my reproofe and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine aduersaries are before thee.

20 Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heavinesse, and I looked for some to haue pittie on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I found none.

21 For they gaue me gall in my meat, and in my thirst they gaue me vinegar to drinke.

22 Let their table bee a snare before them, and their prosperitie their ruine.

23 Let their eyes bee blinded, that they see none, and make their loynes alway to tremble.

24 Powe on thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them.

25 Let their habitation bee voyde, and let none dwell in their tents.

26 For they persecute him whom thou hast smitten: and they aduocate the sorrow of them whom thou hast wounded.

27 Lay iniquitie vpon their iniquitie, and let them not come into thy righteousness.

28 Let them be put out of the booke of life, neither let them be written with the righteous.

29 When I am poore and in heavinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me.

30 I will praise the Name of God with a song, and magnifie him with thanksgiving.

31 Thou also shalt please the Lord better then a yong bullocke that hath hornes and hooves.

32 The humble shall see this, and they that seeke God shall be glad, and your heart shall lioe.

33 For the Lord heareth the poore, and despiseth not his prisoners.

34 Let heauen and earth praise him: the seas and all that mooueth in them.

35 For God will saue Zion, and build the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there, and haue it in possession.

36 The seed also of his seruants shall inherite it: and they that loue his Name shall dwell therein.

Psal. 40.
13.

To him that excelleth. APsalme of David,
to put in remembrance.

O God, haste thee to deliuer mee: make halfe to helpe me, O Lord.

1 Let them bee confounded and put to shame that seeke my soule: let them be shamed backward, and put to rebuke that doe mine hurt.

2 Let them be turned backe for a reward of their shame, which said, Aha, aha.

3 But, altho' that seeke thee, bee ioyfull and glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluation, say alwayes, God be praised.

4 Now I am poore and needie, O God, make halfe to mee: thou art mine helper, and my deliuerer, O Lord make no taryng.

Psal. 31. 1.

IN * thee, O Lord, I trust: let mee neuer bee ashamed.

2 Refrue mee, and deliuer mee in thy righteousness: euilnes thine care vnto me, and saue me.

3 Be thou my strong rocke wherunto I may alway resort: thou hast giuen commaundement to saue me: for thou art my rocke and my fortresse.

4 Deliuer mee, O my God, out of the hand of the wicked, out of the hand of the euill and cruell man.

5 For thou art my hope, O Lord God, even my trust from my youth.

6 Vpon thee haue I bin stayd from the wombe: thou art he that tooke me out of my mothers bowels: my praise shall bee alwayes of thee.

7 I am become as it were a monister vnto many: but thou art my sure trust.

8 Let my mouth be filled with thy prayse, and with thy glory euery day.

9 Calt me not off in time of age: forsake mee not when my strength faileth.

10 For mine enemies speake of me, and they that lay waite for my soule, take their counsell together, 11 Saying, God hath forsaken him: pursue and take him, for there is none to deliuer him.

12 Goe not farre from me, O God: my God, haste thee to helpe me.

13 Let them be confounded and consumed that are against my soule: let them bee covered with reproofe and confusion, that seeke mine hurt.

14 But I will waite continually, and will praise thee more and more.

15 My mouth shall daily rehearse thy righteousness, and thy saluation: for I know not the number.

16 I will goe forward in the strength of the Lord God, and will make mention of thy righteousness, even of thine only.

17 O God, thou hast taught mee from my youth even vntill now: therefore will I tell of thy wondrous workes.

18 Yea, even vnto mine olde age, and gray head, O God: forsake me not, vntill I haue declared thine arme vnto thou generations, and thy power to all them that shall come.

19 And thy righteousness, O God, I will extol on high: for thou hast done great things, O God, who is like vnto thee?

20 Which hast shewed mee great troubles, and aduersities, but thou wilt returne and reuoc mee, and wilt come againe, and take mee vp from the depth of the earth.

21 Thou wilt increase mine honour, and returne and comfort me.

22 Therefore will I praise thee for thy faithfulness, O God, vpon instrument and vial, vnto thee will I sing vpon the harpe, O holy One of Israel.

23 My lips will reioyce when I sing vnto thee, and my soule which thou hast deliuered.

24 My tongue also shall talke of thy righteousness daily: for they are confounded and brought vnto shame that seeke mine hurt.

A Psalme of Salomon.

*GL*ue thy iudgements to the King, O God, and thy righteousness to the Kings sonne.

2 Then shall hee iudge thy people in righteousness, and thy poore with equitie.

3 The mountaines & the hills shall bring peace to the people by iustice.

4 Hee shall iudge the poore of the people: hee shall saue the children of the needie, and shall subdue the oppressour.

5 They shall feare thee as long as the sunne and moone endureth, from generation to generation.

6 He shall come downe like the raine vpon the mowen grasse, and as the showers that water the earth.

7 In his dayes shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace shall bee so long as the moone endureth.

8 His dominion shall bee also from sea to sea, and from the riuers vnto the ends of the land.

9 They that dwell in the wilderness shall kneele before him, and his enemies shall like the dust.

10 The kings of Tarshish and of the yles shall bring presents: the kings of Sheba and Seba shall bring gifts.

11 Yea all kings shall worship him: all nations shall serue him.

12 For hee shall deliuer the poore when hee cryeth: the needy also and him that hath no helper.

13 Hee shall be mercifull to the poore and needy, and shall preserve the foules of the poore.

14 Hee shall redeeme their soules from deceit and violence, and deare shall their blood bee in his sight.

15 Yea, hee shall liue, and vnto him shall they giue of the golde of Sheba: they shall also pray for him continually, and dayly blesse him.

16 An handfull of corne shall bee sowne in the earth, even in the top of the mountaines, and the fruit thereof shall shake like the trees of Lebanon: and the children shall flourish out of the citie like the grasse of the earth.

17 His name shall bee for ever: his name shall endure as long as the sunne: all nations shall blesse him, and be blessed in him.

18 Blessed be the Lord God, even the God of Israel, which only doth wondrous things.

19 And blessed be his glorious Name for ever: and let all the earth be filled with his glory. So bee it, even so be it.

PSAL. LXXIIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example, that neither the worldly prosperitie of the wicked, 14 nor yet the affliction of the good ought to discourage Gods children: but rather ought to moue vs to consider our sinners providence, and to cause us to vnderstand Gods iudgements. 19 Forasmuch as the wicked waxeth away, 24 And the godly enter into life everlasting: 28 In hope whereof our requesteth him life into Gods hands.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

YEt God is good to Israel: euen to the pure in heart.

2 As for mee, my teete were almost gone: my steps had wellnere slipped.

3 For I fretted at the foolish, when I sawe the prosperitie of the wicked.

4 For there are no bands in their death, but they are lustie and strong.

5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men.

6 Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto them, and crueltie couereth them as a garment.

7 Their eyes stand out for fatnesse, & they haue more then heart can with.

8 They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously.

9 They set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh through the earth.

10 Therefore his people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrung out to them.

11 And they say, How doeth God know it is there knowledge in the most High?

12 Loe, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches.

13 Certainly I haue cleansed my heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie.

14 For daily haue I bene punished, and chastised every morning.

15 If I say, I will iudge thus, behold, the generation of thy children: I haue trespassed.

16 Then thought I to know this, but it was too painefull for me.

17 Vntill I went into the Sanctuary of God: then vnderstood I their end.

18 Surely thou hast set them in slippery places, and castest them downe into desolation.

19 How suddenly are they destroyed: perished, and horribly consumed.

20 As a dreame when one awaketh! O Lorde, when thou raisest vs vp, thou shalt make their image despised.

21 Certainly mine heart was vexed, and I was pricked in my reines:

22 So foolish was I and ignorant: I was a beast before thee.

23 Yet I was alway with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

24 Thou wilt guide mee by thy counsell, and afterward receiue me to glory.

25 Whom haue I in heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee.

26 My flesh faileth and mine heart also: but God is the strength of mine heart, and my portion for ever.

27 For loe, they that withdraw themselves from thee shall perish: thou destroyest all them that goe a whoring from thee.

28 As for me it is good for mee to draw neere to God: therefore I haue put my trust in the Lord God that I may declare all thy workes.

PSAL. LXXV.

1 The faithfull complaine of the destruction of the Church and true religion, 2 vnder the name of Zion, and the Temple destroyed: 11 And trusting in the might and free mercies of God, 20 by his covenant, 21 they request helpe and succour for the glory of Gods holy Name, for the iustification of his poore afflicted seruants, 23 and the confusion of his proud enemies.

A Psalm to giue instruction, committed to Asaph.

O God, why hast thou put vs away for euer? why is thy wrath kindled against the sheepe of thy pasture?

2 Thinke vpon thy Congregation, which thou hast possessed of old, and of the rod of thine inheritance, which thou hast redeemed, and on this mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt.

3 Lift vp thy I strokes that thou maist for euer [Or, str.] destroy euery enemy that doeth euill to the Sanctuary.

4 Thine aduersaries roare in the middes of thy Congregation, and set vp their banners for signes.

5 He hath lifted the axes vpon the thicke trees, was renowned, as one that brought a thing to perfection.

6 But now they breake downe the carned worke thereof with axes and hammers.

7 They haue cast thy Sanctuary into the fire, and reared it to the ground, and haue desiled the dwelling place of thy Name.

8 They said in their hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.

9 We see not our signes: there is not our Prophete more, nor any with vs that knoweth how long.

10 O God, how long shall the aduersary reproch thee? shal the enemy blaspheme thy Name for euer?

11 Why withdrawest thou thine hand, euen thy right hand? draw it out of thy bosome, and consume them.

12 Euen God is my King of old, working saluation in the mids of the earth.

13 Thou didst diuide the sea by thy power: thou brakest the heads of the dragons in the waters.

14 Thou brakest the head of Liuiathan in pieces, and gauest him to bee meate for the people in wilderness.

15 Thou brakest vp the fountaine and river: thou driedst vp mightie riuers.

16 The day is thine, and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light and the sunne.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth, thou hast made summer and winter.

18 Remember this, that the enemy hath reproched the Lord, and the foolish people hath blasphemed thy Name.

19 Giue not the soule of thy turtle doue vnto the beast, and forget not the Congregation of thy poore for euer.

20 Consider thy covenant: for the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruell.

21 Oh let not the oppressed returne ashamed, but let the poore and needie praise thy Name.

22 Arise, O God, maintaine thine owne cause: remember thy dayly reproch by the foolish man.

23 Forget not the voice of thine enemies: for the tumult of them that rise against thee, ascendeth continually.

WE will praise thee, O God, we will praise thee, for thy Name is great: therefore they will declare thy wonderful works.

3 The earth, and all the inhabitants thereof are established. But I will establish the pillars of it. Selah.

5 Lift not up your horn on high, neither speak with a stiff necke.

6 For to come to perishment is neither from the East, nor from the West, nor from the South:

7 But God is the Iudge: he maketh lowe and he maketh high.

8 For in the hand of the Lord is a cup, and the wine is red: it is full mixt, & he poweth out of the same: surely all the wicked of the earth shall wring out and drinke the dreg thereof.

9 But I will declare for ever, and sing praises vnto the God of Iacob.

10 All the hornes of the wicked also will I breake: but the hornes of the righteous shall be exalted.

PSAL. LXXVI.

1 This Psalm testifieth forth the power of God and care for the defence of his people in Jerusalem, in the destruction of the citie of Sennacherib: 11 and exhorteth the faithful to be thankfull for the same.

¶ To him that excelleth on Neginoth. A Psalm or song committed to Asaph.

GOD is known in Iudah: his Name is great in Israel.

2 For in Shalem is his Tabernacle, and his dwelling in Zion.

3 There brake he the arrowes of the bowe, the shield and the sword and the battell. Selah.

4 Thou art more bright and puissant then the mountaines of pray.

5 The stout hearted are spoyled: they haue slept their sleepe, and all the men of strength haue not found their hands.

6 At thy rebuke, O God of Iacob, both the charret and horse are cast sleepe.

7 Thou, when thou art to be feared: and who shall stand in thy sight when thou art angry!

8 Thou diddest cause thy iudgement to be heard from heauen: therefore the earth feared and was still.

9 When thou, O God, arose to iudgement to help all the meeke of the earth. Selah.

10 Surely yrage of man shall turne to thy praise: the remnant of the rage (halt thou restraîne.

11 Vow and performe vnto the Lord your God, altho that he round about him: let them bring presents vnto him that ought to be feared.

12 He shall cut off the spirit of princes: he is terrible to the kings of the earth.

PSAL. LXXVII.

1 The Prophet in the name of the Church rebaseth the greatness of his affliction, and his grievous temptations, & whereby he was drawn to this exile to consider his former conversation, 11 and the continuall course of Gods workes in the preservation of his seruants, and so be comforted his faith against these temptations.

¶ For the excellent Musitian. A Tenthum.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

My voyce came to God when I cryed: my voyce came vnto God, and he heard me.

2 In the day of my trouble I sought the Lord: my sore ran, and ceased not in the night: my soule refused comfort.

3 I did thinke vpon God, and was troubled: I prayed, and my spirit was full of anguish. Selah.

4 Thou keepst mine eyes waking: I was afflicted and could not speake.

5 Then I considered the dayes of olde, and the yeeres of ancient time.

6 I called to remembrance my song in y night: I communed with mine owne heart, and my spirit searched diligently.

7 Will the Lord absent himselfe for ever? and will he shew no more fauour?

8 Is his mercie cleane gone for ever? doeth his promise faile for evermore?

9 God hath forgotten to be mercifull? hath he shut vp his tender mercies in displeasure? Selah.

10 And I said, This is my death: yet I remembered the yeeres of the right hand of the most High.

11 I remembered the workes of the Lord: certainly I remembered thy wonders of old.

12 I did also meditate all thy workes, and did deuise of thine actes, saying, 13 Thy way, O God, is in the Sanctuary: who is so great a God as our God?

14 Thou art the God that doest wonders: thou hast declared thy power among the people.

15 Thou hast redeemed thy people with thine arme, from the sonnes of Iacob and Ioseph. Selah.

16 The waters saw thee, O God, the waters saw thee and were afraid: yea, the depths trembled.

17 The clouds poured out water: the heauen gaue a sound: yea thine arrowes went abroad.

18 The voyce of thy thunder was round about: the lightnings lightened the world: the earth trembled and shooke.

19 Thy way is in the sea, & thy paths in the great waters: and thy footsteps are not knownen.

20 Thou diddest leade thy people like sheepe by the hand of Moses and Aaron.

PSAL. LXXVIII.

1 He sheweth how God of his mercie chose his Church of the posteritie of Abraham, 8 reproving the stubburn rebellion of their fathers, that the children might not onely vnderstand, 11 that God of his free mercie made his covenant with their ancestors, 17 but also sheweth them so malicious and peruerse, might be ashamed, and so turne wholly to God. In this Psalm the holy Ghost hath comprehended, as it were the summe of all Gods benefites, to the intent the ignorant and profligate people might see in fewe words the effect of the whole historie of the Bible.

¶ A Psalm to give instruction committed to Asaph.

Hear my doctrine. O my people, incline your eares vnto the words of my mouth.

2 I will open my mouth in a parable: I will declare high sentences of old,

3 Which we haue heard and knownen, and our fathers haue told vs.

4 We will not hide them from their children, but to the generation to come, wee will shewe the praises of the Lord, his power also and his wonderful workes that he hath done:

our fathers that they should teach their children :

6 That the posteritie might know it, and the children which should bee borne should stand vp, and declare it to their children :

7 That they might set their hope on God, and not forget the works of God, but keep his commandments :

8 And not to be as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation : a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithfull vnto God.

9 The children of Ephraim being armed and shooting with the bow, turned backe in the day of battell.

10 They kept not the covenant of God, but refused to walke in his law, 11 And forgate his actes, and his wonderfull workes that he had shewed them.

12 He did marvellous things in sight of their fathers in the lande of Egypt : even in the field of Zoan.

13 * He diuided the sea, and led them thorow : he made also the waters to stand as an heape.

14 * In the day time also he ledde them with a cloud, and all the night with a light of fire.

15 * He claued the rockes in the wilderness, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

16 * Hee brought floods also out of the stony rocke, so that he made the waters to descend like the riuers.

17 Yet they sinned still against him, and pronounced the Highest in the wilderness, 18 And tempted God in their hearts, in requiring meat forthier lust.

19 * They spake against God also, saying, Can God prepare a table in the wilderness?

20 * Behold, hee smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, & the streames ouerflowed : can he giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard and was angry, and the fire * was kindled in Iaakob, and also wrath

22 came vpon Israel,

23 Because hee beleeued not in God, and trusted not in his helpe.

24 Yet he had commended the clouds aboue, and had opened the doores of heauen,

25 And had rained downe MAN vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheat of heauen.

26 * Man did eate the bread of Angels : hee sent them meat enough.

27 Hee caused the East wind to passe in the heauen, and thorow his power he brought in the South winde.

28 Hee rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the sand of the sea.

29 And he made it fall in the mids of their camp, euery round about their habitations.

30 So they did eate, and were well filled : for he gaue them their desire.

31 They were not turned from their lust, but the meat was in their mouths.

32 When the wrath of God came euery vpon them, & slew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

33 For all this they sinned still, and beleeued not his wondrous workes.

34 Therefore their daies did he consume in vanitie, and their yeeres hastily.

35 And when he slew them, they sought him, and they returned and sought God earlly.

36 And they remembered that God was their strength, and the most High God their redeemer.

37 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue, 38 For their heart was not vpriought with him : neither were they faithfull in his covenant.

39 Yet he being mercifull, forgate their iniquitie, and destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.

40 For he remembered that they were flesh : yet a wind that passeth and cometh not againe.

41 How oft did they provoke him in the wilderness, and grieue him in the desert?

42 Yea, they returned and tempted God, and limited the holy One of Israel.

43 They remembered not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemy,

44 Nor him that sit his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan, 45 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods that they could not drinke.

46 He sent a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, and frogs which destroyed them.

47 He gaue also their fruites vnto the caterpillers, and their labour vnto the grasshopper.

48 He destroyed their vines with haille, and their wild figtrees with the haillestone.

49 Hee gaue their cattell also to the haille, and their flocks to the thunderbolts.

50 Hee cast vpon them the fiercenesse of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the lending out of euill angels.

51 Hee made a way to his anger : he spared not their soules from death, but gaue their life to the pestilence, 52 And smote all the first borne in Egypt, euery the beginning of their strength in the tabernacles of Ham.

53 But he made his people to go out like sheepe, and led them in the wilderness like a flocke.

54 Yea, hee caried them out safely, and they feared not, and the sea couered their enemies.

55 And he brought them vnto the borders of his Sanctuarie : euery to this Mountaine, which his right hand purchased.

56 * Hee cast out the heathen also before them, and caused them to fall to a lot of his inheritance, and made the tribes of Israel to dwell in their tabernacles.

57 Yet they tempted and provoked the most high God, and kept not his testimonies, 58 But turned backe and dealt falsely like their fathers : they turned like a deceitfull bow.

59 And they provoked him to anger with their hic places, and moued him to wrath with their grauen images.

60 God heard shu and was wroth, and greatly abhorred Israel.

61 So that he forsooke the habitation of Shilo, euery the tabernacle where he dwelt among men, 62 And deliuered his power into captiuitie, and his beauty into the enemies hand.

63 And he gaue vp his people to the sword, and was angry with his inheritance.

64 The fire deuoured their chosen men, & their maids were not praised.

65 Their priests fell by the sword, and their widows lamented not.

66 But the Lord awaked as one out of sleepe, and as a strong man that alter his wine cryeth out, 67 And smote his enemies in the hinder parts, and put them to a perpetuall shame.

67 Yet hee refused the tabernacle of Ioseph, and chose not the tribe of Ephraim:

68 But chose the tribe of Iudah, and mount Zion which hee loved.

69 And hee built his Sanctuary as an hie palace, like the earth, which hee established for euer.

70 Hee chose Dauid also his seruant, and tooke him from the sheepefolds.

71 Euen from behinde the ewes with young brought hee him to feede his people in Iakob, and his inheritance in Israel.

72 So hee fed them according to the simplicitie of his heart, and guided them by the discretion of his hands.

P S A L. LXXIX.

1 The Israelites complain to God for the great calamities and oppression that they suffered by Gods enemies, 8 and confessing their sinnes, see to Gods mercies with full hope of deliuerance, 10 because their calamities were ioynd with the contempt of his Name, 13 for the which they promise to be thankfull.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

O God, the heathen are come into thine inheritance: thine holy Temple haue they defiled, and made Ierusalem heapes of stones.

2 The dead bodies of thy seruants haue they giuen to bee meate vnto foules of the heauen: and the flesh of thy Saints vnto the beasts of the earth.

3 Their blood haue they shedde like waters round about Ierusalem, and there was none to burie them.

4 Wee are a reproche to our neighbours, such a scorne and derision vnto them that are round about vs.

5 Lord, how long wilt thou bee angry, for euer? shall thy ialousie burne like fire?

6 Poure out thy wrath vpon the heathen, that haue not known thee, and vpon the kingdomes that haue not called vpon thy Name.

7 For they haue deuoted Iakob, and made his dwelling place desolate.

8 Remember not against vs the former iniquities, but make haste, and let thy tender mercies preuent vs: for we are in great miserie.

9 Helpe vs, O God of our saluation, for the glory of thy Name, and deliuer vs, and be mercifull vnto our finnes for thy Names sake.

10 Wherefore should the heathen say, Where is their God? let them bee known among the heathen in our fight by the vengeance of the blood of thy seruants that is shed.

11 Let the sighing of the prisoners come before thee: according to thy mighty arme preface the children of death.

12 And render to our neighbours sevenfold into their bosome their reproche, wherewith they haue reproched thee, O Lord.

13 So we thy people, and sheepe of thy pasture shall praise thee for euer: and from generation to generation we will set forth thy praye.

1 A lamentable prayer to God to helpe the miseries of his Church, 8 desiring him to consider their first estate, when hee sawe them towards them, so the intent that hee might finish that worke which hee had begun.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

Hear, O thou shepherd of Israel, thou that leadest Ioseph like sheepe: shew thy brightnesse, thou that sittest betwene the Cherubims.

2 Before Ephraim, and Benjamin, & Manasse, shirre vp thy strength, and come to helpe vs.

3 Turne vs againe, O God, and cause thy face to shine, that we may be saued.

4 O Lord God of hostes, how long wilt thou be angry against the prayer of thy people?

5 Thou hast fed them with the bread of teares, and giuen them teares to drinke with great measure.

6 Thou hast made vs a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among themselves.

7 Turne vs againe, O God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shall be saued.

8 Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it.

9 Thou madest rroume for it, and diddest cause it to take roote, and it is filled the land.

10 The mountains were covered with the shadow of it, and the boughes thereof were like the goodly cedars.

11 Shee stretched out her branches vnto the sea, and her boughes vnto the riner.

12 Why hast thou then broken downe her hedges, so that all they which passe by the way haue plucked her?

13 The wild bore out of the wood hath destroyed it, and the wilde beastes of the field haue eaten it vp.

14 Returne we beseech thee, O God of hostes: looke downe from heauen; and behold, and visit this vine, 15 And the vineyard that thy right hand hath planted, and the yong vine which thou madest strong for thy selfe.

16 It is burnt with fire, and cut downe: and they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance.

17 Let thine hand bee vpon the man of thy right hand, and vpon the sonne of man whom thou madest strong for thine owne selfe.

18 So will not wee goe backe from thee: renise thou vs and we shall call vpon thy Name.

19 Turne vs againe, O Lord God of hosts: cause thy face to shine, and we shall be saued.

3 Blowe the trumpet in the new moone, euen in the time appointed at our feast day.

4 For this is a statute for Israel, and a law of the God of Iakob.

5 Hee set this in Ioseph for a testimony, when hee came out of the land of Egypt, where I heard a language that I vnderstood not.

6 I haue withdrawn his shoulder from the burden, and his hands haue left the pots.

7 Thou caldest in affliction, and I deliuered thee, and answered thee in the secret of the thunder: I proued thee at the waters of Meribah.

8 Hearc, O my people, and I will proue thee: O Israel if thou wilt hearken vnto me, 11 But my people would not heare my voice, and Israel would none of me.

12 So I gave them vp unto the hardness of their heart, and they haue walked in their owne counsels.

1 The Prophet declaring God to be present among the Judges and Magistrates, 2. reprove their parts alike, 3. and exhorteth them to doe iustice. 5. But doing no amendment, 8. he desireth God to undertake the matter, and execute iustice himselfe.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

God standeth in the assembly of gods: he iudgeth among gods.

2 How long will ye iudge vainly, and accept the persons of the wicked? Selah.

3 Doe right to the poore and fatherlesse: do iustice to the poore and needy.

4 Deliver the poore and needy: saue them from the hand of the wicked.

5 They know not and vnderstand nothing: they walke in darkness, all the foundations of the earth be moued.

6 I haue said, Ye are gods, and ye all are children of the most High.

7 But ye shall die as a man, and ye princes shall fall like others.

1 The people of Israel pray vnto the Lord to deliuer them from their enemies both at home and abroade, which imagined nothing but their destruction. 9. And they desire that all such wicked people may, according as God was accustomed, be stricken with the storme of Gods wrath, 18. that they may know that the Lord is most high vpon the earth.

A Song or Psalm committed to Asaph.

Keepe not thou silence, O God: be not still and cease not, O God.

2 For lo, thine enemies make a tumult: and they that hate thee haue lift up the head.

3 They haue taken craftie counsell against thy people, and haue consulted against thy secret ones.

4 They haue said, Come, and let vs cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance.

5 For they haue consulted together in heart, and haue made a league against thee:

6 The Tabernacles of Edom, and the Ishmaelites, Moab and the Agarims.

7 Gebal and Ammon, and Amalec, the Philistines with the inhabitants of Tyrus.

8 As Hur also is ioynd with them: they haue been an arme to the children of Lot. Selah.

9 Doe thou vnto them as vnto the Midianites: as to Sefer, and as to Laban at the river of Kishon:

10 They perished at En-dor, and were dung for the earth.

11 Make them, and their princes like Oreb and Zeeb: yea, all their princes like Zebah and Zalmunna.

12 Which haue said, Let vs take for our possession the habitations of our God.

13 O my God, make them like vnto a wheele, and as the stubble before the winde.

14 As the fire burneth the forest, and as the flame setteth the mountaines on fire:

15 So persecute them with thy tempest, & make them afraid with thy storme.

16 Fill their faces with shame, that they may seeke thy Name, O Lord.

17 Let them bee confounded and troubled for aye: yea, let them bee put to shame and perish.

18 That they may knowe that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, euen the most High ouer all the earth.

A To him that excelleth on Gittith. A Psalm, committed to the Sones of Korah.

O Lord of hostes, how amiable are thy Tabernacles:

2 My soule longeth, yea, and fainteth for the courts of the Lord: for mine heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God.

3 Yea, the sparrow hath found her a house, and the swallow a nest for her, where shee may lay her young: euen by thine Altars, O Lord of hostes, my King and my God.

4 Blessed are they that dwell in thine house: they will euer praye thee. Selah.

5 Blessed is the man, whose strength is in thee, and in whose heart are thy wayes.

6 They going throw the vale of Baca, make welles therein: the raine also conereth the pools.

7 They goe from strength to strength, till euer they appeare before God in Zion.

8 O Lord God of hostes, heare my prayer: hearken O God of Isakob. Selah.

9 Behold, O God, our shield, and looke vpon the face of thine Anointed, 10 For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand other where: I had rather be a doore keeper in the house of my God, then to dwell in the tabernacles of wickednes.

11 For the Lord God is the sunne and shield vnto vs: the Lord will giue grace and glory, and no good thing will he withhold from them that walke vprightly.

12 O Lord of hostes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

And for their deliuerance was a figure of Christs kingdome, vnder the which should be perfect felicity.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm committed to the tunes of Korah.

Thou hast bene fauourable vnto thy land: thou hast brought againe the captiuitie of Iacob.

2 Thou hast forgiven the iniquity of thy people, and covered all their finnes. Selah.

3 Thou hast withdrawn all thine anger, & hast turned backe from the fiercenesse of thy wrath.

4 Turne vs, O God of our saluation, and release thine anger toward vs.

5 Wilt thou bee angry with vs for euer? and wilt thou prolong thy wrath from one generation to another?

6 Wilt thou not turne againe, and quicken vs, that thy people may reioyce in thee?

7 Shew vs thy mercy, O Lord, and grant vs thy saluation.

8 I will hearken what the Lorde God will say, for he will speake peace vnto his people, and to his Saints, that they turne not againe to folly.

9 Surely his saluation is neere to them that feare him, that glory may dwell in our land.

10 Mercy and truth shall meete, righteousnesse and peace shall kisse one another.

11 Truth shall bud out of the earth, and righteousness shall growe downe from heauen.

12 Yea, the Lord shall giue good things, and our land shall giue her increase.

13 Righteousnesse shall go before him, and shall set her steps in the way.

PSAL. LXXXVI.

1 David sore afflicted and forsaken of all prayeth fervently for deliuerance: sometimes rehearsing his miseries, 5 Sometimes he mercies received, 11 Desiring also to bee instructed of the Lord, that hee may feare him and glorifie his Name, 14 He complaineth also of his aduersaries, and requirerh to bee deliuered from them.

A Prayer of David.

Incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare me: for I am poore and needy.

2 Preferre thou my soule, for I am mercifull: my God, succour thou thy seruant that trusteth in thee.

3 Be mercifull vnto me, O Lord: for I cry vpon thee continually.

4 Reioyce the soule of thy seruant: for vnto thee, O Lord, doe I lift vp my soule.

5 For thou, Lord, art good and mercifull, and of great kindnesse vnto all them that call vpon thee.

6 Giue care, Lord, vnto my prayer, and hearken to the voice of my supplication.

7 In the day of my trouble I will call vpon thee: for thou hearest me.

8 Among the gods there is none like thee, O Lord, and there is none that can doe like thy works.

9 All nations whom thou hast made, shall come and worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorifie thy Name.

10 For thou art great, & doest wondrous things: thou art God alone.

11 Teach mee thy way, O Lord, and I will walke in thy truth: kinsmine heart vnto thee, that I may feare thy Name.

12 I will praise thee, O Lord my God, with all mine heart: yea, I will glorifie thy Name for euer.

13 For great is thy mercy toward mee, and thou hast deliuered my soule from the lowest graue.

14 O God, the proud are risen against me, & the assemblies of violent men haue sought my soule, and haue not set thee before them.

15 But thou, O Lord, art a mercifull God, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and great in kindnesse and truth.

16 Turne vnto me, and haue mercie vpon mee: giue thy strength vnto thy seruant, and save the soule of thine handmaid.

17 Shew a token of thy goodnesse toward mee, that they which hate me, may see it, & be ashamed, because thou, O Lord, hast holpen me, and comforted me.

1 The holy Ghost promisseth that the consolation of the Church which was in misery after the captivity of Babylon, should be reuerent as great exultancy, 4 So that there should be nothing more comfortable then to be numbered among the members thereof.

A Psalm or song committed to the tunes of Korah.

God laid his foundations among the holy mountains.

2 The Lord leueth the gates of Zion about all the habitations of Iacob.

3 Glorious things are spoken of thee, O city of God, Selah.

4 I will make mention of Rahab, & Babel among them that know mee: behold Palestina and Tyrus with Ethiopia, There is he borne.

5 And of Zion it shall be said, Many are borne in her: and he, who the most high shall stablish her.

6 The Lorde shall count when hee writeth the people, He was borne there, Selah.

7 As well the fingers as the players on instruments, shall praise thee: all my springs are in thee.

PSAL. LXXXVIII.

1 A grievous complaint of the fast fall, sore afflicted by sickness, persecutions and aduersities, 7 being as it were left of God without any consolation, 13 Yet he calleth on God by faith, and striueth against desperation, 18 Complaining himselfe to be forsaken of all earthly helpe.

A song or Psalm of * Heman * Ezrahite to giue a King, 4 instruction committed to the tunes of Korah, for him that excelleth vpon Malath Leanoth.

O Lord God of our saluation, I cry day and night before thee.

2 Let my prayer enter into thy presence: incline thine eare vnto my cry.

3 For my soule is filled with euils, and my life draweth neere to the graue.

4 I am counted among them that go downe vnto the pit, and am as a man without strength:

5 Free among the dead, like the flaine lying in the graue, whome thou rememberest no more, and they are cut off from thine hand.

6 Thou hast laid me in the lowest pit, in darkness, and in the deepe.

7 Thine indignation lieth vpon mee, and thou hast vexed me with all thy wayes, Selah.

8 Thou hast put away mine acquaintance farre from me, and made me to be abhorred of them: I am shut vp, and cannot get forth.

9 Mine eye is forrowfull through mine affliction: Lord, I call daily vpon thee: I stretch out mine hands vnto thee.

10 Wilt thou shewe a miracle to the dead? or shall the dead rise and praise thee? Selah.

11 Shall thy louing kindnesse be declared in the graue? or thy faithfullnesse in destruction?

12 Shall thy wonderous workes be knowne in the darke? and thy righteousness in the land of obliuion?

13 But vnto thee haue I cried, O Lord, and early shall my prayer come before thee.

14 Lord why dost thou reioice my soule, and hide thy face from me?

15 I am afflicted, and at the point of death: from my youth I suffer thy terror, doubting of my life.

16 Thine indignations go ouer me, and thy feare hath cut me off.

17 They came round about me daily like water, and compassed me together.

18 My louers & friends haue thou put away from me, and mine acquaintance hid themselves.

PSAL. LXXXIX.

1 With many wordes doeth the Prophet praise the goodness of God, 23 for his testament and covenants that hee had made betwixt our him and his self by Iesus Christ the Son of David. 28 Then doth hee complain of the great ruine and desolation of the kingdom of Dauid, so that so the outward appearance the promise was broken. 45 Finally he praiseth to be deliuered from his afflictions, making mention of the shortnesse of mans life, and confirming himselfe by Gods promise.

2 A Psalm to giue instruction, of Ethan the Erastite.

3 Will sing the mercies of the Lord for ever: with my mouth will I declare thy truth from generation to generation.

4 For I said, Mercy shall be set vp for ever: thy truth shall thou stablish in the very heauens.

5 I haue made a Covenent with my chosen: I haue sworn to Dauid my seruante.

6 Thy seed will I stablish for ever, and set vp thy throne from generation to generation. Selah.

7 O Lord, euen the heauens shall praise thy wonderful worke: yea, thy truth in the congregation of the Saints.

8 For who is equal to the Lorde in the heauen? and who is like the Lorde among the fountes of the gods?

9 God is very terrible in the assembly of the Saints, and to bee reuerenced about all that are about him.

10 O Lord God of hosts, who is like vnto thee, which art a mightie Lord, and thy truth is about thee?

11 Thou rulest the raging of the Sea: when the waves thereof arise, thou stillest them.

12 Thou hast beaten downe Rahab as a man slaine: thou hast scattered thine enemies with thy mighty arme.

13 The heauens are thine, the earth also is thine: thou hast laid the foundation of the world, and all that therein is.

14 Thou hast created the North and the South: Tabor and Hermon shall reioyce in thy Name.

15 Thou hast a mighty arme: strong is thy hand, and high is thy right hand.

16 Righteousnesse and equitie are the stablishment of thy throne: mercy and truth goe before thy face.

17 Blessed is the people that can reioyce in thee: they shall walke in the light of thy countenance, O Lord.

18 They shall reioyce continually in thy Name, and in thy righteousness shall they exalt themselves.

19 For thou art the glory of their strength, and by thy fauour our homes shall be exalted.

20 For our shielde appoyntest thou the Lord, and our King to the holy One of Israel.

19 Thou spakest then in a vision vnto thine holy One, and saidst, I haue laid helpe vpon one that is mightie: I haue exalted one chosen out of the people.

20 I haue found Dauid my seruant: with mine holy oyle haue I anointed him.

21 Therefore mine hand shall be established with him, and mine arme shall strengthen him.

22 The enemy shall not oppresse him, neither shall the wicked hurt him.

23 But I will destroy his foes before his face, and plague them that hate him.

24 My wrath also and my mercy shall be with him, and in my Name shall his home be exalted.

25 I will set his hand also in the sea, and his right hand in the floods.

26 He shall crie vnto me, Thou art my father, my God, and the rocke of my saluation.

27 Also I will make him my first borne, higher then the kings of the earth.

28 My mercy will I keepe for him for euermore, and my covenent shall stand fast with him.

29 His seed also will I make to endure for ever, and his throne as the dayes of heauen.

30 But if his children forsake my law, and walke not in my iudgements:

31 * If they breake my statutes, and keepe not my commandments:

32 Then will I visite their transgression with a rod, and their iniquitie with strokes.

33 Yet my louing kindnesse will I not take from him, neither will I falsifie my truth.

34 My Covenent will I not breake, nor alter the thing that is gone out of my lips.

35 I haue sworn once by mine holinesse, that I will not faile Dauid, saying, 36 His seed shall endure for ever, and his throne shall be as the sunne before me.

37 He shall bee established for euermore as the moone, and as a faithfull witness in the heauen. Selah.

38 But thou hast reiected and abhorred, thou hast beneauoyed with thine anointed.

39 Thou hast broken the Covenent of thy seruant, and profaned his crowne, casting it on the ground.

40 Thou hast broken downe all his walles: thou hast laid his fortresses in ruine.

41 All that goe by the way spoyle him: hee is a rebuke vnto his neighbours.

42 Thou hast set vp the right hand of his enemies, and made all his aduersaries to reioyce.

43 Thou hast also turned the edge of his sword, and hast not made him to stand in the battell.

44 Thou hast caused his dignity to decay, and cast his throne to the ground.

45 The dayes of his youth hast thou shortened, and couered him with shame. Selah.

46 Lord, how long wilt thou hide thy selfe for eu-er? shall thy wrath burne like fire?

47 Remember of what time I am: wherefore thou dost thou create in vaine all the children of men?

48 What man liueth, and shal not see death? shall hee deliuer his soule from the hand of the graue? Selah.

49 Lorde, where are thy former mercies, which thou swarest vnto Dauid in thy truth?

50 Remember, O Lord, the rebuke of thy seruants, which I beare in my bosome of all the mighty people.

51 For thine enemies haue reproched thee, O Lord,

A prayer of Moses the man of God.
Lord thou hast been our habitation from generation to generation.

2 Before the mountains were made, and before thou hadst formed the earth, and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting thou art our God.

3 Thou cuttest man to destruction: again thou sayest, Retayne, ye sinners of Adam.

4 For a thousand yeeres in thy sight are as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night.

5 Thou hast overflowed them: they are as a sleep: in the morning he groweth like the graske:

6 In the morning it flourisheth & groweth, but in the evening it is cut downe and withereth.

7 For wee are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thee, and our secret finnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are past in thine anger: wee have spent our yeres as a thought.

10 The time of our life is threescore yeeres and ten, and if they be of strength, fourescore yeeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorrow: for it is cut off quickly, and we see away.

11 Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine anger.

12 Teach vs to number our dayes, that we may apply our hearts vnto wisedome.

13 Returne (O Lord, how long?) and be pacified towards thy seruants.

14 Fill vs with thy mercie euery morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes.

15 Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeeres that we haue seene euill.

16 Let thy worke be seene toward thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their children.

17 And let the beauty of the Lord our God bee vpon vs, and direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our hands.

Who dwelleth in the secret of the most High, shall abide in the shadow of the Almighty.

2 I will say vnto the Lord, O mine hope, and my fortress: heu my God, in him will I trust.

3 Surely he will deliuer thee from the snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pestilence.

4 He will couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt be sure vnder his feathers: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

5 Thou shalt not bee afraid of the feare of the night, nor of the arrow that flieth by day.

6 Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darkenesse, nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day.

7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and tenne thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee.

8 Doubtlesse with thine eyes shalt thou behold, and see the reward of the wicked.

9 For thou hast said, The Lord is mine hope: thou shalt set the most High for thy refuge.

10 There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy Tabernacle.

11 For he shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee, to keepe thee in all thy wayes.

12 They shall beare thee in their hands, that thou hurt not thy foot against a stone.

13 Thou shalt walke vpon the Lion and asper the yong lion and the dragon shalt thou tread vnder feete.

14 Because he hath loued mee, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because hee hath knowne my Name.

15 Hee shall call vpon mee, and I will heare him; I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him; and glorie him.

16 With long life will I satiate him, and shew him my saluation.

1. This Psalm was made to bee song on the Sabbath, to stirre up the people to acknowledge God, and to praise him in his workes: the Prophet reioyceth there in. 6 But the wicked is not able to consider that the vngodly when hee is wofull flourisheth, shall shortly perish. 12 In the end is described the felicitie of the just planted in the house of God to praye the Lord.

A Psalm or Song for the Sabbath day.

It is a good thing to praise the Lord, and to sing vnto thy Name, O most High.

2 To declare thy louing kindnesse in the morning, and thy truth in the night.

3 Vpon an instrument of ten strings, and vpon the vicle with the long vpon the harpe.

4 For thou Lord hast made mee glad by thy workes, and I will reioyce in the workes of thine hands.

5 O Lord, how glorious are thy workes: and thy thoughts are very deepe.

6 An vnwise man knoweth it not, and a foole doeth not vnderstand this.

7 When the wicked grow as the graske, and all the workers of wickednesse doe flourish, that they shall be destroyed for euer.

8 But thou, O Lord, art most high for euermore.

9 For loe, thine enemies, O Lord, for loe, thine enemies shall perish, all the workers of iniquitie shall be destroyed.

10 But thou shalt exalt mine home like the euer-cornes, and I shall be anointed with fresh oyle.

11 Mine eyes also shall see my desire against mine enemies: and mine eares shall heare my voice against the wicked that rise vp against me.

12 The righteous shall flourish like a palme tree, and shall grow like a cedar in Lebanon.

13 Such as be planted in the house of the Lord, shall flourish in the courts of our God.

14 They shall still bring forth fruit in their age: they shall be fat and flourishing.

15 To declare that the Lord my rocke is righteous, and that none iniquity is in him.

The Lord reigneth, and is clothed with majesty:
the Lord is clothed, and girded with power:
the world also shall be established, that it cannot be moued.

2 Thy throne is established of old: thou art from everlasting.

3 The floods have lifted vp, O Lord, the floods haue lifted vp their voice: the floods lift vp their waves.

4 The waves of the sea are tumultuous through the noise of many waters, yet the Lord on high is more mighty.

5 Thy testimonies are very sure: holinesse becommeth thine house, O Lord, for ever.

1 He praish vnto God against the violence & arrogancy of tyrants, 10. Warning them of Gods iudg-good issue of their afflictions, as he felt in himself, and did see in others, and by the ruine of the wicked, 23 whom the Lord will destroy.

O Lord God the auenger, O God the auenger, shew thy selfe clearly.

2 Exalt thy selfe, O Iudge of the world, and render a reward to the proud.

3 Lord, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph?

4 They prate and speake fiercely: all the workers of iniquity vanit themselves.

5 They smite downe thy people, O Lord, and trouble thine heritage.

6 They slay the widow and the stranger, and murder the fatherlesse.

7 Yet they say, The Lord shall not see: neither will the God of Iakob regard it.

8 Vnderstand ye yowse among the people: and ye fooles, when will ye be wise?

9 He that planted the eare, shall hee not heare?
or he that formed the eye, shall hee not see?

10 Or he that chastiseth the nations, shall hee not correct? he that teacheth man knowledge, shall hee not know?

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanity.

12 Blessed is the man whom thou chastisest, O
Lord, and teachest him in thy law.

13 That thou mayest giue him rest from the dayes of euill, while the pit is digged for the wicked.

14 Surely the Lord will not faile his people, neither will he forsake his inheritance.

15 For iudgment shall returne to iustice, and all the vpriight in heart shall follow after it.

16 Who will rise vp with mee against the wicked? or who will take my part against the workers of iniquity?

17 If the Lord had not holpen me, my soule had almost dwelt in silence.

18 When I said, My foot slideth, thy mercy, O
Lord, staid me.

19 In y multitude of my thoughts in mine heart, thy comforts haue reioyced my soule.

20 Hath the throne of iniquity fellowship with thee, which forgett wrong for a law?

21 They gather them together against the soule of the righteous: & condemne the innocent blood.

22 But the Lord is my refuge, and my God is the rocke of mine hope.

23 And he will recompense them their wickednes, and destroy them in their owne malice: yea, the Lord our God shall destroy them.

1 An earnest exhortation to praise God: 4. For the government of the world, and the salvation of his Church. 8. An admonition not to follow the rebellion of the old fathers: that tempted God in the wilderness:
11. for the which they might not enter into the land of promise.

Come let vs reioyce vnto the Lord, let vs sing aloud vnto the rocke of our saluation.

2 Let vs come before his face with praise: let vs sing loud vnto him with Psalmes.

3 For the Lord is a great God, and a great King

4 In whose hand are the deep places of the earth, and the heights of the mountains are his.

5 To whom the sea belongeth: for he made it, and his hands formed the drie land.

6 Come, let vs worship and fall downe, and kneele before the Lord our maker.

7 For he is our God, and wee are the people of his pasture, and the sheep of his hand: To day if ye

2 Sing vnto the Lord, and praise his Name: declare his saluation from day to day.

3 Declare his glory among all nations: and his wonders among all the people.

4 For the Lord is great and much to be praised:
he is to be feared aboue all gods.

5 For all the gods of the people are | idoles:
but the Lord made the heauens.

6 Strength and glory are before him, power and beauty are in his Sanctuary.

7 Giue vnto the Lord, ye families of the people:
giue vnto the Lord glory and power.

8 Giue vnto the Lord the glory of his Name:
bring an offering, and enter into his courts.

9 Worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary:
tremble before him all the earth.

10 Say among the nations, The Lord reigneth:
surely the world shall be stable, and not moue, and he shall iudge the people in righteousness.

11 Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is.

12 Let the field bee ioyfull, and all that is in it:
let all the trees of the wood then reioyce.

commeth to iudge the earth: hee will iudge the

A prayer of the afflicted when hee shall be in distresse , and pouer : fourth his meditation before the Lord.

O Lord heare my prayer , and let my crie come vnto thee.

2 Hide not thy face from me in the time of my trouble : incline thine eares vnto mee : whom Feill make halfe to heare me.

3 For my daies are consumed with smoke, and my bones are burnt like an hearth.

4 Mine heart is smitten & withereth like grasse, because I forgate to eate my bread.

5 For the voice of my groining, my bones doe cleave to my skin.

6 I am like a pellicane of the wilderness: I am like an owle of the deserts.

7 I watch, and am as a sparrow alone vpon the house-top.

8 Mine enemies reuile me dayly, and they that rage against me, haue sworn against me.

9 Surely I haue eaten ashes as bread, and mingled my drinke with weeping, 10 Because of thine indignation and thy wrath: for thou hast heaued me vp, and cast me downe.

11 My daies are like a shadow that fadeth, and I am withered like grasse.

12 But thou, O Lord, doe st remaine for ever, and thy remembrance from generation to generation.

13 Thou wilt arise and haue mercy vpon Zion: for the time to haue mercie thereon, for the appointed time is come.

14 For thy seruants delight in the stones thereof, and haue pitie on the dust thereof.

15 Then the heauen shall feare the Name of the Lord, and all the kings of the earth thy glory.

16 When the Lord shall build vp Zion, and shall appeare in his glory, 17 And shall turne vnto the prayer of the desolate, and not despise their prayer, 18 This shall bee written for the generation to come, and the people which shall be created, shall praise the Lord.

19 For he hath looked downe from the height of his Sanctuary: out of the heauen did the Lord behold the earth, 20 That he might heare the mourning of the prisoner, and deliuer the children of death:

21 That they may declare the Name of the Lord in Zion, and his praise in Ierusalem, 22 When the people shall be gathered together, and the kingdomes to serue the Lord.

23 He abated my strength in the way, and shortened my daies.

24 And I said, O my God, take me not away in the mids of my daies, thy yeeres endure from generation to generation.

25 Thou hast aforetime layd the foundation of the earth, and the heauens are the worke of thine hands.

26 They shall perish, but thou shalt endure: euen they all shall waxe old as doth a garment: as a vesture shalt thou change them, and they shall be changed.

28 The children of thy seruants shall continue, and their seed shall stand fast in thy sight.

PSAL. CIII.

1 He prouoketh all to praise the Lord, which hath pardoned his finnes: deliuered him from destruction, andauen him sufficient of all good things. 10 Then he addeth the tender mercies of God, which hee sheweth like a most tender father towards his children. 14 The frailty of mans life. 20 An exhortation to men and Angels to praise the Lord.

APsalme of David.

MY soule, praise thou the Lord, and all that is within me, praise his holy Name.

2 My soule, praise thou the Lord, and forget not all his benefices.

3 Which forgiveth all thine iniquity, and healeth all thine infirmities.

4 Which redeemeth thy life from the grave, and crowneth thee with mercie and compassions.

5 Which satisfieth thy mouth with good things: and thy youth is renewed like the eagles.

6 The Lord executeth righteousness and iudgement to all that are oppressed.

7 He made his wayes knowne vnto Moyses, and his works vnto the children of Israel.

8 The Lord is full of compassion and mercie, slow to anger, and of great kindeesse.

9 He will not alway chide, neither keepe his anger for euer.

10 He hath not dealt with vs after our finnes, nor rewarded vs according to our iniquities.

11 For as he is the heauen is about the earth, so great is his mercie toward them that feare him.

12 As farre as the East is from the West, so far hath he removed our finnes from vs.

13 As a father hath compassion on his children, so hath the Lord compassion on them that feare him.

14 For he knoweth whereof we be made: he remembereth that we are but dust.

15 The dayes of man are as grasse: as a flower of the field, so flourisheth he.

16 For the winde goeth ouer it, and it is gone, and the place thereof shall know it no more.

17 But the louing kindeesse of the Lord endureth for euer and euer vpon them that feare him, and his righteousness vpon childrens children.

18 Vnto them that keepe his Couenant, and thinke vpon his commandments to doe them.

19 The Lord hath prepared his Throne in heauen, and his kingdome ruleth ouer all.

20 Praise the Lord, ye his Angels, that excell in strength, that doe his commandement in obeying the voice of his word.

21 Praise the Lord all ye his hosts, ye his seruants that doe his pleasure.

22 Praise the Lord all ye: his works, in all places of his dominion: my soule praise thou the Lord.

PSAL. CIII.

1 An excellent Psalm to praise God for the creation of the world, and the gouernance of the same by his marvellous prouidence, 35 wherein the Prophet prayeth against the wicked, who are occasions that God diminisheth his blessings.

MY soule, praise thou the Lord: O Lord my God, thou art exceeding great, thou art clothed with glory and honour.

2 Which couereth himselfe with light as with a garment, and spreadeth the beuens like a curtain.

3 Which layeth the beames of his chambers in the waters, and maketh the clouds his chariot, and walketh vpon the wings of the wind.

4 Which maketh the spirits his messengers, and a flaming fire his ministers.

5 Hee sett the earth vpon her foundations, so that it shall neuer moue.

6 Thou coueredst it with the deepe, as with a garment: the waters would stand about the mountaines.

7 But at thy rebuke they flee, at the voice of thy thunder they halfe away.

8 And the mountaines ascend, and the valleys descend.

descend to the place which thou hast established for them.

9 But thou hast fet them a bound, which they shall not passe: they shall not returne to cover the earth.

10 He sendeth the springs into valleys, which run betweene the mountains.

11 They shall give drinke to all the beasts of the field, and the wilde asses shall quench their thirst.

12 By these springs shall the fowles of the heauen dwell, and sing among the branches.

13 He watereth the mountains from his chambers, and the earth is filled with the fruite of thy workes.

14 He causeth grasse to grow for the cattrell, and herbe for the vse of man, that bee may bring forth bread out of the earth.

15 And wine ~~that~~ maketh glad the heart of man, and oyle to make the face to shine, and bread ~~that~~ strengtheneth mans heart.

16 The hie trees are satisfied, ~~even~~ the cedars of Lebanon, which he hath planted.

17 That the birds may make their nestes there: the stowke dwelleth in the firs trees.

18 The hie mountains ~~are~~ for the [goates]: the rocks ~~are~~ a refuge for the conies.

19 He appointeth the moone for certaine seasons: the sunne knoweth his going downe.

20 Thou makest darknes, and it is night, wherein all the beasts of the forest creepe forth.

21 The lions roare after their pray, and seeke their meate at God.

22 When the sunne riseth, they retire and couch in their denes.

23 Then goeth man forth to his worke, and to his labour vntill the evening.

24 O Lord, how manifold are thy workes: in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches.

25 So is this sea great and wide: for therein ~~are~~ things creeping innumerable, both small beasts and great.

26 There go the ships, ~~yes~~ that Leviathan whom thou hast made to play therein.

27 All these waite vpon thee: that thou mayest give them food in due season.

28 Thou givest it to them, and they gather it: thou openest thine hand, and they are filled with good things.

29 But if thou hide thy face, they are troubled: if thou take away their breath, they die, and returne to their dust.

30 ~~As~~ if thou send forth thy spirit, they are created, and thou renewest the face of the earth.

31 Glory be to the Lord for ever: let the Lord reioyce in his workes.

32 He looketh on the earth and it trembleth: hee toucheth the mountains, and they smoke.

33 I will sing vnto the Lord: all my life: I will praise my God while I live.

34 Let my words be acceptable vnto him: I will reioyce in the Lord.

35 Let the sinners be consumed out of the earth, and the wicked till there be no more: O my soule, praise thou the Lord. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CV.

1 He praiseth the singular grace of God, who hath of all the people of the world chosen a peculiar people to himselfe, and having chosen them, neuer ceaseth to doe them good ~~even~~ for his promise sake.

Praise the Lord, and call vpon his name: declare his workes among the people.

1 Sing vnto him, sing praise vnto him, and talke of all his wondrous workes.

2 Reioyce in his holy Name: let the heart of them that seeke the Lord, reioyce.

3 Seeke the Lord and his strength: seeke his face continually.

4 Remember his marvellous workes that hee hath done, his wonders, and the iudgements of his mouth.

5 Ye seed of Abraham his seruant, ye children of Isack, which are his elect.

6 He is the Lord our God: his iudgements are shew all the earth.

7 Hee hath alway remembered his Covenant, and promise, that hee made to a thousand generations.

8 ~~Even~~ that which he made with Abraham, and his oath vnto Isack.

9 And ~~now~~ hath confirmed it to Isack, for a Law, and to Israel for an everlasting Covenant.

10 Saying, Vnto thee will I give the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance.

11 Albeit they were fewe in number, ~~yes~~, very few, and strangers in the land.

12 And walked about from nation to nation, from one kingdome to another people.

13 Yet suffered hee no man to doe them wrong: but reioiced kings for their sakes, ~~saying~~.

14 Touch not mine Anointed, and doe my Prophets no harme.

15 Moreover, hee called a famine vpon the land, and utterly brake the staffe of bread.

16 But hee sent a man before them: Joseph was sold for a slave.

17 They held his feet in the stocks, and hee was laid in yrons.

18 Vntill his appointed time came, and the counsell of the Lord had tried him.

19 The king sent and looked him: ~~even~~ the ruler of the people deliuered him.

20 He made him lord of his house, and ruler of all his substance.

21 That he should binde his princes vnto his will, and teach his Ancients wisdom.

22 Then Israel came to Egypt, and Isack was a stranger in the land of Ham.

23 And hee increased his people exceedingly, and made them stronger then their oppressors.

24 He turned their heart to hate his people, and to deale craftily with his seruants.

25 Then sent hee Moses his seruant, and Aaron whom hee had chosen.

26 They shewed among them the message of his signes, and wonders in the land of Ham.

27 He sent darknes, and made it darke: & they were not diobedient to his commission.

28 * Hee turned their waters into blood, and ~~Exod. 7. 2.~~ slew their fish.

29 * Their land brought forth frogs, ~~even~~ in their ~~Exod. 8. 6.~~ Kings chambers.

30 He spake, and there came swarmes of flies, and lice in all their quarters.

31 He gaue them haile for raine, and flames of fire in their land.

32 He smote their vines also and their fig-tree, and brake downe the trees in their coasts.

33 Hee spake, and the grasshoppers came, and caterpillars innumerable.

34 And did eate vp all the grasse in their lande, and denoured the fruit of their ground.

35 * Hee smote also all the first borne in thit ~~Exod. 12.~~ land, ~~even~~ the beginning of all their strength.

27 Hee brought them forth life with silver and gold: & there was none feeble among their tribes.

28 Egypt was glad at their departing: for the feare of them had fallen upon them.

29 He spread a cloud to be a covering, and fire to give light in the night.

30 They asked, and he brought quales, and he filled them with the bread of heauen.

31 He opened the rocks, and the waters flowed out, and ranne in the drie places like a riuer.

32 For he remembered his holy promise to Abra- ham his servant,

33 And he brought forth his people with ioy, and his chosen with gladnesse, 34 And gaue them the lands of the heathen, and they tooke the labours of the people in possession.

35 That they might keepe his statutes, and ob- serve his lawes. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL. CVI.

The people dispersed under Antiochus doe magni- fice the goodness of God among the iust and repen- tant: 4. desiring to be brought againe into the land by Gods mercifull visitation. 8. And after the manifold mercies of God wrought in their deliuerance forth of Egypt, and the great ingratitude of the peop's re- bearded, 27 they doe pray and desire to bee gathered from among the heathen, so the intent they may praise the Name of the God of Israel.

¶ Praise ye the Lord,

Praise ye the Lord, because he is good, for his mercie endureth for ever.

2 Who can expresse the noblelikes of the Lord, or shew forth all his praise?

3 Blessed are they that keepe indgement, and do righteousnesse at all times.

4 Remember mee, O Lord, with the fauour of thy people: visit me with thy saluation.

5 That I may see the felicitie of thy chosen, and reioyce in the ioy of thy people, and glory with thine inheritance.

6 We haue sinned with our fathers: wee haue committed iniquitie, and done wickedly.

7 Our fathers vnderstood not thy wonders in Egypt, neither remembered they the multitude of thy mercies, but rebelled at the Sea, euen at the red Sea.

8 Neuertheless he saued them for his Names sake, that he might make his power to be knowne.

9 And he rebuked the red sea, and it was dried vp, & he led them in the deepe as in the wilddernes.

10 And hee saued them from the aduersaries hand, and deliuered them from the hand of the ene- mie.

11 * And the waters covered their oppressours: not one of them was left.

12 Then bolceued they his wordes, and sang praises vnto him.

13 But incontinently they forgate his workes: they waited not for his counsell, 14 But lulled with concupiscence in the wilder- nesse, and tempted God in the desert.

15 Then he gaue them their desire: but he sent leaneuile into their soules.

16 They enuied Moses also in the tents, and Aa- ron the holy one of the Lord.

17 Therefore the earth opened, and swallowed vp Dathan, and coueted the companie of Abiram.

18 And the fire was kindled in their assembly: the flame burnt vp the wicked.

19 They made a calse in Horeb, and worshipped the molten image:

20 Thus they turned their glorie into the simi-litude of a bullocke that eateth grasse.

21 They forgate God their Saniour, which had done great things in Egypt, 22 Wonderful workes in the land of Ham, and fearefull things by the red sea.

23 Therefore he minded to destroy them, had not Moses his chosen stood in the breach before him to turne away his wrath, lest he should destroy them.

24 Also they contemned that pleasant land, and beleueed not his word, 25 But murmured in their tents, and hearkened not vnto the voyce of the Lord.

26 Therefore he lifted vp his hand against them to destroy them in the wilderness, 27 And to destroy their seed among the nations, and to scatter them throughout the countreys.

28 They ioyned themselues also vnto Baal-peor, and did eate the offerings of the dead.

29 Thus they provoked him vnto anger with their owne inuentions, and the plague brake in vpon them.

30 But Phinchas stood vp, and executed iudge- ment, and the plague was stayed.

31 * And it was imputed vnto him for righte- ousnesse from generation to generation for ever.

32 They angered him also at the waters of Meribah, so that Moses was punished for their sakes, 33 Because they vexed his spirit, so that he spake vnquietly with his lips.

34 Neither destroyed they the people, as the Lord had commanded them,

35 But were mingled among the heathen, and learned their workes, 36 And serued their idoles, which were their ruine.

37 Yea, they offered their sons, and their daugh- ters vnto deuils, 38 And shed innocent blood, euen the blood of their sonnes, and of their daughters, whom they offered vnto the idoles of Canaan, and the lande was defiled with blood.

39 Thus were they stained with their owne workes, and went a whoring with their owne inuentions.

40 Therefore was the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and hee abhorred his owne in- heritance, 41 And hee gaue them into the hand of the hea- then: and they had hated them, were lordes ouer them.

42 Their enemies also oppressed them, and they were humbled vnder their hand.

43 Many a time did hee deliuer them, but they provoked him by their counsels: therefore they were brought downe by their iniquitie.

44 Yet hee saue when they were in affliction, and hee heard their cry.

45 And hee remembered his Couenant, toward them, and repented according to the multitude of his mercies, 46 And gaue them fauour in the sight of all them that led them captiues.

47 Saue vs, O Lord our God, and gather vs from among the heathen, that wee may praise thine holy Name, and glory in thy praise.

48 Blessed bee the Lord God of Israel for ever and euer, and let all the people say, So be it. Praise ye the Lord.

4 When they wandred in the desert and wilderness out of the way, and found no citie to dwell in.

5 Both hungry and thirstie, their soules fainted in them.

6 Then they cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse.

7 And led them forth by the right way, that they might goe to a citie of habitation.

8 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

9 For hee satisfied the thirsty soule, and filled the hungry soule with goodnesse.

10 They that dwell in darkenesse and in the shadow of death, being bound in misery and yron, 11 Because they rebelled against the wordes of the Lord, and despised the counsell of the most High.

12 When hee humbled their heart with heaviness, then they fell downe and there was no helpe.

13 Then they cryed vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuered them from their distresse.

14 He brought them out of darkenesse, & out of the shadow of death & brake their bands asunder.

15 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

16 For hee hath broken the gates of brass, and brast the barres of yron asunder.

17 Fools by reason of their transgression and because of their iniquities are afflicted.

18 Their foule abhorreth all meate, and they are brought to deathes doore.

19 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and he deliuereth them from their distresse.

20 Hee sendeth his word and healeth them, and deliuereth them from their granes.

21 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

22 And let them offer sacrifices of praise, and declare his workes with reioycing.

23 They that goe downe to the sea in ships, and occupie by the great waters.

24 They see the workes of the Lord, and his wonders in the deepe.

25 For hee commandeth and raiseth the stormie winde, and it lifteth vp the waves thereof.

26 They moue vp to the heauen, and descend to the deepe, so that their soule melteth for trouble.

27 They are tolled to and fro, and stagger like a drunken man, and all their cunning is gone.

28 Then they cry vnto the Lord in their trouble, and hee bringeth them out of their distresse.

29 Hee burneth the storme to calme, so that the waves thereof are still.

30 When they are quieted, they are glad, and hee bringeth them vnto the haven where they would bee.

31 Let them therefore confesse before the Lord his louing kindnesse, and his wonderfull workes before the sonnes of men.

32 And let them extol him in the Congregation of the people, and praise him in the assembly of the Elders.

33 He turneth the floods into a wilderness, and the springs of waters into drie nesce.

34 And a fruitfull land into barrennesse, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein.

35 Again he turneth the wilderness into pooles of water, and the drie land into water springs.

36 And there hee placeth the hungry, and they build a citie to dwell in.

37 And sow the seedles, and plant vineyardes, which bring forth fruitfull increase.

38 For hee blesteth them, and they multiply exceedingly, and hee diminisheth not their cattell.

39 Again, men are diminished, and brought lowe by oppression, euill and sorow.

40 Hee powreth contempt vpon princes, and cauleth them to erre in desert places out of the way.

41 Yet hee raiseth vp the poore out of misery, and maketh his families like a focke of sheepe.

42 The righteous shall see it and reioyce, and all iniquitie shall stop her mouth.

43 Who is wise, that hee may obserue these things? for they shall vnderstand the louing kindnesse of the Lord.

P S A L. C. VII.

This Psalm is composed of two other Psalms before the 57. and the 60. The matter here contained is,

1 That David giueth himselfe with heart and voice to praise the Lord, 7 and assureth himselfe of the promise of God concerning his kingdom over Israel, and his power against other nations: 11 Who though hee seeme to forsake vs for a time, yet hee alwaies will in the end cast downe our enemies.

2 A song or Psalm of David.

3 O God, mine heart is prepared, for my tongue.

4 I will sing, and giue praise.

5 Awake viol and harpe: I will awake early.

6 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

7 For thy mercy is great about the heauens, and thy trutheth vnto the cloudes.

8 Exalt thy selfe; O God, above the heauens, and let thy glorie be vpon all the earth.

9 That thy beloued may bee deliuered: helpe with thy right hand, and heare me.

10 God hath spoken in his holinesse: therefore I will reioyce, I shall dialle Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth.

11 Gilead shall bee mine, and Manasse shall bee mine: Ephraim also shall bee the strength of mine head: Iudah my Law gauer.

12 Moab shall be my washpote: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe, vpon Palestina will I triumph.

13 Who will lead me into the strong citie: who will bring me vnto Edom?

14 Wilt thou, O God, which hadst forsaken vs, and didst not goe forth, O God, with our armie?

15 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for we are in the helpe of man.

16 Through God wee shall doe valiantly: for hee shall tread downe our enemies.

1 David being falsely accused by flatterers vnto Saul prayeth God to helpe him, and to destroy his enemies.

Swear, that his enemies may know the words to be of God. 30 Thou shalt be praised in the praise of God.

For him that exalteth. A Psalm of David.

Hold not thy tongue, O God of my praise.
2 For the mouth of the wicked, and the mouth full of deceit, are opened upon mee, they have spoken to me with a lying tongue.

3 They compassed mee about also with wordes of hatred, and fought against mee without a cause.

4 For my friendship they were mine adversaries, but I gave my selfe to prayer.

5 And they have rewarded mee euill for good, and hatred for my friendship.

6 Set thou the wicked ouer him, and let the aduersary stand at his right hand.

7 When he shall be iudged let him be condemned, and let his prayer be turned into sinne.

8 Let his dayes be few, and let another take his charge.

9 Let his children be fatherlesse, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children be vagabonds, and beg and seeke bread, coming out of their places destroyed.

11 Let the extortioner catch all that he hath, and let the stranger spoile his labour.

12 Let there be none to extend mercy vnto him, neither let there bee any to shew mercy vpon his fatherlesse children.

13 Let his posteritie bee destroyed, and in the generation following let their name be purour.

14 Let the iniquitie of his fathers bee had in remembrance with the Lord: and let not the sinne of his mother be done away.

15 But let them alway be before the Lord, that he may cut off their memoriall from the earth.

16 Because hee remembered not to shewe mercie, but persecuted the afflicted and poore man, and the sorrowfull hearted to day him.

17 As hee loved cursing, so shall it come vnto him, and as hee loved not blessing, so shall it be farre from him.

18 As hee clothed himselfe with cursing like a raiment, so shall it come into his bowels like water, and like oyle into his bones.

19 Let it be vnto him as a garment to couer him, and for a girdle wherewith hee shall be alway girded.

20 Let this bee the reward of mine aduersarie from the Lord, and of them that speake euil against my soule.

21 But thou, O Lord my God, deale with mee according vnto thy Name: deliuer me, (for thy mercie is good.)

22 Because I am poore and needie, and mine heart is wounded within me.

23 I depart like the shadow that declineth, and am shaken off as the grasshopper.

24 My knees are weake through fasting, and my flesh hath lost all fatnesse.

25 I became also a rebuke vnto them: they that looked vpon me, shaked their heads.

26 Helpe me, O Lord my God: saue mee according to thy mercie.

27 And they shall know that this is thine hand, and that thou Lord hast done it.

28 Though they curse, yet thou wilt blesse, they shall arise and be confounded, but thy seruant shall reioyce.

29 Let mine aduersaries be clothed with shame, and let them couer themselves with their confusion, as with a cloke.

30 I will give thanks vnto the Lord greatly with my mouth, and praise him among the multitude.

31 For hee will stand at the right hand of the poore, to saue him from them that would condemne his soule.

1 A prayer of the faithfull oppressed by idolatrous tyrants, against whom they desire that God would rescue them. 9 Trusting most constantly that God will preserue them in this their need: seeing that he hath adopted and redeemed them to his fauour. 18 Promising finally that they will not be忘ful of so great a benefite: if it would please God to heare their prayer, and deliuer them by his omnipotent power.

Not vnto vs, O Lord, not vnto vs, but vnto thy Name giue the glory, for thy louing mercie, and for thy truthes sake.

2 Wherefore shall the heathen say, Where is now their God?

3 But our God is in heauen: he doeth whatsoever he will.

4 Their idols are siluer & gold, the worke of mens hands.

5 They haue a mouth and speake not: they haue eyes and see not.

6 They haue eares and heare not: they haue noses and smell not.

7 They haue hands and touch not: they haue feet and walke not: neither make they a sound with their throat.

8 They that make them are like vnto them: so are all that trust in them.

9 O Israel trust thou in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.

10 O house of Aaron trust yee in the Lord: for he is their helpe and their shield.

11 Ye that feare the Lord, trust in the Lord: for he is their helper and their shield.

12 The Lord hath bin mindfull of vs: hee will blesse, he will blesse the house of Israel, he will blesse the house of Aaron.

13 Hee will blesse them that feare the Lord, both small and great.

1 David being in great danger of his life in the desert of Maon, perceiving the great and estimable loue of God toward him, magnifies such great mercies, 13 and protesteth that hee will be thankfull for the same.

1 I loue the Lord, because he hath heard my voice, and my prayers.

2 For he hath inclined his eare vnto mee, when I did call vpon him in my dayes.

3 When the snates of death compassed mee, and the griefes of the graue caught mee: when I found trouble and sorrow.

4 Then I called vpon the Name of the Lord, saying, I beseech thee, O Lord, deliuer my soule.

5 The Lord is mercifull and righteous, and our God is full of compassion.

6 The Lord preserueth the simple: I was in misery, and he saved me.

7 Remember vnto thy rest, O my soule: for the Lord hath bene beneficiall vnto thee.

8 Because thou hast deliuered my soule from death, mine eyes from teares, and my feete from falling.

9 I shall walke before the Lord in the land of the liuing.

10 I beleened, therefore did I speake: for I was sore troubled.

11 I said in my feare, All men are liars.

12 What shall I render vnto the Lord for all his benefites toward me?

13 I will take the cup of saluation, and call vpon the 15 Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his Saints.

16 Beholde, Lord, for I am thy servant, I am thy servant, and the sonne of thine handmaid: thou hast broken my bonds.

17 I will offer to thee a sacrifice of praise, and will call vpon the Name of the Lord.

18 I will pay my vowes vnto the Lord, now in the presence of all his people.

19 In the courts of the Lords house, now in the mids of thee, O Ierusalem. Praise ye the Lord.

7 The Lord is with mee among them that helpe mee: therefore shall I see my desire vpon mine enemies.

8 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in man.

9 It is better to trust in the Lord, then to haue confidence in princes.

10 All nations haue compassed mee: but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them.

11 They haue compassed mee, yea they haue compassed mee: but in the Name of the Lord shall I destroy them.

12 They came about me like bees, but they were quenched as a fire of thornes: for in the Name of the Lord I shall destroy them.

13 Thou hast thrust fore at me, that I might fall: but the Lord hath holpen me.

14 The Lord is my strength and song: for hee hath bene my deliuerance.

15 The voice of ioy and deliuerance shall be in the Tabernacles of the righteous, saying, The right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

16 The right hand of the Lord is exalted: the right hand of the Lord hath done valiantly.

17 I shall not die but liue, and declare the works of the Lord.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

L Lord remember David with all his affliction.

2 Who ſware vnto the Lord, and vowed vnto the mighty God of Iſaak, ſaying,

3 I will not enter into the Tabernacle of mine houſe, nor come vpon my pallet or bed,

4 Nor ſuffer mine eyes to ſleepe, nor mine eye lids to ſlumber,

5 Vntill I find out a place for the Lord, an habitation for the mighty God of Iſaak.

6 Lo, we heard of it in Ephraim, and found it in the fields of the forreſt.

7 We will enter into his tabernacles, and worſhip before his footſtoole.

8 Arise, O Lord, ſo come into thy reſt, thou, and the arke of thy ſtrength.

9 Let thy Priests be clothed with righteouſnes, and let thy Saints reioyce.

10 For thy ſervant Davids ſake reſuſe not the ſaue of thine Anointed.

11 The Lord hath ſworne in truth vnto David, and he will not ſhrinke from it, ſaying, Of the fruit of thy body will I ſet vpon thy throne.

12 If thy ſonnes keepe my covenant and my reſtimonies that I ſhall teach them, their ſonnes alſo ſhall ſit vpon thy throne for euer.

13 For the Lord hath choſen Zion, and loved to dwell in it, ſaying, 14 This is my reſt for euer, here will I dwell, for I haue a delight therein.

15 I will ſurely bleſſe her vitallies, and will ſatiſſie her poore with bread, 16 And will clothe her Priettes with ſaluation, and her Saints ſhall ſhout for ioy.

17 There will I make the horne of David to bud: for I haue ordeined a light for mine Anointed.

18 His enemies will I clothe with ſhame, but on him his crowne ſhall ſhine.

PSAL CXXXIII.

1 This Pſalme containeth the commendation of brotherly amity among the ſeruants of God.

¶ A ſong of degrees, or Pſalme of David.

Behold, how good and how comely a thing it is, brethren to dwell euery together.

2 It is like to the precious ointment vpon the head, that runneth downe vpon the beard, & in vnto

Aarons beard, which went downe on the beeder of his garments:

3 And as the dew of Hetmon, which falleth vpon the mountaines of Zion: for there the Lord appointed the bleſſing and life for euer.

PSAL CXXXIIII.

1 He exhorteth the Levites, watching in the Temple, ſo praie the Lord.

¶ A ſong of degrees.

Behold, praie ye the Lord all yee ſeruants of the Lord, ye that by night ſtand in the houſe of the Lord.

2 Lift vp your hands to the Sanctuary and praie the Lord.

3 The Lord that hath made heaven and earth, bleſſe thee out of Zion.

PSAL CXXXV.

1 He exhorteth all the faithfull of what eſtate former they be, ſo praie God for his marvellous works, & eſpecially for his grace towards his people, wherein he hath declared his Maieſty, 15 to the confuſion of all idolaters and their ido. 25.

¶ Praiſe ye the Lord.

Praiſe the Name of the Lord: ye ſeruants of the Lord, praie him.

2 Ye that ſtand in the houſe of the Lord, and in the courts of the houſe of our God.

3 Praiſe yee the Lord: for the Lords is good: ſing prayes vnto his Name: for it is a comely thing.

4 For the Lord hath choſen Iſaak to himſelfe, and Iſrael for his chiefe treaſure.

5 For I know that the Lord is great, and that our Lord is above all gods.

6 Whatſoener pleaſed the Lord, that did hee in heauen, and in earth, in the ſea, and in all the depths.

7 He bringeth vp the cloudes from the ends of the earth, and maketh the lightnings with the raine: he draweth ſouth the winde out of his treaſures.

8 Hee ſmote the firſt borne of Egypt, both of man and beaſt.

9 Hee hath ſent tokens and wonders into the mids of thee, O Egypt, vpon Pharaoh and vpon all his ſeruants.

10 Hee ſmote many nations, and ſlew mightie kings:

11 As Sihon king of the Amorites, & Og king of Baſhan, and all the kingdomes of Canaan:

12 And gave their land for an inheritance, euen an inheritance vnto Iſrael his people.

13 Thy Name, O Lord, endureth for euer: O Lord, thy remembrance is from generation to generation.

14 For the Lord will iudge his people, and be pacified toward his ſeruants.

15 The idols of the heathen are ſilver and gold, euen the worke of mens hands.

16 They haue a mouth, and ſpeak not: they haue eyes and ſee not.

17 They haue eares, and heare not: neither is there any breath in their mouth.

18 They that make them, are like vnto them: ſo are all that truſt in them.

19 Praiſe the Lord, ye houſe of Iſrael: praie the Lord, ye houſe of Aaron.

20 Praiſe the Lord, ye houſe of Levi: yee that feare the Lord, praie the Lord.

21 Praiſed be the Lord out of Zion, which dwelleth in Ieruſalem. Praiſe ye the Lord.

PSAL CXXXVII

1 The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true religion decay, lived in great anguish & sorrow of heart, the which grieft the Caldeans did sollicitly pittie, 3 that they rather increased the same daily wih sauntz, reproches and blasphemies against God. 7 Wherefore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who promoted the Babylonians against them, 8 and moved by the spirit of God, prophesie the destruction of Babylon, where they were banished 13 y^e vniuoually.

By the ruers of Babel we sat, & there wee wept, when we remembered Zion.

2 We changed our harps vpon the willowes in the mids thereof.

3 Then they that led vs captiues, required of vs songs and mirth, when wee had hangd vp our harps, saying Sing vs out of the temples of Zion.

4 How shal we sing, said we, a song of the Lord in a strange land?

5 If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play.

6 If I doe not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roote of my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my chiefe ioy.

7 Remember the children of Edom, O Lord, in the dayes of Ierusalem, which sayd, Rise it, rise it to the foundation thereof.

8 O daughter of Babel, worthy to be destroyed, blessed shall hee be that rewardeth thee, as thou hast serued vs.

9 Blessed shall hee be that taketh and dalseth thy children against the stones.

PSAL CXXXVIII

1 David with great conuiction praiseth the goodness of God toward him, the which is so great, 4 that it is knowne to forreine princes, who shall praise the Lord together with him, 6 and so is assured to haue the comfort of God in the time following, as he hath had heretofore.

I Will praise thee with my whole heart: euen before the gods will I praise thee;

2 I will worship toward thine holy temple, and praise thy Name, because of thy louing kindnesse, and for thy truth: for thou hast magnified thy Name aboue all things by thy word.

3 When I called then thou heardest me, and hast increased strength in my soule.

4 All the kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord: for they haue heard the wordes of thy mouth.

5 And they shall sing of the wayes of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord is great.

6 For the Lord is high: yet hee beholdeth the lowly, but the proud he knoweth afarr off.

7 Though I walke in the mides of trouble, yet wilt thou reioyce me: thou wilt stretch forth thine hand vpon the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall save me.

8 The Lord will performe his worke toward me: O Lord, thy mercie endureth for ever: forsake not the workes of thine hands.

PSAL CXXXIX

1 David to cleaue iⁿ heart from all hypocrite, sheweth that there is nothing so bid which God seeth not, 12 which he confirmeth by the creation of man. 14 After declaring his zeale & feare of God, he protesteth to be enemy to all them that contemne God.

I To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

O Lord, thou hast tried me, and known me.

2 Thou knowest my sitting and my rising, thou understandest my thought: afarr off.

3 Thou compassist my pathes, and my lying downe, and art accustomed to all my wayes.

4 For there is not a word in my tongue, but loe, thou knowest it wholly, O Lord.

5 Thou hast ledst mee straight behinde and before, and layest thine hand vpon me.

6 Thy knowledge is too wonderful for me: it is so high that I cannot attaine vnto it.

7 Whither shall I flee from thy presence?

8 If I ascend into heauen, thou art there: if I doe downe downe in hell, thou art there.

9 Let me take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea.

10 Yet thither shall thine hand leade me, and thy right hand hold me.

11 It is thy, Yet the darknesse shall hide me, even the night shall be light about me.

12 Yea, the darknesse hideth not from thee, but the night shineth as the day: the darknes and light are both alike.

13 For thou hast possessed my reins: thou hast couered me in my mothers wombe.

14 I will praise thee, for I am wonderfully & wondrously made: marvellous are thy works, and my soule knoweth it well.

15 My bones are not hid from thee, though I was made in a secret place, and fashioned beneath in the earth.

16 Thine eyes did see mee, when I was without forme: for in thy booke were all things written which in continuance were fashioned, when there was none of them before.

17 How deare therefore are thy thoughts vnto mee, O God: how great is the summe of them!

18 If I should count them they are more then the sand: when I wake, I am still with thee.

19 Oh that thou wouldst slay, O God, the wicked and bloody men, so whom I say, Depart ye from mee:

20 Which speake wickedly of thee, and being thine enemies are lifted vp in vaime.

21 Doe not I hate them, O Lord, that hate thee? and do not I earnestly contend with those that rise vp against thee?

22 I hate them with an vnfaigned hatred, as they were mine vnto enemies.

23 Try me, O God, and know mine heart: proue mee, and know my thoughts.

24 And consider if there be any way of wickednesse in me, and leade me in the way for euill.

PSAL. CXL.

1 David complaineth of the cruelty falsehood & injuries of his enemies. 2 Against the which he prayeth vnto the Lord, & assureth himselfe of his help and succour. 12 Wherefore hee prouoketh the iust to praise the Lord, and to assure themselves of his tuition.

¶ To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David. Deliver mee, O Lord, from the euill man: preserve me from the cruel man.

2 Which imagine euill things in their heart, and make warre continually.

3 They haue sharpened their tongues like a serpent: adders poyson a vnder their lips. Selah.

4 Keepe mee, O Lord, from the hands of the wicked: preserve me from the cruell man, which purpoeth to cause my steps to slide.

5 The proud haue layd a snare for mee, and tread a net with cords in my path way, & let grins for mee. Selah.

6 Therefore I said vnto the Lord, Thou art my God: heare, O Lord, the voyce of my prayers.

7 O Lord God, the strength of my saluation, thou hast couered mine head in the day of battell.

8 Let not the wicked haue his desire, O Lord: performe not his wicked thought, lest they be proud. Selah.

9 As for the chiefe of them that compasse mee about, let the mischief of their owne lips come vpon them.

10 Let coales fall vpon them: let him cast them into the fire, and into the deepe pits, that they tise not.

¶ For the backbiters shall not bee established vpon the earth: euill shall hurte the cruell man to destruction.

11 I knowe that the Lord will auenge the afflicted, and iudge the pouer.

12 Surely the righteous shall praise thy Name, and the iust shall dwell in thy presence.

PSAL. CXLII.

1 David being cruellly persecuted vnder Saul, only trusteth vnto God in his succour. 3 Desiring him to bridle his affections, that he may patiently abide till God take vengeance of his enemies.

¶ A Psalm of David.

O Lord, I call vpon thee, haste thee vnto mee: heare my voyce when I cry vnto thee.

2 Let my prayer be directed in thy sight, as incense, and the lifting vp of mine hands as an offering sacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth, and keepe the doore of my lips.

4 Incline not mine heart to euill, that I should commit wicked works with men that work iniquity: and let me not eate of their delicacies.

5 Let the righteous smite mee: for that is a beneuolence: and let him reprove me, and it shall be a precious oyle, that shall not breake mine head: for within a while I shall euen pray in their miseries.

6 When their iudges shall bee cast downe in stonie places, they shall heare my wordes, for they are sweete.

7 Our bones lie scattered at the graues mouth, as he that heweth wood, or diggeth in the earth.

8 But mine eyes looke vnto thee, O Lord God: in thee is my trust: leaue not my soule destitute.

9 Keepe me from the snare, which they haue layd for me, and from the grannes of the workers of iniquity.

10 Let the wicked fall into his net together, whiles I escape.

PSAL. CXLIII.

1 The Prophet neither affoorded with feare, nor carried away with anger, nor forced by desperation, would kill Saul, but with a quiet mind directed his earnest prayer to God, who did preserve him.

¶ A Psalm of David to giue instruction, and a prayer when he was in the caue.

I Cried vnto the Lord with my voyce: with my voyce I prayed vnto the Lord.

2 I powred out my meditation before him, and declared mine affliction in his presence.

3 Though my spirit was in perplexity in me, yet thou knewest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they priuily layd a snare for me.

4 I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld, but in mine eye there was none that would knowe mee: all refuge failed me, and none I cared for my soule.

5 Then cried I vnto thee, O Lord, and said, Thou art mine hope, and my portion in the land of the liuing.

6 Hearken vnto my cry, for I am brought very lowe: deliuer me from my persecuters, for they are too strong for mee.

7 Bring my soule out of prison, that I may praise thy Name: when thou art beneficiall vnto me.

PSAL. CXLIII.

1 An earnest prayer for remission of sinnes, acknowledging that the enemies did thus cruellly persecute him by Gods iust iudgements. 8 He desireth to be restored to grace, 10 To be gouerned by his spirit.

that he may spend the remnant of his life in the true fear and service of God.

A Psalm of David.

HEare my prayer, O Lord, and hearken vnto my supplication: answer me in thy trueth, and in thy righteousness.

2 And enter not into indignement with thy seruant: for in thy sight shall none that lieth bee infused.

3 For the enemy hath persecuted my soule: he hath smitten my life downe to the earth: hee hath hid me in the darkenesse, as they that haue been dead long agoe.

4 And my spirit was in perplexity in mee, and mine heart within me was amazed.

5 Yet doe I remember the time past: I meditate in all thy workes, yea, I doe meditate in the workes of thine hands.

6 I stretch forth mine hands vnto thee: my soule desireth after thee as the thirly land. Selah.

7 Heare me speedily, O Lord, for my spirit faileth:
hide not thy face from me, else I shall be like vnto them that goe downe into the pit.

8 Let mee heare thy louing kindnesse in the morning: for in thee is my trust: shew me the way that I should walke in, for I lift vp my soule vnto thee.

9 Deliuer me, O Lord, from mine enemies: for
I hid me with thee.

10 Teach mee to doe thy will, for thou art my God: let thy good Spirit leade mee vnto the land of righteousness.

11 Quickene me, O Lord, for thy Name sake, and for thy righteousness bring my soule out of trouble.

12 And for thy mercie slay mine enemies, and destroy all them that oppress my soule: for I am thy seruant.

PSAL. CXLIIII.

1 He prayeth the Lord with great affection and humility for his kingdom restored, and for his victories obtained, 5 demanding helpe and the destruction of the wicked, 9 promising to acknowledge the same with songs of praise, 15 and declareth wherein the felicitie of any people consisteth.

A Psalm of David.

Blessed be the Lord my strength, which teacheth my hands to fight, and my fingers to battell.

2 He is my goodnes and my fortress, my tower and my deliuerer, my shield, and in him I trust, which subdueth my people vnder me.

3 Lord, what is man, that thou regardest him!
or the sonne of man, that thou thinkest vpon him!

4 Man is like to vanity, his dayes are like a shadow that vanisheth.

5 Bow thine heauens, O Lord, & come downe:
touch the mountaines, and they shall smoke.

6 Cast forth the lightning, and scatter them:
shoote out thine arrowes and consume them.

7 Send thine hand from aboue: deliuer mee, and take me out of the great waters, and from the hand of strangers.

8 Whose mouth talketh vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of falshood.

9 I will sing a new song vnto thee, O God, and sing vnto thee vpon a viole, and an instrument of musick strings.

10 It is hee that giueth deliuerance vnto kings, and rescueth David his seruant from the hurtfull sword.

11 Rescue me, and deliuer me from the hand of strangers: whose mouth talketh vanity, and their right hand is a right hand of falshood.

12 That our sonnes may be as the plants growing vp in their youth, and our daughters as the corner stones, graven after the similitude of a palace:

13 That our corners may bee full and abounding with diuers sorts, and that our sheepe may bring forth thousands and ten thousands in our streets:

14 That our oxen may be strong to labour, that there be none inuasion, nor going out, nor no crying in our streets.

15 Blessed are the people that be so, yea, blessed are the people whose God is the Lord.

PSAL. CXLIV.

This Psalm was composed, when the kingdom of David flourished. 1 Wherein he describeth the won-derfull providence of God, as well in gouerning man, as in preserving all the rest of his creatures. 17 He prayeth God for his iustice and mercie, 18 But specially for his louing kindnesse toward those that call vpon him, that feare him and loue him. 21 For the which he promisseth to praise him for euer.

A Psalm of David of praise.

O My God, and King, I will extoll thee, and will bless thy Name for euer and euer.

2 I will bless thee dayly, and praise thy Name for euer and euer.

3 Great is the Lord, & most worthy to be praised, and his greatnesse is incomprehensible.

4 Generation shall praise thy workes vnto generation, and declare thy power.

5 I will meditate of the beauty of thy glorious Maiestie, and thy wonderfull workes.

6 And they shall speake of the power of thy fearefull acts, and I will declare thy greatnesse.

7 They shall breake out into the mention of thy great goodnesse, and shall sing aloud of thy righteousnesse.

8 * The Lord is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great mercie. Exo. 34:6

9 The Lord is good to all, and his mercies are ouer all his workes.

10 All thy workes praise thee, O Lord, and thy Saints blesse thee.

11 They shew the glory of thy kingdom, and speake of thy power.

12 To cause his power to be knowne to the sons of men, and the glorious renowne of his kingdome.

13 The * kingdom is an euertlasting kingdom, and thy dominion endureth throughout all ages. Dan. 7:14
Iuke 1:3

14 The Lord vpholdeth all that fall, and lifteeth vp all that are ready to fall.

15 The eyes of all waite vpon thee, and thou giueth them their meate in due season.

16 Thou openest thine hand, & fillest all things liuing of thy good pleasure.

17 The Lord is righteous in all his wayes, and holy in all his workes.

18 The Lord is sincere vnto all that call vpon him: yea, to all that call vpon him in trueth.

19 Hee will fulfill the desire of them that feare him: hee also will heare their crye, and will saue them.

20 The Lord preserveth all them that loue him:
but he will destroy all the wicked.

21 My mouth shall speake the praise of the Lord, and all flesh shall blesse his holy Name for euer and euer.

PSAL. CXLVI.

lifted, 9 defendeth the strangers, comforteth the fatherlesse, and the widowe, 10 and requieth for ever.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

Praise thou the Lord, O my soule.

1 I will praise the Lord during my life: as long as I haue any being, I will sing vnto my God.

2 Put not your trust in princes, nor in the sonne of man, for there is none helpe in him.

3 His breath departeth, and hee returneth to his earth: but his thoughts perish.

4 Blessed is he that hath the God of Iakob for his helpe, whose hope is in the Lord his God.

5 Which made heauen and earth, the sea, and all that therein is, which keepeth his fidelitie for ever:

6 Which executeth iustice for the oppressed: which giueth bread to the hungry: the Lord looseth the prisoners.

7 The Lord giueth fight to the blind: the Lord raiseth vp the crooked: the Lord loueth the righteous.

8 The Lord keepeth the strangers: hee relieth the fatherlesse & widow: but he overthroweth the way of the wicked.

9 The Lord shall reigne for ever: O Zion thy God endureth from generation to generation. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL CXLVII.

1 The Prophet praiseth the bountie, wisdom, power, iustice, and prouidence of God vpon all his creatures, 2 but specially vpon his Church, which hee gathereth together after their dispersion, 15 declaring his word and iudgements so vnto them, as he hath done to none other people.

Praise ye the Lord, for it is good to sing vnto our God: for it is a pleasant thing, and praise is comely.

2 The Lord doeth build vp Ierusalem, and gather together the dispersed of Israel.

3 Hee healeth those that are broken in heart, and bindeth vp their fores.

4 Hee counteth the number of the starres, and calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and great is his power: his wisdom is infinite.

6 The Lord relieth the meeke, and abaseth the wicked to the ground.

7 Sing vnto the Lord with praise: sing vpon the harpe vnto our God.

8 Which couereth the heauen with cloudes, and prepareth raine for the earth, and maketh the grass to grow vpon the mountaines:

9 Which giueth to beasts their foode, and to the yong rauens that cry.

10 Hee hath not pleasure in the strength of an horse, neither delighteth he in the legs of man.

11 But the Lord delighteth in them that feare him, and attend vpon his mercy.

12 Praise the Lord, O Ierusalem: praise thy God, O Zion.

13 For hee hath made the barres of thy gates strong, and hath blessed thy children within thee.

14 He setteth peace in thy borders, and satisfieth thee with the floure of wheate.

15 He sendeth forth his commandement vpon earth, and his word runneth very swiftly.

16 Hee giueth snow like wooll, and scattereth the hoare frost like ashes, 17 He casteth forth his yce like morsels: who can abide the colde thereof?

18 He sendeth his Word and melteth them; he causeth his winde to blow, and the waters flow.

19 He sheweth his word vnto Iakob, his statutes and his iudgements vnto Israel.

20 He hath not dealt so with every nation, neither haue they knowen his iudgements. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL CXLVIII.

1 Hee prouoketh all creatures to praise the Lord in heauen and earth, and all places: 14 Specially his Church, for the power that he hath giuen to the same after that he had chosen them, and signed them vnto him.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

Praise ye the Lord from the heauen: praise you him in the hie places.

2 Praise ye him all ye his Angels: praise him all his armie.

3 Praise ye him Sonne and Moone: praise yee him all bright starres.

4 Praise yee high heauens of heauens, and waters that be about the heauens.

5 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for he commanded and they were created.

6 And hee hath established them for ever and ever: he hath made an ordinance which shall not passe.

7 Praise ye the Lord from the earth, ye dragons and all depths.

8 Fire and haile, snow and vapours, stormie winde, which execute his word:

9 Mountaines and all hilles, fruitfull trees and all cedars:

10 Beasts and all cattell, creeping things and feathered fowles:

11 Kings of the earth, and all people, princes and all iudges of the world.

12 Yong men and maidens, also olde men and children:

13 Let them praise the Name of the Lord: for his Name onely is to be exalted, and his praise aboueth the earth and the heauens.

14 For he hath exalted the horne of his people, which is a praise for all his Saints, euen for the children of Israel, a people that is neere vnto him. Praise ye the Lord.

PSAL CXLIX.

1 An exhortation to the Church to praise the Lord for his victory and conquest, that hee giueth his Saints against all mans power.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

Sing ye vnto the Lord a new song: let his praise be heard in the Congregation of Saints.

2 Let Israel reioyce in him that made him, and let the children of Zion reioyce in their King.

3 Let them praise his Name with the flute: let them sing praises vnto him with the timbrell and harpe.

4 For the Lord hath pleasure in his people: he will make the meeke glorious by deliueance.

5 Let the Saints be ioyful with glory: let them sing loud vpon their beds.

6 Let the high actes of God be in their mouth: and a two edged sword in their hands.

7 To execute vengeance vpon the heathen, and corrections among the people:

8 To bind their kings in chaines, and their nobles with fetters of yron, 9 That they may execute vpon them the iudgement that is written: this honour shalbe to all his Saints. Praise ye the Lord.

PSALCL

1 An exhortation to praise the Lord without cease by all manner of wayes, for all his mightie and wonderful workes.

¶ Praise ye the Lord.

Praise ye God in his Sanctuary: praise ye him in the firmament of his power.

2 Praise ye him in his mighty actes: praise ye him according to his excellent greatnesse.

3 Praise ye him in the sound of the trumpet, praise ye him vpon the viol and the harpe.

4 Praise ye him with timbrell and flute, praise ye him with virginals and organ.

5 Praise ye him with sounding cymballs, praise ye him with his sounding cymbals.

6 Let euery thing that hath breath, praise the Lord, Praise ye the Lord.

THE PROVERBS OF SALOMON.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe wonderful line of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: first much as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these briefe sentences, which partly contains doctrine, and partly manner, and also exhortations to both. Wherof the nine first Chapters are as a preface full of great sentences, and deepe mysteries so allured the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a mysticall treasure well to the Church of these thousand Parables mentioned, 1. King 4. 32 and were gathered and continued so writing by Salomons servants, and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and use of the word of God. 7 Of the feare of God, and knowledge of his word. 10 We may not confide in the inticings of sinners. 20 Wisedome complayneth that she is contemned. 24 The punishment of them that contemne her.

He Parables of Salomon the soune of Dauid, king of Israel,

1 To know wisedome, and instruction, to vnderstand the wordes of knowledge,

2 To receive instruction to doe wisely, by iustice and iudgement, and equitie,

3 To giue vnto the simple sharpnesse of wit, and to the childe knowledge and discretiō.

4 A wise man shall heare, and increase in learning, and a man of vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels,

5 To vnderstand a Parable, and the interpretation, the wordes of the wise, and their darke sayings.

Psal. 111. 7 ¶ The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge: but fooles despise wisedome and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy fatherts instruction, and forsake not thy mothersteaching.

9 For they shall be a comely ornament vnto thine head, and chaines for thy necke.

¶ Ebr. increase of grace. 10 ¶ My sonne, if sinners do intice thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, we will lay wait for blood, and lie priuily for the innocent without a cause:

12 We will swallow them vp alive like a grane euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit.

13 We shall finde all precious riches, and fill our houses with spoile:

14 Cast in thy lot among vs: wee will all haue one purse.

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: reframe thy foot from their path.

16 For their feet runne to euill, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainly as without cause the net is spread before the eyes of all that hath wing:

18 So they lay waite for blood, and lie priuily for their liues.

19 Such are the wayes of euery one that is griedie of gaue: hee would take away the life of the owners thereof.

20 ¶ Wisedome cryeth without: she vtereth her voice in the streets.

21 She calleth in the hie street, among the prease in the entings of the gates, and vtereth her wordes in the citie, saying,

22 O ye foolish, how long will ye loue foolishnesse? and the scornfull take their pleasure in scorning, and the fooles haue knowledge?

23 Turne you at my correction: so, I will powere out my mind vnto you, and make you vnderstand my wordes.

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none would regard:

25 But yee haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction, 26 I will also laugh at your destruction, and mocke when your feare cometh.

27 When your feare cometh like suddē desolation, and your destruction shall come like a whirlewinde: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you,

28 Then shall they call vpon me, but I will not answere: they shall seeke me carely, but they shall not finde me, 29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord.

30 They would none of my counsell, but despised all my correction:

31 Therefore shall they eat of the fruit of their owne way, and be filled with their owne deuices.

32 For ease slayeth the foolish, and the prosperitie of fooles destroyeth them.

33 But hee that obeyeth me shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

CHAP. II.

1 Wisedome exhorteth to feare her. 5 She teacheth the feare of God. 6 She is giuen of God. 10 She preserueth from wickednesse.

My sonne, if thou wilt receive my wordes, and abide my commandments within thee,

1 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisedome, and incline thine heart to vnderstanding,

2 (For if thou callest after knowledge, and criest for vnderstanding:

3 If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for treasures,

5 Then

10 *Or, bedeeth the 10 Then shalt thou vnderstande the feare of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God.

11 For the Lord giveth wisdom out of his mouth, and his knowledge and vnderstanding.
12 He is perspicuous the state of the righteous, he is a shew to them that walke uprightly.
13 And he perspicuous the wayes of iudgment, and he perspicuous the way of his Saints.
14 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousnes, and iudgement, and equitie, and every good path.
15 When wisdom cometh into thine heart, and knowledge delighted thy soule.
16 Then shall counsell preferre thee, and vnderstanding shall keepe thee.
17 And deliver thee from the euill way, and from the man that speaketh froward things.
18 And from them that leane the wayes of righteousness to walke in the wayes of darkness.
19 Which reioyce in doing euill, and delight in the frowardnes of the wicked.
20 Whose wayes are crooked, and they are lewd in their paths.
21 And it shall deliver thee from the strange woman, turn from the stranger, which flattereth with her words.
22 Which satisfaketh the gaide of her youth, and forgetteth the Couenant of her God.
23 Surely her house tendeth to death, and her paths vnto the dead.
24 All they that go vnto her retaine not againe, neither take they hold of the wayes of life.
25 Therefore walke thou in the way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous.
26 For the iust shall dwell in the land, and the upright men shall remaine in it.
27 But the wicked shall be cut off from the earth, and the transgressors shall be rooted out of it.

1 The word of God giueth life. 5 Trust in God. 7 Feare him. 9 Honour him. 11 Suffer his correction.
2 To them that followe the worde of God all things shall succede well.
3 My sonne, forget not thou my Law, but let thine heart keepe my commandements.
4 For they shall increase the length of thy dayes, and the yerres of thy life, and thy prosperitie.
5 Let not mercie and truth forsake thee: bind them on thy necke, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.
6 So shalt thou find fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.
7 Trust in the Lorde with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisdom.
8 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.
9 Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord, and depart from euill.
10 So shall thine habitation be vnto thy nauele, and marre wnto thy bones.
11 Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first fruits of all thine increase.
12 So shall thy barnes be filled with abundance, and thy pressies shall burst with new wine.
13 My sonne, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be grieved with his correction.
14 For the Lord correcteth him whom hee lo-15 ueth, even as the father doeth the child in whom he delighteth.
16 Blessed is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.
17 For the merchandise thereof is better then the merchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then gold.

18 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to bee compared vnto her.
19 Length of dayes is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and glory.
20 Her wayes are wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperitie.
21 She is a tree of life to them that lay hold on her, and blessed is he that retaineth her.
22 The Lord by wisdom hath laid the foundation of the earth, and hath stablished the heauens thorow vnderstanding.
23 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, and the clouds drop downe the dew.
24 My son, let not these things depart from thine eyes, obserue wisdom and counsell.
25 So they shall be life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy necke.
26 Then shalt thou walke safely by the way, and thy foot shall not stumble.
27 If thou sleepest thou shalt not bee afraid, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shall be sweet.
28 Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the destruction of the wicked when it cometh.
29 For the Lord shall be for thine assurance, and shall preferre thy foot from taking.
30 Withholde not the good from the owners thereof, though there be power in thine hand to doe it.
31 Say not vnto thy neighbour, God and come againe, and to morrow will I giue thee, if thou now haue it.
32 For the wicked shall hurt against thy neighbour, seeing he doth dwell without feare by thee.
33 Striue not with a man causelesse, when hee hath done thee no harme.
34 Be not enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.
35 For the frowarde is abomination vnto the Lord: but his secret is with the righteous.
36 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but hee bleisseth the habitation of the righteous.
37 With the scornfull hee scorneth, but hee giueth grace vnto the humble.
38 The wise shall inherit glory: but foolles dishonour, though they be exalted.

1 Wisdom and her fruites ought to be searched.
2 The way of the wicked man shall be refused. 30 By the word of God the hearts eyes, and course of life must be guided.
3 Beare, O ye children, the instruction of a father, and giue care to learne vnderstanding.
4 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my Law.
5 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother.
6 When hee taught me, and said vnto mee, Let thine heart hold fast my words: keep my commandements, and thou shalt liue.
7 Get wisdom: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the words of my mouth.
8 Forsake her not, and she shall keepe thee: loue her, and she shall preferre thee.
9 Wisdom is the beginning: get wisdom, therefore, and aboute all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, and she shall exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour, if thou embrace her.

9 She shall give a comely ornament unto thine head: yea, she shall give thee a crowne of glory.

10 Hearken my sonne, and receiue my words, and the yeres of thy life shall be many.

11 I haue taught thee in the way of wisdom, and led thee in the paths of righteousness.

12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take hold of instruction, and leaue not: keepe her, for she is thy life.

14 Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men.

15 Auid it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

16 For they cannot sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth, except they cause some to fall.

17 For they eate the bread of wickednesse, and drinke the wine of violence.

18 But the way of the righteous shineth as the light, that shineth more and more vnto the perfect day.

19 The way of the wicked is as the darknes: they know not where in they shall fall.

20 O my sonne, hearken vnto my wordes, and encline thine eare vnto my sayings.

21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, lest they keep them in the mids of thine heart.

22 For they are life vnto those that finde them, and health vnto all their flesh.

23 Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for therout commeth life.

24 Put away from thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lips farre from thee.

25 Let thine eyes behold the right, and let thine eye-lids direct the way before thee.

26 Ponder the path of thy feete, and let all thy wayes be ordered aright.

27 Turne not to the right hand, nor to the left, lest thou remove thy foot from euill.

CHAP. V.

Whoredome forbidden, 9 and prodigality. 13 He wil sell a man to true en his labors, &c. to helpe others. 18 To loue his wife. 22 The wicked taken in their owne wickednesse.

MY sonne, hearken vnto my wisdom, and incline thine eare vnto my knowledge,

2 That thou maiest regard counsell, and thy lips obserue knowledge.

3 For the lippes of a strange woman droppe as an honycombe, and her mouth is more soft then oyle.

4 But the ende of her is bitter as wormewood, and sharpe as a two edged sword.

5 Her feete goe downe to death, and her steps take hold on hell.

6 She weighe th not the way of life: her pathes are moueable: thou canst not know them.

7 Heare yee me now therefore, O children, and depart not from the wordes of my mouth.

8 Keepe thy way farre from her, and come not neere the doore of her house,

9 Lest thou giue thine honour vnto others, and thy yeres to the cruell:

10 Least the stranger should bee filled with thy strength, and thy labours bee in the house of a stranger.

11 And thou mourne at thine ende (when thou shalt confesse thy flesh and thy body)

12 And say, Howe haue I hated instruction, and mine heart despised correction!

13 And haue not obeyed the voice of them that taught me, nor inclined mine eare to them that instructed me!

14 I was almost brought into all euill in the mids of the congregation and assembly.

15 I drunke the water of thy chilterne, and of thy riuers out of the mids of thine owne well.

16 Let thy fountaines flow forth, and the riuers of waters in the streets.

17 But let them seee thine, euen thine onely, and not the strangers with thee.

18 Let thy fountaine be blessed, and reioyce with the wife of thy youth.

19 Let her be as the louing hind and pleasant roe: let her breastes satisfie thee at all times, and delight in her loue continually.

20 For why shouldst thou delight, my sonne, in a strange woman, or embrace the bosome of a stranger?

21 For the wayes of man are before the eyes of the Lord, and he pondereth all his pathes.

22 His owne iniquities shall take the wicked himselfe, and he shall be holden with the cordes of his owne sinne.

23 He shall die for fault of instruction, and shall goe astray through his great folly.

CHAP. VI.

Instructions for sureties. 6 The slothfull and sluggard is stirred up to worke. 12 He describeth the nature of the wicked. 16 The things that God hateth. 20 To obserue the word of God. 24 To flee adultery.

MY sonne, if thou bee suretie for thy neighbour, and hast stricken hands with the stranger,

2 Thou art snared with the wordes of thy mouth: thou art euen taken with the wordes of thine owne mouth.

3 Doe this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, go, and humble thy selfe, and sollicite thy friends.

4 Giue no sleepe to thine eyes, nor slumber to thine eye lids.

5 Deliuer thy selfe as a Doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.

6 Go to the pismire, O sluggard: behold her wayes, and be wise.

7 For shee hauing no guide, gouernour, nor ruler.

8 Prepareth her meate in the Summer, and gathereth her food in haruest.

9 How long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggard? when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe?

10 Yet a little sleepe, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleepe.

11 Therefore thy pouertie commeth as one that trauaileth by the way, and thy necessitie like an armed man.

12 The vnchristieman and the wicked man walke with a froward mouth.

13 He maketh a signe with his eyes: he is signified with his feet: he instructeth with his fingers.

14 Lewd things are in his heart: hee imagineth euill at all times, and raiseth vp contentions.

15 Therefore shall his destruction come speedily: he shall be destroyed suddenly without recovery.

16 These fixe things doeth the Lord hate: yea, his soule abhorreth them:

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, feete that be swift in running to mischief, 19 A false witness that speaketh lies, and him that raiseth vp contentions among brethren.

20 O My sonne, keepe thy fathers commandement, and forsake not thy mothers instruction.

21 Bind them alway vpon thine heart, and eye them about thy necke.

22 It shall lead thee when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee, when thou sleepest, and when thou walkest, it shall talke with thee.

23 For the Commandement is a lanterne, and instruction a light: and corrections for instruction are the way of life.

24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman, and from the flattery of the tongue of a strange woman.

25 Desire not her beauty in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her eye lids.

26 For because of the whorish woman, a man is brought to a morrell of bread, and a woman will hunt for the precious life of a man.

27 Can a man take fire in his bosome, and his clothes not be burnt?

28 Or can a man goe vpon coales, and his feete not be burnt?

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife shall not be innocent, whosoever toucheth her.

30 Men doe not despise a thiefe, when hee stealeth to satiate his soule, because hee is hungry.

31 But if he be found, he shall restore seven fold, or he shall giue all the substance of his house.

32 But he that committeth adultery with a woman, hee is destitute of vnderstanding: hee that doeth it destroyeth his owne soule.

33 Hee shall find a wound and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away.

34 For ielousie in the rage of a man: therefore hee will not spare in the day of vengeance.

35 Hee cannot beare the sight of any ransome: neither will hee consent, though thou augment the gifts.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to wisdom and to the word of God, which will preserue vs from the harlot, & whose maisters are described.

My sonne, keepe my words, and hide my commandements with thee.

2 Keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue, & mine instruction as the apple of thine eyes.

3 Bind them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

4 Say vnto Wisdom, Thou art my sister: and call vnderstanding thy kinswoman.

5 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, even from the stranger that is smooth in her words.

6 As I was in the window of mine house, I looked thorow my window.

7 And I saw among the fooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding.

8 Who passed thorow the street by her corner, and went toward her house.

9 In the twilight, in the evening, when the night began to be blacke and darke.

10 And behold, there met him a woman with an harlots behaviour, and subtil in heart.

11 (She is babling and lowd: whose feete cannot abide in her house.

12 Now she is without, now in the streets, and lieth in wait at every corner.)

13 So she caught him and killed him, and with an impudent face said vnto him, 14 I haue peace offerings, this day haue I payed my vowes.

15 Therefore I came forth to mee thee, that I might seeke thy face: and I haue found thee.

16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, carpets and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cinnamon.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning, let vs take our pleasure in dalliance.

19 For mine husband is not at home: he is gone a journey farre off.

20 He hath taken with him a bagge of siluer, and will come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft she caused him to yeeld, and with her flattering lips she enticed him.

22 And he followed her straightwayes, as an ox that goeth to the slaughter, and as a foole to the stocks for correction.

23 Till a dart strike thorow his liver, as a bird halseth to the snare, not knowing that hee is in danger.

24 Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken vnto the words of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her wayes, wander thou not in her paths.

26 For shee hath caused many to fall downe wounded, and the strong men are all slaine by her.

27 Her house is the way vnto the graue, which she goeth downe to the chambers of death.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Wisdom declareth her excellencie, 11 riches, 15 power, 22 eternitie. 32 Shee exhorteth all to loue and follow her.

Doth not wisdom crye and vnderstanding utter her voyce?

2 Shee standeth in the top of the high places by the way in the place of the paths.

3 She cryeth besides the gates before the citie at the entry of the doores.

4 O men, I call vnto you, and utter my voyce vnto the children of men.

5 O ye foolish men, vnderstand wisdom, and see, O fooles, be wise in heart.

6 Giue eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lippes shall teach things that be right.

7 For my mouth shall speake the truth, and my lips abhorre wickednesse.

8 All the wordes of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdnesse, nor frowardnesse in them.

9 They are all plaine to him that will vnderstand, and straight to them that would finde knowledge.

10 Receiue mine instruction and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine gold.

11 For wisdom is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.

12 I wisdom dwell with prudence, and I find forth knowledge and counsell.

13 The feare of the Lord is to hate euill: as pride, and arrogance, & the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh few things doe I hate.

14 I haue counsell and wisdom: I am vnderstanding, and I haue strength.

15 By me Kings reigne, & princes decree iustice.

16 By me princes rule, and the noble, and all the Iudges of the earth.

17 I loue them that loue me: & they that seeke me earlie shall finde me.

20 I canſe to walke in the way of righteousſiſſe, and in the mids of the paths of iudgement.

21 That I may cauſe them that loue me to inherite ſubſtance, and I will fill their treaſures.

22 The Lord hath poſſeſſed me in the beginning of his way: I was before his works of old.

23 I was ſet vp from eternallſſe, from the beginning, and before the earth.

24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

25 Before the mountains were ſetled, and before the hills, was I begotten.

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the duſt in the world.

27 When he prepared the heauens, I was there, when he ſet the compaſſe vpon the deepe:

28 When he eſtabliſhed the clouds about, when he confirmed the fountaines of the deepe:

29 When he gaue his decree to the ſea, that the waters ſhould not paſſe his commandment, when he appointed the foundations of the earth,

30 Then was I with him as a nouther, and I was daily be delight, reioycing alway before him, 31 And tooke my ſolace in the compaſſe of his earth, and my delight is with the children of men.

32 Therefore now hearken, O children, vnto me; for bleſſed are they that keepe my wayes.

33 Heare inſtruction, and be ye wiſe, and reſuſe it not: bleſſed is the man that heareth mee, watching daily at my gates, and giuing attendance at the poſtes of my doores.

34 For he that findeth me findeth life, and ſhall obtaine fauour of the Lord.

35 But he that ſinneth againſt mee, hurteth his owne ſoule: and all that hate me ſhall die.

CHAP. IX.

1 Wiſedome alleth all to her ſelfe. 7 The ſcorner will not be corrected. 10 The ſeas of God. 13 The conditions of ſhe harlots.

Wiſedome hath built her houſe, and hewen out her ſeuene pillars.

2 She hath killed her victuals, drawn her wine, and prepared her table.

3 She hath ſent forth her maidens and cryeth vpon the highſt places of the citie, ſaying,

4 Who ſo is ſimple, let him come hither, and to him that is deſtitute of wiſedome the ſaith,

5 Come and eat of my meat, and drinke of the wine that I haue drawn.

6 Forſake your waye fooliſh, and ye ſhall liue: and walke in the way of vnderſtanding.

7 He that reprooueth a ſcorner, purchaſeth to himſelfe ſhame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himſelfe a blot.

8 Rebuke not a ſcorner, leſt hee hate thee: but rebuke a wiſe man, and he will loue thee.

9 Giue admonition to the wiſe, and he will bee the wiſer: teach a righteous man, and hee will increaſe in learning.

10 The beginning of wiſedome is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things is vnderſtanding.

11 For thy dayes ſhall be multiplied by me, and the yeeres of thy life ſhall be augmented.

12 If thou be wiſe, thou ſhalt bee wiſe for thy ſelfe, & if thou be a ſcorner, thou alone ſhalt ſuffer.

13 A fooliſh woman is troubleſome: the ſignorant, and knoweth nothing.

14 But ſhe ſtreeth at the doore of her houſe on a ſeat in the high places of the citie,

15 To call them that paſſe by the way, that goe right on their way, ſaying,

16 Who ſo is ſimple, let him come hither, and to him that is deſtitute of wiſedome, the ſaith alſo, 17 Stollen waters are ſweete, and hid bread is pleaſant.

18 But he knoweth not that the dead are there, and that her gheſts are in the depth of hell.

CHAP. X.

In this Chapter, and all that follow vnto the thirtieth, the wiſeman exhorteth by diuerſe ſentences, which hee calleth parables, to follow vertue, and ſee vice: and ſheweth alſo what is ofſt comenſe of wiſedome, and what hinderance proceedeth of fooliſhneſſe.

THE PARABLES OF SALOMON.

A Wiſe ſonne maketh a glad father: but a fooliſh ſonne is an heauineſſe to his mother.

2 The treaſures of wickedneſſe profit nothing: but righteousneſſe deliuereth from death.

3 The Lord will not ſanctifie the ſoule of the righteous: but he caſteth away the ſubſtance of the wicked.

4 A ſlothfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.

5 He that gathereth in Summer is the ſonne of wiſdome: but hee that ſleepeth in harueſt, is the ſonne of confuſion.

6 Bleſſings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie ſhall couer the mouth of the wicked.

7 The memorial of the iuſt ſhall be bleſſed, but the name of the wicked ſhall rot.

8 The wiſe in heart will receiue commandments: but the fooliſh in talke ſhall be beaten.

9 He that walketh vprightly, walketh boldly: but he that peruerteth his wayes, ſhall be knowne.

10 He that winketh with the eye, worketh ſorrow, and he that is fooliſh in talke ſhall be beaten.

11 The mouth of a righteous man is a welſpring of life: but iniquitie couereth the mouth of the wicked.

12 Hatred ſtirreth vp contentions: but loue couereth all trespaffes.

13 In the lips of him that hath vnderſtanding wiſedome is found, and a rod ſhall be for the backe of him that is deſtitute of wiſedome.

14 Wiſe men lay vp knowledge, but the mouth of the fool is a preſent deſtruction.

15 The rich mans goods are his ſtrong city: but the feare of the needy is their ponertie.

16 The labour of the righteous tendeth to life: but the reuenewes of the wicked to ſinne.

17 He that regardeth inſtruction in the way of life: but he that reſuſeth correction, goeth out of the way.

18 He that diſſembleth hatred with lying lips, and he that inuenteth ſlander, is a ſoule.

19 In many words there cannot want inquiry, but he that reſtraineth his lips, is wiſe.

20 The tongue of the iuſt man is as ſined ſiluer: but the heart of the wicked is little worth.

21 The lips of the righteous do feed many: but foolles ſhall die for want of wiſedome.

22 The bleſſing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he doth adde no ſorowes with it.

23 It is as a pastimce to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God will grant the desire of the righteous.

25 As the whirlewind passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an everlasting foundation.

26 As vinegar is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes: so is the slothfull to them that feed him.

27 The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the yeeres of the wicked shallbe diminished.

28 The patient abiding of the righteous shall be gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

29 The way of the Lord is strength to the vpright man: but feare shall be for the workers of iniquitie.

30 The righteous shall neuer be remooued: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.

31 The mouth of the iust shall be fruitfull in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.

32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

CHAP. XI.

FAlse balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfect weight pleaseth him.

2 When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.

3 The vprightnes of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnesse of the transgressors shall destroy them.

Eze. 19. eccles. 5. 1 4 * Riches anuile not in the day of wrath: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

5 The righteousness of the vpright shall direct his way: but the wicked shall fall in his owne wickednesse.

6 The righteousness of the iust shall deliuer them: but the transgressors shall be taken in their owne wickednesse.

Wis. 5. 15 7 * When a wicked man dieth, his hope perisheth, and the hope of the vniust shall perish.

8 The righteous escapeth out of trouble, and the wicked shall come in his stead.

9 An hypocrite with his mouth hurteth his neighbour: but the righteous shall be deliuered by knowledge.

10 In the prosperitie of the righteous the city reioyceth, and when the wicked perish, there is ioy.

1 Cor. 13. 1. 1. pet. 1. 8. 11 By the blessing of the righteous the city is exalted: but it is subuerted by the mouth of the wicked.

12 He that despiseth his neighbour, is destitute of wisdom: but a man of vnderstanding will keepe silence.

13 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discovereth a secret: but he that is of a faithful heart, concealeth a matter.

14 Where no counsell is, the people fall: but where many counsellers are, there is health.

15 Hee shall be sore vexed, that is surety for a stranger, and he that hateth in friendship, is sure.

1 Cor. 13. 1. 1. pet. 1. 8. 16 A gracious woman attaineth honour, and the strong men attaine riches.

17 Hee that is mercifull, rewardeth his owne soule: but hee that troubleth his owne flesh is cruell.

18 The wicked worketh a deceitfull worke: but hee that oweth righteousness, shall receive a sure reward.

19 As righteousness leadeth to life: so hee that followeth euill, seeketh his owne death.

20 They that are of a broward heart, are abomination to the Lord: but they that are vpright in their way are his delight.

21 Though hand ioye in hand, the wicked shall not be vnpunished: but the seede of the righteous shall escape.

22 As a iewell of golde in a swines snout, so is a faire woman, which lacketh discretion.

23 The desire of the righteous is onely good: but the hope of the wicked is indignation.

24 There is that scattereth, and is more increased, but hee that gathereth more then is right, surely cometh to penurie.

25 The liberal person shall haue plenty and he that watereth shall also haue raine.

26 He that withdraweth the corne, the people will curse him: but blessing shall be vpon the head of him that selleth corne.

27 He that seeketh good things, getteth fauour: but he that seeketh euill, it shall come to him.

28 He that trusteth in his riches, shall fall: but the righteous shall flourish as a lease.

29 He that troubleth his owne house shall inherit the winde, and the foole shall be seruant to the wife in heart.

30 The fruit of the righteous is as a tree of life: and he that winneth soules is wise.

31 Behold, the righteous shall be recompensed in the earth: how much more the wicked and the sinner?

CHAP. XII.

HE that loneth instruction, loneth knowledge: but he that loneth correction is a foole.

2 A good man getteth fauour of the Lord: but the man of wicked imaginations will be condemned.

3 A man cannot be established by wickednesse: but the roote of the righteous shall not be moued.

4 A vertuous woman is the crowne of her husband: but he that maketh him ashamed, is as corruption in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the iust are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceitfull.

6 The talking of the wicked is to lie in wait for blood: but the mouth of the righteous will deliuer them.

7 God overthroweth the wicked: and they are not: but the house of the righteous shall stand.

8 A man shall be commended for his wisdom: but the froward of heart shall be despised.

9 He that is despised, and is his owne seruant, is better then hee that boasteth himselfe, and lacketh bread.

10 A righteous man regardeth the life of his beast: but the mercies of the wicked are cruell.

11 * He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but hee that followeth the idle, is destitute of vnderstanding.

12 The wicked desireth the net of euils: but the fine, roote of the righteous giueth fruit.

13 The euill man is snared by the wickednes of his lips: but the iust shall come out of aduersitie.

14 A man shall be faciate with good things by the fruit of his mouth, and the recompense of a mans hands shall God giue vnto him.

15 The way of a foole is right in his owne eyes: but he that heareth counsell is wise.

16 A foole in a day shall be knownen by his anger: but he that couereth shame is wise.

27 The fear of the Lord is a wellspring of life, to sound the snares of death.

28 In the multitude of the people is the honour of a king: and for the want of people cometh the destruction of the prince.

29 He that is slow to wrath is of great wisdom:
but he that is of an haughty mind, exalteth folly.

30 A sound heart is the life of the flesh: but envy is the rotting of the bones.

31 * He that oppresseth the poor, reprooveth him that made him: but he honoureth him, that hath mercy on the poor.

32 The wicked shall be cast away for his malice:
but the righteous hath hope in his death.

33 Wisdom is reſtrict in the heart of him that hath vnderstanding, and is known in the midst of fooles.

34 Justice exalteth a nation, but sin is a shame to the people.

35 The pleasure of a king is in a wise servant: but his wrath shall be toward him that is lewd.

C H A P. XV.

A * Soft answer putteth away wrath: but grie-uous words stirre vp anger.

1. The tongue of the wise with knowledge a-veth: but the mouth of fooler is babbler out fo-lishness.

2 The eyes of the Lorde in every place, behold the euill and the good.

3 A whole some tongue is as a tree of life:
but the frowardnesse thereof is the breaking of the minde.

4 A foole despiseth his fathers instruction: but he that regardeth correction, is prudent.

5 The house of the righteous hath much treasure:
but in the reuenues of the wicked is trouble.

6 The lips of the wise do spread abroad knowledge: but the heart of the foolish doth not so.

7 The sacrifice of the wicked is abomination to the Lord: but the prayer of the righteous is acceptable vnto him.

8 The way of the wicked is an abomination vnto the Lorde: but hee loucheth him that followeth
righteousnesse.

9 Instruction is euill to him that so-faketh the way, and he that hateth correction, shall die.

10 Hell & destruction are before the Lord: how much more the hearts of the finnes of men?

11 A sooner loueth him that rebuketh him, neither will hee go vnto the wife.

12 * A ioyfull heart maketh a cheerefull countenance: but by the sorrowe of the heart the mind is heauie.

13 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, seeketh knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is fed with foolishnesse.

14 All the dayes of the afflicted are euill: but a good conscience is a continuall feast.

15 * Better is a little with the feare of the Lord, than great treasure and trouble therewith.

16 * Better is a dinner of greene herbs where loue is, than a stalled oxe and hatred therewith.

17 * An angry man stirreth vp strife: but he that is slow to wrath appeareth stille.

18 The way of a slothfull man is as an hedge of thornes: but the way of the righteous is plaine.

19 * A wife sonne reioyceth the father: but a foolish man despiseth his mother.

20 Foolishnesse is ioy to him that is destitute of vnderstanding: but a man of vnderstanding walk-eth vprightly.

21 Without counsell thoughts come to nought:

but in the multitude of counsellers there is stedfastnesse.

22 A ioy cometh to a man by the answer of his mouth: and how good is a word in due season?

23 The way of life is on his to the prudent, to avoid from hell beneath.

24 The Lord will destroy the house of the proud man: but he will stablish the borders of the widow.

25 The thoughts of the wicked are abomination to the Lord: but the pure are pleasant words.

26 He that is greedy of gain, troubleth his own house: but he that hateth gifts shall live.

27 The heart of the righteous searcheth to answer: but the wicked mans mouth babbler euill things.

28 The Lord is farre off from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous.

29 The light of the eyes reioyceth the heart, and a good name maketh the bones fat.

30 The care that beareth to the correction of life shall lodge among the wise.

31 Hee that refuseth instruction, despiseth his owne soule: but he that obeyeth correction getteth vnderstanding.

32 The feare of the Lorde is the instruction of wisdom: and before honour goeth humility.

C H A P. XVI.

The preparations of the heart are in man: but the answer of the tongue is of the Lord.

1 All the wayes of a man are cleane in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the spirits.

2 Commit thy workes vnto the Lord, and thy thoughts shall be directed.

3 The Lord hath made all things for his owne sake: yea, euen the wicked for the day of euill.

4 All that are proud in heart, are an abomination to the Lord: though hand ioyne in hand, hee shall not be vnpunished.

5 By mercie and truth iniquitie shall be forgiuen, and by the feare of the Lord they depart from euill.

6 When the wayes of a man please the Lord, he will make also his enemies at peace with him.

7 * Better is a little with righteousness, then great reuenues without equitie.

8 The heart of man purporeth his way: but the Lord doth direct his steps.

9 A diuine sentence shall be in the lips of the king, his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement.

10 * A true weight and balance are of the Lord:
all the weightes of the bagge are his worke.

11 It is an abomination to kings to commit wickednes: for the throne is stablished by iustice.

12 Righteous lips are the delight of kings, and the king loueth him that speaketh right things.

13 The wrath of a king is as messengers of death:
but a wise man will pacifi- it.

14 In the light of the kings countenance is life:
and his fauour is as a cloud of the latter raine.

15 * How much better is it to get wisdom then gold? and to get vnderstanding is more to be desired then silver.

16 The path of the righteous is to decline from euill, and he keepeth his soule, that keepeth his way.

17 Pride goeth before destruction, and an high mind before the fall.

18 Better is it to bee of humble minde with the lowly, then to diuide the spoiles with the proud.

19 He that is wise in his business shall find good:
and he that trafficketh in the Lord, he is blessed.

20 The wife in heart shall be called prudent: and the sweetness of the lips shall increase doctrine.

22 Understanding is a well spring of life vnto them that haue it: and the instruction of fooles is folly.

23 The heart of the wise gulleth his mouth wisely and addeeth doctrine to his lips.

24 Fair words are as an honycombe sweepeaste to the soule and health to the bones.

25 There is a way that seemeth right vnto man but the issue thereof are the waies of death.

26 The person that troubleth himselfe for himselfe: for his mouth is cruceth it of him.

27 A wicked man diggeth vp gull and in his lips is like burning fire.

28 A slowward person toweth strife: and a tale-teller maketh diuision among princes.

29 A wicked man deceiueh his neighbour, and leadeth him into the way that is not good.

30 He shureth his eyes to deuse wickednes: he mooneth his lips, and bringeth euill to passe.

31 Age is a crowne of glorie, when it is found in the way of righteousnesse.

32 Hee that is slow vnto anger, is better then the mightie man: and he that ruleth his owne minde, is better then he that winneth a citie.

33 The lot is cast into the lap: but the whole disposition thereof is of the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

Better is a drie morsell, if peace be with it, then a house full of sacrifices with strife.

1 A discret servant shall haue rule ouer a lewd sounes, and hee shall diuide the heritage among the brethren.

2 As is the fining pot for siluer, and the furnace for gold: so the Lord trieth the hearts.

3 The wicked giueh heede to false lips, and a liar hearkeneth to the naughty tongue.

4 He that mocketh the poore, reprocheth him that made him: and he that reioyeth at destruction, shall not be vnpunished.

5 Childrens children are the crowne of the elders: and the glorie of the children are their fathers.

6 High talke becommeth not a foole, much lesse lying talke a prince.

7 A reward is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth whither soeuer it turneth.

8 Hee that couereth a transgression, seeketh loue: but he that repeateth a matter, separateth the prince.

9 A reproofe entrencheth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred stripes into a foole.

10 A seditious person seeketh onely euill, and a cruell messenger shall be sent against him.

11 It is better for a man to beate a beare robbed of her whelps, then a foole in his folly.

12 He that rewardeth euill for good, euill shall not depart from his house.

13 The beginning of strife is as one that openeth his waters: therefore of the contention be medled with, leaue off.

14 Hee that iustifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the iust, euen they both are abomination to the Lord.

15 Wherefore is there a price in the hand of the foole to get wisdom, and he hath no heart?

16 A friend loneth at all times: and a brother is borne for aduersities.

17 A man destitute of vnderstanding toucheth the hand, and becommeth surety for his neighbor.

18 Hee loneth transgression, that loneth strife: and he that exalteth his gate, seeketh destruction.

20 The stroward heart findeth no good: and hee that hath a laughing tongue, shall fall into euill.

21 Hee that begetteth a foole, getteth himselfe sorrow, and the father of a foole can haue no ioy.

22 A ioyfull heart encreaseth good health: but a sorrowfull mind drieth the bones.

23 A wicked man taketh a gift out of the bosoms to turne the waies of iudgement.

24 Wisdom is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the corners of the world.

25 A foolish soune is a griefe vnto his father, and a heauinesse to her that bare him.

26 Surely it is not good to condeinne the iust, nor that the princes should finite such for equitie.

27 Hee that hath knowledge spareth his words, and a man of vnderstanding is of an excellent spirit.

28 Euen a foole (when hee holdeth his peace) is counted wise, & he that stoppeth his lips, prudent.

CHAP. XVIII.

For the desire thereof he will separate himselfe to seeke it, and occupy himselfe in all wisdom.

1 A foole hath no delight in vnderstanding, but that his heart may be discouered.

2 When the wicked cometh, then cometh contempt, and with the vile man reproch.

3 The words of a mans mouth are like deepe waters, and the well-spring of wisdom is like a flowing riuier.

4 It is not good to accept the perion of the wicked, to cause the righteous to fall in iudgment.

5 A fooles lips come with strife, and his mouth calleth for stripes.

6 A fooles mouth is his owne destruction, and his lips are a snare for his soule.

7 The wordes of a talebearer are as flatterings, and they go downe into the bowels of the belly.

8 He also that is slouthfull in his worke, is euen the brother of him that is a great waster.

9 The Name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth vnto it, and is exalted.

10 The rich mans riches are his strong citie, and as an high wall in his imagination.

11 Before destruction the heart of man is hardy, and before glorie goeth lowlinesse.

12 He that answereth a matter before he heare it, it is folly and shame vnto him.

13 The spirit of a man will susteine his infirmity: but a wounded spirit, who can beare it?

14 A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the eare of the wise seeketh learning.

15 A mans gift enlargeth him, and leadeth him before great men.

16 Hee that is first in his owne cause, is iust: then cometh his neighbour, and maketh inquirie of him.

17 The lot causeth contentions to cease, and maketh a partition among the mightie.

18 A brother offended is harder to winne then a strong citie, and their contentions are like the barre of a palace.

19 With the fruit of a mans mouth shall his belly be satisfied, and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled.

20 Death & life are in the power of the tongue, and they that loue it, shall eat the fruit thereof.

21 Hee that findeth a wife: findeth a good thing, and receiveth fauour of the Lord.

22 The poore speaketh with prayes: but the rich answereth roughly.

23 A man that hath friends, ought to shew himselfe friendly: for a friend is nearer then a brother.

CHAP. XIX.

DEnter * is the poore that walketh in his vngodlyne, then he that abuteth his lips, and is a foole.

1 For without knowledge y mind is not good, and he that walketh with his feet, sineth.

2 The foolishnes of a man peruerteth his way, and his heart fretteth against the Lord.

3 Riches gather many friends: but the poore is separated from his neighbor.

4 A false witness shall not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lies shall not escape.

5 Many reuerence the face of the prince, and euery man a friend to him that giveth gifts.

6 All the brethren of the poore doe hate him: how much more will his friends depart farre from him: though he be instant with words, yet they will not.

7 He that possesseth vnderstanding loneth his owne soule, and keepeth wisdom to find goodnes.

8 A false witness that not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall perish.

9 Pleasure is not comely for a foole, much lesse for a seruant to haue rule ouer princes.

10 The discretion of a man deterreth his anger: and his glory is to passe by an offence.

11 The kings wrath is like y roaring of a lion: but his labour is like the dew vpon the grasse.

12 A foolish sonne is the calamity of his father: and the contentions of a wife are like a continual dropping.

13 House and riches are the inheritance of the fathers: but a prudent wile cometh of the Lord.

14 Slothfulnesse causeth to fall asleepe, and a deceitfull person shall be afflicted.

15 He that keepeth the commandement, keepeth his owne soule: but hee that despiseth his wayes, shall die.

16 He that hath mercy vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord will recompense him that which he hath giuen.

17 Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his murmuring.

18 A man of much anger shall suffer punishment: & though thou deliuer him, yet wil his anger come againe.

19 Heare counsell, and receiue instruction, that thou mayest be wise in thy latter end.

20 Many denies are in a mans heart: but the counsell of the Lord shall stand.

21 That that is to bee desired of a man is his goodnes: and a poore man is better then a liar.

22 The feare of the Lord leadeth to life: and he that is filled therewith shall continue, and shall not be visited with euill.

23 The foolish hideth his hand in his bosome, and will not put it to his mouth againe.

24 Smite a scorner, & the foolish will beware: and reprove the prudent, and hee will vnderstand knowledge.

25 He that despoileth his father, or chaseth away his mother, is a lewd and shamefull child.

26 My sonne heare no more the instruction that causeth to erre from the words of knowledge.

27 A wicked witnesse mocketh at iudgement, and the mouth of the wicked swalloweth vp iniquitie.

28 For iudgments are prepared for the scornors, and stripes for the backe of the foolos.

CHAP. XX.

Wine is a mocker, and strong drinke is raging: & whosoever is deceived thereby, is not wise.

1 The feare of the King is like the roaring of a lion: hee that promoueth him into anger, sineth against his owne soule.

2 It is a mans honour to cease from strife: but euery foole will be meddling.

3 The slothfull will not plowe because of winter: therefore shall he begge in summer, but haue nothing.

4 The counsell in the heart of man is like deepe waters: but a man that hath vnderstanding will draw it out.

5 Many men will boast euery one of his owne goodnes, but who can find a faithfull man?

6 Hee that walketh in his integritie iust: and blessed shall his children be after him.

7 A king that sitteth in the throne of iudgment, chaseth away all euill with his eyes.

8 Who can say I haue made mine heart cleane, I am cleane from my sinnet?

9 Diuers y weights, and diuers measures, both these are euen abomination to the Lord.

10 A child also is known by his doings, whether his worke be pure and right.

11 The Lord hath made both these, euen the eare to heare, and the eye to see.

12 Loue not sleepe, least thou come vnto poverty: open thine eyes, and thou shalt be satisfied with bread.

13 It is naught, it is naught, saith the buyer: but when he is gone apart, he boasteth.

14 There is golde, and a multitude of precious stones: but the lippes of knowledge are a precious iewel.

15 Take his garment that is suretie for a stranger, and a pledge of him for the stranger.

16 The bread of deceit is sweet to a man: but afterward his mouth shall be filled with grauell.

17 Establish the thoughts by counsell: and by counsell make warre.

18 He that goeth about as a slanderer, discovereth secrets: therefore meddle not with him that fartereth with his lips.

19 He that curseth his father or his mother, his light shall be put out in obscure darkness.

20 An heritage is hastily gotten at the beginning, but the end thereof shall not be blessed.

21 Say not thou, I will recompense euill: but wait vpon the Lord, and he shall save thee.

22 Diuers weights are an abomination vnto the Lord, and deceitfull balances are not good.

23 The steps of man are ruled by the Lord: how can a man then vnderstand his owne way?

24 It is a destruction for a man to deuoure that which is sanctified, and after the vowes to enquire.

25 A wise King scattereth the wicked, and caueth the wheele to turne ouer them.

26 The light of the Lord is the breath of man, and teacheth all the bowels of the belly.

27 Mercy and truth preferre the king: for his throne shall be established with mercie.

28 The beauty of yong men is their strength, and the glory of the aged is the gray head.

29 The blewnesse of the wound seareth to purge the euill, and the stripes within the bowels of the belly.

CHAP. XXI.

The kings heart is in the hand of the Lord, as the riuers of waters, he returneth it whither soeuer it pleast him.

2 Euery way of a man is right in his owne eyes: but the Lord pondereth the hearts.

Mic. 6.8 3 To doe iustice and iudgement is more acceptable to the Lord then sacrifices.

4 A hasty looke and a proud heart, which is the sight of the wicked, is sinne.

Dr. plem. 5 The thoughts of the diligent doe surely bring abundance: but whosoever is hasty commeth surely to poertie.

Chap. 13. 6 * The gathering of treasures by a deceitfull tongue, is vanity tossed to and fro of them that seek death.

7 The robbery of the wicked shall destroy them: for they have refused to execute iudgment.

8 The way of some is peruerced and strange: but of the pure man, his worke is right.

Chap. 19. 9 * It is better to dwell in a corner of the house toppe, then with a contentious woman in a wide house.

10 The soule of the wicked witheth euill: and his neighbor hath no fauour in his eyes.

11 When the corner is punished, the foolish is wise: and when one instructeth the wise, he will receive knowledge.

12 The righteous teacheth the house of the wicked: luc God ouerthroweth the wicked for their euill.

13 He that stoppeth his eare at the crying of the poore, he shall also cry, and not be heard.

14 A gift in secret pacifieth anger, and a gift in the bosome, great wrath.

15 It is ioy to the iust to doe iudgement: but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquitie.

16 A man that wandereth out of the way of wisdom, shall remaine in the congregation of the dead.

17 He that loneth pastime shall bee a poore man: and he that loneth wine and oyle, shall not be rich.

18 The wicked shall be a taunse for the iust, and the transgressor for the righteous.

Eccles. 25 19 * It is better to dwell in the wilderness, then with a contentious and angry woman.

18. 27. 20 In the house of the wife is a pleasant treasure, and oyle: but a foolish man deuoureth it.

21 Hee that followeth after righteousness, and mercy, shall find life, righteousness and glory.

22 A wife man goeth vp into the city of the mightie, and casteth down the strength of the confidence thereof.

23 Hee that keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soule from afflictions.

24 Proud, haucie and scornfull is his name, that worketh in his arrogancie, wrath.

25 The desire of the slothfull slaieth him: for his hands refuse to worke.

26 He counteth euermore greedily, but the righteous giueth and spareth not.

Chap. 15.8 27 The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination: how much more when he bringeth it with a wicked minde?

Esa. 1. 13. 28 * A false witness shall perish: but he that heareth, speaketh continually.

Chap. 19.5. 29 A wicked man hardeneth his face: but the iust, he will direct his way.

30 There is no wisdom, neither vnderstanding nor counsell against the Lord.

31 The horse is prepared against the day of battell: but saluation is of the Lord.

Eccle. 7.3 A Good name is to bee chosen aboue great riches, and louing fauour is aboue siluer and a boue gold.

Chap. 29. 1 * The rich and poore meet together: the Lord is the maker of them all.

2 * A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish goe on still, and are punished.

3 The reward of humilitie, and the feare of God is riches, and glory, and life.

4 Thorns and thistles are in the way of the forward: but he that regardeth his soule, will depart farre from them.

5 Teach a childe in the trade of his way, and when he is olde, he shall not depart from it.

6 The rich ruleth the poore, and the borrower is seruant to the man that lendeth.

7 He that soweth iniquitie, shall reape affliction, and the rod of his anger shall faile.

8 He that hath a good eye, he shall be blessed: for he giueth of his bread vnto the poore.

9 Cast out the corner, and strife shall goe out: so contention and reproch shall cease.

10 He that loneth purenes of heart, for the grace of his lips, the King shall be his friend.

11 The eyes of the Lord preserue knowledge: but he ouerthroweth the words of the transgressor.

12 The slothfull man faith, A lion is without, I shall be slaine in the street.

13 The mouth of strange women is as a deepe pit: hee with whom the Lord is angry, shall fall therein.

14 Foolishnesse is bound in the heart of a childe: but the rod of correction shall driue it away from him.

15 Hee that oppresseth the poore to increase himselfe, and giueth vnto the rich, shall surely come to poertie.

16 Incline thine eare, and heare the wordes of the wise, and apply thine heart vnto my knowledge.

17 For it shall bee pleasant, if thou keepe them in thy belly, and if they be directed together in thy lippes.

18 That thy confidence may bee in the Lord, I haue shewed thee this day: thou therefore sake bee it.

19 Huse not I written vnto thee three times in counsels and knowledge.

20 That I might shewe thee the assurance of the wordes of trueth, to answer the wordes of trueth to them that send to thee?

21 Rob not the poore, because he is poore, neither oppress the afflicted in iudgement.

22 For the Lord * will defend their cause, and spoileth the soule of those that spoile them.

23 Make no friendship with an angry man, neither goe with the furious man.

24 Left thou learne his wayes, and receive destruction to thy soule.

25 Be not thou of them that touch the hand, nor among them that are sic etic for deits.

26 If thou hast nothing to pay, why couldest thou that he should take thy bond from vnder thee?

27 Thou shalt not * remove the ancient bounds which thy fathers haue made.

28 Thou seest that a diligent man in his busines standeth before kings, and standeth not before the baser fort.

CHAP. XXIII.

When thou first to eate with a ruler, consider diligently what is before thee.

6 Eate thou not the bread of him that hath an euill eye, neither desire his dainty meates.

7 For as though hee thought it in his heart, so will hee say vnto thee, Eate, and drinke: but his heart is not with thee.

8 Thou shalt vomit thy morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lose thy sweete words.

9 Speake not in the eares of a foole: for he wil despise the wiledome of thy words.

Chap. 22. 27 * For a whore is as a deepe ditch, and a strange woman is as a narrow pit.

Chap. 7. 12. 28 * Also the lieth in wait as for a pray, and she increaseth the transgressors among men.

30 * Turne to them that tary long at the wine, to them that goe and seeke mixt wine.

31 Looke not thou vpon the wine, when it is red, and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly.

32 In the end thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice.

33 Thine eyes shall looke vpon strange women, and thine heart shall speake lewd things.

34 And thou shalt be as one that sleepeeth in the mids of the sea, and as he that sleepeeth in the top of the mast.

3 Through wisedome is an house builded, and with vnderstanding it is established.

4 And by knowledge shall the chambers bee filled with all precious and pleasant riches.

5 A wife man is strong: for a man of vnderstanding increaseth his strength.

6 * For with counsell thou shalt enterprise thy warre, and in the multitude of them that can giue counsell is health.

7 Wisedome is high to a foole: therefore he cannot open his mouth in the gate.

8 Hee that imagineth to doe euill; men shall call him an author of wickednesse.

9 The wicked thought of a foole is sinne, and the stomer is abomination vnto men.

10 If thou be faint in the day of aduersitie, thy strength is small.

11 Deliuer them that are drawn to death: and wilt thou not preserue them that are ledde to bee slaine?

12 If thou say, Behold, we knew not of it: hee that pondereth the hearts, doeth not he vnderstand it? & he that keepeth thy soule, knoweth he it not? will not he alio recompense euery man according to his workes?

13 My sonne, est honoy, for it is good, and the baney combe, for it is sweete vnto thy mouth:

14 So shall the knowledge of wisedome be vnto thy soule if thou find it, and there shall be an end, and thine hope shall not be cut off.

15 Lay no waite, O wicked man, against the house of the righteous, and spoyle not his resting place.

16 For a iust man falleth seuen times, and riseth againe: but the wicked fall into mischief.

17 Be thou not glad when thine enemy falleth, and let not thine heart reioyce when he stumbleth.

18 Left the Lord see it, and it displeased him, and he turne his wrath from him.

20 For there shall be none end of plagues to the euill man: * the light of the wicked shall be put out.

21 My sonne, feare the Lord, and the King, and meddle not with them that are seditious.

22 For their destruction shall rise suddenly, and who knoweth the ruine of them both?

23 ALSO THESE THINGS PERTAIN TO THE WISE, It is not good to haue respect of any person in iudgement.

24 He that faith to the wicked, * Thou art righteous, him shall the people curse, and the multitude shall abhorre him.

25 But to them that rebuke him shall be pleasure, and vpon them shall come the blessing of goodness.

26 They shall kisse the lips of him that answereth vpright words.

THESE ARE ALSO PARABLES of Salomon; which the men of Hezekiah King of Iudah copied out.

The glory of God is to conceale a thing secret: but the Kings honour is to search out a thing.

2 The heavens in height, and the earth in deepnesse, and the Kings heart can no man search out.

3 Take the drossie from the siluer, and there shall procede a vessel for the finer.

4 Take away the wicked from the King, and his throne shall be stablished in righteousness.

5 Boast not thy selfe before the King, and stand not in the place of great men.

Lev. 14
7 * For it is better that it bee saide vnto thee, Come vp higher, then thou be put lower, in the presence of the prince, whom thine eyes haue seene.

8 Goe not forth hastily to strive, lest thou know not what to doe in the end thereof, when thy neighbour hath put thee to shame.

9 Debate thy matter with thy neighbour, and discover not the secret to another.

10 Lest he that heareth it, put thee to shame, and thine infamie doe not cease.

11 A word spoken in his place, is like apples of gold with pictures of siluer.

12 He that reproveth the wise, and the obedient eare, is as a golden care-ring and an ornament of fine gold.

13 As the cold of the snow in the time of harvest, so is a faithfull messenger to them that send him: for he refresheth the soule of his masters.

14 A man that boasteth of false liberalitie, is like clouds and winde without raine.

15 A prince is pacified by staying of anger, and a soft tongue breaketh the bones.

16 If thou haue found hony, eate that is sufficient for thee: lest thou be ouerfull, and vomit it.

17 Withdrow thy footie from thy neighbours house: lest he be wearie of thee, and hate thee.

18 A man that beareth false witness against his neighbour, is like an hammer, and a sword, & a sharp arrow.

19 Confidence in an vnfaithfull man in time of trouble, is like a broken tooth, and a sliding footie.

20 He that taketh away the garment in the colde season, is like vinegar poured vpon y^e nitre, or like him that singeth songs to an heauy heart.

21 * If he that hateth thee be hungry, giue him bread to eate, and if he be thirstie, giue him water to drinke.

23 As the North wind driueth away the raine: so doth an angry countenance y^e flandering tongue.

Eccl. 21. 9.
24 * It is better to dwell in a corner of the house top then in a contentious woman in a wide house.

25 As are the cold waters to a wearie soule, so is good newes from a farre country.

26 A righteous man falling downe before the wicked is like a troubled well, and a corrupt spring.

27 It is not good to eate much hony: * so to search their owne glory is not glory.

28 A man that restraineth not his appetite, is like a citie which is broken downe, and without walles.

CHAP. XXVI.

As the snow in the summer, and as the raine in the harvest, and as mowes, so is honour vnto a foole.

1 As the sparrow by flying, and the swallow by flying escape, so the carle that is carelesse, shall not come.

2 Vnto the horse belongeth a whip, to the asse a bridle, and a rod to the foolies backe.

3 Answer not a foole according to his foolishnesse, lest thou also be like him.

4 Answer a foole according to his foolishnesse, lest he be wise in his owne conceit.

5 Hee that sendeth a message by the hand of a foole, is as he that catcheth off the feete, and drinketh iniquity.

6 As they that lift vp the legs of the lame, so is a parable in a foolies mouth.

7 As the closing vp of a precious stone in an heap of stones, so is he that giueth glory to a foole.

8 As a thorne standing vp in the hand of a drunkard, so is a parable in the mouth of foolies.

9 The Excellent that formed all things, both rewardeth the foole, and rewardeth the transgressours.

10 As a dog turneth againe to his owne vomit, so a foole turneth to his foolishnesse.

11 Seest thou a man wise in his owne conceit? more hope is of a foole then of him.

12 The slothfull man saith, A lion is in the way: a lion is in the streets.

13 As the doore turneth vpon the hinges, so doeth the slothfull man vpon his bed.

14 * The slothfull hideth his hand in his bosom, and it grieueth him to put it againe to his mouth.

15 The sluggard is wiser in his owne conceit, then seven men that can render a reason.

16 Hee that passeth by, and medleth with the strife that belongeth not vnto him, is as one that taketh a dog by the eares.

17 As he that catcheth himselfe mad, casteth fire brands, arrowes, and mortall things, 18 So doeth the deceitfull man with his friend, and saith, Am not I in sport?

19 Without wood the fire is quenched, and without a talebearer strife ceaseth.

20 As the coale maketh burning coales, and wood a fire, so the contentious man is apt to kindle strife.

21 * The words of a talebearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly.

22 As siluer drosse overlaid vpon a p^{er}stheard, so are burning lips, and an euill heart.

23 He that hateth will counterfeite with his lips, but in his heart he layeth vp deceit.

24 Though he speake fauourably, beleue him not: for there are seven abominations in his heart.

25 Hatred may bee covered by deceit, but the malice thereof shall be discovered in the Congregation.

26 * He that diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, and he that rolleth a stone, it shall returne vnto him.

27 A false tongue hateth the afflicted, and a flattering mouth causeth ruine.

C H A P. XXVIII.

The wicked flee when none pursueth: but the righteous are bold as a lion.

1. For the transgression of the land there are many princes thereof: but by a man of vnderstanding and knowledge a rethas likewise endureth long.

2. A poore man if he oppresseth the poore, is like a raging raine that leaueth no food.

3. They that forsake the law, praise the wicked: but they that keepe the law, set themselves against them.

4. Wicked men vnderstand not iudgement: but they that seeke the Lord vnderstand all things.

5. *Better is he poore that walketh in his way, then he that peruerth his wayes though he be rich.

8. Hee that turneth away his care from hearing the Law, men his prayer shalbe abominable.

9. He that causeth the righteous to go astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vp-right shall inherit good things.

10. The rich man is wise in his owne conceits: but the poore that hath vnderstanding can trie him.

11. *When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come vp, the man is tried.

12. Hee that hideth his sinnes shall not prosper: but he that confesseth and forsaketh sinnes, shall haue mercy.

22. Hee that rebuketh a man, shall finde more fauour at the length, then hee that flattereth with his tongue.

23. Hee that robbeth his father and mother, and sayeth, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth.

24. He that is of a proud heart stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be safe.

25. He that walketh in his owne heart, is a foole, but he that walketh in wisdom shall be deliuered.

 12 There is a generation they are pure in their owne conceit, & yet are not washed from their filthinesse.
 13 There is a generation whose eyes are haughty, and their eye lids are lifted vp.
 14 There is a generation whose teeth are as swords, and their iawes as knives, to eat vp the afflicted out of the earth, and the poore from among men.
 15 The horseleach hath two daughters, which cry, Giue, giue. There be three things that will not be satisfied: yea, soure that say not, It is ynough.
 16 The graue, and the barren wombe, the earth that cannot be satisfied with water, and the fire that saith not, It is enough.
 17 The eye that mocketh his father, and despiseth the instruction of his mother, let the rauen of the valley picke it out, and the young eagles eat it.
 18 There be three things hid from me: yea, soure that I know not.
 19 The way of an eagle in the ayre, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, the way of a ship in the mids of the sea, and the way of a man with a maid.
 20 Such is the way also of an adulterous woman: she eateth and wipeth her mouth, and saith, I haue not committed iniquity.
 21 For three things the earth is moued: yea, for foure it cannot sustaine it selfe:
 22 For a seruant when he reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meat, 23 For the hatefull woman when she is married, and for a handmaid that is heire to her mistresse.
 24 These bee foure small things in the earth, yet they are wise, and full of wisdom:
 25 The pismires a people not strong, yet prepare they their meat in summer:
 26 The conies a people not mighty, yet make they their houses in the rocke:
 27 The grasshopper hath no King, yet goe they forth all by bands:
 28 The spider taketh hold with her hands, and is in kings palaces.
 29 There bee three things that order well their going: yea, soure are comely in going.
 30 A lion which is strong among beasts, and turneth not at the sight of any:
 31 A lusty greyhound, and a goat, and a King against whom there is no rising vp.
 32 If thou hast bin foolish in lifting thy selfe vp, and if thou hast thought wickedly, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth.
 33 When one churmeth milke, he bringeth forth butter: & leeteth wringeth his nose, causeth blood to come out: so he that forcerh wrath, bringeth forth strife.

C H A P. XXXI.

2 Hee exhorteth to chastity and iustice. 10 And sheweth the conditions of a wise and worthy woman.

THE WORDS OF KING LEMUEL: The prophesie which his mother taught him.

1 What my sonne! and what the son of my wombe! and what O son of my desires!
 2 Giue not thy strength vnto women, nor thy wayes which are to destroy kings.

17. It is water for Kings, O Lemuel, it is wine for Kings to drinke wine, nor for Princes strong drinke.

18. Let her drinke, and forget the decree, and change the iudgement of all the children of affliction.

19. Giue ye strong drinke vnto him that is ready to perish, and wine vnto them that haue griefe of heart.

20. Let him drinke that hee may forget his powerie, and remember his misery no more.

21. Open thy mouth for the dumbe in the cause of all the children of destruction.

22. Open thy mouth: iudge righteously, and iudge the afflicted and the poore.

23. ¶ Who shall finde a vertuous woman? for her price is farre aboue the pearles.

24. The heart of her husband trusteth in her, and he shall haue no need of spoile.

25. She will doe him good, and not euill all the dayes of her life.

26. She seeketh wooll and flaxe, and laboureth cheerefully with her hands.

27. She is like the ships of merchants: she bringeth her food from afarre.

28. And she riseth whiles it is yet night: and giveth the sportion to her household, and the ordinarie to her maides.

29. Shee considereth a field, and getteth it: and with the fruit of her hands shee planteth a vineyard.

30. Shee girdeth her loynes with strength, and strengtheneth her armes.

31. Shee seetheth that her merchandize is good: her candle is not put out by night.

32. Shee purteth her hands to the wheele, and her hands handle the spindle.

33. She stretcheth out her hand to the poore, and purteth fourth her hands to the needy.

34. Shee seareth not the snow for her family: for all her familie is clothed with fawer.

35. She maketh herselfe carpets: fine linnen and double purple is her garment.

36. Her husband is knowne in the gates, when he sitteth with the Elders of the land.

37. Shee maketh sheets, and selleth them, and ginch girdles vnto the merchant.

38. Strength and honour is her clothing, and in the latter day she shall reioyce.

39. She openeth her mouth with wisdom, and the law of grace is in her tongue.

40. Shee ouerleeth the wayes of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness.

41. Her children rise vp, and call her blessed: her husband also shall praise her, saying,

42. Many daughters haue done vertuously: but thou surpassest them all.

43. Favour is deceitfull, and beauty is vanitie: but a woman that feareth the Lord, shee shall bee praised.

44. Giue her of the fruite of her hands, and let her owne works praise her in the gates.

¶ ECCLESIASTES, OR, THE PREACHER.

THE ARGUMENT.

Salomon, as a Preacher, and one that desired to instruct all in the way of saluation, describeth the deceduous, vanities of this world, that man should not be addicted to any thing vnder the Sunne, but rather inflamed with the desire of the heavenly life: therefore hee consulteth their opinions, which see their felicity, either in knowledge or in pleasures, or in dignity and riches, shewing that mans true felicity consisteth in that that he is united with God, and shall enjoy his presence, so that all other things must be reuicid. Some in as much as they further vs to attaine to this heavenly treasure, which is sure and permanent, and cannot be found in any other, some in God alone.

CHAP. I.

2 All things in this world are full of vanity, and of moine iustitiance. 13 All mans wisdom is but folly and griefe.

THe words of the Preacher, the soone of David king in Ierusalem.

1 Vanitie of vanities, sayth the Preacher: vanitie of vanities, all is vanitie.

2 What remaineth vnto man in all his trauell which hee suffereth vnder the Sunne?

3 One generation passeth, and another generation succeedeth: but the earth remaineth for euer.

4 The sunne riseth, and the sunne goeth downe, and draweth to his place where hee sitteth.

5 The wind goeth to ward the South, and compasseth toward the North: the winde goeth round about, and returneth by his circuits.

6 ¶ All the rivers goe into the sea: yet the sea is not full: for the rivers goe vnto the place whence they returre, and goe.

7 All things are full of labour, man cannot venter: the eye is not satisfied with seeing, nor the eare filled with hearing.

8 ¶ What is it that hath beene? that that shall be: and what is it that hath beene done? that which shall be done: and there is no new thing vnder the Sun.

9 Is there any thing whereof one may say, Behold this, it is new? it hath been already in the old time that was before vs.

10 There is no memory of the former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shall be, with them that shall come after.

11 ¶ I the Preacher haue been King ouer Israel in Ierusalem:

12 And I haue giuen mine heart to searh and finde out wisdom by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this sore trauell hath God giuen to the issues of men to humble them thereby)

13 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the Sunne, and behold, all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

14 That which is crooked, can none make straight: and that which fulleth cannot be numbered.

15 I thought in mine heart, & said, Behold, I am become great, and excell in wisdom all them that haue been before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdom and knowledge.

16 And I gaue mine heart to knowe wisdom and knowledge, madnesse and foolhennesse: I knew also that this is a vexation of the spirit.

17 For in the multitude of wisdom is much griefe: and be that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorrow.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous buildings, riches and possessions are but vanity. 13 The wife and the fool have both one end touching the bodily death.

I said in mine heart, Goe to now, I will prove thee with ioy: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things, and behold, this also is vanity.

3 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of ioy, What is this that thou doest?

Chr.
I saw my life so short.
4 I sought in mine heart to give my selfe to wine, and to leade mine heart in wisdom, and to take holde of folly, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they enjoy vnder the Sonne, the whole number of the daies of their life.

Chr. pa-adises.
5 I have made my great workes: I have built me houses: I have planted me vineyards,

6 I have made me gardens and orchards, and planned in them trees of all fruite.

7 I have made mee cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.

8 I have gotten seruants and maidens, and had children borne in the house: also I had great possession of beeces and sheepe aboue all that were before me in Ierusalem.

9 I have gathered vnto me also siluer and gold, and the chiefe treasures of kings and prouinces: I have provided me mensingers and women singers, and the delights of the sonnes of men, as a woman taken captiue, and women taken captiues.

10 And I was great, and increased aboue all that were before mee in Ierusalem: also my wisdom remained with me.

11 And whatsoever mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withdrew not mine heart from any ioy: for my heart reioiced in all my labour: and this was my portion of all my trauell.

12 Then I looked on all my workes that my hands had wrought, & on the trauell that I had laboured to do: and behold, all is vanity and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the Sun.

Or, compare with the king.
13 ¶ And I turned to behold wisdom & madnes, & folly: (for who is the man that will come after the king, in things which men now haue done?)

14 Then I saw that there is profite in wisdom, more then in folly: as the light is more excellent then darknesse.

Pro. 17.
24.
15 ¶ For the wise mans eyes are in his head, but the foole walketh in darknesse: yet I know also that the same condition falleth to them all.

16 Then I thought in mine heart, It befalleth vnto me, as it befalleth to the foole: why therefore doe I then labour to bee more wise? And I said in mine heart, that this also is vanity.

17 For there shall bee no remembrance of the wise, nor of the foole for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And how dieth the wise man, as doeth the foole?

18 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the Sonne is pricuous vnto mee: for all is vanity and vexation of the spirit.

19 I hated also all my labour wherein I had travelled vnder the Sonne, which I shall leaue to the man that shall be after me.

20 And who knoweth whether he shall bee wise, or foolish? yet shall hee haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue travelled, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe wise vnder the Sonne. This is also vanity.

21 Therefore I went about to make mine heart abhorre all the labour, wherein I had travelled vnder the Sonne.

22 For there is a man whose trauell is in wise-dom, and in knowledge, & in equitie: yet to a man that hath not trauelled herin, shall be giue his portion: this also is vanity and a great griefe.

23 For what hath man of all his trauell and griefe of his heart, wherein hee hath trauelled vnder the Sonne?

24 For all this dayes are sorowes, and his trauell griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night, which also is vanity.

25 There is no profite to man, but that he eat and drink, & delite his soule with the profite of his labor. I saw also this, that it was of the hand of God.

26 For who could eate, and who could haste to outward things more then I?

27 Surely a man that is good in his sight, God giueth wisdom and knowledge, and ioy, but to the finner he giueth paine to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God this is also vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

CHAP. III.

1 All things haue their time. 14 The worke of God are perfect, and cause vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iust and vniust.

TO all things there is an appoynted time, and a time to curre purpose vnder the heauen.

2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that which is planted.

3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.

4 A time to weepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to dance.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.

6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.

7 A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.

8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warre, and a time of peace.

9 What profite hath he that worketh, of the thing wherein he trauaileth?

10 I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them thereby.

11 Hee hath made euery thing beautiful in his time: also hee hath set the world in their heart, yet cannot man find out the worke of God hath wrought from the beginning euen vnto the end.

12 I knowe that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to doe good in his life.

13 And also that euery man eate and drinketh and seeth the commodity of all his labour: This is the gift of God.

14 I know that whatsoever God shall do, it shall be for euer: to it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they should feare before him.

15 What is that that hath bin that is now: and that that shall be now bene: for God requirerh that which is past.

16 And moreover I haue seene vnder the Sonne the place of iudgement, where was wickednes, and the place of iustice, where was iniquity.

17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust, and the wicked: for time is there for euery purpose, and for euery worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men, that God had purged them: yet to see to they are in themselves as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beastes are euen as one condition vnto vnto them. As the one dieth, so dieth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellency of man aboue the beaſt: for all is vanitie.

20 All goe to one place, and all was of the duſt, and all ſhall retaine to the duſt.

21 Who knoweth whether the ſpirit of man aſcend vppward, and the ſpirit of the beaſt deſcend downward to the earth?

22 Therefore I ſee that there is nothing better then that a man ſhould reioyce in his affaires, becauſe that is his portion. For who ſhall bring him to ſee what ſhall be after him?

CHAP. IIII.

1 The innocents are oppreſſed. 4 Mens labours are full of aſh and vanitie. 9 Mans fooliſhneſſe is neceſſary.

13 A young man poore and wiſe is to bee preferred to an old King that is a fool.

SO turned, and conſidered all the oppreſſions that are wrought vnder the Sun, and behold, the teares of the oppreſſed, and none comforteth them: and loe, the ſtrength is of the hand of them that oppreſſe them, and none comforteth them.

3 Wherefore I praized the dead, which now are dead, aboue the liuing which are yet alieue.

3 And I count him better then them both, which hath not yet bin: for he hath not ſeen the euill works which are wrought vnder the Sunne.

4 Also I beheld all trauell, and all perfection of workes, that this is the enuie of a man againſt his neighbours: this alſo is vanitie and vexation of ſpirit.

5 The foolle foldeth his hands, and eateth vp his owne fleſh.

6 Better is an handfull with quietneſſe then two handfulls with labour and vexation of ſpirit.

7 Again I returned, and ſaw vanitie vnder the Sunne.

8 There is one alone, and there is not a ſecond, which hath neither ſonne nor brother, yet is there none end of all his travel, neither can his eye be fatigued with riches: neither ſhall he think, For whom doe I trauell and deſtroy my ſoule of pleaſure? this alſo is vanitie, and this is an euill trauell.

9 Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will liſt vp his fellow: but woe vnto him that is alone: for hee ſtalleth, and there is not a ſecond to liſt him vp.

11 Also if two ſleepe together, then ſhal they haue heat: but to one how ſhould there be heat?

12 And if one overcome him, two ſhall ſtand againſt him: and a threefold coard is not eaſily broken.

13 Better is a poore and wiſe child, then an olde and fooliſh King, which will no more bee admoniſhed.

14 For out of the priſon hee cometh forth to reigne, when as he that is borne in his kingdome, is made poore.

15 I beheld all the lining, which walke vnder the Sunne, with the ſecond child, which ſhall ſtand vp in his place.

16 There is none end of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, ſhall not reioyce in him: ſurely this is alſo vanitie, and vexation of ſpirit.

17 Take heed to thy foot, when thou entreſt into the houſe of God, and bee more ware to heare then to giue the ſacrifice of foolles: for they know not that they doe euill.

CHAP. V.

1 Not to ſpeake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters.

9 The conſcientious man ſhall haue enough. 11 The labourer ſleepe is ſweete. 14 Man when hee dieth is like a ſleeping with him. 18 To ſuſtainiſhly, and wiſe is conſented minde, is the gift of God.

BE not raſh with thy mouth, nor let thine heart be ſwift to vtter a thing before God: for God is in the heauens, and thou art on the earth: therefore let thy words be few:

2 For as a dreame cometh by the multitude of buſineſſe: ſo the voyce of a foolle is in the multitude of words.

3 When thou haſt vowed a vow to God, deſire not to pay it: for hee delighteth not in foolles: 21. pay therefore that thou haſt vowed.

4 It is better that thou ſhouldeſt not vow, then that thou ſhouldeſt vow, and not pay it.

5 Suffer not thy mouth to make thy fleſh to ſin: neither ſay before the Angel, that this is ignorance: wherefore ſhall God be angry by thy voice, and deſtroy the worke of thine hands?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities are alſo many words: but ſeare thou God.

7 If in a country thou ſeeſt the oppreſſion of the poore, and the deſtroying of iudgement and iſtice, be not ſilenced at the matter: for hee that is higher then the higheſt, regardeth, and there hee higher then they.

8 And the abundance of the earth is ouer all: the King alſo conſidereth by the field that is tilled.

9 Hee that longeth ſiluer ſhall not bee ſatiſfied with ſiluer, and hee that longeth riches, ſhall be without the fruit thereof: this alſo is vanitie.

10 When goods increaſe, they are increaſed that eate them, and what good cometh to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The ſleepe of him that tranſaileth is ſweete, whether he eat little or much: but the ſatiety of the rich will not ſuffer him to ſleepe.

12 There is an euill ſickeſſe that I haue ſeene vnder the Sunne: to wit, riches referred to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And the ſerues perſh by euill tranſaile, and hee begetteth a ſonne, and in his hand is nothing.

14 As he came forth of his mothers belly, he ſhall reurne naked to goe as hee came, and ſhall beare away nothing of his labour, which hee hath cauſed to paſſe by his hand. Job. 1. 21. wiſd. 7. 6. 1. sm. 6. 7.

15 And this alſo is an euill ſickeſſe, what in all points as hee came, ſo ſhall hee goe, and what profite hath he, that he hath tranſailed for the winde?

16 Also all his dayes hee eateth in darkeneſſe with much griefe, and in his ſorrow and anger.

17 Behold then what I haue ſeene good, that it is comely to eate, and to drinke, and to take pleaſure in all his labour, wherein hee tranſaileth vnder the Sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to euery man to whom God hath giuen riches and treaſures, and giueth him power to eate thereof, and to take his part, and to enuy his labor: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely he will not much remember the daies of his life, becauſe God anſwereth to the ioy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

The miſerableſt ſtate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vſe them.

THERE is an euill which I ſaw vnder the Sunne, and it is much among men:

2 A man to whom God hath giuen riches, and treaſures, and honour, & hee wanteth nothing for his ſoule foole of all churche desires: but God giueth him ne power to cate thereof, but a strange man that cate it vp: this is vanitie, and this is an euill sicknesse.

3 It a man beget an hundred children, and liue many yeres, and the dayes of his yeres be multiplied, and his soule be not satisfied with good thinge, and he be not buried, I say that an vntimely fruit is better then he.

4 For he cometh into vanitie, and goeth into darkness: and his name shalbe couered with darkness.

5 Also he hath not seene the Sun nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if he had liued a thousand yeres twise told, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the foole: what hath the poore that knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The sight of the eye is better then to walke in the darknes: this also is vanitie, and vexation of spirit.

10 What is that that hath bene the name thereof: it is now named: and it is known that it is man, and hee cannot stryue with him that is stronger then hee.

CHAP. VII.

Divers precepts as followe that which is good, and to auoid the contrary.

Surely there be many things that increase vanitie, and what auilerth it a man?

2 For who knoweth what is good for man in the life, and in the number of the daies of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a shadow? For who can shew vnto man what shalbe after him vnder the Sunne?

3 "A good name is better then a good oymment, and the day of death, then the day that one is borne.

4 It is better to goe to the house of mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting: because this is the end of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise in the house of mourning: but the heart of fooles is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fooles.

8 For like the noise of the thornes vnder the pee, so is the laughter of the foole: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man mad: and the reward destroyeth the heart.

10 The ends of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit is better then the proud in spirit.

11 Be not thou of an hasty spirit: to be angry for anger resteth in the bosome of fooles.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former daies were better then these? for thou dost not enquire wisely of this thing.

13 Wisdome is good with an inheritance, and excellent to them that see the Sunne.

14 For man shall rest in the shadowe of wisdom, and in the shadow of silver: but the excellencie of the knowledge of wisdom giueth life to the possessor thereof.

15 Behold the worke of God: for who can make straight that which he hath made crooked?

16 In the day of wealth be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction consider: God also hath made this contrary to that: to the instruction man should find nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in a iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be not thou iust overmuch, neither make thy selfe ourwise: wherefore shouldst thou bee desolate?

19 Be not thou wicked overmuch: neither bee thou foolish: wherefore shouldst thou perish in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay hold on this: but yet withdraw not thine hand from that: for he that feareth God, shall come forth of them all.

21 Wisdome shall strengthen the wife more then ten mighty princes that are in the citie.

22 Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.

23 Giue not thine heart also to all the wordes that men speake, lest thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For often times also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast cursed others.

25 All this haue I proued by wisdom: I thought, I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may be: and it is a profound deepenesse, whom can find it?

27 I haue compassed about, both I & mine heart to know and to enquire and to search wisdom and reason: and to know the wisdom of the folly, and the foolishnesse of madnesse.

28 And I find more bitter then death: the woman whose heart is as nett and snares, and her hands as bands: he that is good before God, shalbe deliuered from her, but the sinner shalbe taken by her.

29 Behold I haue the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one to find the count.

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I finde it not: I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

31 Onely loe, this haue I found, that God hath made man righteous: but they haue sought many inuentions.

CHAP. VIII.

To obey Princes and Magistraters, 17 The works of God passe mens knowledge.

Who is as the wise man? and who knoweth the interpretation of a thing? the wisdom of a man doeth make his face to shine: and the strength of his face shalbe changed.

1 I aduertise thee to take heede of the mouth of the King, and to the word of the oath of God.

2 Hastenot to goe forth of his sight: stand not in an euill thing: for he will doe whatsoever pleaseth him.

3 Where the word of the king is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What dost thou?

4 He that keepeth the Commandement, shall know none euill thing, and the heart of the wife shall know the time and iudgement.

5 For to currey priuise, there is a time and iudgement, because the miserie of man is great vpon him.

6 For he knoweth not that which shall bee: for who can tell him when it shall be?

7 Man is not lord ouer the spirit: to retaine the spirit: neither hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessor thereof.

8 All this haue I seene, & haue giuen mine heart to euery worke which is wrought vnder the Sunne, and I saw a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne hurt.

10 And likewise I saw the wicked buried, and they returned, and they that came from the holy place, were yet forgotten in the cite where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euil worke is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euil.

12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundred times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I know that it shall be well with them that feare the Lord, and do auerence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadow, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie which is done vpon the earth, that there bee righteous men, to whom it cometh according to the worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whom it cometh according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I praised ioy: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the Sunne, save to eat and to drinke, and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath given him vnder the Sunne.

16 When I applyed mine heart to know wisdom, and to beholde the businesse that is done on earth, that neither day nor night the eyes of man take sleepe, 17 Then I beheld the whole worke of God, that man cannot find out the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne: for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot finde it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to know it, he cannot find it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man know whom God loveth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his end. 16 Wisdom excelleth strength.

I HAVE surely given mine heart to all this, and to I declare all this, that the iust, and the wife, and their workes are in the hand of God; and no man knoweth either love or hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust, and to the wicked, to the good, and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, he that sweareth as he that feareth an oath.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the Sunne, that there is one condition to all, and also the heart of the foones of men is full of euill, and madness is in their hearts while they liue, and after that they goe to the dead.

4 Surely whosoener is ioyned to all the thing, there is hope: for it is better to a liuing dog, then to a dead lion.

5 For the liuing know that they shall die, but the dead know nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 Also their love and their hatred, and their enuie is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer in all that is done vnder the Sunne.

7 Goe, eat thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God now accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments bee white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head,

9 Reioyce with the wife whom thou hast: for hee used all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath given thee vnder the Sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and Chap. 9. in thy trouble wherein thou labourst vnder the 18. Sunne.

10 All that thine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with a strong power: for there is neither worke nor invention, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the grave whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I saw vnder the Sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wife, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding; neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and chance cometh to them all.

12 For neither doth man know his time, as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birds, that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time, when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also seene this wisdom vnder the Sunne, and it is great vnto me:

14 A little cite, and few men in it, and a great King came against it, and compassed it about, and builded forts against it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wise man, and hee deliuered the cite by his wisdom: but none remembered this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisdom then strength: yet the wisdom of the poore is despised, and his words are not heard.

17 The words of the wise are more heard in quietnes, then the cry of him that ruleth among foolkes.

18 Better is wisdom then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The differences of foolishness and wisdom. 12 A slanderer is like a serpent that cannot be charmed. 16 Of foolish kings and drunken princes. 17 And of good kings and princes.

DEAD flies can come to stinke, and putrifie the oymment of the apothecaries: so doeth a little folly him that is in estimation for wisdom, and for glory.

2 The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart faileth, and he telleth vnto all that hee is a foole.

4 If the spirit of him that ruleth rise vp against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentleness pacifieth great sinnes.

5 There is an euill that I haue seene vnder the Sunne, as an error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Folly is set in great excellencie, and the rich set in the low place.

7 I haue seene seruants on horses, and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 He that diggeth a pit shall fall into it, and hee that breaketh the hedge a serpent shall bite him. 16. pro.

9 Hee that removeth stones shall hurt himselfe thereby, and he that cutteth wood shall be in danger thereof. 27.

10 If the yron be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, he must then put to more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing is wisdom.

11 If the serpent bite when hee is not charmed: no better is a babbler.

12 The words of the mouth of a wise man have grace: but the lips of a foole decaure himselfe.

13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishness, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madness.

14 For the fool multiplieth words, saying, Man knoweth not what shall be: and who can tell him what shall be after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doeth weary him: for he knoweth not to goe into the citie.

16 Wo to thee, O land; when thy king is a child, and thy princes eate in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the sonne of Nobles; and thy princes eate in time, for strength and not for drunkenness.

18 By sloothfulness the roofe of the house goeth to decay, and by the idleness of the hands the house droppeth therow.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the living: but silver answereth to all.

20 Curse not the King, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the soule of the heauen shall cary the voice, and that which hath wings shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 To see liberall to the poore. 4 Not to doubt of Gods providence. 8 All worldly prosperitie is but vanity. 9 God will iudge all.

Cast thy bread vpon the waters: for after many dayes thou shalt find it.

2 Giue a portion to seven, and also to eight: for thou knowest not what euill shall be vpon the earth.

3 If the clouds bee full, they will poure forth raie vpon the earth: and if the tree do fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth there it shall be.

4 Hee that obserueth the winde, shall not sow, and he that regardeth the clouds shall not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones doe grow in the wombe of her that is with childe: so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sow thy seed, and in the evening let not thy hand rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or that, or whether both shall be alike good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the Sunne.

8 Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all hereioyce: yet hee shall remember the dayes of darkenesse, because they are many, all that cometh is vanity.

9 Reioyce, O young man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth, and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes, but know, that for all these things God will bring thee to iudgement.

10 Therefore take away griefe out of thine heart, and cast euill to depart from thy flesh: for childhood and youth are vanity.

CHAP. XII.

1 To thinke on God in youth, and not to deferre till age. 7 The soule returneth to God. 11 Wisdom is the gift of God, and conserueth from fearing him, and keeping his commandments.

Remember now thy Creator in the dayes of thy youth, whiles the euill dayes come not, nor the yeeres approach: wherein thou shalt say, I haue no pleasure in them:

2 While the Sunne is not dark, nor the light nor the Moone, nor the starres, nor the cloudes returne after the raine:

3 When the keepers of the house shall tremble, and the strong men shall bow themselves, and the grinders shall cease, because they are few, and they waxe darke that looke out by the windowes:

4 And the doores shall be shut without by the base sound of the grinding, and hee shall rise vp at the voyce of the bird: and all the daughters of singing shall be abaid.

5 Also they shall be afraid of the high thing, and feare shall be in the way, and the almond tree shall flourish, and the grasshopper shall be a burden, and concupiscence shall be drunken awy: for man goeth to the house of his age, and the mourners goe about in the streete.

6 Whiles the silver cord is not lengthened, nor the golden cwe broken, nor the pitcher broken at the well, nor the wheele broken at the cistern:

7 And dust returne to the earth as it was, and the spirit returne to God that gaue it.

8 Vanitie of vanities, saith the Preacher, all is vanitie.

9 And the more wise the Preacher was, the more he taught the people knowledge, and carried them to heare, and searched forth, and prepared many parables.

10 The Preacher sought to finde out pleasant words, and an vpright writing, euen the wordes of truth.

11 The wordes of the wise are like goades, and like nailes fastened by the masters of the assemblies, which are given by one pastor.

12 And of other things besides these, my soune, take thou heede: for there is none end in making many bookes, and much reading is a wearinesse of the flesh.

13 Let vs heare the end of all. Feare God, and keepe his Commandments: for this is the whole durtie of man.

14 For God will bring euery worke vnto iudgement, with euery secret thing, whether it bee good or euill.

AN EXCELLENT SONG WHICH was Salomons.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this song Salomon by most sweet and comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfect loue of Iesus Christ the true Salomon and King of peace, and the faithfull soule or his Church which hee hath sanctified, and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste, and without reprobation. So that here is declared the singular loue of the Bridegrome toward the Bride, and his great and excellent benefits wherewith hee doth enrich her of his pure bounty and grace without any of her deservings. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to be more and more ioyned to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

C H A P. I.

1 The familiar talk and mysticall communication of the puritall loue betweene Iesus Christ and his Church: 2 The diuineall exercises that persecute the Church.

Et him kisse me with the kisses of his mouth: for thy loue is better then wine.

2 Because of the fauour of thy good countenances, thy name is an ointment poured out: therefore the virgins loue thee.

3 Draw mee, we will runne after thee: the king hath brought me into his chambers: wee will reioyce and bee glad in thee: wee will remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous doe loue thee.

4 I am blacke, O daughters of Ierusalem: but comely as the tents of Kedar, and as the curtains of Salomon.

5 Regard ye mee not because I am blacke: for the sunne hath looked vpon me. The founnes of my mother were angry against me: they made mee the keeper of the vines: but I kept not mine owne vine.

6 Shew mee, O thou, whom my soule loueth, where thou feedest, where thou liest at noone: for why should I bee as thee that turneth aside to the flocks of thy companions?

7 If thou know not, O thou the fairest among women, get thee forth by the steps of the flocks, and feed thy kids by the tents of the shepherds.

8 I haue compared thee, O my loue, to the troupe of horses in the charets of Pharaoh.

9 Thy cheekes are comely with rowes of stones, and thy necke with chaires.

10 Wee will make thee borders of golde with ffinds of silver.

11 Whiles the King was at his repast, my spikeard gaue the smell thereof.

12 My welbeloued is as a bundle of myrrhe vnto me: hee shall lye betweene my breasts.

13 My welbeloued is as a cluster of Camphire vnto me in the vines of Engedi.

14 My loue, behold, thou art faire: behold, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doves.

15 My welbeloued, beholde, thou art faire and pleasant: also our bed is Greene.

16 The beames of our house are cedars, our rafters are of firre.

C H A P. II.

3 The Church desireth to rest vnder the shadow of Christ. 4 She heareth his voice. 5 She is compared to the dove, 15 And the myrris to the faxes.

I Am the rose of the fieldes, and the lillie of the valleyes.

2 Like a lillie among the thornes, so is my loue among the daughters.

3 Like the apple tree among the trees of the forest, so is my welbeloued among the founnes of me: vnder his shadow had I delight, and sate downe, and his fruit was sweet vnto my mouth.

4 He brought mee into the wine cellar, and loue was his banner ouer me.

5 Stay me with flagons, and comfort mee with apples: for I am sicke of loue.

6 His left hand is vnder mine head, and his right hand doeth embrace me.

7 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the rees and by the hinders of the field, that yee stir not vp, nor waken my loue, vntill the please.

8 It is the voyce of my welbeloued: beholde, he cometh leaping by the mountaines, and skipping by the hills.

9 My welbeloued is like a roe, or a yong hart:

for, he standeth behind our wall, looking forth of the windows, shewing himselfe through the grates.

10 My welbeloued spake, and said vnto mee, Arise, my loue, my faire one, and come thy way.

11 For behold, winter is past: the raine is changed, and is gone away.

12 The flowers appeare in the earth: the time of the singing of birds is come, and the voyce of the turtle is heard in our land.

13 The fig tree hath brought forth her yong figs, and the vines with their small grapes haue cast a saour: arise, my loue, my faire one, and come away.

14 My dove, that art in the holes of the rocks, in the secret places of the flaines, shew mee thy sight, let me heare thy voyce: for thy voyce is sweet, and thy sight comely.

15 Take vs the foxes, the little foxes, which destroy the vines: for our vines beare small grapes.

16 My welbeloued is mine, and I am his: he feedeth among the lillies.

17 Vntill the day breake, and the shadows flee away: returne, my welbeloued, and be like a roe, or a yong hart vpon the mountains of Bethel.

C H A P. III.

1 The Church desireth to be in unity with Christ her husband. 2 Her desirement out of the will, desireth.

I N my bed by night I sought him that my soule desired: I sought him, but I found him not.

2 I will rise therefore now, and goe about in the citie by the streets, and by the open places, & will seeke him that my soule desireth: I sought him, but I found him not.

3 The watchmen that went about the citie, found mee: to whom I said, Haue ye seene him, whome my soule desireth?

4 When I had past a lorde from them, then I found him whom my soule desired: I tooke hold on him, and left him not, till he had brought him vnto my mothers house, into the chamber of her that conceived me.

5 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the rees and by the hinders of the field, that yee stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill the please.

6 Who is she that cometh vp out of the wilderness like pillars of smoke, perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the spices of the merchant?

7 Behold his bed, which is Salomons: three score strong men are round about it, of the valiant men of Israel.

8 They all handle the sword, and are expert in warre, euerie one hath his sword vpon his thigh for the feare by night.

9 King Salomon made himselfe a palace of Iorchaan, the trees of Lebanon.

10 He made the pillars thereof of silver, & the pavement thereof of gold, the hangings thereof of purple, whose mids was paved with the loue of the daughters of Ierusalem.

11 Come forth ye daughters of Zion, & beholde the King Salomon with the crowne, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his marriage, and in the day of the gladnesse of his heart.

C H A P. IIII.

1 The praises of the Church. 2 She is wishfull to be in his sight. 3 The loue of Christ towards her.

Behold, thou art faire, my loue: beholde, thou art faire: thine eyes are like the doves: among thy lockes thine haire is like the flocks of goats, & thy face is like the mountaine of Gilead.

3. Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe in good order, which goe vp from the washing: which euerie one bring out twine, and none is barren among them.

4. Thy lips are like a threed of scarlet, and thy talke is comely: thy temples are within thy lockes as a peece of a pomegranate.

5. Thy necke is as the tower of David built for defence: a thousand shields hang therein, and all the targets of the strong men.

6. Thy two breasts are as two young roes that are twineced among the lilies.

7. Vntill the day brake, and the shadowes flee away: I will goe into the mountaine of myrrhe, and to the mountaine of incense.

8. Thou art all faire, my loue, and there is no spot in thee.

9. Come with mee from Lebanon, my spouse, and see with mee from Lebanon, and looke from the top of Amana, from the toppe of Shenir and Hermon, from the dens of the lions, and from the mountaines of the leopards.

10. My sister, my spouse, thou hast wounded mine heart, thou hast wounded mine heart with one of thine eyes, and with a chaine of thy necke.

11. My sister, my spouse, how faire is thy loue! how much better is thy loue then wine, and the favour of thine ointment is then all spices!

12. Thy lips, my spouse, drop as hony combs: hony and milke are vnder thy tongue, and the favour of thy garments is as the favour of Lebanon.

13. My sister, my spouse, thou art as a garden inclosed, as a spring shut vp, and a fontaine sealed vp.

14. Thy plants are as an orchard of pomegranates with sweet fruits as camphire, spikenard,

15. As saffron, calamus, and cinnamon, with all the trees of incense, myrrhe, and aloes, with all the chiefe spices.

16. O fontaine of the gardens, O well of liuing waters, and the springs of Lebanon.

17. Arise, O North, and come, O South, and blow in my garden, that the spices thereof may flow out: let my welbeloued come to his garden, and eat his pleasant fruit.

C H A P. V.

1. Christ calleth his Church to the participation of all his treasures. 2. Shee heareth his voice. 3. Shee confesseth her nakednesse. 4. Shee praisth Christ her husband.

I Am come into my garden, my sister, my spouse: I gathered my myrrhe with my spice: I ate mine honycombe with mine hony. I dranke my wine with my milke: eate, O friends, drinke, and make you merrie, O welbeloued.

2. I sleepe, but mine heart waketh: it is my voice of my welbeloued that knocketh, saying, Open vnto mee, my sister, my loue, my dowe, my vndefiled: for my head is full of dew, and my lockes with the drops of the night.

3. I haue put off my coate, how shall I put it on? I haue washed my feet, how shall I defile them?

4. My welbeloued put in his hand by the hole of the doore, and my heart was affectioned towards him.

5. I rose vp to open to my welbeloued, and mine hands did drop downe myrrhe, and my fingers pure myrrhe vpon the handles of the barre.

6. I opened to my welbeloued, but my welbeloued was gone and past: mine heart was gone when he did speake: I sought him, but I could not finde him: I called him, but he answered me not.

7. The watchmen that went about the city, found me: they smote me, and wounded mee: the watchmen of the walles tooke away the waile from mee.

8. I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, if you finde my welbeloued, that you tell him that I am sicke of loue.

9. O the fairest among women, what is thy welbeloued more then or her welbeloued? what is thy welbeloued more then another louer, that thou dost so charge vs?

10. My welbeloued is white and ruddy, the chieftest of ten thousand.

11. His head is as fine gold, his lockes curled, and blacke as a rauen.

12. His eyes are like doves vpon the riues of waters, which are washit with milke, and remaine by the full vessels.

13. His cheeks are as a bed of spices, and as sweete flowers, and his lips like lilies dropping downe pure myrrhe.

14. His hands are rings of gold, set with the chrysolite, his belly like white yvory covered with sapphires.

15. His legs are as pillars of marble, set vpon sockets of fine gold: his countenance as Lebanon, excellent as the cedars.

16. His mouth is as sweete things, and he is wholly delectable: this is my welbeloued, and this is my louer, O daughters of Ierusalem!

17. O the fairest among women, whether is thy welbeloued gone? whether is thy welbeloued turned aside, that we may seeke him with thee?

C H A P. VI.

1. The Church affirmeth herselfe of the loue of Christ. 2. The praises of the Church. 3. Shee is but one and vndefiled.

MY welbeloued is gone downe into his garden to the beds of spices, to seede in the gardens, and to gather lilies.

2. I am my welbeloued, and my welbeloued is mine: who seeth downe into the lilies.

3. Thou art beautifull my loue as Tirzah, comely as Ierusalem, terrible as an army with banners.

4. Turne away thine eyes from mee: for they ouercome me: thine haire is like a flocke of goates, which looke downe from Gilead.

5. Thy teeth are like a flocke of sheepe, which goe vp from the washing, which euerie one bring out twine, and none is barren among them.

6. Thy temples are within thy lockes as a peece of a pomegranate.

7. There are threescore Queenes and fourscore concubines, and of the damosels without number.

8. But my dowe is alone, and my vndefiled, shee is the onely daughter of her mother, and shee is deare to her that bare her: the daughters haue despised her, and counted her blessed: euen the Queenes and the concubines, and they haue praised her.

9. Who is shee that looketh forth as the morning, faire as the moone, pure as the sunne, terrible as an armie with banners!

10. I went downe to the garden of nuts to see the fruits of the valley, to see if the vine budded, and if the pomegranates flourished.

11. I knew nothing, my soule set me as the charrets of my noble people.

12. Returne, returne, O Shulamite, returne: returne that we may bekolde thee. What shal you see in the Shulamite, but as the company of an armie?

ISAIAH.

THE ARGVMENT.

GOD, according to his promise, Deut. 18. 15. that he would raise up from his Church a Prophet, that from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not only to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall revelation, but also to interpret and declare the Lawe, and to apply particularly the doctrine contained briefly therein to the vtilitie and profit of those, to whom they thought it chiefly to appertaine, and at the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Lawe they had respect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine: First, to the doctrine contained briefly in the two Tables: Secondly, to the promises and threatnings of the Lawe: And thirdly, to the covenant of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Saviour Jesus Christ, who is the end of the Lawe. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gave them understanding of things, they applied the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church, and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same, not for any care or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safety by the destruction of their enemies. And as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clearly mirrored in them Moses, and set forth more lively Jesus Christ, in whom this covenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to set forth the same, with most vehement admonitions, reproofs, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he saw that the disease of the people required. Hee declared also many notable prophetes which he had receiued of God, as touch the promise of the Messiah, his office and kingdom. Also of the favour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their union with the Lawe: Which are at most, nine pall points considered in this booke, and a gathering of his sermons that hee preached. Which after certaintie daies that they had stood vpon the Temple dore (for the maner of the Prophecie was set up the summe of their doctrine for certaintie sake, that the people might the better memorie it, as Isa. 8. 1. and Hab. 3. 2. the Priests took it downe, and referred it among their registers, and so by Gods promouement these booke were preferred as a monument to the Church for ever. As touching his person and time, he was of the kings stocke (for Amos his father was brother to Achaz king of Iudah, as the best writers agree) and prophesied more then sixty yeres, from the time of Achaz, vnto the reigne of Manasse, whose father in law he was (as the Hierewes write) and of whom he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophecie, this one thing among other is to be obserued, That they speake of things to come as though they were now past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they could not but come to passe, because God had ordeined them in his secret counsell, and for euailed them to his Prophecie.

CHAP. 1.

1 Isaiah reprooueth the Iewes of their ingratitude and stubbornesse, that neither for benefitts, nor punishments, would amend. 2 He sheweth why their sacrifices are reuelled, and wherein Gods true seruice standeth. 3 He prophesieth of the destruction of Ierusalem, 27 and of the restitution thereof.

Vision of Isaiah the sonne of Amoz, which hee saw concerning Iudah and Ierusalem, in the dayes of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Iudah.

1 Hearre, O heaens, and hearken, O earth, for the Lord hath saide, I haue nourished and brought vp children, but they haue rebelled against me.

2 The ox knoweth his owner, and the asse his maiters crib: but Israel hath not knowne: my people hath not vnderstood.

3 Ah sinful nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a feede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forsaken the Lord: they haue prouoked the Holy one of Israel to anger: they are gone backward.

4 Wherefore should yee be smitten any more? for ye fall away more and more: the whole heade is sickte, and the whole heart is heauie.

5 From the sole of the foote vnto the head, there is nothing whole therein, but woundes, and swelling, and sores full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, nor bound vp, nor mollified with oile.

6 Your lande is waste: your cities are burnt with fire: strangers deuour your land in your presence, and it is desolate like the ouerthrow of strangers.

7 And the daughter of Zion shall remaine like a cottage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, and like a besieged citie.

8 Except the Lord of hostes had referred vnto vs euen a small remnant, we should haue bene as Sodom, and should haue bin like vnto Gomorah.

9 Hearre the word of the Lord, O princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the law of our God, O people of Gomorah.

10 What haue I to doe with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith the Lord? I am ful of the burnt offerings of rams and of the fat of fed beasts: and I desire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambs, nor of goates.

11 When yee come to appeare before mee, who required this of your handes to treade in my courts?

12 Bring no more oblations in vaine: incense is an abomination vnto mee: I cannot suffer your new Moones, nor Sabbaths, nor solemne dayes (it is iniquitie) nor solemne assemblies.

13 My soule hateth your new moones, and your appointed feastes: they are a burden vnto me: I am wearied to beare them.

14 And when you shall stretch out your handes, I will hide mine eyes from you, and though you make many prayers, I will not heare: for your handes are full of blood.

15 Wash you, make you cleane: take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes: cease to do euill.

16 Learn to doe well, seeke iudgement, relieue the oppressed: iudgethe fatherlesse, and defend the widow.

17 Come now, and let vs reason together, saith the Lord: though your sinnes were as crimson, they shall be made white as snow: though they were red like scarlet, they shall be as wooll.

18 If ye consent and obey, ye shall eat the good things of the land.

19 But if ye refuse & be rebellious, ye shall be deuoured with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

20 How is the faithfull citie become an harlot? it was full of iudgement, and iustice lodged therein, but now they are murderers.

21 Thy siluer is become drossie: thy wine is mixt with water.

22 Thy princes are rebellious, and companions of thieves: every one loatheth gifts, and followeth after rewards: they iudge not the fatherlesse, neither doth the widowes cause come before them.

23 Therefore saith the Lord God of hostes the mightie one of Israel, Ah, I will ease me of mine aduersariats, and auenge me of mine enemies.

24 Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy drossie, til it be pure, and take away all thy tinne.

25 And I will restore thy iudges, as at the first, and thy counsellors as at the beginning: afterward shalt thou be called a citie of rightcounesse, and a faithfull citie.

26 Zion shall be redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in iustice.

27 And the destruction of the transgressours, and of the sinners shall be together, and they that forsake the Lord shall be consumed.

28 For they shall bee condemned for the okes which ye haue desired, and ye shall be ashamed of the gardens that ye haue chosen.

29 For ye shall be as an oke, whose leafe fadedh and as a garden that hath no water.

30 And the strong shall be as tow, and the maker thereof as a sparke: and they that both burne together, and none shall quench them.

CHAP. II.

1 The Church shall be restored by Christ, and the Gentiles called. 6 The punishments of the rebellious and obstinate.

The word that Isaiah the sonne of Amoz saw vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

1 * It shall be in the last dayes, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and shall bee exalted above the hills, and all nations shall flow vnto it. Michah. 4.

2 And many people shall goe and say, Come, and let vs goe vp to the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iakob, and he will teach as his waies, and we will walke in his paths: * for the law shall goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem: Michah. 4.

And her shall iudge among the nations and rebuke many people: they shall breake their swords also into mattoches, and their speares into fitches: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more.

5 O house of Isaiah, come ye, and let vs walke in the light of the Lord.

6 Surely thou hast forsaken thy people, the house of Isaiah, because they are full of the East manners, and are forcerers as the Philistims, and abandoned with strange children.

7 Their land also was full of silver and gold, and there was none ende of their treasures: and their land was full of horses, and their charrets were infinite.

8 Their land also was full of idoles: they worshipped the worke of their owne handes, which their owne fingers haue made.

9 And a man bowed himselfe, and a man humbled himselfe, therefore spare them not.

10 Enter into the rocke, and hide thee in the dust from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his Maiestie.

11 The hie looke of man shall be humbled, and the loftinesse of men shall be abased, and the Lord onely shall be exalted in that day.

12 For the day of the Lord of hostes is vpon all the proude and haucie, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shall be made low.

13 Euen vpon all the cedars of Lebanon that are hie, and exalted, and vpon all the okes of Bashan, 14 And vpon all the hie mountaines, and vpon all the hils that are lifted vp.

15 And vpon euery hie tower, and vpon euery strong wall,

16 And vpon all the snips of Tarsish, and vpon all pleasant pictures.

17 And the haucie of men shall bee brought low, and the loftinesse of men shall bee abased, and the Lord shall onely be exalted in that day.

18 And the idoles will he vterly destroy.

19 Then they shall goe into the holes of the rocks, and into the caves of the earth from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his Maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.

20 At that day shall man cast away his silver idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made themselves to worship them) to the mowles, and to the backes, 21 To goe into the holes of the rocks, and into the tops of the ragged rocks from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his Maiestie, when he shall rise to destroy the earth.

22 Cease you from the man whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherein is he to be esteemed?

CHAP. III.

1 For the sinne of the people God will take away the wise men, and give them foolish princes. 14 The comeliness of the gournours. 16 The pride of the women.

For loe, the Lord God of hostes will take away from Ierusalem and from Iudah the stay and the strength, euen all the stay of bread, and all the stay of water.

2 The strong man, and the man of warre, the Iudge, and the Prophet, the prudent and the aged,

3 The captain of fiftie, and the honourable, and the counsellor, and the cunning artificer, and the eloquent man.

4 And I will appoint children to bee their princes, and babes shall rule over them.

5 The people shall be oppressed one of another and euery one by his neighbour, the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vili against the honourable.

6 When euery one shall take hold of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast clothing: thou shalt be our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand:

7 In that day he shall sweare, saying, I cannot be an helper, for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of 5 people.

8 Doubtlesse Ierusalem is fallen, and Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue and workes are against the Lord, to provoke the eyes of his glory.

9 The triall of their countenance testifieth against them, yea, they declare their finnes as Sodom, they hide them not. Wo be vnto their foules: for they haue rewarded euill vnto themselves, 10 Say yee, Surely it shall be well with the iusts for they shall eate the fruite of their workes.

11 Wo be to the wicked, it shall be euill with him: for the reward of his hands shall be giuen him.

12 Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: O my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths.

13 The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, he standeth to iudge the people.

14 The Lord shall enter into indgement, with the ancients of his people, and the princes thereof: for ye haue eaten vp the vineyard: the spoile of the poore is in your houses.

15 What haue ye to doe, that ye beare my people to pieces, and grind the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hosts?

16 The Lord also saith, Because the daughters of Zion are haucie, and walke with stretched out necks, and with wandring eyes, walking and mincing as they goe, and making a tinkling with their teete,

17 Therefore shall the Lord make the heads of the daughters of Zion bald, and the Lord shall discover their secret parts

18 In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers, and the caules, and the round tires, 19 The sweete balles, and the bracelets, and the bonets.

20 The tires of the head, and the slops, and the headbands, and the tablets, and the eare-rings,

21 The rings, and the mufflers,

22 The costly apparell, and the vailles, and the wimples, and the crisping pinnes,

23 And the glasses, and the sunne lianen, and the hoods, and the lawnes.

24 And in stead of sweete saueur, there shall bee stinke, and in stead of a girdle, a rent, and in stead of dressing of the haire, baldnesse, and in stead of a stomacher, a girding of sackcloth, and burning in stead of beauty.

25 Thy men shall fall by the sword, and thy strength in the battell.

26 Then shall her gates mourne and lament, and she being desolate, shall sit vpon the ground.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The small remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The graces of God vpon them that remaine.

And in that day shall euen women take hold of one man, saying, We will eat our owne bread, and we will weare our owne garments: onely let vs be called by thy name, and take away our reproch.

3 In that day shall the bud of the Lord be beautiful titull and glorious, and the fruit of the earth shall be excellent and pleasure for them that are escaped of Israel.

3 There he that shall be left in Zion, and he that shall remaine in Ierusalem, shall be called holy, and every one shall bee written among the liuing in Ierusalem.

4 When the Lord shall wash the filthinesse of the daughters of Zion: and purge the blood of Ierusalem out of the mids thereof by the spirit of iudgement, and by the spirit of burning.

5 And the Lord shall create vpon euery place of mount Zion, & vpon the assemblies therof a cloude and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night: for vpon all the glory shall be a defence.

6 And a couering shall bee for a shadow in the day for the heate, and a place of refuge and a covert for the storme and for the raine.

C H A P. V.

1 Vnder the similitude of the vine hee describeth the state of the people. 2 Of their auarice. 3 Their drunkennesse. 4 Of their captiuitie.

NOW will I sing to my beloued, a song of my beloued to his vineyard, * My beloued had a vineyard in a very fruitfull hill.

2 And he hedged it, and gathered out the stones of it, and he planted it with the best plants, and hee built a tower in the mids thereof, and made a wine-press therein: then he looked that it should bring forth grapes, but it brought forth wild grapes.

3 Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem and men of Iudah, iudge, I pray you, betwene me and my vineyard.

4 What coulde I haue done any more to my vineyard, that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wilde grapes?

5 And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe:

6 And I will lay it waste: it shall not bee cut, nor digged: but briars and thornes shall grow vp: I will also command the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

7 Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Iudah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for iudgement, but behold oppression: for righteousnes, but behold a crying.

8 ¶ Woe vnto them that ioyne house to house, and lay field to field, till there be no place, that yee may be placed by your selues in the middes of the earth.

9 This is in mine eares, sayth the Lord of hosts: Surely many houses shall be desolate, even great and faire without inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vines shall yeelde one bath, and the seed of an homer shall yeeld an ephah.

11 ¶ Woe vnto them that rise vp early to follow drunkennesse, and to them that continue vntill night, till the wine doe inflame them.

12 And the harpe and viole, timbrell and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

13 Therefore my people is gone into captiuitie, because they had no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

14 Therefore heell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth without measure, and their glory, and their multitude, and their pompe, and he that reioyeth among them, shall descend into it.

15 And man shall be brought downe, and man shall be humbled, even the eyes of the proud shall be humbled.

16 And the Lord of hosts shall be exalted in iudgement, and the holy God shall be sanctified in iustice.

17 Then shall the lambs feede after their manner, and the strangers shall eate the desolate places of the fat.

18 ¶ Woe vnto them that draw iniquitie with cords of vanitie, and sinne as with cartropes:

19 Which say, Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke that wee may see it, and let the counsell of the holy One of Israel draw neere, and come, that wee may know it.

20 Woe vnto them that speake good of euill, and euill of good, which put darkenesse for light, and light for darkenesse, that put bitter for sweeter, and sweet for sower.

21 Woe vnto them that are wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Woe vnto them that are mightie to drinke wine, & to them that are strong to power in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie the wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousnesse of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire denouereth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame: so their root shall be as rottennesse, and their budde shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Law of the Lord of hosts, and contemned the word of the holy One of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, & he hath stretched out his hand vpon them, & hath smitten them that the mountains did tremble: and their carkeiles were torne in the mids of the streets: & for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And hee will lift vp a signe vnto the nations afear, and will hisse vnto them from the end of the earth: & behold, they shall come hastily with speed.

27 None shall faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loines be loosed, nor the latchet of his shoes be broken:

28 Whose arrows shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hooves shall be thought like flint, and his wheelles like a whirlewinde.

29 His roaring shall be like a lion, and hee shall roare like lions whelpes: they shall roare, and lay hold of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them, as the roaring of the sea: and if they looke vnto the earth, behold darkenesse: and forow, and the light shall be darkened in their skie.

C H A P. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his uocation by the vision of the diuine Maiesie. 2 He sheweth the obliuion of the people. 3 The destruction of the land. 4 The remnant reserved.

I N the yere of the death of king Vzziah, I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower parts thereof filled the Temple.

2 The Seraphims stood vpon it, euery one had sixe wings, with twaine hee couered his face, and with twaine hee couered his feete, and with twaine hee did flie.

3 And one cryed to another, and said, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hosts: the whole world is full of his glory.

4 And the listels of the doore cheeks moued at the voyce of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said, Woe is me for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the mids of a people of polluted lippes: for mine eyes haue seene the King, and Lord of hosts.

6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote coale in his hand, which he had taken from the altar with the tongs.

7 And he touched my mouth, and said, Loe, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquity shall be taken away, and thy sinne shall be purged.

8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lorde, saying, Whom shall I send? and who shall go for vs? Then I said, Here am I, send me.

9 And he said, Goe, and say vnto this people, Ye shall heare indeed, but ye shall not vnderstand: yee shall plainly see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heavy, and shut their eyes, least they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert and he heale them.

11 Then said I, Lorde, how long? And hee answered, Vntill the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be utterly desolate, 12 And the Lorde haue remooued men farre away, and there bee a great desolation in the mids of the land.

13 But yet in it shall be a tenth, and shall returne, and shall be eaten vp as an elme, or as an oke, which haue a substance in them whē they cast their leaues: so the holy seed shall be the substance thereof.

CHAP. VII.

1 Jerusalem is besieged. 4 Iſaiah comforteth the king
14 Christ is promised.

And in the dayes of Ahaz the sonne of Iotham, the sonne of Vzziah King of Iudah, Rezin the king of Aram came vp, and Pekah the son of Remaliah King of Israel, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but he could not ouercome it:

2 And it was told the house of David, saying, Aram is ioyned with Ephraim: therefore his heart was moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the wind.

3 ¶ Then said the Lorde vnto Iſaiah, Goe forth now to meet Ahaz (thou and Shear-iashub thy son) at the end of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field,

4 And say vnto him, Take heed, & be still: feare not, neither bee faint hearted for the two tayles of these smoking firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin, and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne:

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsell against thee, & Ephraim, and Remaliahs son, saying, 6 Let vs goe vp against Iudah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and set a King in the midd thereof, even the sonne of Tabeal.

7 Thus sayth the Lorde God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be.

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within yere three score yere Ephraim shall be destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If yee beleue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 ¶ And the Lorde spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske a signe for thee of the Lorde thy God: aske it either in the depth beneath, or in the height above.

12 But Ahaz sayd, I will not aske, neither will I tempt the Lorde.

13 Then he said, Heare ye now, O house of David, is it a small thing for you to grieve me, but ye will also grieve my God?

14 Therefore the Lorde himselfe will giue you a signe, Behold, the Virgin shall conceive and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name Immanuel.

15 Butter & hony shall he eat, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, and to chuse the good.

16 For afore the childe shall haue knowledge to eschew the euill, and to chuse the good, the land that thou abhorrest, shall bee forsaken of both her Kings.

17 The Lorde shall bring vpon thee and vpon thy people, & vpon thy fathers house (the daies that haue not come from the day that Ephraim departed from Iudah) men the King of Ashur.

18 And in that day shall the Lorde hiſſe for the ſie that is at the vtermoſt part of the floods of Egypt, and for the Bee which is in the land of Asthur.

19 And they shall come, and shall light all in the desolate valleyes, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thornie places, and vpon all bushy places.

20 In that day shall the Lorde shone with a raser that is hired, euen by them beyond the riuer, by the King of Asthur, the head, and the haire of the feet, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shall a man nourish a yong cow, and two sheepe.

22 And for the abundance of milke that they shall giue, he shall eate butter: for butter and hony shall eury one eat, which is left within the land.

23 And at the same day eury place, wherein shall be a thousand vines, shall be at a thousand pieces of siluer: so it shall bee for the briars and for the thornes.

24 With arrows and with bow shall one come thither: because all the land shall bee briars and thornes.

25 But on all the mountaines which shall be digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of briars and thornes: but they shall be for the sending out of bullocks, and for the treading of sheepe.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The captivity of Iſrael and Iudah by the Affirians. 6 The infidelity of the Jews. 9 The destruction of the Affirians. 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The word of God must be inquired at.

Moreover, the Lorde sayd vnto me, Take thee a great roll, and write it with a mans pen, Make speed to the spoile: haste to the pray.

2 Then I tooke vnto mee faithfull wimesses to record, Vzziah the Priest, and Zechariah the sonne of Ieberechiah.

3 After I came vnto the Prophetesse, which conceived and bare a sonne. Then said the Lorde to me, Call his name Maher-shalal-baz.

4 For before the childe shall haue knowledge to cry, My father, and my mother, he shall take away the riches of Damascus, and the spoyle of Samaria before the king of Asthur.

5 ¶ And the Lorde spake yet againe vnto mee, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters

[Or, God with us which name can agree to our, but so him that is both God and man.]

King. 16.5. 17. Syria

[Or, make speed to the spoile: haste to the pray.]

of Shiloh that run softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah.

7 Now therefore behold, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of the river mighty & great, caw the king of Ashtar, with all his glory, and hee shall come vp vpon all their rivers, and got ouer all their banks.

8 And shal breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflow and passe through, & shal come vp to the necke, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the bredth of thy land, O Immanuel.

9 Gather together on heaps, O ye people, and ye shalbe broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys. Gird your selues, and you shalbe broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shalbe brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shal it not stand: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lord spake thus to mee in taking of mine hand and taught me that I should not walk in the way of this people, saying, 12 Say ye not, A confederacy to all them, to who this people saith, A confederacy, neither feare you their feare, nor be afraid of them.

13 Sanctifie the Lord of hosts, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread, 14 And he shalbe as a Sanctuary: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare, and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

15 And many among them shall stumble, and shall fall, and shall be broken, and shalbe feared, and shalbe taken.

16 Binde vp the testimony: seale vp the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I will wait vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Iakob, and I will looke for him.

18 Behold, I & the children whom the Lord hath giuen me, are as signes & as wonders in Israel, by the Lord of hosts, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 And when they shall say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the soothsayers, which whisper and murmur, Should not a prophet enquire at their God? from the living to the dead?

20 To the law, and to the testimony, if they speak not according to this word: it is because there is no light in them.

21 Then he that is afflicted and famished, shall goe to and fro in it: and when he shalbe hungry, he shall euen fret himselfe, and curse his king, and his gods, and shall looke vppward.

22 And when he shall looke to the earth, behold trouble, and darknesse, vexation, and anguish, and he is driuen to darknesse.

CHAP. IX.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles. 6 A prophetic of Christ. 14 The destruction of the ten tribes for their pride and contempt of God.

YET the darknes shall not be according to the fiction, that it had when at the first he touched lightly the land of Zebulun, and the land of Naphthali, nor afterward when hee was more grievous by the way of the sea beyond Iorden in Galilee of the Gentiles.

2 The people that walked in darkenesse, haue seene a great light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadow of death, vpon them hath the light shined.

3 Thou hast multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in harvest, and as men reioyce when they diuide a spoyle.

4 For the yoke of their burden, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken, as in the day of Midian.

5 Surely euery battell of the warrior is with noise, and with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shalbe with burning, and deuouring of fire.

6 For vnto vs a Child is borne, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the poornement is vpon his shoulder, and hee shall call his Name, Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of peace.

7 The increase of his government and peace shal haue none end: he shal sit vpon the throne of Dauid and vpon his kingdome to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice, from henceforth, euen for euer: the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this.

8 ¶ The Lord hath sent a word into Iakob, and it hath lighted vpon Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart,

10 The bricke are fallen, but wee will build it with hewen stones: the wild figge trees are cut down, but wee will change them into cedars.

11 Neuertheles, the Lord will raise vp the aduersaries of Rezin against him, and ioyne his enemies together.

12 Aram before, and the Philistims behind, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither doe they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore will the Lord cut off from Israel head and taile, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, hee is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, hee is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured.

17 Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their young men, neither will he haue compassion of their fatherlesse & of their widowes: for every one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh folly: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednes burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the briars & the thorns, and will kinde in the thick places of the forest, and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hostes, shall the land be darkened, and the people shalbe as the meat of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungry: and he shall eat on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eat the flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh Ephraim, and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shal be against Iudah: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

1 Of wicked lawbreakers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians, and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shalbe saved.

WO vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and write grievous things, 8 To keepe backe the power from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowers may be their gay, and that they may spoile the fatherlesse.

9 What will ye do now in the day of visitation, and of destruction which shall come from Iure? to whom will ye flee for helpe? and where will ye leane your glory?

10 Whom ye every one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall down among the flaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

11 O Ashtar, the rod of my wrath: & the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

12 I will send him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle, and to take the pray, & to treade them vnder feet like the mire in the streete.

13 But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but he imagineth to destroy, and to cut off not a few nations.

14 For hee saith, Are not my princes altogether Kings?

15 Is not Calno as Carhemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

16 Like as mine hand hath found the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were about Ierusalem, and about Samaria.

17 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem, and to the idoles thereof?

18 But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visit the fruit of the prond heart of the King of Ashtar, and his glorious and proud lookes.

19 Because he said, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: there I haue remooued the borders of the people, and haue spoiled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

20 And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth eggs that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing, or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

21 Shall the axe boast it selfe against him that heweth therewith, or shall the saw exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rod should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as it were no wood.

22 Therefore shall the Lord God of hosts send among his fat men leanness, and vnder his glory he shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

23 And the light of Israel shall be as a fire, and the holy One thereof as a flame, and it shall burne and deuoure his thornes and his briars in one day.

24 And shall consume the glory of his forest and of his fruitfull fields both soule and flesh: and hee shall be as the fainting of a standard bearer.

25 And the rest of the trees of the forest shall be few, that a child may tell them.

26 And at that day shall the remnant of Israel and such as are escaped of the house of Iacob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall stay vpon the Lord, the holy One of Israel in truth.

27 The remnant shall returne, even the remnant of Iacob vnto the mighty God.

28 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the sand of the sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption decreed shall ouerflow with righteousness.

29 For the Lord God of hosts shall make the consumption, even determined, in the mids of all the land.

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, O my people that dwellest in Zion, bee not afraid of Ashtar: he shall smite thee with a rod and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the manner of Egypt.

31 But yet a very little time, and the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

32 And the Lord of hosts shall raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Oreb, and as his staffe was vpon the sea, so he will lift it vp after the manner of Egypt.

33 And at that day shall his burthen be taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shall be destroyed, because of the annoyning.

34 He is come to Aiath: he is passed into Migron: at Michmash shall he lay vp his armour.

35 They haue gone ouer the fount: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is alraid: Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

36 Lift vp thy voyce, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare, O poore Anathoth.

37 Madmenah is remooued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselves together.

38 Yet there is a time that hee will stay at Nob: hee shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.

39 Behold, the Lord God of hosts shall cut off the bough with seare, and they of his stature shall be cut off, and the hie shall be humbled.

40 And hee shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mighty fall.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ borne of the roote of Ishai. 2 His vertues and kingdom. 6 The fruites of the Gospell. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

But there shall come a rod fourth of the stocke of Ishai, and a graspe shall grow out of his roots.

2 And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the spirit of wilddome and vnderstanding, the spirit of counsell and strength, the spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord.

3 And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for he shall not iudge after y sight of his eyes, neither reprove by the hearing of his eares.

4 But with righteousness shall he iudge the poore, and with equitie shall he reprove for the mecke of the earth: and he shall smite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall he slay the wicked.

5 And iustice shall bee the girdle of his loynes, and faithfullnesse the girdle of his reines.

6 The woollfe also shall dwell with the lambe, and the leopard shall lie with the kid, and the calfe, and the lion and the fat beaust together, and a little child shall leade them.

7 And the cow and the beare shall feed: their young ones shall lie together: and the lion shall eat straw like the bullocke.

8 And the sucking child shall play vpon the hole of the aspe, and the weaned child shall put his hand vpon the cockatrice hole.

9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mountain of mine holinesse, for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters that couer the sea.

10 And in that day the roote of Ishai, which shall stand vp for a signe vnto the people, the nations shall shall seeke vnto it, and his rest shall be glorious.

Ec shall

11 And in the same day shall the Lord stretch out his hand againe the second time to possesse the remnant of his people (which shall be left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinar, and of Hamath, and of the yles of the sea.

12 And he shall set vp a signe to the nations, and assemble the dispersed of Israel, and gather the scattered of Iudah from the four corners of the world.

13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Iudah shall be cut off: Ephraim shall not enuy Iudah, neither shall Iudah vex Ephraim:

14 But they shall see vpon the shoulders of the Philistims toward the West: they shall spoyle them of the East together, Edom and Moab shall be the stretching out of their hands, and the children of Ammon in their obedience.

15 The Lord also shall utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mighty wind shall lift vp his hand ouer the riuier, and shall smite him in his seuen streames, and cause men to walke therein with shoes.

16 And there shall be a path to the remnant of his people which are left of Asshur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A thanksgiving of the faithfull for the mercies of God.

And thou shalt say in that day, O Lord, I will praise thee, though thou wast angry with mee, thy wrath is turned away and thou comfortest me.

Behold, God is my saluation, I will trust, and will not feare: for the Lord God is my strength and p^{sal}. 118. song. he also is become my saluation.

14. Therefore with ioy shall yee draw waters out of the wells of saluation.

1 Chron. 10. 8. And yehoi^{as}ai say in that day, * Praise the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his works among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted.

5 Sing vnto the Lord, for he hath done excellent things: this is known in all the world.

6 Cry out and shout. O inhabitant of Zion: for great is the holy One of Israel in the mids of thee.

CHAP. XIII.

The Medes and Persians shall destroy Babylon.

The burden of Babel, which Isaiah the sonne of Amos did see.

1 Lift vp a standard vpon the high mountaine: lift vp the voice vnto them: wag the hand: that they may goe into the gates of the nobles.

3 I haue communed them that I haue sanctified: and I haue called the mighty to my wrath, and them that reioice in my glory.

4 The voice of a multitude is in the mountaines like a great people: a tumultuous voice of the kingdomes of the nations gathered together: the Lord of hosts numbeth the hosts of the battell.

5 They come from a farre country, from the end of the heauen: cum the Lord with the weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land.

6 Howle you, for the day of the Lord is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almighty.

7 Therefore shall all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt.

8 And they shall be afraid: anguish and sorrow shall take them, and they shall haue paine as a woman that trauelleth: euery one shall be amazed as his neighbour, and their faces shall be like flames of fire.

9 Behold, the day of the Lord cometh, eruell, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land waste, and he shall destroy the sinners out of it.

10 For the stars of heauen, and the planets thereof shall not giue their light: the Sonne shall be darkened in his going forth, and the moone shall not cause her light to shine.

11 And I will visit the wickednes vpon the world, and their iniquity vpon the wicked, & I will auise the arrogancie of the proude to cease, and will cast downe the pride of tyrants.

12 I will make a man more precious then fine gold, euen a man aboute the wedge of gold of Ophir.

13 Therefore I will shake the heauen, & the earth shall remooue out of her place in the wrath of the Lord of hosts, and in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And it shall be as a chased Doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp: euery man shall turne to his owne people, and see each one to his owne land.

15 Euery one that is found shall be stricken thorough: and whosoener ioyneth himselfe, shall fall by the sword.

16 * Their children also shall be broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shall be spoyled, and their wiues rauished. p^{psal}. 137. 9.

17 Beholde, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regard siluer, nor be desirous of gold.

18 With bowes also shall they destroy the children, & shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, and their eyes shall not spare the children.

19 And Babel the glory of kingdomes, the beauty and pride of the Caldeans, shall be as the destruction of God in Sodome and Gomorah. Gen. 19. 24, 26.

20 It shall not be inhabited for euer, neither shall it bee dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the shepherds make their folds there.

21 But Ziim shall lodge there, and their howles shall be full of Ohim: Ostriches shall dwell there, and the Satyrs shall dance there.

22 And Iim shall crie in their palaces: and dragons in their pleasant palaces: and the time thereof is ready to come, and the dayes thereof shall not be prolonged.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The returne of the people from captivity. 4 The derision of the king of Babylon. 11 The death of the king. 29 The destruction of the Philistims.

For the Lord will haue compassion of Iaakob, and will yet chuse Israel, and cause them to rest in their own land: and the stranger shall ioine himselfe vnto them, and they shall cleane to the house of Iaakob.

2 And the people shall receive them, and bring them to their owne place, & the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lorde, for seruants and handmaids: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressors.

3 And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy teare, and from the sore bondage wherein thou didst serue,

4 Then shalt thou take vp this prouerbe against the king of Babel, and say, How hath the oppressour ceased? and the gold thirty Babel rested?

5 The Lord hath broken the rod of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, he did not let,

7 The whole world is at rest and is quiet: they sing for joy.

8 All the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art layd downe no hewer came against vs.

9 Hell heaue is moued for thee to meete thee at thy coming, raising vp the dead for thee, small the princes of the earth, and hath rayed from their thrones all the kings of the nations.

10 All they shall cry, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weaker also as we: art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe is brought downe to the graue, and the sound of thy viols: the womne is spread vnder thee, and the wormes couer thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer, sonne of the morning: and cut downe to the ground, which didst cast lots vpon the nations?

13 Yet thou saidst in thine heart, I will ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the Starres of God: I will sit also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the North.

14 I will ascend aboue the height of the clouds, and I will be like the most High.

15 But thou shalt be brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee shall looke vpon thee, and consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shake the kingdoms?

17 He made the world as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not the house of his prisoners.

18 All the kings of the nations, when they all sleep in glory, euery one in his owne house.

19 But thou art cut out of thy graue like an abominable branch: like the raiment of those that are staine, and thrust thorow with a sword, which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeist rode vnder feete.

20 Thou shalt not bee ioyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne land, and staine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renowned for euer.

21 Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquity of their fathers: let them not rise vp nor possesse the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 ¶ For I will rise vp against them, (sayth the Lord of hostes) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the sonne, and the nephew, saith the Lord.

23 And I will make it a possession to the hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hostes.

24 The Lord of hostes hath sworn, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted it shall stand:

25 That I will breake to pieces Aschur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I treade him vnder foote: for that his yoke shall depart from them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole world, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations.

27 Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disannull it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turne it away?

28 ¶ In the yere that king Achaz died, was this burden,

29 Reioyce not (thou whole Palestina) because the rod of him that did beat thee is broken: for out of the serpents roote shall come forth a cockatrice, and the fruite thereof shall be a flying serpent.

30 For the first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needy shall lie downe in safety: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and it shall slay thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gaze, crye, O cieie, thou whole land of Palestina art disfolied: for there shall come from the North a smoke, and none shall see alone at his time appointed.

32 What shall then one answer the messengers of the Gentiles? that the Lord hath stablished Zidon, and the poore of his people hath I trust in it.

CHAP. XV.

A prophesie against Moab.

THe burden of Moab, Surely, Ar of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night.

2 He shall goe vnto the temple, and to Dibon to the hie places to weepe: for Nebo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: vpon all their heads shall be baldnesse, and euery beard shauen.

3 In their streetes shall they be girded with sackcloth: on the tops of the houses, and in their streetes euery one shall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heshbon shall crye, and Elealeh: their voyce shall be heard vnto Lahaz: therefore the warriors of Moab shall shout: the soule of euery one shall lament in himselfe.

5 Mine heart shall crye for Moab: his fugitives shall see vnto Zoar, an heifer of three yeere olde: for they shall goe vp with weeping by the morning vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they shall raise vp a crye of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nimrim shall be dried vp: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbes consumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euery man hath left, and their substance shall they beare to the brooke of the willowes.

8 For the crye went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof vnto Eglaim, and the shrieking thereof vnto Beer-Elin.

9 Because the waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I will bring more vpon Dimon, euens lions vpon him that escapech of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

SEnd yea lambe to the ruler of the world from the rocke of the wilderness, vnto the mountaine of the daughter Zion.

2 For it shall be as a bird that stier, and a nest forsaken: the daughters of Moab shall bee at the footes of Arnon.

3 Gather a counsell, execute iudgement: make thy shadow as the night in the midday: hide them that are chased out: bewray nochim that is fled.

4 Let my banished dwell with thee: Moab, be thou their concert from the face of the destroyer: for the extortioner shall end, the destroyer shall be consumed, and the oppressor shall cease out of the land.

5 And in mercie shall the throne bee prepared, and he shall sit vpon it in stedfastnesse in the tabernacle of David, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and hailing iustice.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moab, (there is very proud) even his pride, and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his lies shall not be so.

7 Therefore shall Moab howle vnto Moab:

every one shall howle for the foundations of Kir-harsheth shall ye mourne, yet they shall be stricken.

9 For the vineyards of Heshbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: the lords of the heathen have broken the principall vines thereof: they are come vnto Iazzer, they wandered in the wilderness for their goodly branches stretched out themselves, and went ouer the sea.

10 Therefore will I weepe with the weeping of Iazzer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon: and Elealeth, I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon thy harvest a shouting is fallen.

11 And gladness is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull field: and in the vineyards shall be no singing nor shouting for ioy: the treader shall not tread wine in the wine presses: I haue caused the reioycing to cease.

12 Wherefore my bowels shall sound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-harsheth.

13 And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be weary of his hie places, then shall he come to his temple to pray, but he shall not preuaile.

14 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time.

15 And now the Lord hath spoken, saying, In three yeres, as the yeres of an hireling, and the glory of Moab shall be contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant shall be very smal and feeble.

CHAP. XVII.

A prophetic of the destruction of Damascus and Ephraim. 7 Calamitie moueth to repentance.

THe burden of Damascus. Behold, Damascus is taken away from being a citie, for it shall bee a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of Aroer shall be forsaken: they shall be for the flocks: for they shall lie there, and none shall make them afraid.

3 The munition also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdom from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall bee as the glory of the children of Israel, saith the Lord of hosts.

4 And in that day the glory of Iakob shall be impuierished, and the fatnesse of his flesh shall be made leane.

5 And it shall bee as when the harvest man gathereth the come, and respecteth the eares with his arme, and he shall be as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall be left in it, as the shaking of an olive tree, two or three berries are in the top of the ypmost boughs, and foure or five in the hie branches of the fruit thereof, sayth the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his Maker, and his eyes shall looke to the holy One of Israel.

8 And he shall not looke to the alars the works of his owne hands, neither shall hee looke to those things, which his owne fingers haue made, as groues and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughs and branches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall be desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembered the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou see pleasant plants, and shalt graffe strange vine branches:

11 In the day shalt thou make the plant to grow, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to flourish: but the harvest shall be gone in the day of possession, and there shall be desperate sorrow.

12 Ah the multitude of many people, they shall make a sound like the noise of the sea: for the noise of the people shall make a sound like the noise of mighty waters.

13 The people shall make a sound like the noise of many waters: but God shall rebuke them, and they shall see farre off, and shall be chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the whide, and as a rolling thing before the whirlwind.

14 And loe, in the evening there is trouble: but afore the morning it is gone. This is the portion of them that spoile vs, and the lot of them that rob vs.

CHAP. XVIII.

Of the enemies of the Church, 7 And of the reuocation of the Gentiles.

OH, the land shadowing with wings, which is beyond the riuers of Ethiopia.

2 Sending ambassadours by the sea, euen in vessels of reed vpon the waters, saying, Goe, yee swift messengers to a nation that is scattered abroad, and spoyled, vnto a terrible people from their beginning euen hitherto: a nation by little and little euen troden vnder foote, whose land the floods haue spoyled.

3 All yee the inhabitants of the world, and dwellers in the earth shall see, when he stretch vp a signe in the mountaines, and when he bloweth the trumpet ye shall heare.

4 For so the Lord said vnto me, I will rest and behold in my Tabernacle, as the heat drying vp the raine, and as a cloud of dew in the heat of harvest.

5 For afore the harvest when the floure is finished, and the fruit is riping in the floure, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes.

6 They shall be left together vnto the fowles of the mountaines, and to the beasts of the earth: for the fowle shall summer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

7 At that time shall a present bee brought vnto the Lord of hosts (a people that is scattered abroad and spoyled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation by little and little euen troden vnder foote, whose land the sinners haue spoyled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hostes, euen the mount Zion.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The destruction of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

THe burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord rideth vpon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall be moued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the mids of her.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the spirit of Egypt shall faile in the mids of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the forcerers, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruell lords, and a mighty king shall rule ouer them, saith the Lord God of hostes.

5 Then the waters of the sea shall faile, and the riuier shall be dried vp and wasted.

6 And the riuers shall goe farre away: the riuers of defence shall be emptied and dried vp: the reeds and flagges shall be cut downe.

11 The traffic in the time and at the head of the river, & all that growth by the river shall wither, and be driven away, and be no more.

12 The fishers also shall mourne, and all they that cast angle into the river shall lament, and they that spread their net upon the waters shall be weakened.

13 Moreover, they that work in state of diness shall be confounded, and they that went nets.

14 For their nets shall be broken, and all they that make ponds shall be heale in heart.

15 Surely the princes of Zoan are fooler: the counsellors wife counsellors of Pharaoh become foolish: how say ye vnto Pharaoh, I am the sonne of the wife? I am the sonne of the ancient kings?

16 Where are now thy wise men, that they may tell thee, or may know what the Lord of hostes hath determined against Egypt?

17 The princes of Zoan are become fooler: the princes of Noph are deceived, they have deceived Egypt, and the corners of the tribes thereof.

18 The Lord hath mingled among them the spirit of enuie: and they have caused Egypt to erre in euery worke thereof, as a drunken man erreth in his vomit.

19 Neither shall there bee any worke in Egypt, which the head may doe, nor the taile, the branch nor the rush.

20 In that day shall Egypte like vnto women: for it shall be afraid and leave, because of the mourning of the hand of the Lord of hostes, which he shaketh ouer it.

21 And the land of Iudah shall be a leare vnto Egypt: euery one that maketh mention of it shall be afraid thereof, because of the counsell of the Lord of hostes, which he hath determined vpon it.

22 In that day shall sue cities in the land of Egypt speake the language of Canaan, & shall sweare by the Lord of hostes: one shall be called the city of destruction.

23 In that day shall the Altar of the Lord be in the mids of the land of Egypt, and a pillar by the border thereof vnto the Lord.

24 And it shall be for a signe and for a witnes vnto the Lord of hostes in the land of Egypt: for they shall cry vnto the Lord, because of the oppressours, and he shall send them a Saviour and a great man, and shall deliuer them.

25 And the Lord shall be knowne of the Egyptians, and the Egyptians shall knowe the Lord in that day, and doe sacrifice and oblation, and shall vowe vowes vnto the Lord, and performe them.

26 So the Lord shall smite Egypt, he shall smite and heale it: for he shall reuene vnto the Lord, and he shall be intreated of them, and shall heale them.

27 In that day shall there be a path from Egypt to Ashur, and Ashur shall come into Egypt, and Egypt into Ashur: so the Egyptians shall worship with Ashur.

28 In that day shall Israel bee the third with Egypt and Ashur: each a blessing in the mids of the land.

29 For the Lord of hostes shall bless it, saying, Blessed be my people Egypt and Ashur, the worke of mine hands, and Israel mine inheritance.

CHAP. XX.

1 The three yeeres captiuitie of Egypt and Ethiopia described by the three yeeres going naked of Iahab.

2 In the yeere that Tartan came to Ashdod, (when Sargon king of Ashur sent him) and had fought against Ashdod and taken it,

3 At the same time spake the Lord by the hand of Iahab the sonne of Amoz, saying, Goe, and loofe the sackcloth from thy loynes, and put of thy shoe from thy foot. And hee did so, walking naked and barefoot.

4 And the Lord said, Tike as my seruant Iahab hath walked naked and barefoot three yeeres, as a signe and wonder vpon Egypt and Ethiopia,

5 So shall the King of Ashur take away the captiuitie of Egypt, and the captiuitie of Ethiopia, both young men and old men, naked, and bare footed with their buttocks measured, to the shame of Egypt.

6 And they shall seare and be ashamed of Ethiopia their expectation, and of Egypt their glory.

7 Then shall the inhabitant of this yle say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, whether we had for helpe to be deliuered from the King of Ashur, and how shall we be deliuered?

CHAP. XXI.

1 Of the destruction of Babylon by the Persians and Medes.

2 The ruin of Idumea, and of Arabia. The burden of the desert sea. As the while I windes in the South vieto passe from the wilderness, so shall it come from the horrible land.

3 A grieuous vision was shewed vnto mee, The transgressor against a transgressor, and the destroyer against a destroyer. Goepp Elam, besiege Media: I haue caused all the mourning thereof to cease.

4 The refore are my loynes filled with sorrow, sorrowes haue taken me as the sorrowes of a woman that travaileth: I was bowed downe when I heard it, and I was amazed when I saw it.

5 Mine heart failed: fearefullnesse troubled me: the night of my pleasures hath be turned into feare vnto me.

6 Prepare thou the table: watch in the watch-tower, eat, drinke as if ye princes, inioint the shield.

7 For thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Goe, set a watchman, to tell what he seeth.

8 And he saw a chariot with two horsemen: a chariot of an asse, and a chariot of a camell: and hee hearkened and tooke diligent heed.

9 And he cried, A lion: my lord, I stand continually vpon the watch tower in the daytime, and I am set in my watch euery night.

10 And behold this many chariet cometh with two horsemen. And he answered and said, Babel is fallen, it is fallen, and all the images of her gods hath be broken vnto the ground.

11 O my threshing and the + come of my floor, That which I haue heard of the Lord of hostes the God of Israel haue I shewed vnto you.

12 The burden of Dumah. He calleth vnto me out of Seir, Watchman, what was in the night? Watchman, what was in the night?

13 The watchman said, The morning cometh, and also the night. If ye will aske, inquire: returne, and come.

14 The burden against Arabia. In the forest of Arabia shall ye tary all night, as in the wayes of Dedanim.

15 O inhabitants of the lande of Tema, bring forth water to meet the thirstie, and preuent him that thirst with his bread.

16 For they flee from the drawn swords, from the drawing sword, and from the bent bowe, and from the grieuousness of warre.

17 For thus hath the Lord said vnto mee, Yet a yeere according to the yeeres of a hireling, and all the glory of Kedar shall faile.

18 And the residue of the number of the strong archers of the sonnes of Kedar shall be few: for the Lord God of Israel hath spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

Prophecie of the destruction of Ierusalem by Nebuchad-nezzar. 15 A threatening against Sennacherib.

The burden of the valley of vision. What aileth thee now, that thou art wholly gone vnto the house tops?

2 Thou that art full of noise, a citie full of bruit, a strong city: thy shame men shall not be shame with sword, nor die in battell.

3 And thy princes shall flee together from the how: they shall be bound, all that shall be found in thee shall be bound together, which have fled from farre.

4 Therefore said I, Turne away from me, I will weep bitterly: labour not to comfort mee for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of trouble and of ruine, and of perplexitie by the Lord God of hostes in the valley of vision, breaking downe the citie, and a crying vnto the mountains.

6 And Elam bare the quiver in a mans chace: with horsemen, and Kiryn covered the shield.

7 And thy chiefe valleyes were full of charrets, and the horsemen for themselves in aray against the gate.

8 And he discovered the covering of Iudah: and thou diddest looke in that day to the armour of the house of the forest.

9 And ye have seene the breaches of the citie of Dauid: for they were many, and ye gathered the waters of the lower poole.

10 And ye numbered the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses have ye broken downe to fortifie the wall.

11 And haue also made a ditch betwene the two walls for the waters of the old poole, and haue not looked vnto the maker thereof, neither had respect vnto him that formed it of old.

12 And in that day, did the Lord God of hostes call vnto weeping and mourning, and to baldnesse and girding with sackcloth.

13 And behold, ioy and gladnesse, slaying oxen, and killing sheepe, eating flesh, and drinking wine, eating and drinking: for to morow we shall die.

14 And it was declared in the eares of the Lord of hostes. Surely this iniquitie hath not bee purged from you till ye die, saith the Lord God of hostes.

15 Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, Goe, get thee to that treasurer, to Shebna the steward of the house, and say, 16 What hast thou to doe here? and whom hast thou here? that thou shouldst here hew thee out a sepulchre as he that beweth out his sepulchre in an hie place, or that grauneth an habitation for himselfe in a rocke?

17 Beholde, the Lord will cary thee away with a great captiuitie, and will surely coner thee.

18 Hee will surely roll and turne thee like a ball in a large cuntry: there shalt thou die, and there the charrets of thy glory shall bee the shame of thy lords house.

19 And I will drine thee from thy station, and out of thy dwelling will he destroy thee.

20 And in that day will I call my seruant Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiah.

21 And with thy garments will I clothe him, and with thy girdle will I strengthen him: thy power also will I commit into his hand, and he shall bee a father of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the house of Iudah.

22 And the key of the house of Dauid will I lay vpon his shoulder: so he shall open, and no man shall shut, and he shall shut, and no man shall open.

23 And I will fasten him as a nail in a sure place, and he shall be for the throne of glory: to his fathers house.

24 And they shall hang vpon him all the glory of his fathers house, both of the nephews, and of the sisters, all final vessels, from the vessels of the cups, euen to all the instruments of musike.

25 In that day shall the Lord of hostes, shall the nile this is fastened in the sure place, deput & shall be broken and fall: and the burden that was vpon it, shall be cut off: for the Lord hath spoken it in Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXIII. Prophecie against Tyrus.

The burden of Tyrus. Howleye ships of Tarshish: for it is destroyed: so that there is none house: none shall come from the land of Chittim: it is reuelled vnto them.

2 Be still ye that dwell in the sea, the merchants of Zidon, and such as passe ouer the sea, haue replenished thee.

3 The seed of Nilus growing by the abundance of waters, and the harvest of the reines which remoues, and the wave a mart of the nations.

4 Be ashamed, thou Zidon: for the sea hath spoken, between the strenght of the sea, saying, I haue not traile nor brought forth children, neither nourished yong men, nor brought vp virgins.

5 When the same cometh to the Egyptians, they shall be sory, concerning the ruin of Ierusalem.

6 Goe on ouer to Tarshish: howleye ships that dwell in the sea.

7 Is not this that your glorious citie, her antiquitie is of ancient daies: her owne feet shall leaue her a lare off to be a sojourner.

8 Who hath decreed this against Tyre, (that crowneth men) whose merchants are princes, whose chapmen are the nobles of the world?

9 The Lord of hostes hath decreed this, to frame the pride of all glory, and to bring to contempt all them that be glorious in the earth.

10 Passe thorow thy land like a flood so thy daughter of Tarshish: there is no more strength.

11 He stretched out his hand vpon the sea: hee shooke the kingdoms: the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning the place of merchandise, to destroy the power thereof.

12 And hee saide, Thou shalt no more reioyce when thou art oppressed: O virgine daughter of Zidon, rise vp, go ouer vnto Chittim: yet there thou shalt haue no rest.

13 Behold the land of the Caldeans, this was no people: Ashtar founded it by thy inhabitants of the wilderness: they set vp the towers there they raised the palaces thereof, and he brought it to ruine.

14 Howleye ships of Tarshish, for thy strength is destroyed.

15 And in that day shall Tyrus be forgotten seuentie yeeres (according to the yeeres of one king) at the end of seuentie yeeres shall Tyrus sing as a harlot.

16 Take an harpe, and goe about the citie: (thou harlot that hast bin for gotten) make sweet melodie, sing moe longs that thou maiest be remembered.

17 And at the end of seuentie yeeres shall the Lord visit Tyrus, and she shall returne to her wages, and shall commit fornication with all the kingdomes of the earth, that are in the world.

18 Yet her occupying and her wages shall be holy vnto the Lord: it shall not bee laid vp nor kept in store, there, but her merchandise shall bee for them that dwell before the Lord, to ease faithfully, and to have durable clothing.

CHAP. XXIIII.

A prophesie of the curse of God for the sinnes of the people. 1. A remnant separated shall praise the Lord.

Behold, the Lord maketh the earth empty, and he maketh it waste: he tenneth it vpon downe, and scattereth abroad the inhabitants thereof.

2 And there shall be like people, like priest, and like seruant, like master, like maide, like mistresse, like buyer, like seller, like lender, like borrower, like giuer, like taker to vniuersity.

3 The earth shall bee cleane emptied, and vterly spoiled: for the Lord hath spoken this word.

4 The earth lamenteth and fadeth away: the world is feeble and decayed: the proude people of the earth are weakened.

5 The earth also deceiveth, because of the inhabitants thereof: for they transgressed the lawes: they changed the ordinances, and brake the euerswilling Couenant.

6 Therefore hath the curse denoued the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are desolate. Wherefore the inhabitants of the land are burned vp, and few men are left.

7 The wine faileth, the vine hath no might: all that were of merry heart doe mourne.

8 The mirth of tabrets ceaseth: the noise of them that reioyce endeth: the joy of the harpe ceaseth.

9 They shall not drinke wine with mirth: strong drinke shall be bitter to them that drinke it.

10 The cite of vanity is broken downe: every house is that vpon that a man may come in.

11 There is a crying for wine in the streetes: all joy is darkened: the mirth of the world is gone away.

12 In the cite is left desolation, and the gate is smitten with destruction.

13 Surely thus shall it bee in the mids of the earth, among the people, as the shaking of an olive tree, as the grapes when the vintage is ended.

14 They shall lift vp their voice: they shall shout, for the magnificence of the Lord: they shall reioyce from the Sea.

15 Wherefore praise ye the Lord in the vauels, and the Name of the Lord God of Israel in the yles of the Sea.

16 From the vtmost part of the earth wee haue heard praises, and glory to the Iust, and I said, My leanneesse, my leanneesse, woe is me: the transgressors haue offended, yea, the transgressors haue grievously offended.

17 Feare, and the pit, and the snare are vpon thee, O inhabitant of the earth.

18 And hee that flecth from the noise of the feare, shall fall into the pit: and hee that commeth vpon out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the windows from an high are open, and the foundations of the earth doe shake.

19 The earth is vterly broken downe: the earth is cleane dissolved, the earth is mooued exceedingly.

20 The earth shall reele too and fro like a drunken man, and shall be remoued like a tent, and the iniquitie thereof shall bee heauie vpon it: so that it shall fall, and rise no more.

21 ¶ And in that day shall the Lord visit the host above that is on high, euen the Kings of the world that are vpon the earth.

22 And they shall bee gathered together as the prisoners in the pit: and they shall be but vpon in the prison, and after many dayes shall they be visited.

23 Then the Moone shall be abashed, and the Sun ashamed, when the Lord of hostes shall reigne in mount Zion and in Ierusalem: and glory shall bee before his ancient men.

CHAP. XXV.

A thanksgiving to God, in that hee hath brought his iust iudge of the world by punishing the wicked, and maintaining the goodly.

O Lord, thou art my God: I will exalt thee, I will praise thy Name: for thou hast done wonderful things, according to the counsel of olde, with a stable truth.

2 For thou hast made of a cite an heape, of a strong cite a ruine: thou hast made the palace of strangers of a cite, it shall neuer be built.

3 Therefore shall the mightie people glorie vnto thee: the cite of the strong nations shall feare thee.

4 For thou hast bene a strength vnto the poore, thou hast bene a strength to the needy in his trouble, a refuge against the tempest, a shadow against the heat: for the blast of the mightie is like a storme against the wall.

5 Thou shalt bring downe the noise of the strangers, as the beate in a dry place: hee will bring downe the song of the mightie, as the heate in the shadow of a cloud.

6 And in this mountaine shall the Lord of hosts make vnto all people a feast of fatthings, euen a feast of ficed wine, and of fat things full of marrow, of wines ficed and purified.

7 And he will destroy in this mountaine the conerter that conereth all people, and the vaile that is spread vpon all nations.

8 He will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will hee take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Loe, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and hee will saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.

10 For in this Mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and Moab shall be threshed vnder him, euen as straw is threshed in Madmenah.

11 And he shall stretch out his hand in the mids of them (as hee that swimmeth stretcheth shew out to swimme) and with the strength of his hands shall he bring downe their pride.

12 The defence also of the height of thy walles shall be brought downe and lay low, and cast them to the ground, & vnto the dust.

CHAP. XXVI.

A song of the faithfull, wherein is declared in what confidence the saluation of the Church, and wherein they ought to trust.

IN that day shall this song bee sung in the land of Iudah, We haue a strong cite: saluation shall God set for walles and bulwarkes.

2 Open ye the gates that the righteous nation which keepeth the truth, may enter in.

3 By an assured purpose wilt thou pretere perfect peace, because they trusted in thee.

4 Trust in the Lord for euer: for in the Lord God is strength for euermore.

5 For hee will bring downe them that dwell on high: the high cite hee will abase: & vnto the ground will hee cast it downe, & bring it vnto dust.

6 The foot shall tread it downe, euen the feet of the the poore, and the sleepe of the needy.

7 The way of the iust is rightcousnes: thou wilt make equal the rightcous path, of the iust.

8 Alfo we, O Lord, haue waited for thee in the way of thy iudgement: the desire of our soules is to thy Name, and to the remembrance of thee.

9 With my soule haue I desired thee in the night, and with my spirit within mee will I seeke thee in the morning: for seeing thy iudgements are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world shall learne rightcousnes.

10 Let mercie be shewed to the wicked, yett hee will not learne rightcousnes: in the land of vprightnesse will he doe wickedly, and will not behold the Maiestie of the Lord.

11 O Lord, they will not behold thy lie hand: but they shall see it, and bee confounded with the zeale of the people, and the fire of thine enemies shall deuoure them.

12 Lord vnto vs thou wilt ordaine peace: for thou also hast wrought all our workes for vs.

13 O Lord our God, other lords beside thee haue ruled vs, but we will remember thee only, O thy Name.

14 The dead shall not liue: neither shall the dead arise, because thou hast visited and scattered them, and destroyed all their memorie.

15 Thou hast increased the nation, O Lord: thou hast increased the nation: thou art made glorious: thou hast enlarged all the coasts of the earth.

16 Lerd, in trouble haue they visited thee: they powred out a prayer when thy chastning was vpon them.

17 Like as a woman with childe that draweth neere to the traile, is in sorow, and cryeth in her paines, so haue we bene in thy fight, O Lord.

18 We haue conceived, we haue borne in paine, as though we should haue brought forth winde: there was no helpe in the earth, neither did the inhabitants of the world fail.

19 ¶ Thy dead men shall liue: euē with my body shall they rise: Awake, and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy dew as the dew of herbes, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

20 Come my people: enter thou into thy chambers, and shut thy doores after thee: hide thy selfe for a very little while, vntill the indignation passe ouer.

21 For lo, the Lord commeth out of his place to visite the iniquitie of the inhabitants of the earth vpon them, and the earth shall disclose her blood, and shall no more hide her slaine.

CHAP. XXVII.

A propheticall egall in the kingdom of Satan, and of the ioy of the Church for their deliuerance.

In that day the Lord with his sore and great and mightie sword shall visite Liliathan that piercing serpent euen Liliathan that crooked serpent, and he shall slay the dragon that is in the See.

2 In that day sing of the vineyard of redde wine.

3 I the Lord do keepe it: I will water it euery moment: lest any assaile it, I will keepe it night and day.

4 Anger is not in me: who would set the briars and the thornes against me in battell? I would goe thorow them, I would burne them together.

5 Or will hee feeble my strength, that hee may make peace with me, and be at one with me?

6 Hereafter, Iakob shall take root: Israel shall flourish and grow, and the world shall be filled with fruite.

7 Hath hee smitten him as hee smote thee: hath hee smote him? or is he slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when he bloweth with his rough wind in the day of the East wind.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquity of Iakob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his sinne: when hee shall make all the stones of the altars as chalkestones broken in peeces, for the groves and the images may not stand vp.

10 Yett the defenced citie shall bee desolate, and the habitation shall be forsaken, and left like a wilderness. There shall the calfe feed, and there shall he lie, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughes of it are drie, they shall be broken: the women come, and see them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore hee that made them, shall not haue compassion on them, and hee that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thresh from the channell of the iuer vnto the iuer of Egypt, and yee shall be gathered one by one, O children of Israel.

13 In that day also shall the great trumpe be blowne, and they shall come, which perished in the land of Alhur: and they that were chased into the land of Egypt, and they shall worship the Lord in the holy Mount at Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Against the pride and drunkennes of Israel. ¶ The vniuersall iudgement of them that should learne the word of God. 24. God doth all things in time and place.

Woe to the crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beauty shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and are overcome with wine.

2 Behold, the Lord hath a mighty & strong host, like a tempest of haille, and a whelwinde, that ouerthroweth like a tempest of mighty waters that ouerflow, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They shall be troden vnder foote, euē the crowne of the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beauty shall be a fading floure which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and as the haulte fruit afore Summer, which when hee that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand, he eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glory, and for a diademe of beauty vnto the residue of his people:

6 And for a spirit of iudgement to him that sitteth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the Prophet haue erred by strong drinke: they are swallowed vp with winethey haue gone astray through strong drinke: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filthie vomiting, no place is cleane.

9 Whom shall hee teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to vnderstand the things that he heareth? them that are weaned from the milke, and drawn from the breasts.

10 For precept must line vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little.

11 For with a stammering tongue, and with a strange language shall hee speake vnto this people.

13 Vnto whom he said, This is the rest: give rest to him that is weary; and this is the refreshing: but they would not heare.

14 Therefore shall the word of the Lord be vnto them precept vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little, that they may goe and fall backward and be broken, and be snared, and be taken.

15 Wherefore heare the word of the Lord, yee scornfull men that rule this people, which is at Jerusalem.

16 Because ye haue said, We haue made a cōuēnant with death, and with hell are wee at agreement: though a scourge run ouer, and passe thorow, it shall not come at vs: for we haue made falsehood our refuge, and vnder vanitie are we hid.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lay in Zion a stone, a tryed stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation. He that beleueth, shall not make haste.

18 Iudgment also will I lay to the rule, and righteousness to the ballance, and the hyle shall sweepe away the vaine confidence, and the waters shall overflow the secret place.

19 And your cōuēnant with death shall be dissolved, and your agreement with hell shall not stand: when a scourge shall runne ouer and passe thorow, then shall ye be troden dōwne by it.

20 When it shall passe ouer, it shall take you away: for it shall passe thorow euery morning in the day, and in the night, and there shall be euery feare to make you to vnderstand the hearing.

21 For the bed is fraile that it cannot suffice, and the covering narrow that one cannot wrappe himselfe.

22 For the Lord shall stand as in mount Perazim: hee shall be worke as in the valley of Gibeon, that he may doe his worke, his strange worke, and bring to passe his acte, his strange acte.

23 Now therefore be not mockers, lett your bonds increase: for I haue heard of the Lord of hostes a consumpcion, euen determined vpon the whole earth.

24 Hearken yee and heare my voice, hearken yee, and heare my speech.

25 Doeth the plowman plow all the day to sow? doeth he open, and breake the clots of his ground?

26 When hee hath made it plaine, will hee not then sow the sitches, and sowe cummin, and cast in wheate by measure, and the appointed barley and rie in their place?

27 For his God doeth instruct him to haue direction, and doeth teach him.

28 For sitches shall not be threshed with a threshing instrument, neither shall a cart wheele bee turned about vpon the cummin: but the sitches are beaten out with a flasse, and cummin with a rod.

29 Bread cometh when it is threshed, he doeth not alway thresh it, neither doeth the wheele of his cart flasse make a noise, neither will he breake it with the teeth thereof.

30 This also cometh from the Lord of hostes, which is wonderfull in counsell, and excellent in worke.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 A prophesie against Ierusalem. 13 The vengeance of God on them that follow the tradition of man. Alter, altar of the cite that David dwelt in. I adde yee vnto yers: let them kill lambs.

2 But I will bring the altar into distresse, and there shall be heauinesse and sorow, and it shall bee vnto me like an altar.

3 And I will besiege thee as a circle, and fight against thee on a mount, and will cast vp ramparts against thee.

4 So shalt thou bee humbled, and shalt speake out of the ground, and thy speech shall bee as out of the dust: thy voice also shall bee out of the ground like him that hath a spirit of diuination, and thy talking shall whisper out of the dust.

5 Moreover the multitude of thy strangers shall be like small dust, and the multitude of strong men shall be as chaffe that passeth away, and it shall be in a moment, &c. suddenly.

6 Then shalt be visited of the Lord of hostes with thunder, and shaking, & a great wise, a whirlwind, and a tempest, and a flame of a deuouring fire.

7 And the multitude of all the nations that fight against the altar, shall be as a dream or vision by night, euen all they that make the warre against it, and strong holds against it, and say siege vnto it.

8 And it shall be like as an hungry man dreameth, and behold he eateth, & when he awaketh, his soule is empty: so like as a thirsty man dreameth, & loe, he is drinking, and when he awaketh, behold, he is faint, and his soule longeth: so shall the multitude of all nations be, that fight against mount Zion.

9 Stay your selues and wonder: they are blinde and make you blind: they are drunken, but not with wine: they stagger, but not by strong drinke.

10 For the Lord hath covered you with a spirit of slumber, and hath shut vp your eyes: the prophets, and your chief seers hath he covered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the words of a booke that is sealed vp, which they deliuer to one that can read, saying, Read this, I pray thee. Then shall he say, I cannot: for it is sealed.

12 And the booke is giuen vnto him that cannot read, saying, Read this, I pray thee. And hee shall say, I cannot read.

13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people come neere vnto mee with their mouth, and honour me with their lips, but haue remoued their heart far from me, and their feare toward me was taught by the precept of men, 14 Therefore behold, I will againe doe a marvellous worke in this people, euen a marvellous worke and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

15 Woe vnto them that seeke deep to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their workes are in darkenesse, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of deuises shall it not bee effecteed as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, He made me not? or the thing formed say of him that fashioned it, Hee had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon shall be turned into Carmel, and Carmel shall be counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shall the deafe heare the words of the booke, and the eyes of the blind shall see out of obscuritie and out of darkenesse.

19 The merke in the Lord shall receiue ioy againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy One of Israel.

20 For the cruell man shall cease, and the scornfull shall bee consumed: and all that hausted to iniquitie shall be cut off.

21 Which made a man to snare in the word, and tooke him in a snare: which reprooued him in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

22. Therefore thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Isakob, now he that redeemed Abraham Isakob shall not now be confounded, neither now shall his face be pale.

23. But when hee seeth his children the worke of thine hands in the mids of him, they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holy One of Isakob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24. Then they that erred in spirite, shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmured, shall learne doctrine.

CHAP. XXX.

1. He reprooueth the Tears which in their aduersitie vsed their owne counsels. 2. and sought helpe of the Egyptians. 3. Despiseth the Prophets. 4. Therefore he saith what destruction shall come vpon them. 5. But offereth mercie to the repentant.

W O to the rebellious children, saith the Lord, that take counsell, but not of mee, and coner with a courting, but not by my Spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne.

2. Which walke forth to goe downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselves with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3. But the strength of Pharaoh shall bee your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt your confusion.

4. For his princes were at Zoan, and his ambassadors came vnto Hanes.

5. They shall be all ashamed of the people that cannot protect them, nor helpe, nor doe them good, but shall be a shame and also a reproch.

6. The burden of the beasts of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the yong and old lion, the viper and fiery flying serpiente, aspests, that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the colts, and their treasures vpon the bunches of the camels, to a people that cannot profite.

7. For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto her, Their strength is to fill.

8. Now goe, and write it before them in a table, and note it in a booke, that it may bee for the last day for euer and euer.

9. That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not heare the Law of the Lord.

10. Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophesse not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophetic error.

11. Depart out of the way: goe aside out of the path: cause the holy One of Israel to cease from vs.

12. Therefore thus saith the holy One of Israel, Because you haue cast off this word, and trust in violence, and wickednesse, and stay thereupon,

13. Therefore this iniquity shall be vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an high wall, whose breaking cometh suddenly in a moment,

14. And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a potters pot, which is broken without pittie, and in the breaking thereof is not found a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take water out of the pit.

15. For thus said the Lord God, the holy One of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall yee be lauded: in quietnesse and in confidence shall be your strength, but yee would not.

16. For yee haue said, No, but wee will flee away vpon horses. Therefore shall yee see, We will ride vpon the swift steed. Therefore shall your persecutors be swifter.

17. A thorned as one shall see at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of sine shall yee see, till yee be left as a ship mast vpon the top of a mountaine, and as a beaken vpon an hill.

18. Yet therefore will the Lord wait, that he may haue mercy vpon you, and therefore will hee be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of iudgement. Blessed are all they that waite for him.

19. Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, & in Ierusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: he will certainly haue mercy vpon thee at the voice of thy cry: when he heareth thee, he will answer thee.

20. And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raise shall be no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy I raise.

21. And thine eares shall heare a word behinde thee, saying, This is the way, walke yee in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22. And yee shall pollute the courting of the images of silver, & the rich ornaments of thine images of gold, and cast them away as a measureless cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, Get thee hence.

23. Then shall hee giue raine vnto thy seed, when thou shalt sow the ground, & bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall be as fat as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures.

24. The oxen also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane proouender, which is winnowed with the shovel and with the fanne.

25. And vpon euery hill mountaine, and vpon euery high hill shall there bee rivers and streames of waters in the day of the great slaughter, when the towres shall fall.

26. Moreover, the light of the Moone shall bee as the light of the Sunne, and the light of the Sunne shall be seven fold, and like the light of seven dayes, in the day that the Lord shall bind vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27. Behold, the Name of the Lord cometh from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is hoarie: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

28. And his spirit is as a river that ouerfloweth vp to the necke: it diuideth asunder to fan the nations with the fan of vanitie, and there shall be a bridle to cause them to erre in the lawes of the people.

29. But there shall bee a song vnto you as in the night, when a solenne feast is kept: and gladnesse of heart, as he that cometh with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the mighty One of Israel.

30. And the Lord shall cause his glorious voice to bee heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and hailestones.

31. For with the voice of the Lord shall Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the rod.

32. And in euery place that the staffe shall passe, it shall cleaue fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon him with tabrets and harpes: and with battels, and lifting vp of hands shall hee fight against it.

33. For Tophet is prepared of old: it is enen prepared for the King: hee hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord like a river of brimstone doth kindle it.

CHAP. XXXI.

He punisheth them that forsake God, and price for themselves of men.

1. Vnto them that goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, & trust in chariots, because they are many, & in horsemen, because they be very strong: but they looke not vnto the Holy one of Israel, nor seeke vnto the Lord.

2. But he yet is iust: therefore hee will bring euill, and not good backe vnto them, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, & against the helpe of them that worke vaine.

3. Now the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses fleme, and not spirit: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the helper shall fall, and he that is his helpe shall fall: and they shall altogether faile.

4. For they hath the Lord spoken vnto mee: As the son of man whelpe foorth vpon his pray, against whom if a multitude of shepherds be called, he will not be afraid at their voyce, neither will he himselfe feare their noise: so shall the Lord of hosts come downe to fight for mount Zion: and for the hill of Ierusalem.

5. As birds that fly, so shall the Lord of hosts be vnto Ierusalem, by defending and deliuering, by passing thorow and preferring it.

6. O ye children of Israel turne againe, in as much as ye are sunken deepe in rebellion.

7. For in that day euery man shall cast out his idols of silver, and his idols of golde which your hands haue made: you shall sunne.

8. Then shall Asur fall by the sword, not of man: neither shall the sword of man deuoure him, and he shall flee from the sword, and his young men shall faile.

9. And he shall geue feare to his tower, and his princes shall be afraid of the standard, with the Lord whose fire is in Zion, and his fortresse in Ierusalem.

CHAP. XXXII.

The conditions of good water, and officers described by the government of Ierusalem, who was the figure of Christ.

1. Behold, a king that reigne in iustice, and the princes shall rule in iudgement.

2. And as a man shall be as a hiding place from the wind, and as a refuge for the tempest: as rivers of water in a dry place, and as the shadow of a great rocke in a wearie land.

3. The eyes of the seeing shall not be shut, & the eares of them that heare shall hearken.

4. And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the flutters shall be ready to speake distinctly.

5. A miggard that no more be called liberall, nor the churle rich.

6. But the nigard will speake of nigardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and do wickedly, and speake falsly against the Lord, to make empty the hungry soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirsty to faile.

7. For the weapons of the churle are wicked: he deuiceth wicked counsells to vndoe the poore with lying words, and to speake against the poore in iudgement.

8. But the liberall man will deuise of liberall things, and he will continue in liberalitie.

9. Kisse yee women that are at ease: heare my voyce, yee carelesse daughters: hearken to my words.

10. Ye women that are carelesse, shall be in feare along a yeare, yee shall haue a vintage shall faile, and the gathering shall come as our time.

11. Ye women that are at ease, be comforted here, O ye carelesse women: put on the clothes of make bare, and gird yee about vpon the loines.

12. Man shall labour in the seaynes, and for the pleasant fields and for the fruitful vine.

13. Vpon the lande of my people shall growe thistles, and brackes: yea, vpon all the houses of ioy in the cite of reioycing.

14. Because the palace shall be forsaken, and the ministe of the cite shall be lesse: the tower and fortresse shall be demyst for euer, and the delight of wilde beasts shall be a pasture for sheepe.

15. Vntill the spirit be poured vpon vs from above, and the wilderness become a fruitful field, and the plectons field be counted as a forest.

16. And iudgements shall dwell in the desert, and iustice shall remaine in the fruitful field.

17. And the worke of iustice shall be peace, and the worke of iustice and quietnesse, and assurance for euer.

18. And my people shall dwell in the tabernacle of peace, and in iure dwellings, and in iustesting places.

19. When it shall be, it shall fall on the forest, and the cite shall be set in the low place.

20. Blessed are ye that flow vpon all waters: and drinke shalbe the feet of the due and the asse.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The destruction of Ierusalem, by whom God hath punished his Church.

1. WO to thee that spoiled and wast not spoiled: and doest wickedly, & they did not wickedly against thee: when thou shalt cease to spoyle, thou shalt be spoiled: when thou shalt make an end of doing wickedly, they shall doe wickedly against thee.

2. O Lord haue mercie vpon vs, we haue waited for thee: be thou which maketh their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.

3. At the noise of the tumult the peopled fled: at thine exalting the nations were scattered.

4. And your spoile shall be gathered: hee the gathering of caterpillers: and hee shall go against him like the leaping of grasshoppers.

5. The Lord is exalted: for he dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice.

6. And there shall be stabilitie of thy times, strength, saluation, wisdom and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shall be his treasure.

7. Behold, their messenger shall criewitnes, and the ambassadors of peace shall weep bitterly.

8. The pathes are wasteth the waiping man ceaseth: he hath broken the covenant, he hath contemned the cities: he regarded no man.

9. The earth mourneth and fainteth: Lebanon is shamed and hewen downe: Sharon is like a wilderness: and Bashan is shaken and Carmel.

10. Now will arise, with the Lord: now will I be exalted, now will I life vpon my selfe.

11. Ye shall conceite chaffe, and bring forth flable: the fire of your breath shall deuoure you.

12. And the people shall be as the burning of lime: as the thornes cutt off shall they be burnt in the fire.

13. Heare, ye that are faine off, what I haue done, and ye that are neere, now my power.

14. The finners in Zion are afraide: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwell with the deuouring fire? who among vs shall dwell with the euellall burnings?

11. He that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, refusing gains of oppression, shaking his hands from taking of gifts, stopping his ears from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing euill,

12. He shall dwell on his defence before the munitions of rocks: heere shall be given him, and his waters shall be sure.

13. Thine eyes shall see the king in his glory: they shall behold the land farre off.

14. Thine heart shall meditate feare, Where is the scriber where is the receiuer? where is he that counted the towers?

15. Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speech that thou canst not perceiue, and of a stammering tongue, that thou canst not vnderstand.

16. Look vpon Zion the Citie of our soleme feasts: thine eyes shall see Ierusalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that cannot be removed, and the stakes thereof can neuer be taken away, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken.

17. For surely there the mighty Lord will be vnto vs as a place of floods, and broad rivers, whereby shall passe no ship with oares, neither shall great ships passe thereby.

18. For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our lawgiuer, the Lord is our King: he will saue vs.

19. Thy counsailes are hidden: they could not well strengthen their make, neither could they spread the faile: then shall they pray bee diuided for a great spoile: yea the lame shall take away the pray.

20. And none inhabitant that say, I am sicke, the people that dwell therein shall have their iniquitie forgiven.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1. He sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue that he beareth toward his Church.

2. Come apace, yee nations, and heare: and hearken yee people: let the earth heare, and all that is therein, the world, and all that proceedeth thereof.

3. For the indignation of the Lord is vpon all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: hee hath destroyed them, and deliuered them to the slaughter.

4. And their flaine shall be cast out, & their stinke shall come vp out of their bodies, & the mountaines shall be melted with their blood.

5. And all the host of heauen shall be dissolved, and the heauens folded like a booke: and all their hosts shall fall as the leafe fallett from the vine, and as it fallett from the bryere.

6. For my sword shall be drunken in the heauen: behold, it shall come downe vpon Edom, euen vpon the people of my curse to iudgement.

7. The sword of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fat with the fat, and with the bloode of the lambs and the goates, with the fat of the kidneys of the rams: for the Lord hath a sacrifice in Bosrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

8. And the Vaincomers shall come downe with them, and the heifers with the buls: and their land shall be drunken with blood, and their dust made fat with fatnesse.

9. For it is the day of the Lords vengeance, and the yere of recompense for the iudgement of Zion. And the riuers thereof shall be turned into pitch, and the dust thereof into brimstone, and the land thereof shall be burning pitch.

10. It shall not be quenched night nor day, the smoke thereof shall go vp euermore: it shall be desol-late from generation to generation: none shall passe thorow it for euer.

11. But the pellicane and the belding shall possess it, and the great owle, and the rauen shall dwell in it: and he shall stretch out vpon it the line of distance, and the founes of emptinesse.

12. The noble strength shall call to the kingdome, and there shall bee none, and all the princes thereof shall be as nothing.

13. And it shall bring forth thornes in the palaces thereof, nettles and thistles in the strong holds thereof, and it shall be an habitation for dragons, and a cage for ostriches.

14. There shall meet also Zaim and Tim, and the Satyre shall cry to his eloues, and the stricken owle shall rest there, and shall feede for her selfe in quiet dwelling.

15. There shall the owle make her nest, and lay, and hatch, and gather them vnder her shadowes: there shall the vultures also be gathered euen, one with her make.

16. Seeke in the booke of the Lord, and among none of these shall faile, none shall want her make: for his mouth hath commanded, and his very spirit hath gathered them.

17. And hee hath cast the lot for them, and hath diuided it vnto them by line: they shall posside it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

CHAP. XXXV.

1. The great joy of them that welcome in Christ. 2. Their Office which preache the Gospel. 3. The fruites that follow thereof.

1. He desert and the wilderness shall reioyce, and the waste ground shall be glad and flourish as the iole.

2. It shall flourish abundantly, and shall greatly reioyce also: and ioy: the glory of Lebanon shall be giuen vnto it, the beauty of Carmel, & of Sion, they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellencie of our God.

3. Strengthen the weak hands, and comfort the feeble knees.

4. Say vnto them that are fearefull, Bee ye strong, feare not: behold, your God commeth with vengeance: euen God with a recompense, hee will come and saue you.

5. Then shall the eyes of the blind be lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

6. Then shall the lame man leape as an hart, and the dumbe mans tongue shall sing: for in the wilderness shall waters breake out, and riuers in the desert.

7. And the dry ground shall bee as a pool, and the thurste as springs of water: in the habitation of dragons where they lay shall bee a place for reedes and rushes.

8. And there shall be a path and a way, & the way shall be called holy: the polluted shall not passe by it: for he shall be with them and walke in the way, and the fooles shall not erre.

9. There shall be no lion, nor no some beasts shall ascend by it, neither shall they bee found there, that the redeemed may walke.

10. Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne and come to Zion with praise: and euasting ioy shall be vpon their heads: they shall obtaine ioy and gladnesse, and sorrowe and mourning shall flee away.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1. Saith scrib (under the Rabbineth) to beseege Ierusalem. 2. Multisphemies against God.

NOW in the fiftie tenth yeare of king Hezekiah, Sancherib king of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah and tooke them.
 2 And the king of Asshur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Ierusalem, vnto king Hezekiah, with a great hoste, and hee stood by the conduit of the vyppes poole in the path of the fullers field.
 3 Then came forth vnto him Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiash the steward of the house; and Shebna the chancelour, and Ioah the sonne of Ataph the recorder.

4 And Rabshakeh sayd vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I pray you, Thus sayth the great King, the king of Asshur, What confidence is this, wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, Surely I know eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warres: on whom then doest thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Lo, thou trustest in this broken steele of reed, on Egypt, whereinon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand, and pierce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say to me, Wee trust in the Lord our God, is it not that hee, whose high places, and whose alters Hezekiah tooke downe, and said to Iudah, and to Hierusalem, Ye shall worship before this Altar?

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the king of Asshur, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou despise any captain of the least of my Lords seruants, and put thy trust on Egypt for chariots and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come vp without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto mee, Go vp against this land, and destroy it.

11 ¶ Then said Eliakim, and Shebna, and Ioah vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants in the Aramites language, (for wee vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Iewes tongue in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee, to speake these words, and not to the men that sit on the wall, that they may eate their owne dung, and drinke their owne piss with you.

13 So Rabshakeh stood, and cryed with a loud voyce in the Iewes language, and sayd, Heare the words of the great King, the king of Asshur.

14 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceiue you for he shall not be able to deliuer you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliue vs: this citie shall not bee giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Asshur.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Asshur, Make appointment with me, and come out to mee, that euery man may eate of his owne vine, and euery man of his owne figtree, and drinke euery man the water of his owne Well.

17 Till I come and bring you to a land like your owne land, euen a land of wheat and wine, a land of bread and vineyards.

18 Lest Hezekiah deceiue you, saying, The Lord will deliue vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the king of Asshur.

19 Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? Where is the god of Shepharaim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

20 Who is he among all the gods of these lands that hath deliuered their country out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliuer Ierusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they kept silence, and answered him no word: for the Kings commandement was, saying, Answer him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Hilkiash the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancelour, and Ioah the sonne of Ataph the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

C H A P. XXXVII.

2 Hezekiah maketh counsell of Ilish, who propheseth him the victory. 10 The blasphemie of Sancherib. 14 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The armie of Sancherib a flaine of the Angel. 38 And to himselfe of his owne finnes.

ANd when the king Hezekiah heard it, he rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth, and came into the house of the Lord.

2 And he sent Eliakim the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancelour, with the Elders of the Priests clothed in sackcloth, vnto Ilish the Prophet, the sonne of Amoz.

3 And they sayd vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

4 If so bee the Lord thy God hath heard the words of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the liuing God, and to reproch him with words, which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

5 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Ilish.

6 And Ilish said vnto them, Thus say vnto your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of the words that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Asshur haue blasphemed mee.

7 Behold, I will send a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a noyse, and returne to his owne land, and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned and found the king of Asshur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Iachish.

9 He heard also men say of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, Behold, he is come out to fight against thee: and when he heard it, he sent other messengers to Hezekiah, saying,

10 Thus shall you speake to Hezekiah king of Iudah, saying, Let not thy God deceiue thee, in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be giuen into the hand of the king of Asshur.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Asshur haue done to all lands in destroying them, and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the nations deliuered them, which my fathers haue destroyed? as Gozan and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden, which were at Tel-Har?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena, and Iuah?

14 ¶ So Hezekiah received the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it, and he went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spread it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed vnto the Lord, saying, O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, which dwelfor turne backe.

for the water of their feet.

18 For the grace cannot confesse thee: death cannot praise thee: they that go down into the pit, cannot hope for thy truth.

19 But the living, the living, he shall confesse thee, all I do this day: one father to the children shall declare thy truth.

20 The Lord was ready to save me: therefore we will sing my song all the daies of our life in the house of the Lord.

21 Then said Isaiah, Taken lump of dry figs, and lay it vpon the boyle, and he shall recover.

22 Also Hezekiah had sayd, What is the signe, that I shall go vp into the house of the Lord?

C H A P. XXXIX.

Hezekiah is reproved, because hee sheweth his treasures vnto the ambassadors of Babylon.

AT the same time, Merodach Baladan the son of Baladan king of Babel sent letters, and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard that he had been sicke, and was recovered.

1 And Hezekiah was glad of them, and shewed them the house of the treasures, the silver, and the golde, and the spices, and the precious oymment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his kingdom, that Hezekiah shewed them not.

2 Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto king Hezekiah, and said vnto him, What said these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah said, They are come from a farre countrey vnto me, from Babel.

3 Then said he, What haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures that I haue not shewed them.

4 And Isaiah said to Hezekiah, Heare the word of the Lord of hosts,

5 Behold, the dayes come that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue laide vp in store vntill this day shall be caried to Babel: nothing shall be left, saith the Lord.

6 And of thy sonnes that shall proceede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shall be Eunuches in the palace of the king of Babel.

7 Then said Hezekiah to Isaiah, The word of the Lord is good which thou hast spoken: and hee sayd, Yet let there be peace and truth in my dayes.

C H A P. XL.

2 Remission of sinnes by Christ. 3 The coming of John Baptist. 18 The Prophet reproveth the idolaters and them that trust not in the Lord.

COMFORT ye, comfort ye my people, wil your God say.

1 Speake comfortably to Ierusalem, and cry vnto her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned: for she hath receined of the Lords hand double for all her finnes.

2 A voice crieth in the wilderness, Prepare yee the way of the Lord: make straight in the desert a path for our God.

3 Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountaine and hill shall be made lowe: and the crooked shall be straight, and the rough places plaine.

4 And the glory of the Lord shall be reuealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

5 A voice sayd, Cry. And hee said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grasse, and all the grace thereof is as the flower of the field.

6 The grasse withereth, the flower fadeth, because the Spirit of the Lord bloweth vpon it, surely the people are grasse.

7 The grasse withereth, the flower fadeth: but the word of our God shall stand for euer.

8 O Zion that bringest good tidings, get thee vp into the hie mountaine: O Ierusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift vp thy voice with strength: lift it vp, be not afraid: say vnto the cities of Iudah, Behold your God.

9 Behold, the Lord God wil come with power, and his arme shall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and his worke before him.

10 He shall feed his flocke like a shepherd: he shall gather the lambs with his arme, and carry them in his bosome, and shall guide them with yong.

11 Who hath measured the waters in his fist? and counted heauen with the spanne, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure? and weighed the mountaines in a weight, and the hills in a balance?

12 Who hath instructed the Spirit of the Lord? or who is his counsellor? or taught him?

13 Of whom tooke he counsell, and who instructed him, and taught him in the way of iudgement? or taught him knowledge, and shewed vnto him the way of vnderstanding?

14 Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are counted as the dust of the balancer: behold, he taketh away the yles as a little dust.

15 And Lebanon is not sufficient for fire, nor the beasts thereof sufficient for a burnt offering.

16 All nations before him are as nothing, and they are counted to him lesse then nothing, and vanity.

17 To whom then wil ye liken God? or what similitude will ye set vnto him?

18 The workman melteth an image, or the goldsmith beateth it out in gold, or the goldsmith maketh silver plates.

19 Doeth not the poore chuse out a tree that will not rot for an oblation? hee seeketh also vnto him a cunning workman to prepare an image, that shall not be moued.

20 Know yee nothing? haue yee not heard it? hath it not bene tolde you from the beginning? haue yee not vnderstood it by the foundation of the earth?

21 He sitteth vpon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grasshoppers, he stretcheth out the heauens as a curtaine, and spreadeth them out as a tent to dwell in.

22 He bringeth the princes to nothing, and maketh the iudges of the earth as vanity.

23 As though they were not planted, as though they were not sowne, as though their stock tooke no root in the earth: for he did euen blow vpon them, and they withered, and the whirlewinde will take them away as stubble.

24 To whom now will ye liken me, that I should be like him, saith the holy One?

25 Lift vp your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, and bringeth out their crimes by number, and calleth them all by names, by the greatnesse of his power, and mighty strength nothing faileth.

26 Why sayest thou, O Iacob, and speakest, O Israel, My way is hid from the Lord, and my iudgement is passed oner of my God?

27 Knowest thou not? or hast thou not heard that the euellaking God, the Lord hath created the clouds, of the earth: he neither fainteth nor is weary: there is no scarching of his vnderstanding.

19 But hee giueth strength vnto him that fainteth: and vnto him that hath no strength, hee increaseth power.

20 Euen the yong men shall faime, and be weary, and the yong men shall stumble and fall.

21 But they that wait vpon the Lord, shall renew their strength: they shall lift vp the wings as the Eagles: they shall run and not be weary, and they shall walke and not faime.

CHAP. XLI.

2 Gods mercy in chusing his people. 6 Their idolatry. 27 Deliverance promised to Zion.

Keepe silence before mee, O ylands, and let the people renewe their strength: let them come neere, and let them speake: let vs come together into iudgement.

3 Who raised vp iustice from the East, and called him to his foote: and gaue the nations before him, and subdued the kings: he gaue them as dust to his sword, and as scattered stubble vnto his bow.

4 He pursued them, & passed safely by the way that he had not gone with his feet.

5 Who hath wrought and done it? he that calleth the generations from the beginning, I the Lord am the first, and with the last, I am the same.

6 The yles saw it and did feare, and the ends of the earth were abashed, drew neere, and came.

7 Euerie man helpe his neighbour, and said to his brother, Be strong.

8 So the workman comforted the founder, and hee that smote with the hammer, him that smote by counsell, saying, It is ready for the fodering, & he fastned it with nailes that it should not be moued.

9 Both thou Israel art my seruant, and thou Isakob, whom I haue chofen, the seed of Abraham, my friends.

10 For I haue taken thee from the endes of the earth, and called thee before the chiefe thereof, and said vnto thee, Thou art my seruant: I haue chofen thee, and not cast thee away.

11 Feare thou not for I am with thee: be not afraid, for I am thy God: I will strengthen thee, and helpe thee, & I will sustaine thee with the right hand of my iustice.

12 Behold, all they that pronounce thee, shall be ashamed and confounded, they shall bee as nothing, and they that strue with thee shall perill.

13 Thou shalt seeke them, and shalt not finde them: so will the men of thy strife, for they shall be as nothing, and the men that warre against thee, as a thing of nought.

14 For I the Lord thy God will holde thy right hand, saying vnto thee, Feare not, I will helpe thee.

15 Feare not, thou worne, Isakob, and ye men of Israel: I will helpe thee, saith the Lord, and thy Redeemer the holy One of Israel.

16 Beholde, I will make thee a roller, and a new threshing instrument hauing teeth: thou shalt thresh the mountains, and bring them to powder, and shalt make the hills as chaffe.

17 Thou shalt fenne them, & the wind shall carry them away, and the whirlewind shall scatter them: and thou shalt reioyce in the Lord, and shalt glory in the holy One of Israel.

18 When the poore and the needy seeke water, and there is none, (their tongue faileth for thirst: I the Lord will heare them: I the God of Israel will not forsake them)

19 I will open riuers in the tops of the hills, and sometimes in the mids of the valleyes: I will make the wilderness as a poole of water, and the walke land as springs of water.

20 I will set in the wilderness the cedar, the Shittab tree, and the myrthe tree, and the pine tree, and I will set in the wilderness the fire tree, the elme, and the hore tree together.

21 Therefore let them see & know, and let them consider and vnderstand together, that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy One of Israel hath created it.

22 Stand to your cause, saith the Lord: bring forth your strong reasons, saith the King of Isakob.

23 Let them bring them forth, and let them tell vs what shall come: let them shewe the former things what they be, that we may consider them, and know the later end of them: either declare vs things for to come.

24 Shewe the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that ye are gods: yea, doe good or doe euill, that we may declare it, and behold it together.

25 Behold, ye are of no value, and your making is of nought: man hath chofen an abomination by them.

26 ¶ I haue raised vp from the North, and hee shall come: from the East Sunne shall he call vpon my Name, and shall come vpon princes as vpon clay, and as the potter treadeth mire vnder the soote.

27 Who hath declared from the beginning, that we may know beforetime, that we may say, He is righteous? Surely there is none that sheweth: surely there is none that declareth: surely there is none that heareth your words.

28 ¶ I am the first that said to Zion, Beholde, behold them: and I will giue to Ierusalem one that shall bring good tidings.

29 But when I beheld, there was none, and when I enquired of them, there was no counsellor, and when I demanded of them, they answered not a word.

30 Behold, they are all vanity: their worke is of nothing, their images are wind and confusion.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The obedience and humilitie of Christ. 6 Why he was sent into the world. 11 The vocation of the Gentiles.

Behold my seruant: I will stay vpon him: mine elect, in whom my soule delighteth: I haue put my Spirit vpon him: he shall bring forth iudgement to the Gentiles.

2 He shall not crie nor lift vp, nor cause his voice to be heard in the street.

3 A brused reede shall hee not breake, and the smoking flaxe shall hee not quench: he shall bring forth iudgement in truth.

4 He shall not faile nor be discouraged, till hee haue set iudgement in the earth: and the yles shall wait for his law.

5 Thus saith God the Lord (he that created the heauens, and spred them abroad: he that stretched forth the earth, and the buds thereof: he that giueth breath vnto the people vpon it, and spirit to them that walke therein:)

6 I the Lord haue called thee in righteousness, and will hold thine hand, and I will keepe thee, and giue thee for a covenant of the people, and for a light of the Gentiles.

7 That thou mayest open the eyes of the blind, and bring out the prisoners from the prison, & them that sit in darkness out of the prison house.

8. I am the Lord, this is my Name, and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise in graven images.

9. Behold, the former things are come to passe, and new things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them.

10. Sing vnto the Lord a new song, and his praise from the end of the earth: y^e that go downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof.

11. Let the wildernes and the cities thereof lift vp their voice, the towne that Kedar doth inhabit: let the inhabitants of the rockes sing: let them shoute from the top of the mountaines.

12. Let them giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the ylands.

13. The Lord shall goe forth as a gyant: hee shall stirre vp his courage like a man of warre: he shall shout and crie, and shall preuaile against his enemies.

14. I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue bene still and refrained my selfe, now will I crie like a trailling woman: I will destroy and deuoure at once.

15. I will make waste mountaines and billes, and drie vp all their herbes: and I will make the floods ylands, and I will drie vp the pooles.

16. ¶ And I will bring the blinde by a way that they knew not, and leade them by pathes that they haue not known: I will make darkenesse light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them.

17. They shalbe turned back: they shalbe greatly ashamed that trust in graven images, and say to the molten images, Ye are our gods.

18. ¶ Heare ye deafe: and ye blind regard, that ye may see.

19. Who is blind but my seruant? or deafe as my messenger that I sent? who is blind as the perfit, and blind as the Lords seruant?

20. Seeing many things, but thou keepest them not: opening the eares, but he heareth not.

21. The Lord is willing for his righte confutes sake, shew he may magnifie the Law and exalt it.

22. But this people is robbed & spoiled, and shal be all shamed in dungeons, & they shal be hid in prison houses: they shalbe for a pray, and none shal deliuer: a spoile, and none shall say, Restore.

23. Who among you shal hearken to this, and take heed, and heare for afterwards?

24. Who gaue Iakob for a spoile, and Israel to the robbers? Did not the Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walke in his wayes, neither be obedient vnto his law.

25. Therefore he hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fire round about, and he knew not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

C H A P. XLIII.

¶ The Lord comforteth his people. Hee promisseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 21. There is no God but one alone.

BEV now thus saith the Lord that created thee, O Iakob, and he that formed thee, O Israel, Feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, thou art mine.

2. When thou passest thorow the waters, I will be with thee, & thorow the floods, that they doe not ouerflow thee. When thou walkest thorow the very fire, thou shalt not bee burnt, neither shall the flame kindle vpon thee.

3. For I am the Lord thy God, the holy One of Israel thy Saviour: I gaue Egypt for thy ransom, Ethiopia and Seba for thee.

4. Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honorable, and I sowed thee: therefore will I giue man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5. Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seede from the East, and gather thee from the West.

6. I will say to the North, Giue: & to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my serues from farre, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7. Euery one shall be called by my Name: for I created him for my glory, formed him, and made him.

8. I will bring forth the blinde people, and they shall haue eyes: and the deafe, and they shall haue eares.

9. Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, and shew vs former things? let them bring forth their witnesses, that they may be iustificed: but let them heare, and say, It is truth.

10. You are my witnesses, saith the Lord, & my seruant whom I haue chosen: therefore ye shall know and beleaue me, and ye shall vnderstand that I am: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11. I, even I am the Lord, and beside mee there is no Saviour.

12. I haue declared, and I haue sined, and I haue shewed when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God.

13. Yes, before the day now, I am: and there is none that can deliuer out of mine hand: I will doe it, and who shall let it?

14. Thus saith the Lord your Redeemer, the holy One of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and brought it downe: they are all fugitives, and the Caldians crie in the ships.

15. I am the Lord your holy One, the creatour of Israel your King.

16. Thus saith the Lord which maketh a way in the sea, and a path in the mighty waters.

17. When hee bringeth out the charret and horse, the army and the power lie together, and shall not rise: they are extind, and quenched as towne.

18. Remember ye not the former things, neither regard the things of old.

19. Behold, I doe a new thing, now shall it come forth: shal you not know it? I will euen make a way in the desert, and floods in the wilderness.

20. The wild beasts shall honour me, the dragons and the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert and floods in the wilderness, to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.

21. This people haue I formed for my selfe: they shall shew forth my praise.

22. And thou hast not called vpon me, O Iakob, but thou hast wearied me, O Israel.

23. Thou hast not brought mee the sheepe of thy burnt offerings, neither hast thou honoured me with thy sacrifices, I haue not caused thee to serue with an offering, nor wearied thee with incense.

24. Thou boughtest mee no sweete fauour with money, neither hast thou made me drinke with the fat of thy sacrifices, but thou hast made me to serue with thy finnes, and wearied mee with thine iniquities.

25. I, even I am hee that putteth away thine iniquities for mine owne sake, and will not remember thy finnes, 16 For in remembrance, let vs be iudged together: count thou that thou mayest be iustified.

17 Thy first father hath sinned, and thy teachers haue transgressed against me.

18 Therefore I haue professed the rulers of the Sanctuary, and haue made Iakob a curse, and Israel a reproch.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord promises to comfort, and that he will be sensible to the prayers of his servants. 2 The vanity of idoles. 3 The baseness of idolaters.

YEt now heare, O Iakob my seruant, and Israel, whom I haue chosen.

2 Thus saith the Lord that made thee, and formed thee from the wombe, hee will helpe thee. Feare not, O Iakob, my seruant, and thou righteous, whom I haue chosen.

3 For I will powre water vpon the thirstie, and floods vpon the dry ground: I will powre my spirit vpon my seed, and thy blessing vpon thy buds.

4 And they shall grow as among the grasie, and as the willowes by the riuers of waters.

5 One shall say, I am the Lords: another shall be called by the name of Iakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

6 Thus saith the Lord the king of Israel, and his Redeemer the Lord of hosts, I am the first, and I am the last, and without me there is no God.

7 And who is like me that shall call, and shall declare it, and set it in order before mee, since I appointed the ancient people? and what is at hand, and what things are to come? let them shew vnto them.

8 Feare ye not, neither be afraid: haue not I told thee of olde, and haue declared it yon are euen my witnesses, whether there bee a god beside me, and that there is no god that I know not.

9 All they that make an image are vanity, and their delectable things shall nothing profit: and they are their own witnesses, that they see not nor know: therefore they shall be confounded.

10 Who hath made a god, or molten an image that is profitable for nothing?

11 Behold, all that are of the fellowship thereof, shall be confounded: for y workmen themselves are men: let them all be gathered together, & stand vp, yet they shall feare and be confounded together.

12 The smith taketh an instrument, and worketh in the coales, and fashioneth it with hammers, and worketh it with the strength of his armes: yea, he is an hungred, and his strength faileth: he drinketh no water, and is faint.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he fashioneth it with a red thread, hee planeth it, & he poutrayeth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beauty of a man that it may remaine in an house.

14 He will hew him downe cedars, and take the pine tree and the oke, and taketh courage among the trees of the forest: he planteth a firre tree, and the raine doth nourish it.

15 And man burneth thereof: for he will take thereof, and warme himselfe: he also kindleth it, and baketh bread, yet he maketh a god, and worshippeth it: he maketh it an idole, and boweth vnto it.

16 He burneth the halfe thereof: euen in the fire, & vpon the halfe thereof he eateth flesh: he roasteth the roste, and is satisfied: also he warmeth himselfe, and saith, Aha, I am warme, I haue been at the fire.

17 And the residue thereof he maketh a god, euen his idole: he boweth vnto it, and worshippeth and prayeth vnto it, and saith, Deliver mee: for thou art my god.

18 They haue not known, nor vnderstand: for God hath shut their eyes, that they cannot see, and their hearts that they cannot vnderstand.

19 And none considereth in his heart, neither is there knowledge nor vnderstanding to say, I haue burnt halfe of a calf in the fire, and haue baketh bread: also vpon the coales thereof: I haue roasted flesh, and eaten it, and that I make the residue thereof an abomination: shall I bow to the stocks of a tree?

20 He feedeth of ashes: a sordid vessel hee deceiued him that he cannot deliver his soule, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?

21 Remember these, O Iakob, and Israel: for thou art my seruant: I haue furnished thee: thou art my seruant: O Israel, forget me not.

22 I haue put away thy transgressions like a cloud, and thy finnes as a mist: turne vnto mee, for I haue redeemed thee.

23 Reioyce, ye heavens: for the Lord hath done in about ye lower parts of the earth: burst forth into praises, ye mountaines, O forest, and euery tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Iakob, and will be glorified in Israel.

24 Thus saith the Lord thy redeemer, and he that formed thee from the wombe, I am the Lord that made all things, that spread out the heavens aloft, and stretched out the earth by my selfe.

25 I destroy the tokens of the soothsayers, and make them that couleure, sooles, and turne the wife men backward, and make their knowledge foolishnesse.

26 He confirmeth the word of his seruant, and performeth the counsell of his messengers, saying to Ierusalem, Thou shalt bee inhabited: and to the cities of Iudah, Ye shall be build vp, and I will repaire the decayed places thereof.

27 He saith to the deepe, Be drie, and I will drie vp thy floods.

28 He saith to Cyrus, Thou art my shepherd, and he shall performe all my desire: saying also to Ierusalem, Thou shalt be build: and to the Temple, Thy foundation shall be surely laid.

CHAP. XLV.

1 The deliuerance of the people by Cyrus. 2 God is iust in all his works. 3 The calling of the Gentiles.

Thus sayeth the Lord vnto Cyrus his anointed, whose right hand I haue holden to subdue nations before him: therefore will I weaken the loynes of kings, and open the doores before him, and the gates shall not be shut.

2 I will goe before thee, and make the crooked straight: I will breake the brasen doores, and burst the yron barres.

3 And I will giue thee the treasures of darkness, and the things hid in secret places, that thou mayest know that I am the Lord, which call thee by thy name, euen the God of Israel.

4 For Iakob my seruants sake, and Israel mine elect, I will euen call thee by thy name, and name thee, though thou hast not known me.

5 I am the Lord, and there is none other: there is no God besides me: I girded thee, though thou hast not known me.

6 That they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the West, that there is none besides me, I am the Lord, and there is none other.

7 I forme the light, & create darkness: I make peace & create euill: I the Lord do all these things.

8 Ye heavens, send the dew from above, and let the clouds drop downe sightfull fire: let the earth open, and let saluation and iustice grow forth: let it bring them forth together. I the Lord haue created him.

2. Woe be vnto him that strineth with his Maker, the pothbard with the pothbards of the earth: shall he say I to him that fashioneth it, What maketh thou for thy worke, it hath none hands?

3. Woe vnto him that saith to his father, What hast thou begotten, or to his mother, What hast thou brought forth?

4. Thus saith the Lord, the holy One of Israel, and his maker, Aske me of things to come concerning my finnes, and concerning the workers of mine hands command you me.

5. I haue made the earth, and created man vpon it: I, whose hands haue spread out the heauens, I haue euen commanded all their armie.

6. I haue raised him vp in righteousness, and I will direct all his wayes: hee shall build my citie, and he shall let goe my captiues, not for price nor reward, saith the Lord of hosts.

7. Thus saith the Lord, The labour of Egypt, and the merchandize of Ethiopia, and of the Sabaeans, men of stature shall come vnto thee, & they shall be thine: they shall follow thee, and shall be in chains: they shall fall downe before thee, and make supplication vnto thee, saying, Surely God is in thee, and there is none other God besides.

8. Verely thou, O God, hiddest thy selfe, O God, the Sanious of Israel.

9. All they shall be ashamed and also confounded: they shall goe to confusion together, that are the makers of images.

10. For Israel shall be sated in the Lord, with an euerslasting saluation: yee shall not be ashamed nor confounded world without end.

11. For thus saith the Lord (that created the heauen, God himselfe, that formed the earth, and made it, he that prepared it, hee created it not in vaine: he formed it to be inhabited) I am the Lord, and there is none other.

12. I haue not spoken in secret, wither in a place of darknesse in the earth: I said not in vaine vnto the seede of Iakob, Seeke you mee: I the Lord doe speake righteousness, and declare righteous things.

13. Assemble your selues, and come: draw neere together, yee abjects of the Gentiles: they haue no knowledge, that set vp the wood of their idols, and pray vnto a god that can not saue them.

14. Tell ye, and bring them, and let them take counsell together: who hath declared this from the beginning? or hath told it of old? Haue not I the Lord? and there is none other God beside me, a iust God, and a Sanious: there is none beside me.

15. I looke vnto me, and yet hath befieged: all the ends of the earth shall be sated: for I am God, and there is none other.

16. I haue sworn by my selfe: the word is gone out of my mouth in righteousness, and shall not returne. That euery knee shall bow vnto me, and euery tongue shall sweare by me.

17. Surely he shall say, In the Lord haue I righteousness and strength: hee shall come vnto him, and all that prouoke him shall be ashamed.

18. The whole seede of Israel shall be iustified, and glory in the Lord.

CHAP. XLVI.

1. The destruction of Babylon and of their idoles.

2. Wee calleth the Idoles to the consideration of our workes.

Bow downe thy bowes, Nebuchadnezzar: the idols bowe vpon the beasts, and vpon the cattell: they which did beare you, were laden with a weary burden.

2. They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not rid them of the burden, and their soule is gone into captivity.

3. Heare ye me, O house of Israel, and all that remaine of the house of Israel, which are borne of women the wombe, and brought vp of mens: am the birth.

4. Therefore vnto olde age, I the same, euen I will beare you vnto the haire halles: I haue made you: I will also beare you, and I will carie you, and I will deliuer you.

5. To whom wylly make me like, or make me equall, or compare me, that I should be like him?

6. They draw gold out of the bagge, and weigh silver in the balance, and hire a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bow downe and worship it.

7. They beare it vpon the shoulders: they carie him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, and cannot remooue from his place. Though one crieth vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8. Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it to gaite to minde, O you transgressours.

9. Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me.

10. Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of old, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will doe whatsoever I will.

11. I call a bird from the East, and the man of my counsell from farre: as I haue spoken, so wil I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and I will doe it.

12. Heare me, ye stubborne hearted, that are farre from iustice.

13. I bring neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tary: for I will giue saluation in Zion and my glory vnto Israel.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon, and the weeping thereof.

Come downe and sit in the dust: O virgine daughter Babel: sit on the ground: there is no throne, O daughter of the Caldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, Tender and delicate.

2. Take the millstones, and grind meale: loose thy lockes: make bare the feete: vnto the leg, and passe thorow the floods.

3. Thy filthinesse shall be discovered, and thy shame shall be seene: I will take vengeance, and will not meete thee as a man.

4. Our redeemer the Lord of hosts is his Name, the holy One of Israel.

5. Sit still and get thee into darknesse, O daughter of the Caldeans: for thou shalt no more be called, The lady of kingdoms.

6. I was wroth with my peop'le: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou didst shew them no mercie, but thou didst lay thy very heauie yoke vpon the ancient.

7. And thou saidst, I shall be a lady for euer: so that thou didst not set thy mind to these things, neither didst thou remember the latter end thereof.

8. Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesse: See saith in her heart, I am, and none else: I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall I know the losse of children.

9. But these two things shall come to thee suddenly.

denly on one day, the laſſe of children, and widowhood: they ſhall come vpon thee in their perfection for the multitude of thy diſtinctions, and for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10. For thou haſt truſted in thy wickednes: thou haſt ſaid, None ſeeeth mee. Thy wiſedome and thy knowledge, they haue cauſed thee to rebell, and thou haſt ſaid in thine heart I am, and none elſe.

11. Therefore ſhall euill come vpon thee, and thou ſhalt not know the morning thereof: deſtruction ſhall fall vpon thee, which thou ſhalt not be able to puauey: deſtruction ſhall come vpon thee ſuddenly or thou be ware.

12. Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy ſoothſayers (with whom thou haſt wearied thy ſelfe from thy youth) if ſo be thou mayeſt haue profite, or if ſo be thou mayeſt haue ſtrength.

13. Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy councils: let now the aſtrotogers, the ſtarre-gazers, and prognodicators ſtand vp, and ſaue thee from theſe things, that ſhall come vpon thee.

14. Behold, thy ſhall be as ſtubble: the fire ſhall burne them: they ſhall not deliuer their owne liues from the power of the flame: there ſhall be no coales to warme at, nor light to ſit by.

15. Thus ſhall they ſerue thee, with whom thou haſt wearied thee, euery thy merchants from thy youth: euery one ſhall wander to his owne quarter: none ſhall ſaue thee.

C H A P. XLVIII.

1 The hypocriſie of the Iewes is reproued. 21 The Lord alone will be worſhipped. 20 Of their deliue-rance out of Babylon.

HEARE ye this, O Houſe of Iſaakob, which are called by the name of Iſrael, and are come out of the waters of Iudah: which ſwore by the Name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Iſrael, but not in trueth, nor in righteouſneſſe.

2. For they are called of the holy city, and ſtay themſelues vpon the God of Iſrael, whoſe Name is,
The Lord of hoſtes.

3. I haue declared the former things of old, and they went out of my mouth, and I ſhewed them: I did them ſuddenly, and they came to paſſe.

4. Becauſe I knew that thou art obſtinate, and thy necke is an yron ſinew, and thy brow braſſe,

5. Therefore I haue declared it to thee of old:
before it came to paſſe. I ſhewed it thee, leſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Mine idol hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

6. Thou haſt heard, behold, all this and will not ye declare it? I haue ſhewed thee new things, euen now, and hid things which thou kneweſt not.

7. They are created now, and not of old, and euen before this thou heardeſt them not, leſt thou ſhouldeſt ſay, Behold, I knew them.

8. Yet thou heardeſt them not, neither diddeſt knowe them, neither yet was thine eare open of old:
for I knew that thou wouldeſt grievouſly tranſgreſſe: therefore haue I called thee a tranſgreſſour from the wombe.

9. For my Names ſake will I deferre my wrath, and for my praiſe will I reſtraint from thee, that I cut thee not off.

10. Behold, thou haſt ſined thee, but not as ſiluer: I haue choſen thee in the furnace of affliction.

11. For mine owne ſake, for mine owne ſake will I doe it: for how ſhould my Name be polluted? ſurely I will not giue my glory vnto another.

12. Heare me, O Iſaakob, and Iſrael my called, I am I ſm the firſt, and I am the laſt.

13. Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath ſpanned the heauens: when I call them they ſtand vp together,

14. All you aſſemble your ſeines, and heare:
Which among them hath declared theſe things? The Lord hath looſed him: he will doe his will in Babel, and his arme ſhall be againſt the Caldeans.

15. I, ſay, I haue ſpoken it, and I haue called him:
I haue brought him, and his way ſhall proſper.

16. Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not ſpoken it in ſecret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there: and now the Lord God and his Spirit hath ſent me.

17. Thus ſaith the Lord thy redeemer, the holy
One of Iſrael, I am the Lord thy God which teach thee to profit, and leade thee by the way that thou ſhouldeſt goe.

18. Oh that thou haſt hearkened to my Com-mandements! then had thy proſperity been as the ſtream, and thy righteouſneſſe as the waves of the ſea.

19. Thy feed alſo had been as the ſand, and the fruit of thy body like the grauell thereof: his name ſhould not haue been cut off, nor deſtroyed before me.

20. Go ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Calde-ans with a voice of ioy: tell and declare this: ſhew it forth to the end of the earth: ſay ye, The Lord hath redeemed his ſeruant Iſaakob.

21. And they were not ſtirred: he led them thro-row the wilderneſſe: hee cauſed the waters to flow out of the rocke for them: for hee claue the rocke, and the water gulleth out.

22. There is no peace, ſaith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

C H A P. XLIX.

1 The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleeue his promiſes. 6 Chriſt is the ſaluation of all that beleeue and will deliuer them from the tyranny of their enemies.

HEARE ye me, O yles, and hearken, yee people from farre, The Lord hath called me from the wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

2. And hee hath made my mouth like a ſharpe ſword: vnder the ſhadow of his hand hath he hid me, and made me a choſen ſhaft, and hid mee in his quiver,

3. And ſaid vnto me, Thou art my ſeruant Iſrael, for I will be glorious in thee.

4. And I ſaid, I haue laboured in vaine: I haue ſpent my ſtrength in vaine, and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

5. And now, ſaith the Lord, that formed mee from the wombe to be his ſeruant, that I may bring Iſaakob againe to him (though Iſrael be not gathered, yet ſhall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord:
and my God ſhall be my ſtrength)

6. And he ſaid, It is a ſmall thing that thou ſhoul-deſt be my ſeruant to raiſe vp the tribes of Iſaakob, and to reſtore the deſolations of Iſrael: I will alſo giue thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayeſt be my ſaluation vnto the end of the world.

7. Thus ſaith the Lord the Redeemer of Iſrael, and his holy One, to him that is deſpised in ſoule, to a nation that is abhorred, to a ſeruant of rulers, Kings ſhall ſee, and ariſe, and princes ſhall worſhip, becauſe of the Lord that is richfull, and the holy
One of Iſrael, which hath choſen thee.

8. Thus ſaith the Lord, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee: and in a day of ſaluation haue I helped thee: and I will preſerue thee, and will giue thee

thee for a covenant of the people, that thou shallest raise vp the earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages.

9 That thou maist say to thy prisoners, Go forth: and to them that are in darkness, Shew you felings: they shall feed in the wades, and their pastures shall be in all the tops of the hills.

10 They shall not be hungry, neither shall they be thirlike, neither shall the heat smite them, nor the Sunne: for he that hath compassion on them, shall lead them: euen to the springs of waters shall hee drine them.

11 And I will make all my mountaines as a way, and my path shalbe staled.

12 Behold, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North, and from the West, and these from the land of Sinim.

13 Reioyce, O heauens, and be ioyfull, O earth: brast forth into praise, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

14 But Zion said, The Lord hath forsaken mee, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Cana woman forget her childe, and not haue compassion on the son of her wombe? though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

16 Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palm of mine hands: thy wals are cur in my sight.

17 Thy builders make haste, thy destroyers and that they made thee waste, are departed from thee.

18 Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold: all these gather themselves together, and come to thee: as I vnde, saith the Lord thou shalt surely put them all vpon thee as a garment, and gird thyselfe with them like a bride.

19 For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed shall surely bee now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, & they that did deuoure thee, shalbe farre away.

20 The children of thy barrenesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is strait for me: giue place to me that I may dwell.

21 Then shalt thou say in thine heart, Who hath begotten mee these, feeling I am barren and desolate, a captiue and a wanderer to and fro? and who hath nourished me? behold, I was left alone: whence are these?

22 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will lift vp mine hand to the Gentiles, and set vp my standard to the people, and they shall bring thy sonnes in their armes and thy daughters shalbe caried vpon their shoulders.

23 And Kings shall bee thy nursing fathers, and Queenes shalbe thy nurses: they shall worship thee with their faces toward thy earth, & sicke vp the dust of thy teet: and thou shalt know that I am the Lord: for they shall not be ashamed that waite for me.

24 Shall the pray be taken from the mightie? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

25 But thus saith the Lord, Euen the captiuitie of the mightie shall bee taken away: and the pray of the tyrant shalbe deliuered: for I will contend with him that contendeth with thee, and I will save thy children.

26 And I will feed them that spoile thee, with their owne flesh, and they shalbe drunken with their owne blood, as with sweet wine: and all flesh shall know that I the Lord am thy Saujour, and thy Redeemer, the mightie one of Isakob.

C H A P. L.

1 The leues forsaken for a time, 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished, 3 Chas obedience to victory.

Thus saith the Lord, Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcement, whom I haue cast off: who is the creditor to whom I should you? Behold, for your iniquities are ye sold, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Wherefore camel, and there was no man? I called, and none answered: is mine hand so shortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Behold, at my rebuke I dry vp the sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotteth for want of water, and dieh for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darkness and make a sacke their covering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen me a tongue of the learned, that I should know to wadsfer a word in time to him that is wearie: hee will raise me vp in the morning: in the morning hee will waken mine eare to heare as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious, neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe mee, therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore haue I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not bee ashamed.

8 He is neere that inisteth me: who will contend with me? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersary? let him come neere to me.

9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe mee: who is he that can condemne me? loe, they shall waxe olde as a garment: the moth shall eat them vp.

10 Who is among you that feareth the Lorde? let him heare the voyce of his seruante: he that walketh in darkness, and hath no light, let him trust in the name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Behold, all you kindle a fire, & are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that ye haue kindled. This shall ye haue of mine hand: ye shall lie downe in sorrow.

C H A P. L I.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 2 Not to steeuen. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem 22 and her deliurance.

Hear me ye that follow after righteoussnes, and ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the rocke whence yee are hewen, and to the hole of the pit whence yee are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sarah that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and he shall make her desert like Eden, and her wilderness like the garden of the Lord: ioy and gladnes shalbe found therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken ye vnto me, my people, and giue eare vnto me, O my people: for a law shall proceed from mee, and I will bring forth my iudgment for the light of the people.

5 My righteoussnes is neere: my saluation goeth forth, & mine armes shall iudge the people: the yles shall wait for me, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens; and looke vpon the earth beneath: for the heauen shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall waxe old like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perish in like maner, but my saluation shall be for euer, and my righteoussnes shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, ye that know righteoussnes, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraid of their rebukes.

8 For the mouth shall eat them vp like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like woolle: but my righteousnes shall be for ever, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength O arme of the Lord: rise vp, as in the old time, in the generations of the world. Art not thou the same, that hath cast Rahab, and wounded the dragon?

10 Art not thou the same which hath dried the Sea, when the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe over?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come with ioy vnto Zion, and euersing ioy shall be vpon their head: they shall obtayne ioy and gladnes: and sorrow and mourning shall bee away.

12 I, I, I am hee that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldst feare a mortall man and the sonne of man, which shall be made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spread out the heauen, and laid the foundations of the earth? and hath feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue hasteneth to be loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that diuided the Sea when his waues roared: The Lord of hostes is his Name.

16 And I haue put my words in thy mouth, and haue defended thee in the shadowe of mine hand, that I may plant the heauens, and lay the foundation of the earth, and say vnto Zion, Thou art my people.

17 Awake, awake, and stand vp. O Ierusalem, which hast drunke at the hand of the Lord the cup of his wrath: thou hast drunken the dregs of the cup of trembling, and wrung them out.

18 There is none to guide her among all the sons, whom she hath brought forth: there is none that taketh her by the hand, of all the sones that shee hath brought vp.

19 These two things are come vnto thee: who wilt lament thee? desolation, and destruction, and famine, and the sword: by whome shall I comfort thee?

20 Thy foanes haue fainted, and lie at the head of all the streetes as a wild bull in a net, and are full of the wrath of the Lord, and rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore heare now this, thou miserable and drunken, but not with wine.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, euen God that pleadeth the cause of his people, Behold, I haue taken out of thine hand the cup of trembling, euen the dregs of the cup of my wrath: thou shalt drinke it no more.

23 But I will put it into their hand, I will spoile thee: which haue said to thy soule, Bow downe, that wee may goe ouer, and thou hast laid thy body as the ground, and as the streete to them that went ouer.

CHAP. I.II.

1 A consolation to the people of God. 7 Of the messengers thereof.

A Rise, arise, put on thy strength, O Zion, put on the garments of thy beantie. O Ierusalem, the holy City: for henceforth there shall no more come into thee the vncircumcised, and the vnclean.

2 Shake thy selfe from the dust, raise & sit down. O Ierusalem, loose the bands of thy necke, O thou captiue daughter, Zion.

3 For thus saith the Lord, Yee were sold for nought: therefore shall yee bee redeemed without money.

4 For thus saith the Lord God, My people went downe as sheepe into Egypt to sojourn there, and Ashtar oppressed them without cause.

5 Now therefore, what haue I here, saith the Lord, that my people is taken away for nought, and they that role ouer them, make them to heele saith the Lord? and my Name all the day continually is blasphemed?

6 Therefore my people shall know my Name: therefore they shall know in that day, that I am hee that doe speake. Behold, it is I.

7 How beaustill vpon the mountaine are the feet of him that declareth, and publisheth peace! that declareth good tidings, and publisheth salvation, saying vnto Zion, Thy God reigneth.

8 The voyce of thy watchmen shall be heard: they shall lift vp their voice, and shout together: for they shall see eye to eye, when the Lord shall bring againe Zion.

9 O ye desolate places of Ierusalem, be glad and reioyce together: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Ierusalem.

10 The Lord hath made bare his holy arme in the sight of all the Gentiles: and all the ends of the earth shall see the saluation of our God.

11 Depart, depart ye: goe out from thence, and touch no vnclean thing: goe out of the mids of her, be ye cleane that beate the yels of the Lord.

12 For ye shall not goe out with haste, nor depart by fleeing away: but the Lord will goe before you, and the God of Israel will gather you together.

13 Behold, my seruant shall prosper: hee shall be exalted and extolled and be very high.

14 As many were astonied at thee, (thy visage was so deformed of men, and his forme of the foanes of men) so shall he sprinkle many nations: the Kings shall shut their mouthes at him: for that which had not bene told them, shall they see: and that which they had not heard, shall they vnderstand.

CHAP. I.III.

1 Of Christ and his Kingdom, who's word first will beleeue. 6 All men are sinners. 11 Christ is our righteousnesse. 12 And a dead for our sinners.

W Ho will beleeue our report? and to whom is the arme of the Lord reuealed?

2 But he shall grow vp before him as a branch, and as a root out of a dry ground: hee hath neither forme nor beauty: when wee shall see him, there shall be no forme that wee should desire him.

3 He is despised & rejected of men: he is a man full of sorrows, and hath experience of infirmities: we hid as it were, our faces from him: he was despised, and we esteemed him not.

4 Surely he hath borne our infirmities, and carried our sorrowes: yet wee didudge him as plagued and smitten of God, and humbled.

5 But hee was wounded for our transgressions, he was broken for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes wee are healed.

6 All we like sheepe haue gone astray: wee haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath laid vpon him the iniquities of vs all.

7 He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet did he not open his mouth: he is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer.

be dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

12 Hee was taken out from prison, and from judgement: and who shall declare his age? for hee was cut out of the land of the living: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

13 And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though hee had done no wickedness, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

14 Yet the Lord would breake him, and make him subject to affliction: when hee shall make his soule an offering for sinne, hee shall see his seed, and shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

15 Hee shall see of the transgression of his soule, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous servant iustifie many: for he shall beare their iniquities.

16 Therefore will I give him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoile with the strong, because hee hath powered out his soule vnto death, and he was counted with the transgressours, and he bare the sinne of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

CHAP. LIII.

After the Crucifixion shall follow the Gospel then of the Ieremie. 7 God search his for a time, to whom after ward he shal be mercie.

Recioye, O barren, that didst not beare: breake forth into ioy, and reioyce thou that didst not travaile with child: for the desolate hath mee children, then the married wife, saith the Lord.

2 Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spread out the curtaines of thine habitations: spare not, stretch out thy cords and make fast thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt increase on ieright hand and on the left, and thy seed shall possess the Gentiles, and dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not, or thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou bee confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproch of thy widowhood any more.

5 For hee that made thee, is thine husband, (whose Name is the Lord of hosts) and thy redeemer the holy One of Israel shall be called the God of the whole world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee, being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, and as a young wife, when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

7 For a little while have I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment, in mine anger, I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with everlasting mercie have I had compassion on thee, saith the Lord thy redeemer.

9 For this is vnto me as the waters of Noah: for as I have sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe over the earth: so have I sworne that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountains shall remove, and the hills shall fall down: but my mercie shall not depart from thee, neither shall the covenant of my peace fall away, saith the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 O thou afflicted and tossed with tempest, that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with the Carbuncle, & lay thy foundation with Saphirs.

12 And I will make thy windowes of I Emeralds and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall be taught of the Lord, and much peace shall be to thy children.

14 In righteousness shall thou be established, and be farre from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it, and thou shalt feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

15 Behold, the enemy shall gather himselfe, but without mee: whosoever shall gather himselfe in thee, against thee, shall fall.

16 Behold, I have created the smith that bloweth the coles in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his works, and I have created the destroyer to destroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and every tongue that shall rise against thee in judgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lord deservants, and their rightconnesse: for me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. LIV.

An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods commandment is mans. 12 The ioy of the faithful.

HO, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and if ye have no money, come buy and eat: come, I say, buy wine and milke without silver, and without money.

3 Wherefore doe ye lay outlinen and not for bread? and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently unto mee, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delight in fatnesse.

4 Encline your eares, and come vnto me, heare, and your soule shall live, and I will make an everlasting Covenant with you, saith the Lord.

5 Behold, I gave him for a witnesse to the people, Iora Prince and a master vnto the people.

6 Behold, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knew not thee, shall runne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the Holy One of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

7 Seeke ye the Lord while hee may be found: call ye vpon him while he is neere.

8 Let the wicked forsake his wayes, and the vnrigheteous his owne imaginations, and let them vnto the Lord, and he will have mercie vpon him: and to our God, for he is very ready to forgive.

9 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, saith the Lord.

10 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughts above your thoughts.

11 Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may give feed to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth.

12 So shall my word bee, that goeth out of my mouth: it shall not returne vnto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

13 Therefore ye shall goe out with ioy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall breake forth before you into ioy, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.

14 For thornes there shall grow fire trees: for nettles shall grow the mirrhe tree, and it shall be to the Lord for a name, and for an everlasting signe that shall not be taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

An exhortation to indurment and iustice, 10 Against shepherds that despoile their flocke.

THUS saith the Lord, Keepe indgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my rightconnesse to be revealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doeth this, & the sonne of man which layeth hold on it: he that keepeth the Sabbath, and pollutech it not, & keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

1. And let not the soune of the stranger, which is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separated mee from his people: neither let the Eunuch say Behold, I am a day mee.

2. For thus saith the Lord vnto the Eunuches, that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth me, and take hold of my Couenant.

3. Euen vnto them will I giue in mine house, and within my walles, a place and a name better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an euerslasing name, that shall not be put out.

4. And the strangers that cleane vnto the Lord, to serue him, & to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and pollutech it not, and imbracech my Couenant.

5. Them will I bring also to my holy Mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine house of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon mine Altar: for mine house shall be called an house of prayer for all people.

6. The Lord God saith, which gathereth the scattered of Israel. Yet will I gather to them those that are to be gathered to them.

7. All yee beasts of the field, come to deuoure, yea all yee beasts of the forest.

8. Their watchmen are all blind: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumbe dogs: they cannot bark: they lie and sleepe, and delight in sleepe.

9. And these greedy dogges can neuer haue enough: and these shepheards cannot vnderstand: for they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose.

10. Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

CHAP. LVII.

1. God taketh away the good, that he should not see the horrible plagues to come. 2. Of the wicked adulterers. 3. And their vaine confidence.

THE righteous perissheth, and no man confideth it in heart, and mercifull men are taken away, and no man vnderstandeth that the righteous is taken away from the euill to come.

2. Peace shall come they shall rest in their beds, euery one that walketh before him.

3. But yon wretches children, come hither, the feed of the adulterer and of the whore.

4. On whom haue yee iested? vpon whom haue yee gaped and thrust out your tongue? are not yee rebellious children, and a false feede?

5. Inflamed with idoles vnder euery green tree? and sacrificing the children in the valleys vnder the tops of the rocks?

6. Thy portion is in the smooth Rones of the river: they, they are thy lot: euen to them hast thou powred a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice. Should I delight in the?

7. Thou hast made thy bed vpon a very high mountaine: thou wentest vp thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.

8. Behinde the doores also and postes hast thou set vp thy remembrance: for thou hast discoverd thy selfe to another then mee, and wentest vp, and diddest enlarge thy bed, and make a couenant betweene thee and them, and loudest their bed in euery place where thou sleepest it.

9. Thou wentest to the kings with oyle, & didst increase thine oynments, and send thy messengers farre off, and didst humble thy selfe vnto bell.

10. Thou weardest thy selfe in thy manifold iustices, yet diddest thou me. There is no hope thou shalt find life by thine hand: therefore thou wast not grieved.

11. And whom diddest thou reuerence or feare, seeing thou hast lied vnto me, and hast not remembered me? neither set thy minde thereon? Is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long time? therefore thou fearest not mee.

12. I will declare thy righteousnesses, and thy workes, and they shall not profit thee.

13. When thou cryest, let them that thou hast gathered together deliuer thee: but the wind shall take them all away: vaine shall pull them away, but hee that trusteth in mee shall inherite the land, and shall possesse mine holy Mountaine.

14. And he shall say, Calt vp, calt vp: prepare the way: take vp the stumbling blockes out of the way of my people.

15. For thus saith he that is High and Excellent, he that inhabiteth the eternitie, whose Name is the holy One, I dwell in the high and holy place: with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit to reuise the spirit of the humble, and to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

16. For I will not contend for euer, neither will I be alwayes wroth, for the spirit should faile before me: and I haue made the breath.

17. For his wicked couetousnes I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid mee and was angry, yet he went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart.

18. I haue seene his wayes, and will heale him, I will lead him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lamt with him.

19. I create the fruite of the lippos to be peace: peace vnto them that are farre off, and to them that are neere saith the Lord: for I will heale him.

20. But the wicked are like the raging sea, that cannot rest, whose waters cast vp mire and dirt.

21. There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

CHAP. LVIII.

1. The office of Gods Ministers. 2. The works of the hypocrites. 3. The first of the fasts. 4. Of the true Sabbath.

CRie aloud, spare not: lift vp thy voyce like a trumpet, and shew my people their transgression, and to the house of Iaakob their sinnes.

2. Yet they seeke me dayly, and will know my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they wil draw neere vnto God, saying.

3. Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Behold, in the day of your fast you will seeke your will, and require all your debts.

4. Beholde, yee fast to strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickednesse: yee shall not fast as yee doe to day, to make your voice to bee heard aboue.

5. Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bow downe his head as a bulrush, and to lie downe in sackcloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6. Is not this the fasting that I haue chosen, to loose the bands of wickednes, to take off the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed goe free, and that yee breake euery yoke?

Item. 1.

12. 3.
12. 5. 2

7 Is it not to deale thy bread vnto the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou cover him, and hide not thy selfe from thine owne flesh?

8 Then shall thy light breake forth as the morning, and thine health shall grow speedily: thy righteousness shall goe before thee, and the glory of the Lord shall embrace thee.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answer: thou shalt cry, and hee shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from y^e mids of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger and wicked speaking:

10 If thou powre out thy soule to the hungrie, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the darkenesse, and thy darkenesse shall be as the noone day.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually: and as for the soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt bee like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shall be of thee that shall build the old wast places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt bee called the repaire of the breach, and the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, & call the Sabbath a delight: to consecrate it as glorious to the Lord, and shalt honour him: nor doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word, 14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lord, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the hie places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Iacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

1 The wicked perish through their own iniquities. 2 The confission of sinnes. 3 God alone will preserve his Church though all men faile.

Behold, * the Lords hand is not shortned, that it cannot saue: neither is his care heauie, that it cannot heare.

But * your iniquities haue separated between you, and your God, and your finnes haue hid his face from you, that he will not heare.

For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lips haue spoken lies, and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie.

No man calleth for iustice: no man contendeth for truth: they trust in vanitie, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischief, and bring forth iniquitie.

They hatch cockatrice eggs, and weane the spiders web: he that eateth of their eggs dieth, and that which is trode vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

Their webs shall be like no garment, neither shall they couer themselves with their labours: for their workes are workes of iniquitie, and the worke of cruelty in their hands.

Their feet run to enill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation and destruction in their paths.

The way of peace they know not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoever goeth therein, shall not know peace.

Therefore is iudgement farre from vs, neither doth iustice come neere vnto vs: wee wait for light, but loe, it is darkenesse: for brightnesse, but we walke in darkenesse.

Wee grope for the wall like the blinde, and wee grope as one without eyes: wee stumble at the noone day in the twilight: wee are in solitarie places, as dead men.

Wee are all like beares, and moune like doves: we looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

For our trespasses are many before thee, and our sinnestifne against vs, for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities.

In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and wee haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of crueltie and rebellion, conceining and vttering out of the heart false matters.

Therefore iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth farre off: for truth is fallen in the street, and equitie cannot enter.

Yea, truth faileth, and hee that restrained from enill, maketh himselfe a pray: and when the Lord saw it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

And when he saw that there was no man, hee wondered that none would offer himselfe. Therefore his arme did saue it, and his righteousness in selfe did sustaine it.

For he put on righteousness as an habergeon, and an helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloake.

As to make recompense, as to requite the sinne of the aduersaries with a recompense to his enemies: he will fully repay the ylands.

So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the Sunne: for the enemy shall come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away.

And the redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto them that turne from iniquitie in Iacob, saith the Lord.

And I will make this my covenant with them, saith the Lord, My Spirit that is vpon thee, and my words which I haue put in thy mouth, shall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy seed, nor out of the mouth of the seed of thy seed, saith the Lord, from henceforth euen for euer.

CHAP. LIX.

The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 2 They shall come to the church in abundance. 3 They shall haue abundance, though they suffer for a time.

Arise, O Israel, be bright: for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen vpon thee.

For behold, darkenesse shall couer the earth, and grosse darkenesse the people: but the Lord shall arise vpon thee, and his glory shall be scene vpon thee.

And the Gentiles shall walke in thy light, and kings at the brightness of thy rising vp.

Lift vp thine eyes round about, and behold, all these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shall bee nourished at thy side.

Then thou shalt see and shine: thine heart shall bee astonied and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall be conuerted vnto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come vnto thee.

The multitude of camels shall couer thee, and the dromedaries of Midian, and of Ephah: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring gold and incense, and shew forth the praises of the Lord.

All the sheepe of Kedar shall be gathered vnto thee: the rams of Nebaioth shall serue thee: they shall shall come up to be accepted upon ships abroad: and I will beset the towers of my glory.

18 Who are these that flee like a cloud, and as the dowers to their windows?

19 Surely the yles shall waite for mee, and the ships of Tarshish as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their silver & their gold with them, vnto the Name of the Lord thy God, and to the holy One of Israel, because hee hath glorified thee.

20 And the towers of strangers shall build vp thy walles, and their Kings shall minister vnto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercy I had compassion on thee.

21 Therefore thy gates shall be open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shut, that men may bring vnto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought.

22 For the nation and the kingdome that will not serue thee, shall perish: and those nations shall be utterly destroyed.

23 The glory of Lebanon shall come vnto thee, shee firre tree, the sime and the boxe tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuary: for I will glorifie the place of my feet.

24 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bow vnto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall downe at the soles of thy feet: and they shall call thee. The cite of the Lord, Zion of the holy One of Israel.

25 Whereas thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glory, and a ioy from generation to generation.

26 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the breasts of kings: and thou shalt know that I the Lord am thy Saviour and thy Redeemer, the mightie One of Iacob.

27 For brasie will I bring gold, and for yron will I bring silver, and for wood brasie, and for stones yron. I will also make thy gouernment peace, and shine exultations righteousness.

28 Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction within thy borders: but thou shalt call Saluation thy walles, and Praise thy gates.

29 Thou shalt have no more Sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightnesse of the Moone shine vnto thee, for the Lord shall bee thine euerslasting light, and thy God thy glory.

30 Thy Sunne shall neuer goe downe, neither shall thy Moone bee hid, for the Lord shall be thine euerslasting light, and the daies of thy sorrow shall be ended.

31 Thy people also shall bee all righteous: they shall possesse the land for euer, the grasse of my plaining shall bee the worke of mine hands, that I may be glorified.

32 A little one shall become as a thousand, and a small one as a strong nation: I the Lord will hasten it in due time.

CHAP. LXI.

1 He prophesieth that Christ shall be anointed and sent to preach. 2 The way of the faithfull.

18. THe Spirit of the Lord God is vpon mee, therefore hath the Lord anointed me: hee hath sent mee to preach good tidings vnto the poore, to binde vp the broken hearted, to preach libertie to the captiues, and to them that are bound, the opening of the prison.

2 To preach the acceptable yeece of the Lord.

and the day of vengeance of our God, to comfort all that mourne.

3 To appoint vnto them that mourne in Zion, and to giue vnto them beautes for ashes, the cyriele of ioy for mourning, the garment of gladnesse for the spirit of heauinesse, that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified.

4 And they shall build the old waile places, and raise vp the former desolations, and they shall repaite the cities that were desolate, and waite thow many generations.

5 And the strangers shall stand and feede, your sheepe, and the sonnes of the strangers shall be your plowmen and dressers of your vines.

6 But ye shall be named the Priests of the Lord, and men shall say vnto you, The ministers of our God: ye shall eat the riches of the Gentiles, & shall be exulted with their glory.

7 For your shame you shall receiue double, & for confusion they shall reioyce in their portion: for in their land they shall possesse the double: euerslasting ioy shall be vnto them.

8 For I the Lord loue indignement, and hate robbery for burnt offering, and I will direct their worke in truth, and I will make an euerslasting Couenant with them.

9 And their freede shall be knowne among the Gentiles, and their budde among the people. All that see them, shall know them, that they are the seed which the Lord hath blessed.

10 I will greatly reioyce in the Lord, and my soule shall be ioyfull in my God, for hee hath clothed me with the garments of saluation, and covered me with the robe of righteousness: hee hath decked mee like a bridegrome, and as a bride titheth her selfe with her Jewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden causeth to grow that which is sown in it: so the Lord God will cause righteousness to grow, and praise before all the heathen.

CHAP. LXII.

1 The great desire that the Prophets haue had for Christs coming. 2 The diligence of the Pastors to preach.

For Zions sake I will not hold my tongue, and for Ierusalem sake I will not rest, vntill the righteousness thereof breake forth as the light, and saluation thereof as a burning lampe.

2 And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousness, and all Kings thy glory: and thou shalt bee called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.

3 Thou shalt also bee a crowne of glorie in the hand of the Lord, and a royall diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 It shall no more be said vnto thee, Forsaken, neither shall it bee said any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt be called I Hephzi-bah, and thy land I Beulah: for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an husband.

5 For as a young man marieth a virgin, so shall thy sonnes marrie thee, and as a bridegrome is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer thee.

6 I haue set watchmen vpon thy walles, O Ierusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shall not cease: yee that are mindedfull of the Lord, keepe not silence,

7 And giue him no rest, till he repaire, and vntill he set vp Ierusalem the praise of the world.

8 The Lord hath sworn by his right hand and by his strong arme, Surely I will no more giue thy enemy cannot be drunk forthine enemies, and surely the founts of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured.

But they that have gathered it, shall eat it, and praise the Lord: & the gatherers thereof shall drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuary.

Goethow, goethow the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones, and set vp a standard for the people.

Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto the ends of the world: tell the daughter Zion, Behold, thy Saviour cometh: behold, his wages with him; and his worke as before him.

And they shall call them: The holy people,
the redeemed of the Lord, and thou shalt be named,
A saviour sought out, and not forsaken.

CHAP. XLIII.

God shall destroy his enemies for his Churches sake. 7 Gods mercies toward his Church.

Who is this that cometh from Edom: with red garments from Bozrah? he is glorious in his apparel, & walketh in his great strength. I shall be in righteousness, & am mighty to save.

Wherefore is thine apparel red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the winepress?

I have troden the winepress alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for I will treade them in mine anger, and tread them vnder foot in my wrath, and their blood shall bee sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment.

For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the yee of my redeemed is come.

And I looked, and there was none to helpe, and I wondered that there was none to uphold:
therefore mine owne arme helped me, & my wrath
it selfe sustained mee.

Therefore I will tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

I will remember the mercies of the Lord, and the praises of the Lord, according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward the house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.

For he said, Surely they are my people, children that will not lie: so he was their Saviour.

In all their troubles he was troubled, and the Angel of his presence saved them: in his loue and in his mercie he redeemed them, and he bare them and carried them alwayes continually.

But they rebelled and vexed his holy Spirit:
therefore was he turned to be their enemy, and hee fought against them.

Then he remembered the old time of Moses, and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the Sea, when the Shepheard of his sheepe? where is he that put his holy Spirit within him?

He led them by straight hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them to make himselfe an everlasting Name.

He led them thorow the deepe as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble.

As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, so make thy selfe a glorious Name.

Looke downe from heauen, and behold from the dwelling place of thine Holiness, & of thy glory, Where is thy wrath and thy strength: the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions: they are restrained from mee.

Doubtlesse thou art our father, though Aboham be ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our Redempter: thy Name is for ever.

O Lord, why hast thou made vs to tye from thy waies? and hardened our heart from thy feare?
Returne for thy seruants sake, and for the tribes of thine inheritance.

The people of thine holinesse haue possessed it but a little while: for our aduersaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuary.

We haue bene ashy over whom thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whom thy Name was not called.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The Prophet prayeth for the sinners of the people.
Man's righteousness is like a filthy clot.

How that thou wouldst breake the heauen, and come downe, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence.

As the melting fire burned, as the fire touched the waters to boile, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy aduersaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

When thou didst terrible things which we looked not for, thou camest downe, and the moun-taines melted at thy presence.

For since the beginning of the world they haue not heard nor vnderstood with the eare, neither hath the eye seene another God beside thee, which doth so to him that waiteth for him.

Thou diddest meet him that reioyced in thee, and didst ill: they remembered thee in thy wayes:
beholde, thou art angry, for we haue sinned: yet in them is continuance, and we shall be saved.

But wee haue all bene as an vncleane thing, and all our righteousnesses as filthy clouts, and we all doe fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the wind haue taken vs away.

And there is none that calleth vpon thy Name, neither that stireth vp himselfe to take hold of thee:
for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

But now, O Lord, thou art our Father: we are the clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

Be not angry, O Lord, aboue measure, neither remember iniquities for euer: loe, we beseech thee, behold, we are all thy people.

Thine holy cities lie waste: Zion is a wildernes, and Ierusalem a deserte.

The house of our Sanctuary, and of our glory, where our fathers praised thee, is burnt vp with fire, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

Wilt thou hold thy selfe still at these things,
O Lord? wilt thou hold thy peace, and allice vs about measure?

CHAP. XLV.

The vocation of the Gentiles, and the reuision of the Jewes. The voy of the shell, and the punishment of the wicked.

I haue bene sought of them that asked not: I was found of them that sought me not: I said, Behold, me, behold me, vnto a nation that calleth not vpon my Name.

I haue spread out mine hands all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, and altered their owne imaginations.

A people

3 A people that provoked mee ever vnto my face: that sacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incense vpon brickes.

4 Which remaine among the graues, and lodge in the defects, which eat swines flesh, & the brood of things polluted are in their vessels.

5 Which say, Stand apart, come not neere to mee: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath, and a fire that burneth all the day.

6 Behold, it is written before mee: I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers, shall be together (saith the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed mee vpon the hilles: therefore will I measure their old worke into their bosome.

8 Thus saith the Lord, As the wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a blessing is in it, so will I doe for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a serde out of Iakob, & out of Iudah, that shall inherite my mountaine, and mine elect shall inherite it, and my seruants shall dwell there.

10 And Sharon shall be a sheepfold, and the valley of Achor shall be a resting place for the cattell of my people that haue sought me.

11 For ye are they that haue forsaken the Lord, and forgotten mine holy mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the multitude, and furnish the drinke offering vnto the number.

12 Therefore will I number you to the sword, and all you shall bow downe to the slaughter, because I called, and yeedid not answer: I spake, and ye heard not, but did euill in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, my seruants shall eate, and ye shall bee hungry: behold, my seruants shall drinke, and ye shall be thirstie, behold, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shall be ashamed.

14 Behold, my seruants shall sing for ioy of heart, and ye shall cry for sorrow of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde.

15 And yee shall leaue your name as a curse vnto my chosen: for the Lord God shall slay you, and call his seruants by another name.

16 He that shall blesse in the earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and he that sweareth in the earth, shall swear by the true God: for the former troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselves from mine eyes.

17 For loe, I will create new heavens, and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered nor come into minde.

18 But bee you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for behold, I will create Ierusalem as a reioicing, and her people as a ioy.

19 And I will reioyce in Ierusalem; and ioy in my people, and the voice of weeping shall bee no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

20 There shall be no more there a child of yeeres, nor an old man that hath not filled his dayes: for hee that shall be an hundred yeere old, shall die as a young man: but the finner being an hundred yeeres old, shall be accursed.

21 And they shall build houses and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyards, and eate the fruit of them.

22 They shall not build, and another inhabit they shall not plant, and another eate: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall enjoy in old age the worke of their hands.

23 They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in seare: for they are the seede of the blessed of the Lord, and their buds with them.

24 Yea, before they call, I will answer, and whilst they speake, I will heare.

25 The wolfe and the lambe shall feed together, and the lion shall eat straw like the bullocke: and the serpent dust shall be his meate. They shall no more hurt nor destroy in all mine holy mountaine, saith the Lord.

CHAP. LXVI.

1 God dwelleth not in temples made with hands:

2 He despiseth sacrifice done without mercy, and saith,

3 God comforteth them that are troubled for Iakob.

19 The vocation of the Gentiles. 23 The people shall Sabbath. 24 The punishment of the wicked is everlasting.

Thus saith the Lord, * The heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footstool: where is that house that ye will build vnto mee? and where is that place of my rest?

3 For all these thing hath mine hand made, and all these things haue become, saith the Lord, and to him will I looke euento him that is poore, and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my words.

4 He that killeth a bullocke, as if he slew a man: he that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if hee cut off a dogs necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if hee offered swines blood: he that remembreth incense, as if he blessed an idole yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes, and their soule delighted in their abominations.

5 Therefore will I chuse out their delusions, and I will bring their feare vpon them, because I called, and none would answer: I spake, and they would not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chole the things which I would not.

6 Heare the word of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his word, Your brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but he shall appeare to your ioy, and they shall be ashamed.

7 A voyce soundeth from the citie, even a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lord, that recompenseth his enemies fully.

8 Before the trauailed, she brought forth, and before her paine came, she was delivered of a man child.

9 Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seen such things? that the earth be brought forth in one day, or shall a nation be borne at once? for as soone as Zion trauailed, she brought forth her children.

10 Shall I cause to trauaile, and not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth, and shall be barren, saith thy God?

11 Reioyce you with Ierusalem, & be glad with her, all yee that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all yee that mourne for her.

12 That yee may sucke and be satisfied with the breasts of her consolation: that yee may milke out, and bee delighted with the brightnesse of her glory.

13 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will extend peace ouer her like a flood, and the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall ye sucke, ye shall bee borne vpon her sides, and bee ioyfull vpon her knees.

14 As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and yee shall be comforted in Ierusalem.

14 And when you see this, your heart shall rejoyce, and your bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shall be known among his servants, and his indignation against his enemies.

15 For behold, the Lord will come with fire and his chariots like a whirlewinde, that he may recompense his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

16 For the Lord will indge with fire, and with his sword all flesh, and the slaine of the Lord shall be many.

17 They that sanctifie themselves, and purifie themselves in the gardens, behinde one tree in the middes eating swines flesh, and such abomination, even the moule, shall be consumed together, saith the Lord.

18 For I will visfire their workes, and their imaginations: for it shal come that I will gather all nations, and tongues, and they shall come, and see my glory.

19 And I will see a signe among them, and will send those that escape of them, vnto the nations of Turkish, Pell, and Lud, asuto them that draw the bow, to Tubal, and Iauan: yea as farre off this haue not heard my fame, neither haue seen my glory, and they shall declare my glory among the Gentiles.

20 And they shall bring all your brethren for an offering vnto the Lord out of all nations, vpon horses, and in chariots, and in horsefitters, and vpon mules, and swift beasts, to Ierusalem mine holy Mountaine, sayth the Lord, as the children of Israel offer in a cleane vessell in the House of the Lord.

21 And I will take of them for Priests, and for Leuites, saith the Lord.

22 For as the new heauens, and the new earth which I will make, shall remaine before mee, sayth the Lord, so shall your seed and your name continue.

23 And from moneth to moneth, and from Sabbath to Sabbath, shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord.

24 And they shall goe fourth, and looke vpon the carkeises of the men that haue transgressed against me: for their worme shall not die, neither shall their fire be quenched, and they shall be an abhorring vnto all flesh.

¶ J E R E M I A H.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Jeremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth, in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiab, whome some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Law, and gave it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent gifts of God, and most euident revelations of Prophecie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very young to prophesie, that is, in the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eightyene yeeres vnder the same King, and three months vnder Iehoiachin, and vnder Iehoiachin eleven yeeres: vnto the time that they were caried away into Babilon. So that this time amounteth vnto aloue fourty yeeres: besides the time that he prophesied after the captivity. In this booke he declareth with teares and lamentation the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captivity of the people, for their idolatry, comotoufnesse, subtilty, cruelty, excesss, rebellion, and contempts of Gods word, and for the consolation of the Church, reuealeth the iust time of their deliurance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things: First, the rebellion of the wicked, which were more stubborn and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainly of their destruction. Next, how the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly, though God shew his iudgement against the wicked, yet will he ever shew himselfe a preseruer of his Church, and when all means seeme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then will he declare himselfe victorious in preserving his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophesied. 6 Hee acknowledged his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

He wordes of Ieremiah the son of Hilkiab one of the Priests that were at Anathoth in the land of Benjamin.

2 To whom the word of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah, in the thirteenth yeere of his reigne:

3 And also in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, vnto the end of the eleventh yeere of Zedekiah, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, euen vnto the carying away of Ierusalem captiue in the sixth moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

5 Before I formed thee in the wombe, I knew thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordained thee to bee a Prophet vnto the nations.

6 Then said I, O Lord God, behold, I cannot speake, for I am a child.

7 But the Lord said vnto mee, Say not, I am a child: for thou shalt goe to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoeuer I command thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Bec not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand, and touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto me, Behold, I haue put my words in thy mouth.

10 Behold, this day haue I set thee ouer the nations, and ouer the kingdomes, to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throw downe, to build, and to plant.

11 After this the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Ieremiah, what seest thou? And I sayd, I see a rod of an Almond tree.

12 Then said the Lord vnto me, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my word to performe it.

13 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto mee the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I said, I see a seething pot looking out of the North.

14 Then said the Lord vnto me, Out of the North shall a plague be spread vpon all the inhabitants of the land.

15 For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, saith the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the en-bring in the gods of Ierusalem, and on all the walls thereof stand above, and in all the cities of Iudah.

16 And I will declare vnto them my iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken me, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the workers of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore cruell vnto thy loues, and cruel and speake vnto them all their commandment: be not afraid of their faces, tell I destroy thee before them.

18 For I behold, I this day haue made thee a defaced cite, and an yron pillar, and walls of brasse against the whole land, against the kings of Iudah, and against the princes thereof, against the priests thereof, and against the people of the land.

19 For they shall fight against thee, but they shall not prevail against thee: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

a God reuerſeth his benefits done vnto the Iewes. b Against the priests and false prophets. 12 The Iewes are destroyed because they forsake God.

Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Goe, and crie in the eares of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, I remember thee with the kindnesse of thy youth, and the love of thy marriage when thou wentest after mee in the wilderness in a land that was not sown.

4 Iſrael was as a thing hallowed vnto the Lord, and his firstfruits: all they that ate it shall offend: guilt shall come vpon them, saith the Lord.

5 Heare ye the word of the Lord, O house of Iakob, and all the families of the house of Iſrael.

6 Thus saith the Lord, What iniquitie haue your fathers found in mee, that they are gone farre from mee, and haue walked after vanity, and are become vaine?

7 For they said not, Where is the Lord that brought vs vp out of the land of Egypt? that led vs thorow the wilderness, thorow a desert and waste land, thorow a drie land, and by the shadow of death, by a land that no man passed thorow, and where no man dwelt?

8 And I brought you into a plentifull country, to eate the fruit thereof, and the commodities of the same: but when ye entered, ye defiled my land, and made mine heritage an abomination.

9 The priests sayd not, Where is the Lord? and they that should minister the Law, knew mee not: the pastors also offended against mee, and the prophets prophesied in Baal, and went after things that did not profite.

10 Wherefore I will yet pleade with you, saith the Lord, and I will pleade with your childrens children.

11 For goe ye to the yles of Chittim, and behold, and send vnto Kedar, and take diligent heed, and see whether there be such things.

12 Hath any nation changed their gods, which yet are no gods? but my people haue changed their glory, for that which doeth not profite.

13 O ye heauens, be aloned at this: be afraid and vtterly confounded, saith the Lord.

14 For my people haue committed two euils: they haue forsaken me the fountaine of liuing waters, to dig them pits, even broken pits that can hold no water.

15 Is Iſrael a seruant, or is he borne in the house? why then is he spoyled?

16 The lions roared vpon him, and yelled, and they haue made his land waste: his cities are burnt, with man inhabiting.

17 Alſo the children of Noph, and Tahpanes haue broken thine head.

18 Hast not thou procured this vnto thy selfe, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, when he led thee by the way?

19 And what hast thou now to doe in the way of Egypt? to drinke the waters of Nilus? or what makest thou in the way of Asshur? to drinke the waters of the river?

20 Thine owne wickednesse shall correct thee, and thy turnings backe shall reprove thee: knowe therefore and behold, that it is an euill thing, and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my feast is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hosts.

21 For of old time I haue broken thy yoke, and burst thy bonds, and thou saidst, I will no more transgresse: but like an harlot thou runnest about vpon all his hilles, and under all greentrees.

22 Yet I had planted thee a noble vine, whose plants were all naturall: how then art thou turned vnto me into the plants of a strange vine? † E. fresh

23 Though thou wash thee with nitre, and take thee much sope, yet thine iniquitie is marked before me, saith the Lord God.

24 How canst thou say, I am not polluted, neither haue I followed Baalim? Behold thy wayes in the valley, and know what thou hast done: thou art as a swift dromedarie that runneth by his wayes:

25 And as a wilde calse fled to the wilderness, that thrusteth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her backe? all they that seeke her, will not weary themselves, but will finde her in her month.

26 Keepe thou thy feete from barrenesse, and thy throat from thirst: but thou saidst desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers, and them will I followe.

27 As the thiefe is ashamed when he is found, so is the house of Iſrael ashamed, they, their kings, their princes, and their priests, and their prophets.

28 Saying to a tree, Thou art my father, and to a stone, Thou hast begotten me: for they haue turned their backe vnto me, and not their face: but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, and helpe vs.

29 But where are thy gods that thou hast made thee? let them arise if they can helpe thee in the time of thy trouble: for according to the number of thy cities are thy gods, O Iudah.

30 Wherefore will ye pleade with mee? yet all haue rebelled against me, saith the Lord.

31 I haue smitten your children in vaine, they receiued no correction: your owne sword hath deuoured your prophets like a destroying lyon.

32 O generation, take heede to the word of the Lord, Haue I bene as a wilderness vnto Iſrael? or a land of darkenesse? Wherefore saith my people then, We are lords, wee will come no more vnto thee?

33 Can a maid forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me dayes without number.

34 Why doest thou prepare thy way to seeke amitie? and therefore wilt thou teach thee that thy wayes are wickednesse.

35 Also in thy wings is found the blood of the foules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.

36 Yet thou sayest, Because I am guiltlesse, surely his wrath shall turne from me: behold, I will enter with-with thee into judgement, because thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord.

36 Why runnest thou about so much, as though thy wayes were thus: thou shalt be confounded of Egypt, as thou art confounded of Asshur.

37 For thou shalt go forth from thence, and thine handes vpon this land, because the Lord hath rejected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper anymore.

CHAP. III.

God calleth his people to repentance. 1. He promiseth the restitution of Iudah Church. 2. He reproverh Iudah and Israel, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

I say to thee, thou hast put away his wife, and the gos from him, and become another mans, that he returne againe vnto her: thou hast not this land polluted:
but thou hast played the harlot with many lovers:
yet turne againe to me, saith the Lord.

2 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the hie places, and behold, where thou hast not plaid the harlot: thou hast sowne seed for them in the wayes, as the Arabian in the wilderness, and thou hast polluted the land with thy whoredomes, and with thy malice.

3 Therefore the showres haue him restrained, and the latter rain came not, and thou hast defiled a whores forehead: this wouldst not be ashamed.

4 Didst thou not still cry vnto me, Thou art my father, and the guide of my youth?

5 Will he keepe his anger for euer? will he resente it to the end? thus hast thou spoken, but thou dost enill: euen more and more.

6 The Lord said also vnto me in the daies of Iudah the King: Hast thou seene what this rebel Israel hath done? for shee hath gone vp vpon every high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there played the harlot.

7 And I sayd when she had done all this, Turne thou vnto me: but she returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah saw.

8 When I saw, how that by all occasions rebellions Israel had played the harlot, I cast her away, and gave her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraid, but she went also and played the harlot.

9 So that for the lightnes of her whoredome she hath euen defiled the land: for she hath committed fornication with stones and stocks.

10 Nevertheless, for all this her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto mee with her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.

11 And the Lord said vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath iustified her selfe more, then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Go, and crie these words towards the North, and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord, and I will not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am mercifull, saith the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But knowe thine iniquitie: for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast scattered thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, but yet would not obey my voyce, saith the Lord.

14 O ye disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lord: for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a citie, and two of a tribe, and will bring you to Zion.

15 And I will give you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feed you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 Moreover, when ye bee increased and multiplied in the land, in the dayes which I shall send shall say no more, The Lord our God hath sent these prophets: for it shall come no more on minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visit it, for they shall be no more done.

17 As charismes they shall call Ierusalem, That thence of the Lord, & all the nations shall be renewed vnto it, euen to the Name of the Lord in Ieru-salem, and therefore shall they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

18 In those dayes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the North, into the land that I haue giue for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I said, How did I take thee for children, and giue thee a pleasant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armies of the heathen, and sayd, Thou shalt call mee, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from me?

20 But as a woman rebelleth against her husband, so haue ye rebelled against mee, O house of Israel,
saith the Lord.

21 A voice was heard vpon the hie places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel, for they haue peruered their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

22 O ye disobedient children, returne, and I will heale your rebellions. Behold, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truly the hope of the hills is but vaine, for the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hath deuoured our fathers labour from our youth, their sheepe & their bullocks, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 We lie down in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord our God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 True repentance. 2. He exhorteth to the circumcision of the heart. 3. The destruction of Iudah is prophesied for the malice of their hearts. 4. The Prophet lamenteth it.

O Israel, if thou returne, returne vnto mee, saith the Lord, and if thou put away thine abominations out of my sight, then shalt thou not remoue.

2 And thou shalt swear, The Lord lieth in truth, in iudgement, and in righteousness: and the nations shall bee blessed in him, and shall glory in him.

3 For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem,

4 Breake vp your fallow ground, and sowe not among the thornes: bee circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskins of your hearts, ye men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, lest my wrath come forth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your inventions.

5 Declare in Iudah, & shew forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blow the trumpet in the land: crie, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

6 Set vp the standard in Zion: prepare to see, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

7 The lion is come vp from his den, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of

of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shall be destroyed without an inhabitant.

7 Wherefore gird you with sackcloth: lament and howle: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

8 And in that day, saith the Lord, the heart of the King shall perish, and the heart of the Princes: and the Priests shall be astonished, and the Prophets shall wonder.

9 Then said I, Ah Lord God, surely thou hast decreed this people and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sword pearce not vnto the heart.

10 At that time shall it bee fide to this people and to Ierusalem, A dry winde in the drie places of the wilderness commeth toward the daughter of my people, but neither to fance, nor to cleanse.

11 A mightie winde shall come vnto mee from those places, and now will I also giue sentence vpon them.

12 Behold, he shall come vp as the clouds, and his chariots shall bee as a tempest: his horses are lighter then eagles. Woe vnto vs, for we are destroyed.

13 O Ierusalem, waite thine heart from wickednesse, that thou mayest be saved: how long shall thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

14 For a voice declareth from Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount Ephraim.

15 Make yee mention of the heathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Beholde, the Scots come from a farre country, and crye out against the cities of Iudah.

16 They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the felde, because it hath prouoked me to wrath, saith the Lord.

17 Thy wayes and thine inuentions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse: therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shall pearce vnto thine heart.

18 My belly, my belly, I am pained euen at the very heart: my heart is troubled within me, I cannot bee still: for my soule hath heard the sound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

19 Destruction vpon destruction is cried, for the whole land is wasted: suddenly are my tents destroyed, and my curtains in a moment.

20 How long shall I see the standard, and heare the sound of the trumpet?

21 For my people is foolish, they haue not knowen me: they are foolish children, and haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to doe euill, but to doe well they haue no knowledge.

22 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme, and voyd: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

23 I beheld the mountaines, and loe, they trembled, and all the hills shooke.

24 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birds of the heauen were departed.

25 I beheld, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

26 For thus hath the Lord sayd, The whole land shall be desolate: yet will I not make a full end.

27 Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens above shall bee darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

28 The whole city shall flee for the noyse of the horsemen and bowmen: they shall go into thickets, and climbe vp vpon the rocks: euery cite shall be forsaken, and not a man dwell therein,

29 The strong hold shall be destroyed, what will thou do? Though thou clovest thy selfe with leane, yet thou shalt be deckt thee with ornaments of gold, and shalt painte thy selfe with colours, yet shalt thou crye the selfe in vaine: for the towers will abhorre thee, and forsake thy life.

30 For I haue heard a noise as of a woman travelling, as one labouring of her first child, thus the voice of the daughter Zion, that sigheth and steecheth out her hands: woe is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murderers.

CHAP. V.

1 In Iudah no righteous man found, neither among the people nor the rulers. 2 Wherefore Iudah is destroyed of the Caldeans.

3 Behold now and know, and inquire in the open places thereof, if ye can find a man, or if there be any that executeth iudgment, and seeketh the truth, and I will spare it.

4 For though they say, The Lord liueth, yet doe they sweare falsely.

5 O Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the truth? thou hast stricken them, but they haue not forsworn: thou hast consumed them, but they haue refused to receive correction: they haue made their faces harder then a stone, and haue refused to returne.

6 Therefore I sayd, Surely they are poore, they are foolish, for they knowe not the way of the Lord, nor the iudgement of their God.

7 I will get mee vnto the great men, and will speake vnto them, for they haue knowen the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God: but these haue altogether broken the yoke, and burst the bonds.

8 Wherefore the lion out of the Forrest shall slay them, and a wolfe of the wilderness shall destroy them: a leopard shall watch over their cities: euery one that goeth out thence, shall be torne in pieces, because their trespasses are many, and their rebellions are increased.

9 How should I spare thee for this? thy children haue forsaken mee, and I sworn by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adultery, and assembled themselves by companies in the harlots houses.

10 They rose vp in the morning like fed horses: for euery man neighed after his neighbours wife.

11 Shall I not visite for these things, sayeth the Lord? shall I not my soule be avenge on such a nation as this?

12 Climbe vp vpon their wals, & destroy them, but make not a full end: take away their battlements, for they are not the Lords.

13 For the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue grieuouly trespassed against me, saith the Lord.

14 They haue deuid the Lord, and said, It is not hee, neither shall the plague come vpon vs, neither shall we see sword nor famine.

15 And the Prophets shall be as wind, & the word is not in them: thus shall it come vnto them.

16 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, Because ye speake such words, behold, I will put my words into thy mouth, like a fire, & this people shall be as wood, and it shall deuoure them.

17 Lo, I will bring a nation vpon you from farre, O house of Israel, saith the Lord, which is a mightie nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whose language thou knowest not, neither vnderstandest what they say.

Q ♀: Refused to give up by night, and destroy her palaces.

 York, and all a man against I could this city must be visited: all oppression is in the midst of it.

7. As the fountain lifted out her waters, so she casteth out her malice: cruelty and spoyle is continually heard in her before men with sorrow and streake.

¶ Berthea instructed, O Jerusalem, let my people depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, They shall gather as a vine; the residue of Israel: turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the basket.

re Vnto whom shall I speake and shew forth that they may heare? behold, our idleness and vncircumned, and they cannot hear: be hold, the word of the Lord is to them as a reproth: they have no delight in it.

21: Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord:
I am weary with holding it: I will pour it out vpon the children in the street, and life wife vpon the assembly of the young men: for the husband shall be taken with the wife, and the aged with him that is full of dayes.

42 And their houses with their lands, and which I have turned into strangers, for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land with the Lord.

x3 For from the least of them even to the greatest of them, every one is given unto conscience, and from the Prophets unto the Priest they all call falsely.

14 They have healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweet words, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed d abomination? nay they were not ashamed; neither could they have any shame: therefore they al fall among the flaine when I shall visit them, they shall be cutt downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the wayes, and hold, & aske for the olde way, which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shall find rest for your soules, but they sayd, Wee will not walke therein.

17 Altho I see watchmen on every one, which said Take ed to the sound of the trumpet: but they said, We ll not take heed.

8 Hear therefore ye Gentiles, and thou congregation know what is among them.

come vpon this people, ~~even~~ the fruite of their s, and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them:

neighbour and his friend shall perishe.

Thus saith the Lord, Behold, a people coming from the North countrey, and a great nation arise from the files of the earth.

well appointed like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 We haue heard their fame, and our hands waxe feeble, sorrow is come vnto vs, as the sorrow of a woman in trauell.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy, and feare is on euery side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallow thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation, and bitter mourning, as for thine only sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set thee for a defence, and fortresse among my people, that thou mayest knowe and trie their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traitors, walking craftily: they are braue & yron, they all are destroyers.

29 The bellows are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the foundler melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away.

30 They shall call them reprobate filser, because the Lord hath reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

1 Jeremiah is commanded to shew vnto the people the word of God which trusteth in the outward seruice of the Temple. 12 The euils that shall come to the Jewes for the despising of their Prophets. 21 Sacrifices doth not the Lord chiefly require of the Jewes, but that they should obey his word.

THe wordes that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords House, and crie this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord all ye of Iudah that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, *Amend your wayes and your workes, and I will let you dwell in this place.

4 Trust not in lying words, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amend, and redresse your wayes and your workes: if you execute iudgement betwene a man and his neighbour,

6 And oppress not the stranger, the fatherlesse, and the window, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers for euer & euer.

8 Behold, you trust in lying words, that cannot profit.

9 Will you steale, murder, & commit adultery, and sweare falsely, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not?

10 And come and stand before me in this house, whereupon my Name is called, and say, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this house become a den of theeuers, whereupon my Name is called before your eyes? Behold, euery 1 see it, saith the Lord.

12 But goe ye now vnto my place which was in Shilo, where I set my Name at the beginning, and behold what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

13 Therefore now because ye haue done all these workes, saith the Lord, (and I rose vp early, & spake vnto you, but when I spake, ye would not heare me, neither when I called would ye answer.)

14 Therefore will I do vnto this house, whereupon my Name is called, when also ye trust, when vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seed of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp cry or prayer for them, neither intreat me, for I will not heare thee.

17 Seest thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me to anger.

19 Doe they prouoke mee to anger, saith the Lord, and not themselves to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, mine anger & my wrath shall bee powred vpon this place, vpon man, and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruit of the ground, and it shall burne, and not bee quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Put your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eat the flesh.

22 For I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and ye shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it may be well vnto you.

24 But they would not obey nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels, and the stubbornnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, I haue censured vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early every day, and sending them, 26 Yet would they not heare mee, nor incline their eare, but hardened their necke, and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou speak all these words vnto them, but they will not heare thee, thou shalt also crie vnto them, but they will not answer thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiueth discipline: troeth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the high places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, saith the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the House whereupon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue built y^e hie place of Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-hinnom to burne their somes and their daughters in the fire which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, y^e shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but y^e valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Topheth till there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meat for the foules of the heauen and for the beasts of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord mooueth the bones of the kings of Iudah, and the bones of the prophets and Priests.

At that time, saith the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Iudah, and the bones of their princes, and the bones of the priests, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their graves.

2 And they shall spread them before the Sunne and the Moone, and all the hoste of heaven, whome they haue loued, and whome they haue serued, and whome they haue followed, and whome they haue fought, and whome they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered, nor be buried, but shall be as dung vpon the earth.

3 And death shall be desired rather then life of all the residue that remaine of this wicked familie, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, saith the Lord of hosts.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shall they fall and not arise? shall hee turne away, and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gaue themselues to deceit, and would not returne.

6 I haekened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euerie one turned to their race, as the horse rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the stork in the ayre knoweth her appointed times, and the turtle and the crane, and the swallow obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the iudgement of the Lord.

8 How doe ye say, Wee are wise, and the Law of the Lord is with vs? Lo, certainly in vaine made he it, the pen of the Scribes is in vaine.

9 The wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: loe, they haue reioiced the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them?

10 Therefore will I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fields to them that shall possesse them.

Is. 56. 11. 12. For euerie one from the least euen vnto the greatest is giuen to couetousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest euerie one dealeth falsly.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete words, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the flaine, when I shall visit them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I will surely confirme them, saith the Lord: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the figtree, and the leaf shall fade, and the things that I haue giuen them shall depart from them.

14 Why doe we stay? assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence, and giuen vs water with gall to drinke, because wee haue sinned against the Lord.

Is. 64. 14. 15. * Wee looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold troubles.

16 The neying of his horses was heard from Dan, the whole land trembled at the noise of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the citie, and those that dwell therein.

17 For behold, I will send serpents and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed, and they shall sting you, saith the Lord.

18 I would haue comforted my selfe against sorrow, but mine heart is heauie in me.

19 Behold the voice of the crie of the daughter of my people for shee is of them of a farre countrey. Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her King in her? Why haue they provoked mee to anger with their graven images, and with the vanities of a strange god?

20 The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not helped.

21 I am for vexed for the hurt of the daughter of my people: I am heauie, and astonishment hath taken me.

22 Is there no balsam at Gilead? is there no Physician there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

CHAP. IX.

1 The complaints of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 24 In the knowledge of God ought we only to reioyce. 26 The circumstance of the tears.

O that mine head were full of water, and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weep day and night for the flaine of the daughter of my people.

2 Oh, that I had in the wilderness a cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people, and goe from them: for they be all adulterers and an assembly of rebels.

3 And they bend their tongues like their bowes for lies: but they haue no courage for the truth vpon the earth: for they proceed from euill to worse, and they haue not knowne me, saith the Lord.

4 Let euerie one take heed of his neighbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euerie brother will vie deceit, and euerie friend will deale deceitfully.

5 And euerie one will deceiue his friend, & will not speake the truth: for they haue taught their tongues to speake lies, and take great paines to doe wickedly.

6 Thine habitation is in the mids of decciuers: because of their deceit they refuse to know me, saith the Lord.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will melt them, and trie them: for what should I else doe to the daughter of my people?

8 Their tongue is as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth wait for him.

9 Shall I not visite them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule be auenged on such a nation as this?

10 Vpon the mountains will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wilderness a mourning, because they are burnt vp: for that none can passe thorow them, neither can men heare the voice of the flocke: both the soule of the aire, and the beast are fled away and gone.

11 And I will make Ierusalem a heap, and a den of dragons: and I will make the cities of Iudah wast without an inhabitant.

12 Who is wise to vnderstand this? & to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken euen he shall declare it. Why doth the land perishe, and is burnt vp like a wilderness, that none posseth thorow?

13 And the Lord saith, Because they have forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and have not obeyed my voice, neither walked thereafter, 14 But have walked after the stubbornnesse of their owne heart, and after Baalim, which their fathers taught them.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will feede this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall to drinke:

16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whome neither they nor their fathers haue knownen, and I will send a sword after them till I haue consumed them.

17 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, take heede, and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skillfull women, that they may come.

18 And let them make haile, and let them take vp lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eyelids gosh out of water.

19 For a lamentable noise is heard out of Zion, How are we destroyed, and vnterly confounded? for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings haue cast vs out.

20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O yee women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and euery one her neighbor to lament.

21 For death is come vp into our windowes, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the yong men in the streets.

22 Spake, Thus saith the Lord, The carkeises of man shall lie euen as the dung vpon the field, and as the handfull after the mower, and none shall gather them.

23 Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wife man glory in his wifedome, nor the strong man glory in his strength, neither the rich man glory in his riches.

24 But let him that glorieth glory in this, that he vnderstandeth, and knoweth me: for I am the Lord, which shew mercie, iudgement, and righteousness in the earth: for in these thingal delight, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will visite all them which are circumcised, with the vacircumcised:

26 Egypt, and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon and Moab, and all the vmoost corners of them that dwell in the wilderness: for all these nations are vacircumcised, and all the house of Israel are vacircumcised in the heart.

CHAP. X.

1 The constellations of the starrs are not to be feared, 5 The weaknesse of holies. 6 Of the power of God. 21 Their pastours are become bruis beasts.

HEARE ye the word of the Lord that he speaketh vnto you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Learne not the way of the heathen, and be not afraid for the signes of heauen, though the heathen be afraid of such.

3 For the customs of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the Forrest (which is the worke of the hands of the carper) with the axe.

4 And another decketh it with siluer, and with gold: they fasten it with nailles and hammers that it fall not.

5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are borne because they cannot go: feare them not, for they cannot doe euill, neither can they doe good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: thou art great, and thy Name is great in power.

7 Who would not feare thee, O King of nations? for to thee appertaineth the dominion: for among all the wise men of the Gentiles, and in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.

8 But altogether they doe, and are foolish: for the stocke is a doctrine of vanitie.

9 Siluer plates are brought from Tarshish, and gold from Vphaz for the worke of the workman, and the handes of the founder: the blue silke and the purple at their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of truth: he is the lining God, and an euerslasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods that haue not made the heauen and the earth (shall perish from the earth, and from vnder the heauen)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdomne, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he causeth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: he causeth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

14 Euerie man is a beast by his owne knowledge euerie founder is confounded, by the grauen images for his melting is but fallshood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanitie, and the worke of error: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 The portion of Iacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance, the Lord of hostes: his Name.

17 Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, at this time I will throw as with a sling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so.

19 War is me for my destruction, and my grievous plague: but I thought, Yet it is my sorrow, and I will beare it.

20 My Tabernacle is destroyed, and all my cords are broken: my children are gone from me, and are not: there is none to spread out my tent any more, and to set vp my curtains.

21 For the pastours are become beasts, and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flocks of their pastures are scattered.

22 Behold, the noise of the bruis is come, and a great commotion out of the North country, to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne of dragons.

23 O Lord, I knowe that the way of man is not in himselfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his steps.

24 O Lord correct me, but with iudgement, not in thine anger: lest thou bring me to nothing.

25 Powre out thy wrath vpon the heathen: that know thee not, and vpon the familie: that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iacob, and deuoured him, and consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

CHAP. XI.

3 A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods covenant. 10 The people of Iudah following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Ierusalem to pray for them.

THe word that came to Ieremias from the Lord, saying,

1 Hear ye the words of this covenant, & speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

2 And say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Cursed be the man that obeyeth not the words of this Covenant,

3 Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, saying, Obey my voice, and doe according to all these things which I commanded you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God.

4 That I may confirme the saye, I have sworn vnto your fathers to giue them a land which floweth with milke and honey, as appeareth this day. Then answered I, and said, So be it, O Lord.

5 Then the Lord said vnto mee, Cry all these words in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, saying, Hear ye the words of this covenant, and doe them.

6 For I haue proceeded vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

7 Nevertheless, they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubbornnesse of his wicked heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

8 And the Lord said vnto me, A conspiracy is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

9 They are turned back to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my words: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, & the house of Iudah haue broken my covenant which I made with their fathers.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and though they cry vnto me, I will not heare them.

11 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem go, and cry vnto the gods vnto whom they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

12 For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, and according to the number of the streets of Ierusalem, haue yee set vp altars of confusion, new altars to burne incense vnto Baal.

13 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither list vp a cry or pray: for them: for when they cry vnto me in their trouble, I will not heare them.

14 What should my beloved say in mine house, seeing they haue committed abomination with many? and the holy fflsh goeth away from thee: yet when thou doest euill, thou reioycest.

15 The Lord called thy name, A greene Oliue tree, faire and of godly fruit: but with wycke and great crueltie hath let fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

16 For the Lord of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselves to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

17 And the Lord hath taught me, and I know it, when thou shewedst me their practices.

18 But I was like a lambe or a bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they had deuised this against me, saying, Let vs destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and cut him out of the land of the living, that his name may bee no more in memorie.

19 But, O Lord of hostes that indigest righteousness and trife the reines and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

20 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of Anathoth, (that seeke thy life, and say, Prophesie not in the Name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands.)

21 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will visite them: the yong men shall die by the sword: their women and their daughters shall die by famine.

22 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, upon the yeere of their visitation.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Prophetess Iuliah as the prosperitie of the wicked, although her confesse God to bee righteous. 2 The Iewes are forsaken of the Lord. 3 Hee speaketh against pastours and preachers, that seduce the people.

4 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations that troubled Iudah.

O Lord, if I dispute w thee, thou art righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doth the way of the wicked prosper? why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

1 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken root: they grow, and bring forth fruit: thou art neere in their mouth, and farre from their reines.

2 But thou Lord, knowest me: thou hast seene me, and tried mine heart toward thee: pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter.

3 How long shall the land mourne, & the herbes of euery field wither, for the wickednesse of them that dwell therein? the beasts are consumed and the birds, because they sayd, He will not see our last end.

4 If thou hast run with the footemen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou match thy selfe with horses: and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Iordan?

5 For euery brethren, & the house of thy father, when they haue dealt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cryed out altogether vpon thee: but beleue them not though they speake faire to thee.

6 I haue forsaken mine house, I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearly beloved of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

7 Mine heritage is vnto me as a lion in the forest: it cryeth out against mee, therefore haue I hated it.

8 Shall mine heritage be vnto me as a bird of diuers colours? are not the birds about her, saying, Come, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to eate her?

9 Many pastours haue destroyed my vineyard, and troden my portion vnder foot: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wilderness.

10 They haue laid it waste, and, being waste, mourneth vnto me: and the whole land lieth waste, because no man setteth his mind vpon it.

11 The destroyers are come vpon all the high places in the wilderness: for the sword of the Lord shal deuoure from the one end of the land, euen to the other end of the land: no flesh shall haue peace.

12 They haue sown wheat, and reaped thornes: they were sicke, and had no profit: and they were ashamed of your foites, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

14 Thus saith the Lord against all mine enill neighbors that touch the inheritance, which I have caused my people Israel to inherit, Beholde, I will pluckethem out of their land, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

15 And after that I have plucked them out, I will returne, & haue compassion on them, and will bring againe euery man to his heritage, and euery man to his land.

16 And if they will learne the wayes of my people to sweare by my Name, (The Lord lieth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be built in the mids of my people.

17 But if they wil not obey, then will I vterly plucke vp and destroy that nation, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction of the Jewes is prefigured. 11 Why Israel was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

Thus saith the Lord vnto me, Goe, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, & put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, goe toward Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lorde had commanded me.

6 And after many daies the Lord said vnto me, Arise, goe toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.

7 Then I went to Perath and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this manner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my word, and walk after the stubburnesse of their owne heart, and walk after other gods to serue them, and to worship them, therefore they shall be as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loyne of a man, so haue I tied to me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lord, that they might be as my people: that they might haue a name, and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt say vnto them this word, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Euery bottle shall be filled with wine, and they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not knowe that euery bottle shall be filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid and the Priests, and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkenesse.

14 And I will dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pitie nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and giue care, bee not proude: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Giue glory to the Lord your God before hee bring darknes, and ouer euery your feet stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles yee looke for light, he turne it into the shadow of death, and make it as darknesse.

17 But if yee will not heare this, my soule shall weepe in secret for yow pride, and mine eyes shall weepe and drop downe teares, because the Lordees flocke is caried away captiue.

18 Say vnto the King and to the queene, Humble your selues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glory shall come downefrom your heads.

19 The cities of the South shall be shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be caried away captiue: it shall be wholly caried away captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes, and beholde them that come from the North: where is the flocke that was giuen thee, saith thy beautiful flocke?

21 What wilt thou say when he shall visit thee? (for thou hast taught them to be captiues, and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorrow take thee as a woman in trauaile?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts disconered, and thy heeles made bare.

23 Can the blacke More change his skinne? or the leopard his spots? these may yee also doe good, that are accustomed to doe euill.

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South wind.

25 This is thy portion, and the part of thy measure from me, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me, and trusted in lies.

26 Therefore I haue alio disconered the skirts vpon thy face, that thy shame may appeare.

27 I haue seene thine adulteries, and thy neyings, the filthinesse of thy whoredome on the hills, in the fieldes, and thine abominations. Woe vnto thee, O Ierusalem: wilt thou not be made cleane? when shall it once be?

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the dearth that should come. 2 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The unfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophets that seduce the people.

The word of the Lord that came vnto Ieremiah, concerning the dearth.

2 Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue beene brought to heauinesse vnto the ground, and the crye of Ierusalem goeth vp.

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the wellles, and found no water: they returned with their vessels emptic: they were ashamed and confounded, and couered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads,

5 Yea, the Minde also calued in the field, and forsooke it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wild asses did stand in the hig places, and drewe in their winde like dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israel, the Saviour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one that passeth by to tary for a night?

9 Why

9 Why art thou as a man astonished, and as a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the midst of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not restrained their feet, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: but he will now remember their iniquitie, and visit their finnes.

11 Then said the Lord vnto mee, Thou shalt not pray to doe this people good.

12 When they shall, I will not heare their cry, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, Behold, the prophets say vnto them, Ye shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

14 Then the Lord said vnto mee, The prophets Chap. 23. prophesie lies in my Name: * I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, but they prophesie vnto you a false vision and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulness of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophesie in my Name, whome I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whom these prophets doe prophesie, shall be cast out in the streets of Ierusalem, because of the famine & the sword, and there shall bee none to bury them, both they and their wives, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednesse vpon them.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe teares, night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is deltroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grievous plague.

18 For if I goe into the field, behold the slaine with the sword: and if I enter into the city, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: moreover the propheta also and the priest goe a wandering into a land (that they know not).

19 Hast thou utterly reiected Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zion? Why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? We looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

20 We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse, and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember, and breake not thy covenant with vs.

22 Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showers? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore wee will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord would heare no prayer for the times, 3 but threatneth to destroy them with foure plagues.

Then said the Lord vnto mee, Though Moses and Samuel stood before mee, yet mine affection could not be toward this people, cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall wee depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, * such as are appointed to death, vnto death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I will appointouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the dogges to reare in pieces, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to deuoure, and to deltroy.

4 I will scatter them also in all kingdome of the earth, because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah king of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem.

5 Who shall then haue pittie vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shall be sory for thee? or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken mee, saith the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, and deltroy thee: for I am wearie with repenting.

7 And I will scatter them with the fanne in the gates of the earth: I haue wasted and deltroyed my people, yet they would not returne from their wayes.

8 Their widowes are increased by mee, above the sand of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the assembly of the yong men, a deltroyer at noone day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and I speedily.

9 She that hath borne teauen, hath bene made weake: her heart hath failed: the Sun hath failed her, while it was day, she hath bin confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto the sword before their enemies, saith the Lord.

10 ¶ Woe is mee, my mother, that thou hast borne me a contentious man, and a man that striveth with the whole earth: I haue neither lent on vsurie, nor men haue lent vnto mee on vsurie: yet euery one doth curse me.

11 The Lord said, Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemy to intreat thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shall the yron breake the yron, and the brasie that commeth from the North?

13 Thy substance and thy treasures will I giue to be spoyled without againe, and that for all thy sins, euen in all thy borders.

14 And I will make thee to goe with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you.

15 O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visit me, and reuenge me of my persecuters: take me not a way in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke.

16 Thy words were found by mee, and I did eate them, and thy word was vnto mee the ioy and reioicing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of hosts.

17 I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation.

18 Why is mine heauinesse continually? and my plague desperate, and cannot bee healed? why art thou vnto me as a liar, and waters that faile?

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before me: and if thou take away the precious from the vile, thou shalt bee according to my word: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20 And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brasen wall, & they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee ashamed of your sisters, because of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

14 Thus saith the Lord against all mine evil neighbors that touch the inheritance, which I have caused my people Israel to inherit. Beholde, I will pluckethem out of their land, and plucke out the house of Iudah from among them.

15 And after that I have plucked them out, I will returne, & haue compassion on them, and will bring againe every man to his heritage, and every man to his land.

16 And if they will learne the wayes of my people to sweare by my Name, (The Lord lieth, as they taught my people to sweare by Baal) then shall they be built in the midst of my people.

17 But if they will not obey, then will I vterly plucke vp and destroy thur nation, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

The destruction of Ieruſalem is prefigured. 11 Why Israel was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 15 He exhorteth them to repentance.

Thus saith the Lord vnto me, Goe, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it wet in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandement of the Lord, & put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, goe toward Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many daies the Lord said vnto me, Arise, goe toward Perath, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.

7 Then I went to Perath and digged, and tooke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, and behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this manner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my word, and walk after the stubbornesse of their owne heart, and walk after other gods to serue them, and to worship them, therefore they shall be as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loyne of a man, so haue I tied to me the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, saith the Lord, that they might bee my people: that they might haue a name, and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt say vnto them this word, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel. Every bottle shall be filled with wine, & they shall say vnto thee, Doe we not knowe that every bottle shall be filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid and the Priests, and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennesse.

14 And I will dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I will not spare, I will not pittie nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and giue care, bee not proud: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Giue glory to the Lord your God before hee bring darkenes, and so euer your feet stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles yett looke for light, he turne it into the shadow of death, and make it as darkenesse.

17 But if yett will not heare this, my soule shall weepe in secret for your pride, and mine eyes shall weepe and drop downe teares, because the Lordes stocke is caried away captiue.

18 Say vnto the King and to the queene, Humble your selues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of the South shall be shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be caried away captiue: it shall be wholly caried away captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes, and beholde them that come from the North: where is the stocke that was giuen them, worthy beautiful stocke?

21 What wilt thou say when he shall visite thee? (for thou hast taught them to be captiues, and as chiefeouer thee) shall not sorrow take thee as a woman in triauell?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore cometh these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts disconuered, and thy heeles made bare.

23 Can the blacke More change his skine? or the leopard his spots? how may yett also doe goodly, that are accustomed to doe euill.

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South wind.

25 This is thy portion, and the part of thy measures from me, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me, and trusted in lies.

26 Therefore I haue also disconuered the skirts vpon thy face, that thy shame may appeare.

27 I haue seene thine adulteries, and thy neyings, the filthinesse of thy whoredome on the hills, in the fieldes, and thine abominations. Wee vnto thee, O Ierusalem: wilt thou not bee made cleane? when shall it once be?

Of the dearth that should come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The unfaithfull people are not heard. 12 Of prayer fasting, and of fasting prophets that seduce the people.

The word of the Lord that came vnto Ieremias, concerning the death.

1 Iudah hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, & they haue beene brought to heauinesse vnto the ground, and the erie of Ierusalem goeth vp.

2 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the welles, and found no water: they returned with their vessels empty: they were ashamed and confounded, and couched their heads.

3 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heads.

4 Yea, the Minde also calued in the field, and forsooke it, because there was no grasse.

5 And the wild asses did stand in the big places, and drewe in their wilde like dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

6 O Lord, though our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are many, we sinned against thee.

7 O the hope of Israel, the Saviour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the land, as one that passeth by to tary for a night?

Why art thou as a man shonied, and as a strong man that cannot helpe? yet thou, O Lord, art in the midst of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: for thou art our God.

14. Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delighted to wander: they haue not restrained their feet, therefore the Lord hath no delight in them: for he will now remember their iniquitie, and visit their sinnes.

15. Then said the Lord vnto me, Thou shalt not pray to do this people good.

16. When they fast, I will not heare their cry, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I will not accept them: but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

17. Then answered I, Ah Lord God, Behold, the prophets say vnto them, Ye shall not see the sword, neither shall famine come vpon you, but I will giue you assured peace in this place.

18. Then the Lord said vnto mee, The prophets Chap. 23. prophesie lies in my Name: I haue not sent them, neither did I command them, neither spake I vnto them, for they prophesie vnto you a false vision and diuination and vanitie, and deceitfulness of their owne heart.

19. Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that prophesie in my Name, whome I haue not sent, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land, by sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

20. And the people to whom these prophets doe prophesie, I shall be cast out in the streets of Ierusalem because of the famine & the sword, and there shall be none to bury them, neither they and their wives, and their sonnes, and their daughters: for I will powre their wickednesse vpon them.

21. Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe teares, night and day without ceasing: for the virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a sore grievous plague.

22. For if I go into the field, behold the flaine with the sword: and if I enter into the city, behold them that are sicke for hunger also: morrowe the prophets also and the priest goe a wandring into a land that they know not.

23. Hast thou utterly reiected Iudah, or hath thy soule abhorred Zions? Why hast thou smitten vs, that we cannot be healed? We looked for peace, and there is no good, and for the time of health, and behold trouble.

24. We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednesse, and the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

25. Doe not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glory: remember, and breake not thy covenant with vs.

26. Are there any among the vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauens giue showres? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore wee will waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1. The Lord would heare no prayer for the Iewes, but threateneth to destroy them with foure plagues.

Then said the Lord vnto me, Though Moses and Samuell stood before mee, yet mine affection could not be toward this people, cast them out of my sight, and let them depart.

2. And if they say vnto thee, Whither shall wee depart? then tell them, Thus saith the Lord, Such as are appointed to death, into death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for the famine, to the famine: and such as are for the captivity, to the captivity.

3. And I will appointe to them foure kinds, saith the Lord, the sword to slay, and the dogges to reare in pieces, and the foules of the heauen, and the beasts of the earth to deuoure, and to destroy.

4. I will scatter them also in all kingdome of the earth, because of Manasseh the sonne of Hezekiah king of Iudah, for that which he did in Ierusalem.

5. Who shall then haue pitty vpon thee, O Ierusalem? or who shall be for thee? or who shall goe to pray for thy peace?

6. Thou hast forsaken mee, saith the Lord, and gone backward: therefore will I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroy thee: for I am weary with repenting.

7. And I will scatter them with the flame in the gates of the earth: I haue walked and destroyed many people, yet they would not returne from their wayes.

8. Their widowes are increased by mee, above the sand of the sea: I haue brought vpon them, and against the assembly of the young men, a destroyer at noone day: I haue caused them to fall vpon them, and the citie suddenly, and I speedily.

9. She that hath borne seauen, hath bene made fully, wake: her heart hath failed: the Sun hath failed her, whiles it was day, she hath bin confounded, and ashamed, and the residue of them will I deliuer vnto the sword before their enemies, saith the Lord.

10. ¶ Woe is mee, my mother, that thou hast borne me a contentious man, and a man that striveth with the whole earth: I haue neither lent on vsurie, nor men haue lent vnto mee on vsurie: yet euery one doth curse me.

11. The Lord said, Surely thy remnant shall haue wealth: surely I will cause thine enemy to intreace thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

12. Shall the yron breake the yron, and the brasie that commeth from the North?

13. Thy substance and thy treasures will I giue to be spoyled without shame, and that for all thy sins, I will euen in all thy borders.

14. And I will make thee to goe with thine enemies into a land that thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in mine anger, which shall burne you.

15. O Lord, thou knowest, remember me, and visit me, and reuenge me of my persecuters: take me not away in the continuance of thine anger: know that for thy sake I haue suffered rebuke.

16. Thy words were found by mee, and I did ease them, and thy word was vnto mee the ioy and reioicing of mine heart: for thy Name is called vpon me, O Lord God of holis.

17. I sate not in the assembly of the mockers, neither did I reioyce, but sate alone because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation.

18. Why is mine heauinesse continually? and my plague desperate, and cannot bee healed? why art thou vnto me as a liar, and as waters that faile?

19. Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou returne, then will I bring thee againe, and thou shalt stand before me: and if thou take away the precious from the vile, thou shalt bee according to my word: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.

20. And I will make thee vnto this people a strong brazen wall, & they shall fight against thee, but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee.

to forsake thee, and to deliver thee, saith the Lord.

3 And I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The Lord for bidding, turneth to us, and sheweth us what shall be the afflictions upon us. 2 The captivity of Babylon. 3 Their deliverance. 4 The calling of the Gentiles.

1 The word of the Lord came also unto me, saying,

2 I thou shalt not take thee a wife, nor have daughters nor daughters in this place.

3 For thus saith the Lord concerning the sons and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, & concerning their mothers that bear them, and concerning their fathers that beget them in this land,

4 They shall die of deaths and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shall be as dung upon the earth, and they shall be consumed by the sword, and by famine, and their carcases shall be meat for the fowls of the heaven, and for the beasts of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither go to lament nor be moved for them: For I have taken my peace from this people, saith the Lord, my mercy and compassion.

6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, nor cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them.

7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the mourning, to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they give them the cup of consolation to drink for their father or for their mother.

8 Thou shalt not also go into the house of feasting, to sit with them to eat and to drink.

9 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place in your eyes such in your days the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt hear this people all these words, & they shall say unto thee, * Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against us? or what is our iniquity? and what is our sin, that we have provoked against the Lord our God?

11 Then shalt thou say unto them, Because your fathers have forsaken me, saith the Lord, and have walked after other gods, and have served them, and worshipped them, and have forsaken mee, and have not kept my Law, 12 * And ye have done worse than your fathers for behold, you walk every one after the stubbornness of his wicked heart, and will not hear me.

13 Therefore will I drive you out of this land into a land that ye know not, neither you nor your fathers, and there shall ye serve other gods day and night: for I will shew you no grace.

14 * Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come, that it shall no more be said, The Lord lieth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

15 But, The Lord lieth, that brought vp the children of Israel from the land of the North, and from all the lands where he had scattered them, and I will bring them again into their land, that I gave unto their fathers.

16 Behold, saith the Lord, I will send out many sisters, and they shall fish them, and after will I send out many hunters, and they shall hunt them from every mountain, and from every hill, and out of the caves of the rocks.

17 For mine eyes are upon all their ways: they are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquity hid from mine eyes.

18 And first I will recompense their iniquity and their sinne double, because they have despised my Law, and have filled mine inheritance with their filthie priests and their abominations.

19 O Lord, thou art my force and my strength, and my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shall come unto thee from the ends of the world, and shall say, Surely our fathers have iniquities and vanity wherein there was no profit.

20 Shall a man make gods unto himselfe, and they are no gods?

21 Behold, therefore I will this once teach them, I will shew them mine hand & my power, and they shall know that my Name is the Lord.

1 The forwardness of the Levites. 2 Cursed be he that puts his confidence in man. 3 Man's heart is wicked. 4 God is the searcher of the hearts. 5 The living waters are for Jerusalem. 6 The right keeping of the Sabbath commanded.

1 The sinne of Judah is written with a pen of iron and with the point of a diamond, and graven upon the table of their heart, and upon the horns of your altars.

2 They remember their altars as their children, with their groves by the green tree upon the high hills.

3 O my Mountaine in the field, I will give thy substance, and all thy treasures to be spoiled for the sinne of thy high places throughout all thy borders.

4 And thou shalt rest, and in thee shall be a rest from thine heritage that I gave thee, and I will cause thee to serve thine enemies in the land which thou knowest not: for ye have kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for ever.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Cursed be the man that trusteth in man and maketh flesh his arme, & withdraweth his heart from the Lord.

6 For hee shall be like the heath in the wilderness, and shall not see when a good commeth, but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

8 For he shall be as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her roots by the river, and shall not feeble when the heat commeth, but her leaf shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit.

9 The heart is deceitfull and wicked above all things, who can know it?

10 I the Lord search the heart, and try the reins, even to give every man according to his wayes and according to the fruit of his workes.

11 As the partridge gathereth the yong, which she hath not brought forth: so hee that getteth riches, and not by right, shall leave them in the midst of his dayes, and at his end shall be a foole.

12 A glorious throne exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuary.

13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shall be written in the earth, because they have forsaken the Lord the fountaine of living waters.

14 Heale me, O Lord, and I shall be whole: save me, and I shall be saved: for thou art my praise.

15 Behold,

Behold, they say unto me, Where is the word of the Lord? hec it come now.

16 But I have not thrust in my selfe for a pastor after thee, neither have I desired the day of misery, thou knowest that which came out of my lips, was right before thee.

17 Be not terrible unto me: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them be confounded that persecute mee, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let me not be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said vnto mee, Goe, and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the Kings of Iudah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all the gates of Ierusalem.

20 And say vnto them, Heare the word of the Lord, ye Kings of Iudah, and all Iudah, & all the inhabitants of Ierusalem that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take heede to your shoules and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor lading it in by the gates of Ierusalem.

22 Neither carry forth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day, neither doe yee any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe, and would not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheless, if ye will heare me, saith the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye doe no worke therein,

25 Then shall the Kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, & shall sit vpon the throne of David, and shall ride vpon chaires, and vpon horses, shall they and their princes, the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem: and this citie shall remaine for euer.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Iudah, and from about Ierusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountains, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings and sacrifices, and meate offerings, and incense, and shall bring sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord.

27 But if yee will not heare mee, to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and set to beare a burden not to goe thorow the gates of Ierusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that is in his power to destroy the despisers of his word. 18 The conspiracie of the Iewes against Ieremias, 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

The word, which came to Ieremias from the Lord, saying,

2 Arise, and goe downe into the potters house, and there shall I shew thee my words.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and behold, he wrought a worke on the wheel.

4 And the vessell that he made of clay was broken in the hand of the potter: so hee returned, and made it another vessell, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 O house of Israel, cannot I doe with you as this potter, saith the Lord? behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.

7 I will speake suddenly against a nation, or against a kingdome to plucke it vp, and to root it out and to destroy it.

8 But if this nation against whom I haue pronounced, turne from their wickednes, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to build it, and to plant it.

10 But if it doe euill in my sight, and heare not my voice, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: because you therefore euerie one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.

12 But they said desperately, Surely wee will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euerie man after the stubbornnesse of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such thing at the virgin of Israel hath done very filthily.

14 Will a man forsake the snowe of Lebanon, which cometh from the rocke of the field? or shall the colde flowing waters that come from another place be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten mee, and haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their Prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the ancient wayes, to walke in the pathes and way that is not troden.

16 To make their land desolate, and a perpetual derision, so that euerie one that passeth thereby, shall be astonied, and wag his head.

17 I will scatter them with an East wind before the enemy: I will shew them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some denice against Ieremias: for the Law shall not perish from the Priests, nor counsell from the wise, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the tongue, and let vs not giue heed to any of his words.

19 Hearken vnto mee, O Lord, and heare the voice of them that contend with me.

20 Shall euill bee recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore deliuer vp their children to sa mine, and let them drop away by the force of the sword, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands bee put to death, and let their young men bee slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the cry be heard from their houses when thou shalt bring an host suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take mee, and hid snares for my feet.

23 Yet Lord, thou knowest all their counsell against mee: sendeth to death: forgive not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them bee ouerthrowen before thee: deale thou with them in the time of thine anger.

Because they haue forsaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whome neither they, nor their fathers haue knownen, nor the kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

And they haue built the high places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offerings vnto Baal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my mind.)

Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of laughter.

And I will bring the counsell of Iudah, and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their carkeises will I giue to be meate for the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the field.

Then shalt thou breake the bottle in the fight of the men that goe with thee,

And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessel, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall bury them in Topheth, till there be no place to bury.

Thus will I doe vnto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this city like Topheth.

For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the kings of Iudah shall bee defiled as the place of Topheth, because of all the howles vpon whose roofes they haue burnt incense vnto all the hoste of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offerings vnto other gods.

Then came Ieremiah from Topheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophesse, and he stood in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people,

Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon this citie and vpon all her towne, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their necks, and would not heare my wordes.

Ieremiah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 He propheseth the captiuitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that he is a mocking stocke for the word of God. 9 He is compelled by the Spirit to preach the word.

Then Pashur the sonne of Immer the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophesied these things.

Then Pashur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the stocks, that were in the high gate of Benjamin, which was by the house of the Lord.

And on the morning Pashur brought Ieremiah out of the stocks. Then said Ieremiah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Pashur, but Magor-missabib.

For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to be a terror to thy selfe & to all thy friends, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall behold it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall carry them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword.

Moreover, I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoile them, and take them away, and carry them to Babel.

And thou Pashur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall goe into captiuitie, and then shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy friends, to whom I haue prophesied lies.

O Lord, thou hast deceived me, and I am deceived: thou art stronger than I, and hast prevailed: I am in derision daily: euery one mocketh me.

For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproch vnto mee, and in derision daily.

Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay.

For I had heard the railing of many, and feare on euery side. Declare, said they, and wee will declare it: all my familiars watched for mine halping, saying, it may be that he is deceived, so we shall preuaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

But the Lord is with mee, like a mighty gyant: therefore my persecutors shall be ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shall be greatly confounded: for they haue done vniuersally, and their euill lasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

But O Lord of hosts, thou hast tried the righteous, and seest the reins and the heart, let mee see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

Sing vnto the Lord, praise yee the Lord: for he hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare mee, be blessed.

Cursed bee the man that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

And let that man bee as the cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repeated not: and let him heare the cry in the morning, and the shouting at noontide.

Because he hath not slaine me, when from the wombe, or that my mother might haue become my graue, grace, or bre womb a perptuall conception.

18 How is it, that I came forth of the wombe to see labour and sorrow, that my dais should be consumed with thame?

CHAP. XXI.
1. He propheseth that Zedekiah shall be taken, and the cite burned.

The word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when King Zedekiah sent vnto him the soune of Maasiah, and Zephaniah the son of Maasiah the Priest, saying,

3 Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs (for Nebuchad-nassar king of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord will deale with vs according to al his wondrous works, that he may returne vpon them vs.

4 Then said Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah,

5 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will turne backe the weapons of warre, that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the king of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walls, and I will assemble them into the mids of this cite.

6 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mightie arme, euén in anger, and in wrath, and in great indignation.

7 And I will smite the inhabitants of this cite, both man and beest: they shall die of a great pestilence.

8 And after this, saith the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the king of Iudah, & his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this cite, from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchad-nassar King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and hee shall smite them with the edge of the sword: he shall not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

9 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death.

10 ¶ He that abideth in this cite, shall die by the sword, and by the famine, & by the pestilence: but hee that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shall lue, and his life shall be vnto him for a pray.

11 For I haue set my face against this cite, for euill, and not for good, saith the Lord: it shall be ginen into the hand of the king of Babel, & he shall burne it with fire.

12 ¶ And say vnto the house of the King of Iudah, Heare ye the word of the Lord;

13 O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, ¶ Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressour, lest my wrath goe out like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your workes.

14 Behold, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley and racker of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shall come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations?

15 But I will visit you according to the fruite of your workes, saith the Lord, and I will kindle a fire in the Forrest thereof, and it shall deuoure round about it.

CHAP. XXII.

1. Hee rebuketh the king to iudgement and righteousness. 9 Why Ierusalem is brought into captiuitie. 11 The death of Shallum the soune of Iosiah is prophesied.

This said the Lord, Goe downe to the house of the king of Iudah, and speake therethis thing, 2 And say, Heare the word of the Lord, O King of Iudah, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by the gates.

3 Thus saith the Lord, ¶ Execute ye iudgement Chap. 22. and righteousness, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressour, and vnto the stranger, the fatherlesse, and the widow, do no violence, nor shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then shall the kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this house, and ride vpon chaires, and vpon horses: but he and his seruants, and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these words, I sweare by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this house shall be waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the kings house of Iudah, Thou art Gilead vnto me, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wilderness, and as cities not inhabited,

7 And I will prepare destroyers against thee euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe cedar trees, and cast them in the fire.

8 And many nations shall passe by this cite, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, Wherfore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great cite?

9 Then shall they answer, Because they haue forsaken the covenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and serued them.

10 ¶ Weep not for the dead, and be not moued for them: but weepe for him that goeth out: for he shall returne no more, nor see his native country.

11 For thus saith the Lord, As touching Shallum the soune of Iosiah king of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, he shall not returne thither.

12 But he shall die in the place wherther they haue ledde him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 ¶ Woe vnto him that buildeth his house by vnrighteousnes and his chambers without equitie: he vieth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

14 Hee saith, I will build mee a wide house, and large chambers: so he will make himselfe large windows, and feling with cedar, and paint them with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reigne because thou clovest thy selfe in cedar? did not thy father eat and drinke and prosper when he executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When he iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, hee prospered: was not this because hee knew mee saith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but ouerly for thy concupiscesse, and for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, saith the Lord.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim the soune of Iosiah king of Iudah, They shall not lament him, saying, Ah my brother, or ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah Lord, or ah his glory.

19 Hee shall be buried as an asse is buried, even drawne and cast forth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 ¶ Goe vp to Lebanon, and cry: shout in Bashan, and cry by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperitie:

rise: And then said he, I will not leave this both him thy mother from thy youth, that thou wouldst not obey my voice.

14 The wind shall find all thy passages, and thy horns shall go into captivity: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickedness.

15 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the cedars, how beautiful shall thou be when sorrows come upon thee, as the sorrows of a woman in travail?

16 As I live, saith the Lord, though Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I pluck thee thence.

17 And I will give thee into the hand of them that seek thy life, and into the hands of them, whose face thou searest, even into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

18 And I will cause them to carry thee away, and thy mother that bare thee, into another country where ye were not borne, and there shalt ye die.

19 But to the land wherunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

20 Is not this man Coniah an defiled and broken idole? or is a vessel, wherein is no pleasure?
wherefore are they carried away, he and his seed, and cast out into a land that they know not?

21 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Write this man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his daies:
for there shall be no man of his seed that shall prosper and sit upon the throne of David, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 As thus saith the Lord, 5 A prophete of the great Pastor, Iesus Christ.

W^O be unto the pastors that destroy and scatter
the sheepe of my pasture, saith the Lord.

2 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel unto the pastors that feed my people, Ye have scattered my sheepe, and thrust them out, and have not visited them: behold, I will visit you for the wickedness of your works, saith the Lord.

3 And I will gather the remnant of my sheepe out of all countreys, whether I had drinen them, and will bring them againe to their folds, and they shall grow and increase.

4 And I will set vp shepherds over them, which shall feed them: and they shall dread no more, nor be afraid, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I will raise unto David a righteous branch, & a king shall reign, & prosper, and shall execute iudge-ment and justice in the earth.

6 In his daies Iudah shall be saved, * and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the Name whereby they shall call him, * The Lord our righteousnesse.

7 Therefore, behold, the daies come, saith the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord lieth, which brought up the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

8 But, The Lord lieth, which brought up, and led the seed of the house of Israel out of the North country and from all countreys, where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within me because of the Prophets, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man, (& like a man whom wine hath overcome) for the preface of the Lord, and for his holy words, 10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because clothes the land in mourning, the pleaures places of the wilderness are dried up, and their countrey euilt, and their force is not right.

11 For both the Prophet and the Priest do wickedly: and their wickedness have I found in mine house, saith the Lord.

12 Wherefore their way shall be unto them as slippery water in the darkness, they shall be driven forth, and fall therein: for I will bring a plow upon them, even the yoke of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I have sene foull things in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Babel, and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I have sene also in the prophets of Ierusalem filthines: they commit adultery, and walk in lies:
they strengthen also the hands of the wicked, that none can returne from his wickedness: they are all unto me as Sodome, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorah.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts concerning the prophets, Behold, I will feed them with wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the Prophets of Ierusalem is wickedness gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, These are not the words of the prophets that prophesie unto you, and teach you vanities: they speake the vision of their owne heart and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say still unto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Ye shall have peace: therefore they say unto every one that walketh after the Rubminisme of his owne heart, No euill shall come upon you.

18 For who hath stood in the counsell of the Lord, that he hath perceived and heard his word?
Who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in wrath, and a violent whirlewinde shall fall downe upon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord shall not returne untill he have executed, and till hee have performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter daies ye shall understand it plainly.

21 I have not sent these prophets, saith the Lord, yet they say: I have not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

22 But if they had stood in my counsell, and had declared my words to my people, then they should have turned them from their euill way, and from the wickedness of their inventions.

23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God farre off?

24 Can any hide himselfe in secret places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lord? Do not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I have heard what the prophets said that prophesie in my Name, saying, I have dreamed, I have dreamed.

26 How long doe the prophets delight to prophesie lies, even prophesying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Think ye they to cause my people to forget my Name by their dreames which they tell every man to his neighbour, as their forefathers have forgotten my Name for Babel?

28 The prophet that hath a dreame, let him tell a dreame, and hee that hath my word let him speake my word faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheate,
saith the Lord.

29 Is not my word even like fire, saith the Lord?
and like an hammer that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that steal my word every one from his neighbour.

31 Behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which have sweet tongues, and say, Hee saith.

32 Behold, I will come against them that prophesie false dreames, saith the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lier and by their flatteries, and I sware them not, nor commanded them: therefore they bring no peace vnto this people saith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a priest shall saie thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? then shalt thou say vnto them, What burden? I will enquire for you saith the Lord.

34 And the prophet, or the priest, or the people that shall say, The burden of the Lord, I will enquire with you such one and his house.

35 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, What hath the Lord answered? and what hath the Lord spoken?

36 And the burden of the Lord shalt thou mention no more: for every mans word shall be his burden: for ye haue persecuted the words of the living God, the Lord of hostes our God.

37 Thus shalt thou say to the Prophet, What hath the Lord answered thee? and what hath the Lord spoken?

38 And if thou say, The burden of the Lord, Then shalt thou say, The Lord, because ye say this word, I be burden of the Lord, and I haue sent it vnto you, saying, Ye shall not say, The burden of the Lord.

39 Therefore behold, I, euen I will venterly forget you, and I will forsake you, and the citie that I gaue you, and your fathers, and cease you out of my presence.

40 And will bring an euermlasting reproch vpon you, and a perpetual shame which shall neuer be forgotten.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The vision of the baskets of figges. 2 Signifieth that parts of the people should be brought againe from captivity. 3 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be cursed eternally.

1 He Lord shewed me, and behold, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchad-nazzar king of Babel had carried away captive Ieremias the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had very good figges, such like the figges that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughty figges, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then said the Lord vnto me, What seest thou, Ieremias? And I said, Figges: the good figges very good, and the naughty very naughty, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill.

4 Again the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord the God of Israel, Like these good figges, so will I know them that are carried away captive of Iudah to bee good, whome I haue sent out of this place into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I will set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I will build them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not root them out.

7 And I will giue them an heart to know mee, that I am the Lord, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 And as the naughty figges, which cannot be eaten, they are so euill (saith the Lord) so will I giue Zedekiah the king of Iudah and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt.

9 I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproch and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse in all places where I shall cast them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they bee consumed out of the land that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 He prophesieth that they shall be in captivity seuentie yeeres, 2 And that after the seuentie yeeres the Babylonians should bee destroyed. 3 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

1 He word that came to Ieremias concerning all the people of Iudah in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, that was in the first yeere of Nebuchad-nazzar king of Babel.

2 The which Ieremias the Prophet saith vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah, euen vnto this day (that is the thirce and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, and I haue spoken vnto you rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor incline your eares to obey.

5 They said, Turne againe now every one from his euill way, and from the wickednesse of your inuentions, and ye shall dwell in the lande that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And goe not after other gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Neuertheless ye would not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked me to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, because ye haue not heard my words,

9 Behold, I will send and take to mee all the families of the North, saith the Lord, and Nebuchad-nazzar the king of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all these nations round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment, and an hissing, and a continual desolation.

10 Moreover, I will take from them the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladnesse: the voice of Ioy, the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, the noise of the millstones, and the light of the candle.

11 And this whole land shall bee desolate, and an astonishment, and these nations shall serue the king of Babel seuentie yeeres.

12 And when the seuentie yeeres are accomplished, I will visit the king of Babel and that nation, saith the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the lande of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetual desolation.

13 And I will bring vpon that land all my words which rise: And thou shalt say, I will not heare: this hath bin thy manner from thy youth, that thou wouldst not obey my voice.

24 The wind shall feed all chy pastures, and chy bowers shall go into captiuitie: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednes.

25 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the cedars, how desicthall shake thou bee when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorowe of a woman in tribaile?

26 As I liue, saith the Lord, though Comiah the sonne of Iehoiakim, king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

27 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that seeke thy life, and into the hands of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzer king of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

28 And I will cause thee to cary thee away, and chy mother that bare thee, into another countrey where ye were not borne, and there shalt ye die.

29 But to the land wherunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

30 Is not this man Comiah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessell, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they caried away, he and his load, and cast out into a land that they know not?

31 O earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

32 Thus saith the Lord, Write this man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his daies: for there shall be no man of his seed that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of David, or beate rule any more in Iudah.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence among them, till they be consumed out of the land that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 He prophesieth that they shall be in captivity seventy yeres. 2 And that after the seventy yeres the Babylonians should be destroyed. 3 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

The word that came to Ieremiah concerning all the people of Iudah in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, that was in the first yere of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

2 The which Ieremiah the Prophet pakt vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yere of Iosiah the sonne of Amon king of Iudah, euen vnto this day (that is the thirce and twentieth yere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, and I haue spoken vnto you rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor incline your eares to obey.

5 They said, Turne againe now eery one from his euill way, and from the wickednesse of your intentions, and yee shall dwell in the lande that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And goe not after other gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke me not to anger with the workes of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Neuertheless ye would not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked me to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, because ye haue not heard my words,

9 Behold, I will send and take to mee all the families of the North, saith the Lord, and Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my seruant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, and against all the heathen nations round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment, and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

10 Moreover, I will take from them the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladnesse: the voice of Iordan the bridegroome and the voice of the bride, the noise of the millstones, and the light of the candle.

11 And this whole land shall be desolate, and an astonishment, and these nations shall serue the king of Babel seventy yeres.

12 And when the seventy yeres are accomplished, I will visit the king of Babel and that nation, saith the Lord for their iniquities, euen the lande of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetual desolation.

13 And I will bring vpon that land all my words which which I haue pronounced against it, even all that is written in this booke which Ieremiah hath prophesied against all nations.

14 For many nations and great kings shall euen serue themselves of them: thus will I recompense them according to their deedes, and according to the workes of their owne hands.

15 For thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken vnto mee, Take the cup of wine of this mur indignation at mine hand, and cause all the nations, to whom I send thee, to drinke it.

16 And they shall drinke, and be moomed, and be mad, because of the sword, that I wil send among them.

17 Then tooke I the cup at the Lords hand, and made all the people to drinke, vnto whom the Lord had sent me:

18 Even Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the kings thereof, and the princes thereof: to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, as appeareth this day.

19 Pharaoh also king of Egypt, and his seruants, and his princes, and all his people:

20 And all forts of people, and all the kings of the land of Vz: and all the kings of the land of the Philistims, and Ahkelon, and Azzah, and Ekron, and the remnant of Ahhod:

21 Edom and Moab, and the Ammonites,

22 And all the kings of Tyrus, and all the kings of Zidon, and the kings of the yles, that are beyond the sea,

23 And Dedan, and Tema, and Bwz, and all that dwell in the uttermost corners,

24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of Arabia that dwell in the desert,

25 And all the kings of Zimri, and all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of the Medes, 26 And all the kings of the North, farre and neere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the world, which are vpon the earth, and the king of Shethach shall drinke after them.

27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Drinke, and bee drunken and spew, and fall, and rise no more, because of the sword, which I will send among you.

28 ¶ But if they refuse to take the cup at thine hand to drinke, then tell them, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes. Ye shall certainly drinke.

29 For lo, I begin to plague the citie, where my Name is called vpon, and should you goe free? yee shall not goe quite: for I will call for a sword vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes.

30 Therefore prophesie thou against them all these words, and say vnto them, * The Lord shall roare from aboue, and thrust out his voyce from his holy habitation: hee shall roare vpon his habitation, and crie aloud, as they that presse the grapes, against all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 The sound shall come to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the nations, and wil enter into iudgement with all flesh, and he will giue them that are wicked to the sword, saith the Lord.

32 ¶ Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Behold, a plague shall goe fourth from nation to nation, and a great whirlewinde shall be raised vp from the coastes of the earth.

33 And the slain of the Lord shall be at every day from one end of the earth, euen vnto the other end of the earth: they shall not be moomed, neither gathered nor buried, but shall be as the dung vpon any ground.

34 Howle, yee shepherds, and crie, and wallow your selues in the albes, ye principall of the flocke: for your dayes of slaughter are accomplished, and of your disperſion, and yee shall fall like precious vessels.

35 And the flight shall faile from the shepherds, and the eſcaping from the principall of the flocke.

36 A voyce of the crie of the shepherds, and an howling of the principall of the flocke shall be heard: for the Lord hath destroyed their pasture.

37 And the best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignation of the Lord.

38 He hath forsaken his conort, as the Lion: for their land is waste, because of the wrath of the oppressour, & because of the wrath of his indignation.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Ieremiah moueth the people to repentance. 7 He is taken of the false prophets and priests, and brought to iudgement. 23 Vriah the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakim contrary to the will of God.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the court of the Lords house, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudah, which come to worship in the Lords House all the words that I command thee to speake vnto them: keepe not a word backe,

3 Ifso be they will hearken, and turne every man from his euil way: that I may repent me of the plague which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their workes.

4 And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, If ye will not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the words of my seruants the Prophets, whom I sent vnto you, both rising vp early, and tending them, and will not obey them,

6 Then will I make this house like Shiloh, and will make this citie a curse to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priests, and the Prophets, and all the people heard Ieremiah speaking these words in the House of the Lord.

8 Now when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people tooke him, and said, Thou shalt die the death.

9 Why hast thou prophesied in the Name of the Lord, saying, This house shall be like Shiloh, and this citie shall be desolate without an inhabitant? and all the people were gathered against Ieremiah in the House of the Lord.

10 And when the princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vp from the kings house into the House of the Lord, and sat downe in the entry of the new gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the priests and the Prophets vnto the princes, and to all the people, saying, ¶ This man is worthy to die: for he hath prophesied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Ieremiah vnto all the princes, and to all the people, saying, The Lord hath sent me to prophesie against this house, and against this citie, all the things that yee haue heard.

13 Therefore now amend your wayes, and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that he hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, Behold, I am in your hands: doe with me as you thinke good and right.

16 Then said the princes and all the people vnto the Priests & to the Prophets, This man is not worthy to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assembly of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Merashtite* prophesied in the daies of Hezekiah king of Iudah, and spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Zion shall be plowed like a feld, and Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the House shall be the high places of the fowle.

19 Did Hezekiah king of Iudah, and all Iudah put him to death? did hee not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the plague that hee had pronounced against them: thus might we procure great euill against our foules.

20 And there was also a man that prophesied in the Name of the Lord, vpon Iriah the sonne of She-maiah, of Kirjath-iareim, who prophesied against this city, and against this land, according to all the words of Ieremiah.

21 Nowe when Iehoiakim the King with all his men of power, and all the princes heard his words, the king sought to slay him: but when Iriah heard it, he was afraid, and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Iehoiakim the King sent men into Egypt, vnto Elnoathan the sonne of Achbor, and examine with him into Egypt.

23 And they fet Iriah out of Egypt, & brought him vnto Iehoiakim the King, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead body into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam the son of Shaphan was with Ieremiah, that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Ieremiah as the commandment of the Lord sendeth bonds to the king of Iudah, and to the other kings that were nere, whereby they are admonished to be subiects vnto Nebuchad-nezzar. 2 He warneth the people and the Kings, and rulers, that they beleene not false prophets.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee bonds and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

3 And fend them to the king of Edom, & to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyrus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers, which come to Ierusalem vnto Zedekiah the king of Iudah,

4 And command them to say vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Thus shall ye say vnto your masters,

5 I haue made the earth, the man and the beast that are vpon the ground by my great power, and by my outstretched arme, and haue giuen it vnto whom it pleased me.

6 But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my seruant, and the beasts of the field haue I also giuen him to keepe him,

7 And all nations shall serue him, and his sonne, and his sonnes sonne, vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations and great kings shall serue themselves of him.

8 And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, the same nation will I visit, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets, nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your incanters, nor your soeceters, which say vnto you thus, Ye shall not serue the king of Babel.

10 For they prophesie a lie vnto you to cause you to goe far from your land, and that I should call you out, and you should perish.

11 But thou shalt put their neckes vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him, whose will I let remaine still in their own land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupy it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also vnto Zedekiah king of Iudah according to all these words, saying, Put your necks vnder the yoke of the king of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will ye die, thou and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation that will not serue the king of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the wordes of the prophets that speake vnto you, saying, Yee shall not serue the king of Babel: for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not * sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesie a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, and that yee might perish both you and the prophets that prophesie vnto you.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priests, & to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not y words of your prophets, that prophesie vnto you, saying, Behold, * the vessels of the House of the Lord shall now shortly be brought againe from Babel, for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

17 Heare them not, but serue the king of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore should this city be desolate?

18 But if they be prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them intreate the Lord of hosts, that the vessels which are left in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, go not to Babel.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hosts concerning the * pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bales, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this cite,

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke not, when he caried away captiue Iecooniah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah from Ierusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Ierusalem.

21 For thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the King of Iudah, and at Ierusalem, 22 They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shall bee vntill the day that I visite them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 The false prophesie of Hananiah. 2 Ieremiah reproveth Hananiah, and prophesieth.

AND that time was in the beginning of the reign of Asof Zedekiah king of Judah in the fourth yeere, and in the fifth moneth, Hananiah the sonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of Gibeah, shew to mee in the house of the Lord in the presence of the Priests, and of all the people, and said

14. Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, I have broken the yoke of the king of Babel.

¶ Within two yeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords House, that Nebuchad-nazzar king of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

4. And I will bring again to this place Jeconiah the sonne of Choloim king of Iudah, with all them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, and weite into Babel, saith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the King of Babel.

5. Then the Prophet Jeremiah laid down the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the house of the Lord.

6 Euen the Prophet Ieremiah sayde, So be it : the Lord so do, the Lord confirmeth words which thou hast prophesied to restore the vessels of the Lords house, and all that is caried captiue, from Babel into this place.

7 But heare thou now this worde that I will speake in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that have bene before me, and before thee in time past, prophesied against many countreys, and against erecting domes, of war, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

2 And the Prophet which prophesieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to passe, so shall the Prophet bee knowne, that the Lord hath truly sent him.

10. Then Hananiah the Prophet took the yoke from the Prophet Jeremiahs neck, and brake it.

21 And Hananiah spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Even so will I break the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel from the neck of all nations, within the space of two yeeres: and the Prophet Jeremiah went his way.

24. ¶ Then the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremias the Prophet, (after that Hananiah the prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Ieremias saying,

13 Go and tell Hamanish, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of iron.

14. For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, I have put a yoke of iron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the beasts of the field also.

15 Then said the Prophet Ieremiah vnto the prophet Hananiah. Heare now Hananiah, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yeeere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiah the prophet died the same year in the seventh month.

CHAP. XXIX.

3 Jeremiah writeth unto them that were in captivity in Babylon. 10 He prophesieth their return after 18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence, and I will make them a terror to all kingdoms of the earth, and a curse and astonishment, and an hissing,

and

and a reproch among all the nations whither I haue cast them.

19. Because they haue not heard my wordes, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them: but yee would not heare, saith the Lord.

20. Heare ye therefore the word of the Lord, all ye of the captiuitie whom I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

21. Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiab, and Zedekiah the sonne of Maasiah, which prophesie lies vnto you in my Name, Behold, I will deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and he shall slay them before your eyes.

22. And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah, and like Ahab, whom the King of Babel banish in the fire.

23. Because they haue committed villeny in Israel, and haue committed adultery with their neighbours wives, and haue spoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euery know it, and testifie it, saith the Lord.

24. Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying,

25. Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name vnto all the people that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maasiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

26. The Lord hath made thee Priest for Iehoiada the Priest, that ye should bee officers in the house of the Lord, for euery man that raneth and maketh himselfe a prophet, to put him in prison, and in the stocks.

27. Now therefore why hast thou not reproofed Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophesieth vnto you?

28. For, for this cause hee sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: build houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

29. And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.

30. Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

31. Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophesied vnto you, and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lie, 32. Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will visit Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seed: he shall not haue a man to dwell among this people, neither shall he behold my good that I will do for my people, saith the Lord, because hee hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

1. The returne of the people from Babilon. 16. He merueth the enemies. 18. & comforteth the Church. The word that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2. Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes that I haue spoken vnto thee in a booke.

3. For loe, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saith the Lord: for I will restore them vnto the land that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4. Againe, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5. For thus saith the Lord, We haue heard a terrible voice of feare, and not of peace.

6. Demand now, and behold, if man trauell with child? wherefore doe I behold euery man with his hands on his loines as a woman in trauel, and all faces are turned into a palenesse?

7. Alas, for this day is great: none hath beene like it: it is euen the time of Iakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.

8. For in that day, saith the Lord of hosts, I will breake his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bonds, and strangers shall no more serue themselves of him.

9. But they shall serue the Lord their God, and Dauid their king, whom I will raise vp vnto them.

10. Therefore feare not, O my seruants Iakob, saith the Lord, neither be afraid, O Israel: for lo, I will deliuer thee from a far countrey, and thy seed from the land of their captiuitie, & Iakob shall turne againe and shall bee in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

11. For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee: though I utterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not utterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not utterly cut thee off.

12. For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and thy wound is dolorous.

13. There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines nor helpe for thee.

14. All thy louers haue forgotten thee: they seek thee not: for I haue stricken thee with the wound of an enemy, and with a sharp chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy finnes were increased.

15. Why criest thou for thine affliction? thy sorrow is incurable for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy finnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

16. Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shall be deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shall goe into captiuitie: and they that spoyle thee, shall bee spoyled, and all they that rob thee, will I giue to be robbed.

17. For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord, because they called thee the castaway, saying, This is Zion whom no man seeketh after.

18. Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iakobs tents, and haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the city shall be builded vpon her owne heape, and the palace shall remaine after the manner thereof.

19. And out of them shall proceed thanksgiving, and the voice of them that are ioyous: & I will multiply them, and they shall not be few: I will also glorifie them, and they shall not be diminished.

20. Their children also shall be as aforetime: and their congregation shall be established before mee: and I will visit all that vexed them.

21. And their noble ruler shall be of themselves, and their gouernour shall proceed from the mids of them, and I will cause him to draw neere & approach vnto mee: for who is this that directeth his heart to come vnto me, saith the Lord?

22. And ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

23. Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirlwind that hangeth ouer, shall lize vpon the head of the wicked.

24. The fierce wrath of the Lord shall not returne vntill hee haue done, and vntill hee haue performed the intents of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 He rehearseth Gods benefites after their returne from Babilon, 23 and the spiritual joy of the faithfull in the Church.

At the same time, saith the Lord, will I bee the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people.

2 Thus saith the Lord, The people which escaped the sword, found grace in the wilderness: he walked before Israel to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared vnto mee of old, say they: yea, I haue loued thee with an everlasting loue, therefore with mercy I haue drawn thee.

4 Againe, I will build thee, and thou shalt bee builded, O virgin Israel: thou shalt stil be adorned with thy timbrels, and shalt goe forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountains of Samaria: and the planters that plant them, shall make them common.

6 For the dayes shall come that the watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shall crye, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto Zion to the Lord our God.

7 For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnes for Iacob, and shout for ioy among the chiefe of the Gentiles: publish praise, and say, O Lord saue thy people, the remnant of Israel.

8 Behold, I will bring them from the North country, and gather them from the coastes of the world, with the blinde and the lame among them, with the woman with child and her that is deliuered also: a great company shall returne hither.

9 They shall come weeping, & with mercy will I bring them againe: I will leade them by the riues of water in a straight way wherein they shall not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my first borne.

10 ¶ Hear the word of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, and declare in the yles afaire off, and say, Hee that scattered Israel will gather him, and will keepe him as a shepherd doeth his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iacob, and ransomed him from the hand of him that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shall come and reioyce in the height of Zion, and shall run to the bountifullnes of the Lord, as for the wheate, & for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheep, and bullocks: and their soule shall be as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorrow.

13 Then shall the virgin reioyce in the dance, and the young men and the olde men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, and will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorrows.

14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priests with fatnesse, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodnesse, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Lord, A voice was heard on hie, a mourning, and bitter weeping, Rahel weeping for her children, refused to bee comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voice from weeping, and chine eyes from teares: for thy worke shall be rewarded, saith the Lord, & they shall come againe from the land of the enemy:

17 And there is hope in thine ende, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, & I was chastised as an vntamed calfe: conuert thou me, and I shall be conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproch of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim my deare sonne or pleasant child? yet since I spake vnto him, I still remembered him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I will surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee vp signes: make thee heape: set thine heart toward the path, and way that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgin of Israel, turne againe to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go astray, O thou rebellious daughter: for y Lord hath created a new thing in the earth: A woman shall compass a man, 23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of Iudah, & in the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord blesse thee, O habitation of Iustice, and holy Mountaine.

24 And Iudah shall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen, and they that go forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue satiate the weary soule, and I haue replenished euery sorrowfull soule.

26 Therefore I awaked & beheld, and my sleepe was sweet vnto me.

27 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will sowe the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah with the seede of man, and with the seede of beast.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp, and to root out, and to throw downe, and to destroy and to plague them, so will I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a sowe grage, and the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowe grage, his teeth shall be set on edge.

31 ¶ Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, 32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers, when I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband vnto them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my lawe in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shall be my people.

34 And they shall teach one more every man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for they shall all know me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgive their iniquities, and will remember their finnes no more.

35 Thus saith the Lord, which giueth the Sunne for a light to the day, & the courses of the Moone, and of the Starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waves thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hostes.

36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shall the seede of Israel cease from being a nation before me for ever.

37 Thus saith the Lord, If the brazen can bee made.

measured, or the foundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then will I cast off all the seed of Israel for all that they have done, saith the Lord.

38 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the citie shall be build to the Lord, from the tower of Hanameel vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the measure shall goe forth in his presence vpon the hill Gareb, and I shall compass about to Gath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horse gate toward the East, shall be holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it be plucked vp, nor destroyed any more for euer.

C H A P. XXXII.

Jeremiah is cast into prison, because he prophesied that the citie should be taken of the King of Babylon.

He sheweth, that the people should come againe to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

THe word that came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, in the tenth yeere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar.

1 For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Jeremiah the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, which was in the king of Iudahs house.

2 For Zedekiah king of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore dost thou prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lord, * Behold, I will giue this citie into the hands of the king of Babel, and he shall take it?

3 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah shall not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the hands of the king of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his face.

4 And he shall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he be vncill I visite him, saith the Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shall not prosper.

5 ¶ And Jeremiah said, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 Behold, Hanameel the sonne of Shallum thine vncle shall come vnto thee: and say, Buy vnto thee my field, that is in Anathoth: for the title by kindred appertaineth vnto thee to buy it.

7 So Hanameel mine vncles sonne, came to me in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, and sayd vnto mee, Buy my field. I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the country of Benjamin: for the right of the possession is thine, & the purchase belongeth vnto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

8 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vncles sonne that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the silver, even fuen shekels and ten pices of silver.

9 And I writ it in the booke, and signed it, and tooke witneses, and weighed him the silver in the ballances.

10 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed according to the Law and custome, with the booke that was open.

11 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maseiah in the sight of Hanameel mine vncles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses written in the booke of the possession, before all the Iewes that staine the court of the prison.

12 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Take the writings even this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that they may continue a long time.

14 For the Lord of hosts the God of Israel sayth thus, Houses, and fields, and vineyards shall be possessed againe in this land.

15 ¶ Now when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying, 16 Ah Lord God, behold thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing hard vnto thee.

17 * Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompenset the iniquity of the fathers into the bowels of some of their children after them, O God the great and mighty whose Name is the Lord of hosts.

18 Great in counsell, and mighty in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the sonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his works)

19 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day.

20 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terror, 21 And hast giuen them this land, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, even a land that floweth with milke and honie.

22 And they came in and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Lawe: all that thou commandedst them to doe, they have not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

23 Behold, the mounts they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and behold, thou seest it.

24 And thou hast said vnto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the field for silver, and take witneses: for the citie shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

25 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Jeremiah, saying,

26 Behold, I am the Lord God of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for mee?

27 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and he shall take it.

28 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie, and burne it with the houses, vpon whose roofes they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and poured drinke offerings vnto other gods to prouoke me vnto anger.

29 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before me from their youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked me to anger with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

30 Therefore this citie hath been vnto mee as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, even vnto this day, that I should remooue it out of my sight.

31 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, and of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke me to anger even they, their kings, their princes, their priests, & their prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

33 And they have turned vnto mee the backe, and not the face: though I taught them, rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine.

34 But they set their abominations in the house, (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it.

35 And they built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnom, to cause their sons and their daughters to passe thorow the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should doe such abomination, to cause Iudah to sinne.

36 And now therefore thus hath the Lord God o Israel spoken concerning this citie, wherof ye say, It shall be deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.

37 Behold, I will gather them out of all countreys, wherein I haue scattized them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

38 And they shall be my people, and I will be their God, 39 And I will giue them one heart, and one way, that they may feare me for euer, for the wealth of them, and of their children after them.

40 And I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will neuer turne away from them to do them good: but I will put my feare in their hearts, that they shall not depart from me.

41 Yea, I will delite in them to doe them good, and I will plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, and with all my soule.

42 For thus saith the Lord, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so will I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them.

43 And the fields shall be possessed in this land, wherof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Men shall buy fields for siluer, and make writings, and seale them, and take witnesses in the land of Benjamin, and round about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I will cause their captivity to returne, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The Prophet is manifested of the Lord to pray for the deliuerance of the people, which the Lord promised God for ierusalem sinnes for his owne glory. 15 Of the birth of Christ. 20 The kingdom of Christ in the Church vnto all neuer ended.

Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah the second time (while hee was yet shut vp in the court of the prison) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker thereof, the Lord that formed, and established it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call vnto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the mounts, and by the sword.

5 They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to kill themselves with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slaine in mine anger, and in my wrath: for I haue hid my face from this citie, because of all their wickednesse.

6 Behold, I will giue it health and amendment, for I will cure them, and will reueale vnto them the abundance of peace, and truth.

7 And I will cause the captivity of Iudah, and the captivity of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first.

8 And I will cleanse them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against mee: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against mee, and whereby they haue rebelled against me.

9 And it shall be to me a name, a ioy, a praise, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all the good that I doe vnto them: and they shall feare and tremble for all the goodnesse and for all the wealth that I shew vnto this citie.

10 Thus saith the Lord, Againe there shall be heard in this place (which ye say shall bee desolate, without man, and without beast, even in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

11 The voice of ioy, and the voice of gladnesse, the voice of the bridegrome, and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that shall say, Praise the Lord of hostes, because the Lord is good: for his mercie endureth for euer, and of them that offer the sacrifice of praise in the house of the Lord, for I will cause to returne the captivity of the land, as at the first, saith the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place which is desolate, without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof, there shall be dwelling for shepherds to rest their flocks.

13 In the cities of the mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Benjamin and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe vnder y hand of him that telleth them, saith the Lord.

14 Behold, the dayes come saith the Lord, that I will performe that good thing which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah.

15 In those dayes, and at that time will I cause the branch of righteousness to growe vp vnto David, and hee shall execute iudgement and righteousness in the land.

16 In those dayes shall Iudah be saved, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and he that shall call her, is the Lord our righteousness.

17 For thus saith the Lord, David shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the Priests and Levites want a man before me to offer burnt offerings, and to offer meat offerings, and to sacrifice continually.

19 And the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus saith the Lord, If you can breake my Covenant of the day, and my Covenant of the night, that there should not be day and night in their season.

21 Then may my covenant be broken with David my servant, that he should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Levites, and Priests my ministers.

22 As the armie of heauen cannot be numbered, neither the sand of the sea measured: so will I multiply the seed of David my servant, and the Levites that minister vnto me.

23 Moreover, the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah, saying,

24. Considerest thou not what this people haue spoken, saying, The two families which the Lord hath chosen, he hath euen cast them off: thus they haue despised my people; that they should bee no more a nation before them.

25. Thus saith the Lord, If my Couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth,

26. Then will I cast away the seed of Iakob and Dauid my seruant, and not take of his seede to bee rulers ouer the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iakob: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne and haue compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1. He sheweth that the city, and the king Zedekiah shall be giuen into the hands of the king of Babilon.

2. He rebuketh their cruelties toward their seruants.

The word which came to Ieremias from the Lord (when Nebuchadrezzar King of Babel, and all his host, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and al people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

3. Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and hee shall burne it with fire,

2. Chron.
36. 19.
chap. 29.

and 32.

4. And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall behold the face of the King of Babel, & he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

5. Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Iudah: thus saith the Lord of thee, Thou shalt not die by the sword,

6. But thou shalt die in peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shall they be burned out for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh Lord: for I haue pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

7. Then Ieremias the Prophet spake all these words vnto Zedekiah king of Iudah in Ierusalem,

8. (When the king of Babels hoste fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah, that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

9. This is the word that came vnto Ieremias from the Lord, after that the king Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people which were at Ierusalem, to proclaime libertie vnto them,

10. That euery man should let his seruant goe free, and euery man his handmaid, which was an Ebrew or an Ebrewesse, and that none should serue himselfe of them, so was, of a few his brother.

11. Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant goe free, & euery one his handmaid, and that none should serue themselves of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

1. Chron.

and 32.

12. But afterward they repented, and caused the seruants and the handmaids, whom they had let goe free, to retorne, and held them in subiectiō as seruants and handmaids.

13. Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremias from the Lord, saying,

1. Chron.
36. 19.
chap. 29.
16, 17.
and 32.

14. Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of Egypt, saying,

15. At the terme of seven yeres let ye go euery man his brother an Ebrew which hath bene sold vnto thee: and when hee hath serued thee six yeres, thou shalt let him goe free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

16. And ye were now turned and had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before me in the house whereupon my Name is called.

17. But ye repented and polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmaid, whom ye had set at libertie at their pleasure, to retorne, and hold them in subiectiō to be vnto you as seruants, and as handmaids.

18. Therefore thus saith the Lord, Ye haue not obeyed me in proclaiming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for you, saith the Lord, to the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terror to all the kingdomes of the earth.

19. And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which they had made before mee, when they cut the calf in twaine, and passed betwene the parts thereof:

20. The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, and the Priests, and all the people of the land, which passed betwene the parts of the calf,

21. I will emengine them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shall be for weat vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the earth.

22. And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the king of Babels hoste, which are gone vp from you.

23. Behold, I will command, saith the Lord, and cause them to retorne to this citie, and they shall fight against it and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

Hee proposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and sheweth how foolish is the pride of the Iewes.

The word which came vnto Ieremias from the Lord, in the dayes of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, saying,

1. Goe into the house of the Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord, into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

2. Then tooke I Iasazaniah the sonne of Ieremias the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites.

3. And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was about the chamber of Maasiah the sonne of Shallum the keeper of the treasure.

4. And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups, and said vnto them, Drinke wine.

5. But they said, We will drinke no wine: for Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs saying, Ye shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

6. Neither shall ye build house, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyard, nor haneary, but all your dayes yee shall dwell in tents, that ye may line a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

Or, deen

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that hee hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our dayes, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor field, nor feed.

10 But we haue remained in tents, and haue obeyed, and done according to all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.

11 But when Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, and let vs goe to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans and from the host of Aram: so we dwell at Ierusalem.

12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Go, tell the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my words, saith the Lord?

14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, that he commanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none: but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, rising early, and speaking, but yee would not obey mee.

15 I haue sent alio vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them, saying,

ap. 18. 5. * Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but yee would not encline your eare, nor obey mee.

16 Surely the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab haue kept the commandement of their father which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answer.

18 And Ieremiah said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and keepe all his precepts, and done according vnto all that hee hath commanded you, 19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall not want a man to stand before me for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Jeremiah enditeth the booke of the curses against Iudah & Israel. 9 Heir sent with the booke vnto the people, & readeth it before them all 14 He is called before the rulers and readeth it before them also. 23 The king casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written as the commandement of the Lord.

And in the fourth yere of Ichoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Take thee a roule or booke, and write therein all the words that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the daye that I spake vnto thee, euens from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day.

3 It may bee that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euill which I determined to do vnto them, that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgive their iniquitie and their finnes.

4 Then Ieremiah calles Baruch the son of Nechemiah, and Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah all the words of the Lord which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roule or booke.

5 And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am shut vp, and cannot goe into the house of the Lord.

6 Therefore goe thou, and read the roule when in thou hast written at my mouth the words of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lords house vpon the fasting day: alio thou shalt read them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may be that they will pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger, and the wrath that the Lord hath declared against this people.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke the words of the Lord in the Lords house.

9 ¶ And in the fifth yere of Ichoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the words of Ieremiah in the house of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretary, in the higher court at the entry of the new gate of the Lords house in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan, had heard out of the booke the words of the Lord.

12 Then he went downe to the kings house into the chancellors chamber, and lo, all the princes sate there, euens Elihama the chancelor, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah and E Nathan the son of Aehbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the words that he hath heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the son of Nechaniah the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Cushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriahooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they said vnto him, Sit downe now, and read it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the words, they were afraid both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, Wee will certifie the king of all these wordes.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, how didst thou write all these wordes at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes, vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with inke in the booke.

19 Then said the princes vnto Baruch, Go, hide thee: thou & Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the King to the court, but they laid vp the roule in the chamber of Elihama che chancelour, and told the King all the words that he might heare.

21 So the king sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and he tooke it out of Elifhama the chancellors chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the king, and in the audience of all the princes, which stood beside the King.

22 Now the king fate in the Winterhouse, in the ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had read three or foure sides, he cut it with the penknife, and cast it into the fire that was on the earth, vntill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the earth.

24 Yet they were not afraid, nor rent their garments: neither the King nor any of his seruants, that heard all these words.

25 Neuertheles Eliahan, and Delaiah and Gemariah had besought the King that he would not burne the rolle: but he would not heare them.

26 But the King commanded Ierahmeel the son of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the Scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet, but the Lord hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the king had burne the rolle and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe another rolle, and write in it all the former words that were in the first rolle, which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah hath burnt.

29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast burnt this rolle, saying, Why hast thou writen therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall certainly come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Hee shall haue noue to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visit him and his seed, and his seruants for their iniquity, and I will bring vpon them and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euil that I haue pronounced against them, but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another rolle, and gaue it Baruch the Scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the words of the booke which Iehoiakim king of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like words.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succedeth Ieremiah. 3 He studieth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah going into the land of Benjamin, is taken. 15 Hee is beaten, and put in prison.

¶ And King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for Cxxxij. the sonne of Iehoiakim, whom Nebuchad-negar King of Babel made King in the land of Iudah.

2 But neither he nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the word of the Lord, which he spake by the ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king sent Iehucal the son of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Masfiah the priest, to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Ieremiah went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.)

5 Then Pharaohs host was come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans besieged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they departed from Ierusalem.)

6 Then came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the king of Iudah, that sent you vnto me to enquire of me, Behold, Pharaohs host which is come forth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, & fight against this citie, and take it, and burne it with fire.

9 Thus saith the Lord, Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shall surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

10 For though ye had smitten the whole host of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men amongst them, yet should every man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the host of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs army, 12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to go into the lande of Benjamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

13 And when he was in the gate of Benjamin, there was a chiefe Officer, whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and he tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou fliest to the Caldeans.

14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiah, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the Scribe: for they had made that the prison.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the King sent, and tooke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the Lord? And Ieremiah said, Yea: for, said he, Thou shalt be delivered into the hand of the king of Babel.

18 Moreover, Ieremiah said vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that yee haue put me in prison?

19 Where are now your prophets, which prophesied vnto you, saying, The King of Babel shall not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O my lord the King: let my prayer be accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the Scribe, lest I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the King commanded that they should put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him daily a piece of bread out of the bakers street, vntill all the bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers, Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed-melech, the king commandeth Ieremiah to be brought forth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the King howe hee might escape death.

¶ Then Shephatiah the son of Martan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Paltahur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Paltahur the sonne of Malchiah, heard the words that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, hee that remaineth in this cite shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans shall live: for hee shall haue his life for a pray, and shall live.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This cite shall surely be giuen into the hand of the king of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the princes said vnto the King, We beseech you let this man be put to death: for thus hee weakeneth the hands of the men of warre that remaine in this cite, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king said, Behold, hee is in your hands, for the king can doo you nothing.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchias the sonne of Hammelech that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water but mire: so Ieremiah stuck fast in the mire.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the blacke More one of the Eunuchs, which was in the kings house heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon, (then the King sate in the gate of Benjamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lord the King, these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the cite.

10 Then the King commanded Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Take from hence thirtie men with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him, and went to the house of the King vnder the treasure, and tooke there old rotten rags, & old worme clouts, and let them downe by cords into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke More said vnto Ieremiah, Put now these olde rotten rags and worme, vnder thine arme holes, between the cords And Ieremiah did so.

13 So they drew vp Ieremiah with cords, and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke Ieremiah the Prophet vnto him into the third entry that is in the house of the Lord, and the King sayd vnto Ieremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremiah said to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay mee? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King sware secretly vnto Ieremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then said Ieremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt go forth vnto the King of Babels princes, then thy soule shall live, and this cite shall not be burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt live, and thine house.

18 But if thou wilt not goe forth to the King of Babels princes, then shall this cite be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the King said vnto Ieremiah, I am carefull for the fewer that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest they deliuer me into their hands, and they mocke me.

20 But Ieremiah saide, They shall not deliuer thee, hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it bee well vnto thee, and thy soule shall live.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to go forth, this is the word that the Lord hath shewed me.

22 And behold, all the women that are left in the King of Iudahs house shall be brought forth to the King of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue periwaded thee, & haue periwaded against thee, thy feete are fastned in the mire, and they are turned backe.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wines, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hande of the King of Babel, and this cite shall thou cause to be burnt with fire.

24 Then said Zedekiah vnto Ieremiah, Let no man know of these wordes, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast sayd vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the King said vnto thee.

26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly besought the King, that he would not cause me to returne to Iehonathans house, to die there.

27 Then came all the princes vnto Ieremiah, and asked him, And he told them according to all these wordes that the King had commanded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceived.

28 So Ieremiah abode still in the court of the prison vntill the day that Ierusalem was taken, and he was there when Ierusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar besiegeth Ierusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 Huzons are slaine. 7 Huzys are thrust out. 11 Ieremiah is promised for. 15 Ebed-melech is delivered from captivity. IN the ninth yere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel and all his host, against Ierusalem, and they besieged it.

2 And in the eleuenth yere of Zedekiah, in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the cite was broken vp.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, even Neregal, Sharezzer, Shamer-nebo, Sarfeschim, Rabaris, Neregal, Sharezzer, Rahmag, with all the residue of the princes of the King of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Iudah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the cite by night, thow the Kings garden & by the gate betwene the two walls, and he went toward the wilderness.

5 But the Caldeans host pursued after them, and ourtooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Riblah in the land of Hamath, where hee gaue iudgement vpon him.

6 Then the King of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the King of Babel slew all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreover, he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to cary him to Babel.

8 And the Chaldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people that remained in the cite, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him, with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the poore that had nothing in the land of Iudah, and gave them vineyards and fields at the same time.

11 Now Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel gave charge concerning Ieremiah to Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward saying, 12 Take him, and looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him euen as hee shall say vnto thee.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebuzabban, Rab-saris, and Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag, and all the King of Babels princes:

14 Euen they sent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that he should cary him home: so he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying,

16 Goe and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke More, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring my words vpon this cite for euill, and not for good, and they shall be accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, sayth the Lord, and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whom thou fearest.

18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall be for a pray vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in mee, sayth the Lord.

C H A P. XL.

4 Ieremiah hath licence to goe whither he will. 6 He dwelleth with like people that remained with Gedaliah.

THe word which came to Ieremiah from the Lord, after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him goe from Ramah, when hee had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 And the chiefe steward tooke Ieremiah, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath said: because yee haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voyce, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands: if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, pray still: behold, all the land is before thee: whether it seemeth good and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore he said, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the King of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah and dwell with him among the people, or goe whersoener it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe steward gave him victuals, and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Now when all the captaines of the host which were in the fields, euen they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caried away captiue to Babel.

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the son of Tanchumeth, and the sonnes of Ephai the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Chaldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and it shall be well with you.

10 As for me, behold, I will dwell at Mizpah to serue the Chaldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and Sommer fruits, and oile, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities: that ye haue taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in Moab, and among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant of Iudah, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and sommer fruits, very much.

13 Moreover, Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah.

14 And saide vnto him, Knowest thou not that Balaiah the king of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleued them not.

15 Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah secretly, saying, Let mee goe, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah and no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes which are gathered vnto thee should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam said vnto Iohanan the son of Kareah, Thou shalt not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsely of Ishmael.

C H A P. XLII.

2 Ishmael killeth Gedaliah secretly, and many others with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Ishmael.

IN the seventh month came Ishmael the son of Nethaniah the sonne of Elishama, of the seed royall, and the princes of the king, and ten men with him, vnto Gedaliah the son of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did eat and drinke together in Mizpah.

2 Then arose Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah with these ten men that were with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him whom the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmael also slew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Chaldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it.

Or to receive them, or to mislead them for you.
Or, because he dwelt in.

2 Kings 25:24.

6 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, new fourscore men, having their beards shaven, and their clothes rent and cut, with offerings and incense in their hands, to offer in the house of the Lord.

7 And Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meet them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, hee said vnto them, Come to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

8 And when they came into the mids of the cite, Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the mids of the pit, hee and the men that were with him.

9 But tenne men were found among them that said vnto Ithmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the field, of wheat, & of barley, and of oyle, and of hony: so he stayed, and slew them not among their brethren.

10 Now the pit where Ithmael had cast the dead bodies of the men, whom he had slaine because of Gedaliah, is it, which Asa the King had made because of Baasha king of Israel, and Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

11 Then Ithmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, sawe the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

12 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captiues of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euill that Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 13 Then they all tooke their men and went to fight with Ithmael the son of Nethaniah, & found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

14 Now when all the people whom Ithmael caried away captiue, saw Iohanan the son of Kareah, and all the captiues of the hoste that were with him, they were glad.

15 So all the people that Ithmael had caried away captiue from Mizp, returned & came again, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.

16 But Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the Ammonites.

17 Then tooke Iohanan the son of Kareah, and all the captiues of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after hee had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) sawe the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom hee had brought againe from Gibeon:

18 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth-Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt.

19 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ithmael the sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the King of Babel made gouernour in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captiues aske counsell of Ieremia, what they ought to doe. 7 He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

Then all the captiues of the host, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Ieremia the sonne of Hoshaiah, and all the people, from the least vnto the most, came,

2 And said vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, Hearc ¶ Heare ¶ 21. In our prayer, we beseech thee, & pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, even for all this remnant (for we are as full as left but a few of many, as thine eyes do behold) fore thee.

3 That the Lord thy God may shew vs the way as chas, wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may do.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: beholde, I will pray vnto the Lord your God, according to your wordes, and whatsoever thing the Lord shall answer you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they said to Ieremiah, the Lord bee a witness of truth and faith betwene vs, if we doe not euen according to all things for the which the Lord thy God shall send thee tovs.

6 Whether it be good or euill, wee will obey the voice of the Lord, to whom wee said thee, that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voice of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ And so after ten dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah.

8 Then called he Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captiues of the hoste which were with him, and all the people, from the least to the most.

9 And said vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom yee sent me to present your prayers before him.

10 If ye will dwell in this land, then I will build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not root you out: for I repent mee of the euill that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the king of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand.

12 And will grant you mercy, that he may haue compassion vpon you, and hee shall carie you to dwell in your owne land.

13 But if ye say, We will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voice of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where wee shall see no warre, nor heare the sound of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell.

15 ¶ And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudah: Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt and goe to dwell there)

16 Then the sword that you feared shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which ye care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there, shall die with the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remain, nor escape from the plague that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath bin powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred forth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproch and ye shall see this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: know certainly that I haue admonished you this day.

20 Surely ye dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euery thing that the Lord our God shall say.

according vnto all that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it.

11 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which hee hath sent mee vnto you.

12 Now therefore know certainly that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrary to the minde of Ieremias. 8 Ieremias prophesiech the destruction of Egypt.

Now when Ieremias had made an end of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them turne all these wordes,

2 Then spake Azariah the son of Hoshaiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the proud men, saying vnto Ieremias, Thou speakest fallacy: Y Lord our God hath not sent thee to say, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there.

3 But Baruch the son of Neriah prouoked thee against vs, to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans that they may slay vs, and carry vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaiues of the hostie, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaiues of the hostie tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from all nations, whither they had bene driuen to dwell in the land of Iudah:

6 Euen men and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and every person that Nebuzardan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremias the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they to Taphanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremias in Taphanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand & hide them in the clay in the bricke kil, which is at the entry of Pharaohs house in Taphanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah,

10 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will send & bring Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel my seruant, and will set his throne vpon thee: so that I haue hid, and he shall spread his pauilion ouer them.

11 And when he shall come, hee shall smite the land of Egypt: such as are appointed for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne them, and carie them away captiues, and he shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

13 He shall breake also the images of Beth she-meh, that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reprobeth the people for their idolatry. 15 They shew vs light by the burning of the Lord and chaffed. 26 The destruction of Egypt, and of the Iewes therein is prophesied.

The word came to Ieremias concerning all the Iewes which dwelt in the land of Egypt, and remained at Migdol, and at Taphanhes, and at Moph, and in the countrey of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Ye haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and behold, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein.

3 Because of their wickednesse which they haue committed to prouoke mee to anger, in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, whom they knew not, neither they nor you nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit, I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising early, and tending them, saying, O haue do not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednesse, and to burne no more incense to their gods.

6 Wherefore my wrath and mine anger was powred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, and they are desolate and walked, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that you prouoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt, whether ye bee gone to dwell: that ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might bee a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue you forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the kings of Iudah, and the wickednesse of their wives, and your owne wickednesse, and the wickednesse of your wives which they haue committed in the land of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem?

10 They are not humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my Law, nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you to euill, and to destroy all Iudah.

12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that haue set their faces to goe into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall be consumed and fallen in the land of Egypt: they shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most by thy sword, and by the famine, and they shall bee a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproch.

13 For I will visit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah, to the which they haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne but such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wives had burnt incense vnto other gods, and all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros answered Ieremias, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the the name of the Lord, we will not heare it of thee:

17 But we will doe whatsoever thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Queene of heauen, & to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as we haue done, both we and our fathers, our kings & our princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem: for thou hast had wee plentie of vittalles, and were wel, and felt none euill.

18 But since we left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, & to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, wee haue had scarcenesse of all things, and haue bene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when we burnt incense to the Queene of heauen, & powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did we make her cakes to make her glad, & powre out drinke offerings vnto her, without our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answer, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the iniquitie, that ye burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, both you and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, and yet hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbear because of the wickednesse of your inventions, and because of the abominations which yee haue committed: therefore is your land desolate, and an astonishment, and a curse, and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense, and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord, nor walked in his Law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreover, Ieremiah said vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wives haue both spoken with yowre mouthes, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, We will performe our vowes that we haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her: ye will performe yowr vowes, and do the things that ye haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt, Behold, I haue sware by my great Name, saith the Lord, that my Name shall no more be called vpon by y mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God lieth.

27 Behold, I will watch ouer them for euill, and not for good, & al men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine, vntill they be utterly destroyed.

28 Yet a smal number that escape the sword shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah, that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall be a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, when I visite you in this place, that yee may know that my words shall surely stand against you for euill.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue Pharaoh Nophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: I will giue Zedekiah king of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel his enemy, who also sought his life.

C H A P. XLV.

2 Ieremiah comforteth Baruch, assuring him that he should not perishe in the destruction of Ierusalem.

The word that Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, when he had written these words in a booke at the mouth of Ieremiah in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the son of Iosiah king of Iudah, saying,

3 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,

4 Thou diddest say, Woe is me now: for the Lord hath laid sorow vnto my sorow: I fainted in my mourning, and I can finde no rest.

5 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lord saith thus, Behold, that which I haue built will I destroy, and that which I haue planted will I plucke vp, euen this whole land.

6 And seekest thou great things for thy selfe? seeke them not: for behold, I will bring a plague vpon all flesh, saith the Lord: but thy life will I giue thee for a pray in all places whither thou goest.

C H A P. XLVI.

1 He propheseth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Deliverance is promised to Israel.

The words of the Lord which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the Gentiles,

2 Against Egypt, against the armie of Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by the riuer Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel smote in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah.

3 Make ready buckler, and shield, and go forth to battell.

4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with your fallers, fourbush the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mightie men are smitten, and are fled away, and looke not backe: for I seate me round about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the North by the riuer Perath.

7 Who is this that commeth vp, as a flood, whose waters are mooued like the riuers?

8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and her waters are mooued like the riuers, and he saith I will goe vp, and wil couer the earth: I will destroy the city with them that dwell therein.

9 Come vp ye horses, and rage ye chariots, and let the valiant men come forth, the blacke Moores, and the Libians that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bow.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hosts, and a day of vengeance that he may avenge him of his enemies: for the sword shall denoure, & it shall be satiate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hosts hath a sacrifice in the North country by the riuer Perath.

11 Goe vp vnto Gilead, and take balme, O virgin the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many medicines: for thou shalt haue no health.

12 The nations haue heard of thy shame, and thy cry hath filled the land: for the strong hath stumbled against the strong, and they are fallen both together.

13 The word that the Lord spake to Ieremiah the Prophet, how Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel should come and smite the land of Egypt.

15 Why are they valiant men put backe? they could not ſtand, becauſe the Lord did drine them.

16 Hee made many to fall, and one fell vpon another: and they ſaid, Ariſe, let vs goe againe to our owne people, and to the land of our natiuitie from the ſword of the violent.

17 They did crie there, Pharaoh king of Egypt, and of a great multitude hath paſſed the time appointed.

18 As I ſine, ſaith the King, whoſe Name is the Lord of hoſts, ſurely as Tabor is in the mountaines, and as Cammel is in the ſea, ſo ſhall it come.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captivity: for Noph ſhalbe waſte and deſolate, without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt ſake a faire caſe, but deſtruction cometh: out of the North it cometh.

21 Alſo her hired men are in the mids of her like fat calues: they are alſo turned backe and fled away together: they could not ſtand, becauſe the day of their deſtruction was come vpon them, and the time of their viſitation.

22 The voice thereof ſhall goe forth like a ſerpent: for they ſhall march with an army, and come againſt her with axes as hewers of wood.

23 They ſhall cut downe her foreſt, ſaith the Lord: for they cannot be counted, becauſe they are more then the graſshoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt ſhall be confounded: ſhe ſhalbe deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.

25 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will viſite the common people of No, and Pharaoh, and Egypt, with their gods, and their kings, euen Pharaoh, and all them that truſt in him.

26 And I will deliuer him into the hands of thoſe that ſeeke their liues, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hands of his ſeruants, and afterward he ſhall dwell as in the old time, ſaith the Lord.

27 ¶ But feare not thou, O my ſeruant Iacob, and be not thou afraid, O Iſrael: for behold, I will deliuer thee from a ſarre country, and thy ſeede from the land of their captivity, and Iacob ſhall reſtore, and be in reſt and proſperity, and none ſhall make him afraid.

28 Feare thou not, O Iacob my ſeruant, ſaith the Lord: for I am with thee, and I will vtterly deſtroy all the nations, whiche I haue drinen thee: but I will not vtterly deſtroy thee, but correct thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off.

CHAP. XLVII.

The word of the Lord againſt the Philiftins.

THE words of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet againſt the Philiftins, before that Pharaoh ſmote Azzah.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, waters riſe vp out of the North, and ſhall bee as a ſwelling flood, and ſhall overflow the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men ſhall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land ſhall howle.

3 At the noiſe and ſtamping of the hooſes of his ſtrong horſe, at the noiſe of his charrets, and at the rumbling of his wheles: the ſathers ſhal not looke backe to their children for feebleneſſe of hands.

4 Becauſe of the day that cometh to deſtroy all the Philiftins, and to deſtroy Tyrus and Zidon, and all the reſt that make their part: for the Lord will deſtroy the Philiftins, the remanur of the yle of Caphtor.

5 Baldwin is come vpon Azzah: Aſkelon is cut vp with the reſt of their valleys, how long wilt thou cut thy ſelfe?

6 O thou ſword of the Lord, how long will it be or thou ceaſe? turne againe into thy ſcabbard, reſt and be ſtill.

7 How can it ceaſe, ſeing the Lord hath giuen it a charge againſt Aſkelon, and againſt the ſea banke? euen there hath he appointed it.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The word of the Lord againſt the Moabites, becauſe of their pride and cruelty.

CONCERNING Moab, thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael, Wee viſite Nebo: for it is waſted: Kiriaſhaim is confounded and taken: Miſgab is confounded and afraid.

2 Moab ſhall haue no more of Heſhbon: for they haue deuſed euill againſt it. Come, and let vs deſtroy it, that it be no more a nation: althou ſhalt be deſtroyed, O Madmen, and the ſword ſhall purſue thee.

3 A voice of crying ſhall be from Horonaim with deſolation and great deſtruction.

4 Moab is deſtroyed, her little ones haue cauſed their crie to be heard.

5 For at the going vp of Luith the mourner ſhall go vp with weeping: for in the going down of Horonaim the enemies haue heard a crie of deſtruction.

6 Flee and ſaue your liues, and be like vnto the heath in the wildernes.

7 For becauſe thou haſt truſted in thy workes, and in thy treaſures, thou ſhalt alſo be taken, and Chemosh ſhall go forth into captivity with his prielts, and his princes together.

8 And the deſtroyer ſhall come vpon all cities, and no citie ſhall eſcape: the valley alſo ſhall periſh, and the plaine ſhall be deſtroyed, as the Lord hath ſpoken.

9 Gine wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof ſhall be deſolate without any to dwell therein.

10 Curſed be he that doth the workes of the Lord negligently, and curſed be he that keepeth backe his ſword from blood.

11 Moab hath bin at reſt from his youth, and he hath ſetled on his lees, and hath not bin pouered from veſſell to veſſell, neither hath he gone into captivity: therefore his taſte remained in him, and his ſcent is not changed.

12 ¶ Therefore behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord, that I will ſend vnto him ſuch as ſhal carry him away and ſhal empty his veſſels, and breake their bottels.

13 And Moab ſhalbe aſhamed of Chemosh, as the houſe of Iſrael was aſhamed of Beth-el their confidence.

14 How thinke you ſlow, We are mighty and ſtrong men of warre?

15 Moab is deſtroyed, and his cities burnt vp, ſaith the Lord, and his choſen yong men are gone down to ſlaught-er, ſaith the King, whoſe Name is the Lord of hoſts, ſayod.

16 The deſtruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plagne haſteth faſt.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that know his name, ſay, How is the ſtrong ſtaffe broken and the beautifull rod.

18 Thou daughter that doeſt inhabite Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and ſit in thiſt: for the deſtroyer of Moab ſhall come vp vpon thee, for de-ſaith the Lord,

and

and he shall destroy the strong holdes.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way; and behold: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed; howle and crye, tell yee it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste.

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine country, vpon Holon, and vpon Iahizah, and vpon Mephath.

22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim.

23 And vpon Kiristhaim, and vpon Beth-gamal, and vpon Beth-meon.

24 And vpon Kerioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of the land of Moab farre or neere.

25 The borne of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, sayth the Lord.

26 Make ye him drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall i wallow in his vomite, and he also shall be in derision.

27 For diddest not thou deride Israel as though he had been found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art inuowed.

28 O yett that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rocks, and be like the dooe, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 We haue heard the pride of Moab (hee is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse and his arrogancy, and his pride, and the haughtinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, sayth the Lord, but it shal not be so: and his dissimulation, for they do not right.

31 Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will crye out for all Moab: none heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Lazer: thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea of lazzer: the destroyer is fallen vpon thy summer fruits, & vpon thy vintage.

33 And ioy, and gladnesse is taken from the plentifull field, and from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the winepresse: none shall tread with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting.

34 From the crye of Heshbon vnto Elaleh, and vnto Iahaz haue they made their noise: from Zoar vnto Horonaim the heire of three yeeres old shall goe howling: for the waters also of Nimrim shall be wasted.

35 Moreover, I will cause to cease in Moab, sayth the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a shawme, and mine heart shall sound like a shawme for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten, is perished.

37 For euery head shall beee bald, and euery beard plucked, vpon all the hands shall be cuttings: and vpon the loynes sackcloth.

38 And mourning shall bee vpon all the house top of Moab, and in all the freecies thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, sayth the Lord.

39 They shall howle, saying, How is hee destroyed: how hath Moab turned the backe with shame! so shall Moab bee a derision and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus sayth the Lord, Behold, he shall see as an eagle, and shall spread his wings ouer Moab.

41 The cities are taken, and the strong holds are wonne, and the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in trauell.

42 And Moab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against the Lord.

43 Feare, and pit, and snare, shall bee vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, sayth the Lord.

44 He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, and he that getteth vp out of the pit shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, vnto Moab, the yeere of their visitation, sayth the Lord.

45 They that fled stood vnder the shadowe of Heshbon, because of the force: for the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and denoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children.

46 Wee see vnto thee, O Moab: the people of Chemosh perished: for thy sunnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captivity.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the later dayes, sayth the Lord. This shal be the iudgement of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The word of the Lord against the Ammonites, 7 Idumea, 23 Damascus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

Vnto the children of Ammon thus sayth the Lord, Hath Israel no sennies? Or hath he none heire? Why then hath their King possessed Gad? and his people dwelt in his cities?

2 Therefore behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will cause a noyfe of warre to be heard in Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shal Israel possesse those that possessed him, sayth the Lord.

3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: cry yee daughters of Rabbah: gird you with sackcloth: mourne and run to and fro by the hedges: for their King shall go into captivity, and his priests, and his princes likewise.

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the valleys? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: shee trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come to me?

5 Behold, I will bring a feire vpon thee, sayth the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and ye shal be scattered euery man right forth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6 And afterwarde I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.

7 To Edom thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Is wisdom no more in Teman? Is counsell perished from their children? Is their wisdom vanished?

8 Flee ye inhabitants of Dedan (they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

9 If the grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? If theecues come by night, they will destroy till they haue enough.

10 For I haue discovered Esau: I haue vncovered his secrets: and hee shall not bee able to hide himselfe: his seede is wasted, and his brethern and his neighbours, and there shalbe none to say, 11 Leauethy fatherlesse children, and I will preserue them aliuie, and let thy widows trust in me.

12 For thus sayth the Lord, Behold, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cup, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou hee that shalt escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworn by my selfe, sayth the Lord, that Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproch, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.

Or shall

Or, shall

14 I have heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent unto the heathen, saying, Gather ye together, and come against her, and rise vp to the battell.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

for Moles

16 Thy feare, and the pride of thine heart hath deceived thee, thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rocke, and keepst the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the Eagle, I will bring thee downe from thence, sayeth the Lord.

17 Also Edom shall be desolate, every one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the overthrow of Sodom and of Gomorrah, & the places thereof nere about, saith the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, he shall come vp like a lion from the swelling of Iordan unto the strong dwelling place: for I will make Israel to rest, when I will make him to haue away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me: & who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepheard that will stand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsel of the Lord that he hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceived against the inhabitants of Teman: surely he shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is moued at the noise of their fall: the cry of their voice is heard in the red sea.

22 Behold, he shall come vp and slee as the eagle, and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, & at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in trauell.

23 Vnto Damascus hee sayeth, Hamath is founded, and Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faint hearted, as one on the fearful sea that cannot rest.

24 Damascus is discouraged, & turneth herselfe to flight, and feare hath seized her: anguish and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauell.

25 How is the glorious citie not referred, the citie of my ioy?

26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets, and all her men of warre shall be cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hostes.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of Ben-hadad.

28 Vnto Kedar, & to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel shall smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, and go vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flocks shall they take away: yea they shall take to themselves their curtains, and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall criue to them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Floe, get you farre off: (they haue consulted to dwell) O ye inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath taken counsel against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you.

31 Arise, and get you vp vnto the wealthy nation that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

32 And their camels shall be a booty, and the multitude of their cattel a spoile, and I will scatter them into all winds, and to the vmoost corners, and I will bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

33 And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for ever: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

34 The wordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet concerning Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah king of Iudah, saying, 35 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will breake the bowes of Elam, & will send the chief of their strength.

36 And vpon Elam I will bring the foure winds from the foure quarters of heauen, and will scatter them towards all these winds, & there shall be no nation whither the fugitives of Elam shall not come.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and will bring vpon them a plague, even the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I will send the sword after them till I haue consumed them.

38 And I will set my throne in Elam, and I will destroy both the king and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but in the latter dayes I will bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

G A P. I.

Hee propheseth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel which was in captiuitie.

The word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the ministry of Ieremiah the Prophet.

Elam, hand,

1 Declare among the nations, & publish it, and set vp a standard, proclaime it, and conceale it not: say, Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

2 For out of the North there cometh vp a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therein, they shall flee and depart, both man and beast.

3 In those dayes, & at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall come, they and the children of Iudah together, going, and weeping shall they go, and seeke the Lord their God.

4 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall covenant that shall not be forgotten.

5 My people hath bene as lost sheepe: their shepherds haue caused them to goe astray, & haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

6 All that found them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies said, Wee offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

7 Flee from the mids of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goats before the flocks.

8 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North country, and they shall set themselves in aray against her, whereby she shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of a strong man which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

9 And Caldea shall be a spoile: all that spoile her shall be satisfied, saith the Lord.

10 Because yee were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because yee are grown fat, as the calves in the graske, and eyed like strong horses.

11 Therefore your mother shall be sore confounded, and she that bare you, shall be ashamed: behold, the the uttermost of the nations that for a desert, a dried land and a wilderness.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: every one that goeth by Babel shall be astonished, and hiss at all her plagues.

14 Put your felces in aray agaynst Babel, round about: allye that bend the bow, shoot at her, spare no arrowes: for she hath sinned agaynst the Lord.

15 Crie against her round about: she hath gi-uen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as she hath done, do vnto her.

16 Destroy the tower from Babel, and him that handleth the sickle in the time of harvest: because of the sword of the oppressor they shall turn euery one to his people, and they shall see euery one to his owne land.

17. Israel is like scattered sheep: the lions have dispersed them: first the king of Assur hath devoured him, and last this Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel hath broken his bones.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts γ God of Israel, Behold, I will visit the king of Babel and his land, as I have visited the king of Ashtur.

19 And I will feed Israel againe to his habitation: he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilcad.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shalbe sought for, and there shalbe none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be found: for I will be merciful vnto them whom I reserve.

23. 107. of them that dwell there.

23 A crye of battell w in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the hammer of the whole world destroyed and broken ! how is Babel become desolate among the nations !

24. I have snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babylon, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striven against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hostes in the land of the Caldeans.

27 Destroy all her bullocks: let them go downe to the slaughter. Woe vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

38 The voice of them that flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all ye that bend the bow, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: recompense her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, do vnto her: for she hath bene proud against the Lord, enemies against the holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her young men fall in the streets, and all her men of warre shall be destroyed in

That day, faith the Lord

31 Behold, I come vnto thee, O proude man, saith the Lord God of hefts: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will visit thee.

34 And the proud shall stumble and fall, & none shall raise him vp : and I will kindle a fire in his ostents, and it shall devour a'l round about him.

33. Thus saith the Lord of hosts, The children of Israel and the children of Judah were oppressed together: and all that took them captives, held them, and would not let them go.

34. But their strongest doer, whose Name is the Lord of hosts, he shall maintaine their cause, that he may give rest vnto the land, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35. A sword is vpon the Caldeans, saith the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men.

36 A sword ^{is} vpon the † ^{of} ^{the} ^{mouth} ^{slayers}, and they † ^{of} ^{the} ^{Elrhem} ^{shall} ^{doe}: a sword ^{is} vpon her strong men, and they ^{shall} ^{be} ^{afraid}.

37. A sword is vpon their horses, and vpon their charrets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the mids of her, and they shal be like women: a sword is vpon her treasures, and they shal be spoiled.

38 A drought is vpon her waters, and they shalbe dried vp: for it is the land of grauen images, and they dore vpon their idoles.

39 Therefore the Zilims with the Tims shall dwell ^{† Ebr.} there, and [†] the ostriches shall dwell therein: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation unto generation.

40 As God destroyed * Sodome and Gomorah Gen. 19.
with the places thereof neere about, saith the Lord: 24. if. 1.
so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne 19.
of man remaine therein.

41 Behold, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation and many kings shall be raised up from the coasts of the earth.

43 They that hold the bowe & the buckler: they are cruell and vnmercifull: their voyce shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon hurfes, and bee put in aray like men to the battell againſt thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The King of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his hands waxed feeble: sorow came vpon him, euery sorow as of a woman in trauell.

44 Behold, he shall come up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan into the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, & I will make them to haste away from her: and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like mee, and who will appoint me the time? and who is the shepherd that will stand before me?

45 Therefore heare the counſel of the Lord that hee hath deuifed againſt Babel, and his purpoſe that he hath conceiued againſt the land of the Caldreans:
ſurely the leaſt of the flocke ſhall drawe them out:
ſurely hee ſhall make their habitation deſolate with them.

46 At the noise of the winning of Babel the earth is moved, and the crie is heard among the nations.

isable they shalbe against her on every side.

20 Alfo the bender that bendeth his bow, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her young men, but destroy all her hoste.

21 Thus the Ruine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust thorowe in her streets.

22 For Israel hath benee no widowe, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lord of hosts; though their land was filled with sinne against the Holy One of Israel.

23 Flee out of the mids of Babel, and deliuer every man his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he will render vnto her a recompense.

24 Babel hath benee as a golden cup in the Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore do the nations rage.

25 Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if shee may be healed.

26 We would haue chred Babel, but shee could not be healed: forsake her, and let vs go euery one into his owne country: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to the clouds.

27 The Lord hath brought forth our righte confesse: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

28 Make bright y arrows: I gather the shields: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the king of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroy it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

29 Set vp the standard vpon the wals of Babel, make the watch strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the sounts: for the Lord hath both deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

30 O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine end is come, euen the end of thy courtousnesse.

31 The Lord of hosts hath sworne by him selfe, saying, Surely I will fill thee with men, as with caterpillars, and they shall cry and shout against thee.

32 Hee hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

33 He giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and hee caueth the clouds to ascend from the ends of the earth: hee turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treasures.

34 Euery man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by his grauen image: for his melting is but fallhoode, and there is no breath therein.

35 They are vanity and the worke of errors: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

36 The portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israel is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his name.

37 Thou art mine hammer, & weapons of war: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdomes.

38 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charret, and him that rideth therein.

39 By thea shall I will I breake man and woman, and by thee wil I breake yong and old, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the maid.

40 I will also breake by thee the shepheard and his focke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman, and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dikes and princes.

41 And I will render vnto Babel, & to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euil, & they haue done in Zion, euen in your sight, faith the Lord.

42 Behold, I come vnto thee, O destroying mountaine, faith the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roll thee downe from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

43 They shall not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations, but thou shalt bee destroyed for euer, faith the Lord.

44 Set vp a standard in the land: blow y trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of Ararat, Minni, & Aschenaz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause horse to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

45 Prepare against her the nations with y kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

46 And the land shall tremble and sorrowe: for the deuce of the Lord shall bee performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

47 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight: they haue remained in their holdes: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt their dwelling places, & her bars are broken.

48 A post shall run to meet the post, & a messenger to meete the messenger, to shew the king of Babel, that his citie is taken on a fide thereof.

49 And that the passages are stopped, & the reeds burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

50 For thus faith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, The daughter of Babel is like a threshing floore: the time of her threshing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her haruelt shall come.

51 Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel hath deuoured me, and destroyed me: he hath made me an empty vessell: he swallowed mee vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out.

52 The spoyle of mee, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea shall Ierusalem say.

53 Therefore thus faith the Lord, Behold, I will maintaine thy cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will drie vp the sea, and drie vp her springs.

54 And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing without an inhabitant.

55 They shall roare together like lions, and yell as the lions whelps.

56 In their heate I will make them feastes, and I will make them drunken that they may reioyce and sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, faith the Lord.

57 I will bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter, and like rammes and goats.

58 How is Shephach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!

59 The sea is come vp vpon Babel: there is covered with the multitude of the waters thereof.

60 Her cities are desolate: the land is drie and a wilderness, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

61 I will also visite Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which he hath swallowed vp and the nations shall run no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, go out of the mids of her, and deliver yee every man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord,

46 Left your heart euen faint, and yee feare the rumour that shal be heard in the land: the rumour shall come this yere, and after that in the other yere shall come a rumour, and cruelty in the land, and reuer against ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will visit the images of Babel, & the whole land shal be confounded, and all her shame shall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein shall reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the shame of Israel to fall: so by Babel the shame of all the earth did fall.

50 Yee that haue escaped the sword, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lord afar off, and let Ierusalem come into your mind.

51 We are contemned because wee haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lordes house.

52 Wherefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will visit her grauen images, and thorow all her land the wounded shall grieve.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to heauen:
and though hee should defend her strength on hie, yet from mee shall her destroyers come, saith the Lord.

54 A found of a cry cometh from Babel, & great destruction from the land of the Caldeans,

55 Because the Lord hath laide Babel waste, and destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sound was made by their noyse:

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken: their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompense, shall surely recompense.

57 And I will make drinke her princes, and her wife men, her dukes, and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes.

58 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The thicke wall of Babel shall be broken, and her high gates shall be burnt with fire, & the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shall be weary.

59 The word which Ieremiah the Prophet commanded Sheraiah the son of Nerijah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Iudah into Babel in the fourth yere of his reigne:
and thus Sheraiah was a peaceable prince.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel: euen all these things that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah said to Sheraiah, When thou comest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt reade all these words,

62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place to destroy it: that none should re-maine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an end of reading this booke, thou shalt binde a stone to it, and cast it in the mids of Euphrates,

64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel bee drowned, and shall not rise from the euill that I will bring vpon her: and they shall be weary. Thus saith the wordes of Ieremiah.

CHAP. LII.

4. Ierusalem is taken, & Zedekiah's sorrowful state is before his face, and his yre put out. 13 The cite is burned. 31 Zedekiah is brought forth of prison, and led like a king.

Zedekiah was one and twenty yeres old, when he began to reigne, & he reigned euen yeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did euill in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

3 Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till hee had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

4 But in the ninth yere of his reigne, in the tenth month, the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, he and all his host against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and built forts against it round about.

5 So the cite was besieged vnto the eleventh yere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Nowe in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the cite, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the city was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the city by night, by the way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the city round about) and they went by the way of the wildernes.

8 But the army of the Caldeans pursued after the King, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and all his hoste was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the king, and caried him vp vnto the King of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

10 And the King of Babel slew the sonnes of Ze-dekiah before his eyes: hee slew also all the princes of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then hee put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel, and put him in prison till the day of his death.

12 Now in the fifth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yere of the king Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) came Nebuzaradan chiefe steward, which stood before the king of Babel in Ierusalem,

13 And burnt the house of the Lord, & the kings house, and all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the army of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all the walles of Ierusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward cari-ed away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the city, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the land to dresse the vines and to till the land.

17 Also the pillars of brasse were in the house of the Lord, and the bases, and the brasse sea, that was in the house of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel.

18 The pots also and the before, and the instruments of musick, and the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brass wherewith they ministered,ooke they away.

19 And the bowies, and the shagans, and the basins, and the pots, and the candlesticks, and the ju-scape dishes, & the cups, & all that was of gold, and that was of silver tooke the chiefe steward away.

20 With the two pillars, one sea, & twelue bra-ze bulles that were vnder the bases, which king Salomon had made in the house of the Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without weighe.

21 And c succening the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteene cubits, and a threed of twelue cubits did compass it, and the thicknesse thereof was foure fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapter was fixe cubits with net-workes, and pomegranates vpon the chapters round about, all of brasse: the second pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these.

23 And there were ninety and fixe pomegranates on a side, and all the pomegranates vpon the networke were an hundred round about.

24 And the chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

25 Hee tooke also out of the cite an Eunuch, which had the oversight of the men of warre, and seuen men that were in the kings presence, which were found in the cite, and Sopher captaine of the hoiſt, who mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the mids of the cite.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babel smote them, and flew them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Iudah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

28 ¶ This is the people, whom Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue in the fourth yeece, ~~some~~ three thousand Iewes, and three and twenty.

29 In the eighteenth yeece of Nebuchad-nezzar he caried away captiue from Ierusalem eight hundred thirty and two persons.

30 In the three and twentieth yeece of Nebuchad-nez-zar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundred fortie and five persons: all the persons were foure thousand and fixe hundred.

31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yeece of the captiuitie of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, in the twelfth moeth in the five and twentieth day of the mo-neth, Evil-merodach king of Babel in the first yeece of his reigne, lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, and brought him out of prison.

32 And spake kindly vnto him, & set his throne about the throne of the kings that were with him in Babel.

33 And changed his prison garments, and hee did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

34 His portion was a continuall portion giuen him of the king of Babel, every day a certaine, all the dayes of his life vntill he died.

CLAMENTATIONS.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of Jerusalem, & sheweth that they are plagued because of their finnes. The first and second Chapter begin a new worke according to the letters of the Hebrew Alphabet. The third hath three verses for euery letter and the fourth as the first.

How doeth the cite remaine solitarie that was full of people: she is as a widow: shee that was great among the nations, and preincelle among the prouinces, is made tributarie.

2 Shee weepeth continually in the night, and her teares runne downe by her cheekes: among all her louers, shee hath none to comfort her, all her friends haue dealt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

3 Iudah is caried away captiue because of affliction, and because of great seruitude: she dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecutors tooke her in the straits.

4 The wayes of Zion lament, because no man cometh to the sollemne feasts: all her gates are deolate: her Priests sigh: her virgines are discomfited, and she is in her seruitude.

5 Her aduersaries are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enimie.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beau-tie is departed: her princes are become like harts that finde no pasture: and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

7 Ierusalem remembered the dayes of her affliction and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things, that she had in times past, when her people fell into the hand of the enimie, & none did helpe her: the aduersaries saw her, and did mocke at her Sabbaths.

8 Ierusalem hath grievously sinned, therefore she is in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, the enemies away sigheth and turneth backward.

9 Her filthinesse is in her skirts: shee remem-bred not her last end: therefore shee came downe wonderfully: shee had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enimie is proud.

10 The enimie hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasant things: for shee hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuary whom thou diddest command that they should not enter into thy Church.

11 All her people sigh and seeke their bread:
they haue giuen their pleasant things for meate to refreſh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Haue ye no regard, allye that passe by this way?
behold and see if there bee any sorow like vnto my sorow, which is done vnto mee, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From aboue hath he sent fire into my bones which preuaileth against them: hee hath spread a net for my feete, and turned me backe, hee hath made me desolate and dayly in heavinesse.

14 The yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand, they are wrapped, and come vpon vpon my necke: he hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered mee into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the mids of mee: he hath called an assembly against me to destroy my young men: the Lord hath troden the winepresse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah.

16 For these things I weep mine eye, now mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that should refresh my soule, is far from me: my children are desolate, because the enemy prevailed.

17 Zion stretcheth out her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iakob round about him. Ierusalem is as a man of trouous woman in the midst of Ierusalem.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I have rebelled against his commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and behold my sorrow: my virgins and my young men are gone into captivity.

19 I called for my louers, but they deceived me: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the citie, whiles they sought their meate to refresh their soules.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me: for I am full of heavinesse: the sword spoyleth abroad, as death death at home.

21 They have heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day that thou hast pronounced, and they shall be like vnto me.

22 Let all their wickednesse come before thee: doe vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighs are many, and mine heart is heavy.

CHAP. II.

How hath the Lord darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from heauen vnto the earth the beauty of Israel, & remembered not his footstoolle in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iakob & not spared, he hath thrown downe in his wrath the strong holds of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them downe to the ground: hee hath polluted the kingdome, and the princes thereof.

3 He hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the hornes of Israel: he hath drawn backe his right hand from before the enemy, and there was kindled in Iakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 Hee hath bent his bow like an enemy: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersary, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: hee powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemy: hee hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holds, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 For hee hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, hee hath destroyed his Congregation: the Lord hath caused the feasts & Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his Altar: hee hath abhorred his Sanctuary: hee hath giuen into the hand of the enemy, the wall of her palaces: they haue made a noyse in the house of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: he stretched out a line: hee hath not withdrawn his hand from destroying: therefore hee made the rampart and the wall to lament as they were destroyed together.

9 Her gates are sunken to the ground: hee hath destroyed and broken her barres: her king and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Lawe is no more: neither can her Prophets receive any vision from the Lord.

10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heads: they haue girded themselves with sackcloth: the virgins of Ierusalem hang down their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings [swoone in the streets] Or, faint, of the citie.

12 They haue sayd to their mothers, Where is bread and drinke? when they swooned as they wounded in the streets of the citie, and when they gaue vp the ghost in their mothers bosome.

13 What thing shall I take to witness for thee? what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heale thee?

14 Thy prophets haue looked out vaine and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discovered thine iniquity, to turne away thy captiuitie: but haue looked out for thee false prophecies, & causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way clap their hands at thee: they hiss and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beauty, and the ioy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hiss and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainly this is the day that we looked for, we haue found and seene it.

17 The Lord hath done that which hee had purposed: he hath fulfilled his word that hee had determined of old time: hee hath thrown downe and not spared: he hath caused thine enemies to reioyce over thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries.

18 Their heart cried vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine hands toward him for the life of thy young children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streets.

20 Behold, O Lord, and consider to whom thou hast done thus: shall the women eat their fruit, and children of a span long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuary of the Lord?

21 The young and the old lie on the ground in the streets: my virgins and my young men are fallen by the sword, thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemne day my Itearous round about, so that in the day of the Lords wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished and brought vp, hath mine enemy consumed.

8. He hath set me in dark places, as they that be dead for ever.

9. He hath hedged about me, that I cannot get out: he hath made my chains heauie.

10. Also when I cry and shone, he shutteth out my prayer.

11. Hee hath stopp'd vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my pathes.

12. He was vnto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.

13. He hath stopp'd my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

14. He hath bent his bow, and made me a mark for the arrow.

15. He caused that the arrowes of his quiner to enter into my reines.

16. I was a derision vnto all my people, and their song all the day.

17. He hath filled me with bitterness, and made mee drunken with wormewood.

18. Hee hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

19. Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgoate prosperitie.

20. And I said, My strength and mine hope is perished from the Lord.

21. Remembering mine affliction, and my mourning the wormewood and the gall.

22. My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled in me.

23. I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

24. It is the Lords mercies that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

25. They are renewed euery morning: great is thy faithfulness.

26. The Lord is my portion, saith my soule: therefore will I hope in him.

27. The Lord is good vnto them that trust in him: and to the soule that seeketh him.

28. It is good both to trust and to wait for the salvation of the Lord.

29. It is good for a man that he beare the yoke in his youth.

30. He sitteth alone and keepeth silence, because he hath borne it vpon him.

31. Hee putteth his mouth in the dust, if there may be hope.

32. He giueth his cheek to him that smiteth him: he is filled full with reproches.

33. For the Lord will not forsake for ever.

34. But though hee send affliction, yet will hee haue compassion according to the multitude of his mercies.

35. For he doeth not punish willingly, nor afflict the children of men.

36. In stamping vnder his feet all the prisoners of the earth.

37. In our throwing the right of a man before the face of the most High.

38. In subverting a man in his cause: the Lord seeth it not.

39. Who is he then that saith, and it cometh to passe, and the Lord commandeth it not?

40. Out of the mouth of the most High proceedeth not euill and good?

41. Wherefore then is the liuing man sorrowfull? man suffereth for his sinne.

42. Let vs search and trie our wayes, and turne to the Lord.

43. Let vs lift vp our hearts with our hands vnto God in the heauens.

44. We haue finned and haue rebelled, thou shalt not spare.

45. Thou shalt covered vs with wrath, and persecuted vs: thou shalt slaine and not spare.

46. Thou shalt covered thy selfe with a cloud, that our prayer should not passe thorow.

47. Thou shalt made vs as the * off scouring and i. Cor. 4. retueth the sinners of the people.

48. All our enemies haue opened their mouth against vs.

49. Beare and a snare is come vpon vs with destruction and destruction.

50. Mine eye catcheth out riuers of water for the destruction of the daughter of my people.

51. Mine eye droppeth without stay, and ceaseth not.

52. Till the Lord looke downe, and behold from heauen.

53. Mine eye brake thine mine heart, because of all the daughters of my cite.

54. Mine enemies chaled mee fore like a bird, without cause.

55. They haue shut vp my life in the dungeon, and cast a stone vpon me.

56. Waters flowed ouer my head, thou thought I am destroyed.

57. I called vpon thy Name, O Lord, out of the low dungeon.

58. Thou hast heard my voyce stoppe not thine eare from my sigh, and from my crye.

59. Thou drewest neere in the day that I called vpon thee: thou saidst, Feare not.

60. O Lord, thou hast maintained the cause of my soule, and hast redeemed my life.

61. O Lord, thou hast seene my wrong, iudge thou my cause.

62. Thou hast seene all their vengeance, and all their deuises against me.

63. Thou hast heard their reproch, O Lord, and all their imaginations against me:

64. The lips of those that rose against mee, and their whispering against me continually.

65. Behold their sitting downe, and their rising vp, how I am their song.

66. * Giue them a recompence, O Lord, according to the worke of their hands.

67. Giue them || sorow of heart, turne thy curse to them.

68. Persecute with wrath, and destroy them from vnder the heauen, O Lord.

CHAP. 111.

How is the gold become so dimme: the most fine gold is changed, & the stones of the Sanctuary are scattered in the corner of euery street.

2. The noble || den of Zion comparable to fine gold, how are they esteemed as earthen pitchers, vnto the worke of the hands of the potter!

3. Euen the dragons draw out the breasts, and giue sucke to their young, but the daughter of my people is become cruell like the ostriches in the wilderness.

4. The tongue of the sucking child cleaueth to the roofof his mouth for thirst: the young children aske bread, but no man breaketh it vnto them.

5. They that did feede delicately perish in the streets: they that were brought vp in scarlet, embrace the dung.

6. For the iniquitie of the daughter of my people strength is become greater then the sinne of Sodome, that was destroyed as in a moment, and none pitched camps against her.

7 Her Nazarites were purer than snow, and whiter then the milke, they were more ruddy in body then the redde precious stones: they were like polished saphire.

8 Now their visage is blacker then a coal: they cannot know them in the streets: their skin cleaveth to their bones: it is withered like a stocke.

9 They that be slaine with the sword, are better then they that are killed with hunger: for they fade away, as they were stricken thowen for the fruites of the field.

10 The hands of the pittifull women have solden their owne children, which were their meat in the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his indignation, he hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fire in Zion, which hath deuoured the foundations thereof.

12 The Kings of the earth, & all the inhabitants of the world would not have believed that the aduery and the enemy should have entred into the gates of Ierusalem:

13 For the fumes of her prophets, and the iniquities of her priests, that hatched the blood of the iust in the mids of her.

14 They haue wandered as blind men in the streets, and they were polluted with blood, so that they would not touch their garments.

15 But they cryed vnto them, Depart ye polluted, depart, touch not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue said among the heathen, They shall no more dwell there.

Or, face. 16 The anger of the Lord hath scattered them, he will no more regard them: they reuerenced not the face of the Priests, nor had compassion of the Elders.

17 Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for a nation that could not saue vs.

18 They hunt our steps that wee cannot goe in our streets, our end is nere, our dayes are fulfilled, for our end is come.

19 Our persecuters are swifter then the eagles of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the mountaines, and laid wait for vs in the wildeernes.

20 The breath of our nostrils, the Anointed of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whom we said, Vnder his shadow we shall bee preferred aliae among the heathen.

21 Reioyce and be glad, O Daughter Edom, that dwellest in the land of Vz, the cup also shall passe thowen vnto thee: thou shalt be drunken & vomit. For, for 22 Thy punishment is accomplished. O daughter Zidon: he will no more carry thee away into captivity: for he will visit thine iniquities, O daughter Edom, he will discover thy finnes.

CHAP. V.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

Remember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: consider, and behold our reproch.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliens.

3 We are fatherlesse, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 We haue drunken our water for money, and our wood is sold vnto vs.

5 Our neckes are vnder persecution: wee are wearie, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our hands to the Egyptians, and to Assur, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands.

9 We gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the sword of the wildeernes.

10 Our skin was blaake like an oute, because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maidens in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They tooke the young men to grinde, and the children fell vnder the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the gate, and the young men from their songs.

15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: wee now ynto vs that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauie for these things, our eyes are dimme.

18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes ranne vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remainest for euer: thy Throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore dost thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time?

21 Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and wee shall be turned: renew our dayes, as of old.

22 But thou hast vterly reioiced vs: thou art exceedingly angry against vs.

EZEKIEL.
THE ARGUMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel, had yea'd himselfe to Nebuchad-nezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother, and diuers of his princes and of his people, certaine began to repens and murmure: that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had prophesied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason wherof he confirmed his former prophesies, declaring by new visions and revelations shewed vnto him, that the people should in most certainly be destroyed, and the people grievously tormented by Gods plagues, in such sort that they that remained should be brought into cruell bondage. And lest the gods should despise in these great troubles, he assurith them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also rejoyce their enemies, which either shall slay them, or reioyce in their miseries. The effect of the one, and the other should chiefly be performed vnder Christ, of whom in this booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glory of the new Temple should perfectly be restored. He prophesied these things in Caldea, at the same time that Ieremiah prophesied in Iudah, and there began in the fiftieth year of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The vision of the four beasts, and in what place: 2 The vision of the four beasts. 3 The vision of the throne.

I came to passe in the thirtieth yere, in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth: (as I was among the captiues by the river Chebar) that the heavens were opened, and I saw visions of God.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yere of king Iehoiachins captiuitie)

3 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezechiell the Priest the sonne of Buzi in the land of the Caldians, by the river Chebar, where the hand of the Lord was vpon him.

4 And I looked, & behold, a whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloud, and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the mids thereof, as was, in the mids of the fire came out as the likenesse of] amber.

5 Also out of the mids thereof came the likenes of foure beasts, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man,

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feet were straight feet, and the sole of their feet was like the sole of a calves foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright beasts.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure parts of them, and they foure had their faces and their wings.

9 They were ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went forth, they returned not, for euery one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as the face of a man: and they foure had the face of a Lion on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out about two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, & two covered their bodices.

12 And euery one went straight forward: they went whither their spirit led them, and they returned not when they went forth.

13 The similitude also of the beasts, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lamps: for the fire ranne among the beasts, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ranne and returned like vnto lightning.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the beasts, behold, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

16 The fashion of the wheelles, and their worke was like vnto a chrisolite: and they foure had one forme, and their fashion and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went:

18 They had also prings, and height, and were fearfull to beholde: and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

19 And when the beasts went, the wheelles went with them: and when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheelles were lift vp.

20 Whither their spirit led them, they went, & whither did the spirit of the wheelles lead them, and the wheelles were lift vp besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheelles.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lift vp from the earth, the wheelles were lift vp besides them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheelles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the head of the beasts was wonderfull like vnto chrysell spread ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other: euery one had two, which covered them, and euery one had two, which covered their bodices.

24 And when they went forth, I heard the noyse of their wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voice of the Almighty, as the voice of speech as the noyse of an hoste: and when they stood, they let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voice from the firmament, that was ouer their heads, when they stood, & had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the fashion of a throne like vnto a saphire stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I saw as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire round about within it to looke to euen from his loines downward: and to looke to, euen from his loines downward I saw as a likenesse of fire, and brightnesse round about it.

28 As the likenesse of the bowe that is in the cloud in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it I fell vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is sent to call their people from their error.

And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, stand vp vpon thy feet, and I will speake vnto thee.

2 And the spirit entred into mee, when hee had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feet, so that I heard him that spake vnto me.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation that hath rebelled against mee, for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are impudent children and stiffnecked: I doe send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God.

5 But surely they will not heare, neither indeed will they cease: for they are a rebellious house, yet shall they know that there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man feare them not, neither be afraid of their words, although rebels and thornes be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their words, nor be afraid at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeed cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: bee not thou rebellious, like the rebellious house: open thy mouth, and eat that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, behold, an hand was sent vnto me, and lo, a roll of a booke was therein.

10 And he spread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being led with the word of God, and with the conquests of the spirit, in that way she people that were in captivity, 19. The effect of some Ministers.

Moreouer he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, eat that thou findest: eate this rule, and goe and speake vnto the house of Israel.

3 So I opened my mouth, and hee gave me this rule to eate,

3 And hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, eate thy belly to eat, and fill thy bowels with this rule that I giue thee, Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweet as honey.

4 And hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, goe, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknown tongue, or of an hard language, to the house of Israel.

6 Not to many people of an vnknown tongue; or of an hard language whose words thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey me: yea, all the house of Israel are supine and stiffe hearted.

8 Behold, I haue made thy face strong against their faces, & thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraide at their lookes: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreouer vnto mee, Sonne of man, receiue in thine heart all my words that I speake to thee, and heare them with thine eares.

11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues, vnto the children of thy people, & speake vnto them, and tell them; Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeed cease.

12 Then the Spirit tooke me vp, and I heard behinde me a noise of a great rushing, saying, Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noise of the wings of the beasts that touched one another, and the ratling of the wheelles that were by them, euen a noise of a great rushing.

14 So the Spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away, and I went in bitterness, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to Tell-abib that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them seven dayes.

16 And at the end of seven dayes the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, 17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that hee may liue: the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, and hee turne not from his wickednes, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie: but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a righteous man turne from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a stumbling blocke before him, and hee shall die: because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shall die in his sinne, and his righteous deeds which hee hath done shall not be remembered: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheless, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that hee doeth not sinne, hee shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

22 And the hand of the Lord was there vpon mee, and hee said vnto mee, Arise, and goe into the field, and I will there talke with thee.

23 So when I had risen vp, and goe forth into the field, behold, the glory of the Lord stood there, as the glory which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and I fell downe vpon my face.

24 Then the Spirit entred into me, which set me vp vpon my feet, and spake vnto me, and said to me, Come, and I will shew thee within thine house.

25 But thou, O sonne of man, behold, they shall put hands vpon thee, and shall binde thee with them, and thou shalt not goe out among them.

26 And I will make thy tongue cleaue to the soole of thy mouth, that thou shalt be dumb, and shalt not bee to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I shall haue spoken vnto thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, hee that heareth, let him heare, and he that leaueh off, let him leaue, for they are a rebellious house.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The besieging of the citie Ierusalem is signified, 9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Israel. 16 An Image is prophesied to come.

Thou also sonne of man, take thee a bricks and lay it before thee, and portray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem,

2 And lay siege against it, and build a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engines of warre against it round about.

3 Moreouer take an yron pan, and set it for a wall of yron between thee and the city, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shall be a signe vnto the house of Israel.

4 Sleep thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the house of Israel vpon it: according to the number of the dayes that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I haue laid vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundredth and ninctie dayes, so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine arme shall be vncovered, and thou shalt prophesie against it.

8 And beholde, I will lay bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, & barley, and beanes, & lentiles, & millet, and fitches, and put them in one vessel, & make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: even three hundredth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eat thereof.

10 And the meat wherof thou shalt eate, shalt be by weight, seventene shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eat thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, even the first part of an hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke.

12 And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it in the dung that cometh out of man, in their sight.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp even vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he said vnto me, Loe, I haue given thee bullocks dung for mans dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover, hee said vnto me, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shall be astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquitie.

CHAP. V.

The signe of the haire, whereby is signified the destruction of the people.

And thou sonne of man, take thee a sharp knife, or take thee a barbers rasor, and cause it to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and diuide the haire.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the mids of the city, when the daies of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last third part thou shalt scatter in the wilde, and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a few in number, and bind them in thy lap,

4 Then take of them againe, and cast them into the mids of the fire, and burne them in the fire: for thereof shall a fire come forth into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalem: I haue set it in the mids of the nations, and countreys, that are round about her.

6 And shee hath changed my iudgements into wickednes more then the nations, and my statutes more then the countreys, that are round about her: for they haue refused my iudgements, and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because your multitude is greater then the nations that are round about you, and ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither haue yee kept my iudgements: no, yee haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations that are round about you.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I, even I come against thee, and will execute iudgement in the mids of thee, even in the sight of the nations.

9 And I will doe in thee, that I neuer did before, neither will doe any more the like, because of all thine abominations.

10 For in the mids of thee the fathers * shall eat their sonnes, and the sonnes shall eat their fathers, as I have said, and I will execute iudgement in thee, and the whole remnant of thee will I scatter into all the winds.

11 Wherefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, Surely, because thou hast defiled my Sanctuary with all thy filthinesse, and with all thine abominations; therefore will I also destroy thee, neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue any pittie.

12 The third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and with famine: and with famine they be consumed in the mids of thee: and another third part shall fall by the sword round about thee, and I will scatter the last third part into all windes, and I will draw out a sword after them.

13 Thus shall mine anger be accomplished, and I will cause my wrath to cease in them, and I will be comforted, and they shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it in my zeale, when I haue accomplished my wrath in them.

14 Moreover, I will make thee waste, and abhorred among the nations that are round about thee, and in the sight of all that passe by.

15 So thou shalt be a reprech and shame, a chastisement and an astonishment vnto the nations that are round about thee, when I shall execute iudgements in thee, in anger and in wrath, and in sharpe rebukes: I the Lord haue spoken it.

16 When I shall send vpon them the emulation of famine, which shall be for their destruction, on, and which I will send to destroy you, and I will increase the famine vpon you and will breake your staffe of bread.

17 * So will I send vpon you famine, and cutt beasts, and they shall spoile thee, and pestilence and blood shall passe thorow thee, and I will bring the sword vpon thee: I the Lord haue spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

He sheweth that Ierusalem shall be destroyed for their idolatrie. & Hee prophesieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliuerance.

Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Son of man, Set thy face towards the * mount- taines of Israel, and prophesie against them,

3 And say, Yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, behold I, even I will bring a sword vpon you, and I will destroy your high places:

4 And your altars shall be desolate, & your images of the Sunne shall be broken: and I will cast downe your flame men before your idoles.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their idoles, and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shall be desolate, and their hie places shall be laid waste, so that your altars shall be made waste and desolate, and your idoles shall be broken, and cease, and your images of the Sunne shall be cut in pieces and your worke shall be abolished.

7 And the Saine shall fall in the mids of you and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet will I leave a remnant, that you may haue some that shall escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered thorow the countreys.

9 And they that escape of you, shall remember me among the nations where they shall be in captivity, because I am grieved for thcir whorish hearts which which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they shall be displeased in themselves for the evils which they haue committed in all their abominations.

10 And they shall know that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vaine, that I would do this euill vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, Swite with thine hand, and stretch forth with thy foot and say, Alas for all the wicked abominations of the house of Israel: for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence.

12 He that is farre off, shall die of the pestilence, and he that is neere shall fall by the sword, and he that remaineth and is besieged, shall die by the famine: thus wil I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then ye shall know that I am the Lord, when their flaine men shall be among their idoles round about their altars, vpon euery hie hill in al the tops of the mountaines, and vnder euery greene tree, and vnder euery thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer sweet saour to all their idoles.

14 So wil I stretch mine hand vpon them, and make the land waste and desolate from the wilderness vnto Diblath in all their habitations, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The tune of all the leade of Israel shall suddenly come.

Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Also thou sonne of man, Thus saith the Lord God, An end is come vnto the land of Israel. The end is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come vpon thee, and I will send my wrath vpon thee, and will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will lay thy waies vpon thee, and thine abominations shall be in the mids of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold one euill, and one euill is come.

6 An end is come, the end is come, it watched after euill for thee, behold, it is come.

7 The morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the sounding againe of the mountaines.

8 Now I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy waies, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie, but I will lay vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shall be in the mids of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the rod flourisheth, pride hath budded.

11 Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wickednes: none of them shall remaine, nor of the riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth neere: let not the buyer reioyce, nor let him that selleth mourne: for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

13 For he that selleth, shall not returne to that which is sold, although they were yet alive, for the vision was vnto all the multitude thereof, and they returned not, neither doth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 They haue blowne the trumpet, and prepared all: but none goeth to the battell for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence and the famine within, he that is in the field, shall die with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall be in the mountaines, like the doves of the valleys, all they shall mourne, eacry one for his iniquitie.

17 All hands shall be weake, and all knees shall fall away as water.

18 They shall also gird themselves with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shall be vpon all faces, and baldnesse vpon their heads.

19 They shall cast their filer in the streets, and their gold shall be cast farre off: their silver and their golde cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfie their foules neither fill their bowels: for the ruine is for their iniquity.

20 He had also set the beautie of his ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the hands of the strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will turne also from them, and they shall pollute my secret place: for the destroyers shall enter into it, and desile it.

23 ¶ Make a chaine: for the land is full of the iudgement of blood, and the city is full of cruelty.

24 Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their holy places shall be defiled.

25 When destruction cometh, they shall seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shall be vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but Law shall perish from the Priest, and counsell from the ancient.

27 The king shall mourne, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people in the land shall be troubled: I will doe vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

2 An appearance of the similitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit. 6 The Lord sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

And in the sixt yere, in the sixt month, and in the first day of the moneth, as I sat in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sat before mee, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

2 Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likeness, as the appearance of fire, to looke to, from his loines downward, and from his loines vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto amber.

3 And he stretched out the likenes of an hand, and tooke me by the hairy locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift me vp betweene the earth & the heaven, and brought me by a diuine vision to Ierusalem, into the entry of the inner gate that lieth toward ward the North, where remained the idole of indignation, which provoked indignation.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there, according to the vision that I saw in the field.

5 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes now towards the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North: and behold, Northward, at the gate of the altar, this idole of indignation was in the entry.

6 He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seekest thou what they do, even the great abominations that the house of Israel comitteth here to cause me to depart from my Sanctuary: but yet returne thee, and thou shalt see greater abominations.

7 And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, in hole was in the wall.

8 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

9 And he said vnto me, Goe in, and behold the smoken abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and behold, there was every similitude of creeping things, and abominable beasts, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.

11 And there stood before them scientie men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the mids of them stood Iazaniah the son of Shaphan, with every man his censer in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like a cloud.

12 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, Hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie: for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 Again he said also vnto me, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he caused me to enter into the entry of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and behold, there fate women mourning for Tammuz.

15 Then said he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 Then hee caused mee to enter into the inner Court of the Lords house, and behold, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porch and the altar were about sixe & twentie men with their back toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the Sunne toward the East.

17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here: for they have filled the land with crueltie, and have returned to prouoke me: and lo they haue cast out stinke before their noses.

18 Therefore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pittie, and though they cry in mine eares with a loud voyce, yet will I not heare them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 8 They that shall be saved are marked. 8 A complaints of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

He cried also with a loud voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the city draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

2 And behold, sixe men came by the way of the high gate, which lieth toward the North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers inkehome by his side, and they went in, and stood beside the brasen altar.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon he was, and stood on the Idoore of the house, and hee called to the man Or thou clothed with linnen, which had the writers inke. Stand beside thy side.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Goe through the mids of the citie, even through the mids of Ierusalem, and I set a marke vpon the foreheads of them Or, that mourne, and cry for all the abominations that marke shall be done in the mids thereof.

5 And to the other he said, that I might heare, Thou. Goe ye after him through the citie, and saite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pittie.

6 Destroy utterly the olde and the young, and the maides, and the children, and the women, but touch no man vpon whom is the marke, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the ancient men which were before the house.

7 And he said vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the flaine, then goe forth: and they went out and slew them in the citie.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, & cried, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel in pouring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

9 Then said he vnto mee, The iniquitie of the house of Israel & Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 Astonching me also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pittie, but will recompense their waies vpon their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linnen, which had the inkehome by his side, made report and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

1 Of the men that took hot burning coles out of the middle of the wheels of the Cherubims. 8 A rebearall of the vision of the wheels, of the beasts, and of the Cherubims.

And as I looked, behold, in the firmament that Chap. 1. was about the head of the Cherubims, there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.

2 And he spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and said, Go in betweene the wheels, even vnder the Cherub, and fill thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer the citie. And he went in in my sight.

3 Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord went vp from the Cherub, and stood ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, and the Court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glory.

5 And the sound of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vnter Court, as the voice of the Almighty God when he speaketh.

6 And when hee had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheels, and from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside the whele.

7. And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from between the Cherubims, vnto the fire that was between the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who tooke it, and went out.

8. And there appeared in the Cherubims the likenesse of a man, vnder their wings.

9. And when I looked vp, behold, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a chrysolite stone.

10. And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele.

11. When they went forth, they went vpon their four sides, and they returned not as they went, but to the place whither they first went, they went after it, and they turned not as they went.

12. And their whole body and their i rings, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheeles.

13. And the Cherub cryed to these wheeles in my hearing, saying, O wheele.

14. And euery least had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15. And the Cherubims were lifted vp: * this is the beaust that I saw at the riuer Chebar.

16. And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lifted vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17. When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselves vp also: for the spirit of the beaust was in them.

18. Then the glory of the Lord departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stood vpon the Cherubims.

19. And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were beside them: and euery one stood at the entry of the gate of the Lords house, at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

20. * This is the beaust that I saw vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knew that they were the Cherubims.

21. Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22. And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfesame, and they went euery one straight forward.

CHAP. XI.

1. Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 5. Against the se be prophesied, shewing them how they shall be dispersed abroad. 19. The renewing of the heart cometh of God. 21. Hee sheweth them that leane vnto their owne counsells.

Moreouer, the spirit lift mee vp, and brought mee vnto the East gate of the Lords House, which lieth Eastward, and behold, at the entry of the gate were sixe and twentie men: among whom I saw Iazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah the princes of the people.

2. Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischief, and devise wicked counsell in this cite.

3. For they say, It is not nere, let vs build houses: this cite is the caldron, and we be the flesh.

4. Therefore prophesie against them, sonne of man, prophesie.

5. And the spirit of the Lord fell vpon mee, and said vnto me, Speake, Thus saith the Lord, O yee house of Israel, this haue yee said, and I know that which riseth vp of your minds.

6. Many haue ye murdered in this cite, and ye haue filled the streetes thereof with the slaine.

7. Therefore thus saith the Lord God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue laid in the mids of it, they are the flesh, and this cite is the caldron: but I will bring you forth of the mids of it.

8. Yee haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you saith the Lord God.

9. And I will bring you out of the mids thereof, and deliuer you into the hands of strangers, & will execute iudgements among you.

10. Yee shall fall by the sword, and I will iudge you in the border of Israel, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

11. This cite shall not be your caldron, neither shall yee be the flesh, in the mids thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel.

12. And yee shall know that I am the Lord: for yee haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the manners of the heathen that are round about you.

13. ¶ And when I prophesied, Pelatiah the son of Benaiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cryed with a lowde voyce, and said, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then utterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14. Again the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

15. Sonne of man, thy brethren, twenty brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whom the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue said, Depart yee farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16. Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreys, yet will I be to them as a little Sanctuary in the countreys where they shall come.

17. Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreys where yee haue bene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18. And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19. * And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels, and I will take the stony heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh,

20. That they may walke in my statutes, & keepe my iudgements, and execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their God.

21. But vpon them whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, saith the Lord God.

22. ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles beside them, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

23. And the glory of the Lord went vp from the middes of the cite, and stood vpon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the cite.

C H A P. XII

1 The parable of the captivity. 18 Another parable whereby the distress of Samaria and Iherusalem is signified.

The word of the Lord also came vnto me, saying, Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the midst of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

2 Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thy selfe to goe into captivity, and goe forth by day in their sight, & thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight, as the stuffe of him that goeth into captivity: and thou shalt goe forth at euening in their sight, as they that goe forth into captivity.

4 Dig thou thorow the wall in their sight, and carie out thereby.

5 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and carie it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee, as a signe vnto the house of Israel.

6 And as I was commanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captivity: and by night I digged thorow the wall with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

7 And in the morning came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

8 Some of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house said vnto thee, What dost thou?

9 But say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

10 Say, I am your figure: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall goe into bondage and captivity.

11 And the chiefe that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall digge thorow the wall to carie out thereby: hee shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

12 My net also will I spread vpon him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

13 And I will scatter toward euery wind all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

14 And they that know that I am the Lord when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreys.

15 But I will leaue a little number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all these abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

16 ¶ Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carelesnesse.

18 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus saith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the land of Israel, They shall eate their bread with carelesnesse, and drinke their water with desolation: for the land shall be desolate from her abundance, because of the cruelty of them that dwell therein.

19 And the cities that are inhabited, shall be left void, & the land shall be desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

20 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man what is that proverb that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are prolonged, and all visions faile?

22 Tell them therefore, Thus saith the Lord God, I will make this proverb to cease, and they shall no more vnto them, The dayes are at hand, and the effect of euery vision.

23 For no vision shall be, any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

24 For I am the Lord: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake shall come to passe, it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

25 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

26 Sonne of man, Beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that hee seeth, is for many dayes to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

27 Therefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, All my wordes shall no longer bee delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shall bee done, saith the Lord God.

C H A P. XIII.

1 The word of the Lord against false prophets, who teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the prophets of Israel, that prophesie, and say thou vnto them, C'ap. 14. that prophesie out of their owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel thy prophets are like the foxes in the waile places.

5 Ye haue not risen vp in the gaps, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue seene vanitie and lying diuination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the wordes of their prophesie.

7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? ye say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye haue spoken vanity, and haue seene lies: therefore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God.

9 And mine hand shall be vpon the prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

my people, saying, Peace, and there was no peace: and one built up a wall, and beheld the other daubed it with vntempered mortar.

11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered mortar, that it shall fall: for there shall come a great shewre, and I will send hailestones, which shall caſte it to fall, & a ſtormie wind ſhall breake it.

12 See when the wall is fallen, ſhall it not be ſaid vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, I will cauſe a ſtormie wind to breake forth in my wrath, and a great ſhowre ſhall be in mine anger, and hailestones in mine indignation to conſume it.

14 So I will deſtroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered mortar, and bring it downe to the ground, ſo that the foundation thereof ſhall be diſcouered, and it ſhall fall, and ye ſhall be conſumed in the mids thereof, and ye ſhall know, that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accompliſh my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with vntempered mortar, and will ſay vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof.

16 To wit, the prophets of Iſrael, which prophesie vpon Ieruſalem, and ſee viſions of peace for it, and there is no peace, ſaith the Lord God.

17 Likewiſe, thou ſonne of man, ſet thy face againſt the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou againſt them, and ſay,

18 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that ſowe pillows vnder all armcholes, and make vailles vpon the head of euery one that ſtandeth up to hunt ſoules: wil ye hunt the ſoules of my people, and will ye giue life to the ſoules that come vnto you?

19 And will ye pollute me among my people for handſuls of barley, & for pieces of bread to ſlay the ſoules of them that ſhould not die, and to giue life to the ſoules that ſhould not liue, in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Behold, I will haue to doe with your pillows, wherewith yee hunt the ſoules to make them to flee, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the ſoules goe, euen the ſoules that yee hunt to make them to flee.

21 Your vailles alſo will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and they ſhall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

22 Becauſe with your lies yee haue made the heart of the righteous ſad, whom I haue not made ſad, and ſtrengthened the hands of the wicked, that he ſhould not returne from his wicked way, by promiſing him life,

23 Therefore ye ſhall ſee no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinations: for I will deliuer my people out of your hand and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

4 The Lord ſendeth falſe prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 Hee reſtraieth a ſmall portion for his church.

Then came certaine of the Elders of Iſrael vnto me, and ſate before me.

1 And the word of the Lorde came vnto mee, ſaying,

2 Son of man, theſe men haue ſet up their idoles in their heart, and put the ſtumbling blocke of their iniquity before their face: ſhould I, being required, anſwere them?

4 Therefore ſpeake vnto them, and ſay vnto them, Thus ſaith the Lord God, euery man of the houſe of Iſrael that ſetteth up his idole in his heart, and putteth the ſtumbling blocke of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to the Prophet, I the Lord will anſwere him that cometh, according to the multitude of his idoles:

5 That I may take the houſe of Iſrael in their owne heart, becauſe they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore ſay vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Returne and withdraw your ſelues, and turne your faces from your idols, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the houſe of Iſrael, or of the ſtranger that ſoiourneth in Iſrael, which departeth from me, and ſetteth up his idole in his heart, and putteth the ſtumbling blocke of his iniquity before his face, and cometh to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord will anſwere him for my ſelle.

8 And I will ſet my face againſt that man, and will make him an example and proewe, and I will cut him off from the mids of my people, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet bee deceiued, when hee hath ſpoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I will ſtretch out mine hande vpon him, and will deſtroy him from the mids of my people of Iſrael.

10 And they ſhall beare their puniſhment: the puniſhment of the prophet ſhall be euen as the puniſhment of him that asketh, 11 That the houſe of Iſrael may go no more aſtray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their tranſgreſſions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, ſaith the Lord God.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, ſaying, 13 Sonne of man, when the land ſinneth againſt me by committing a treſpaſſe, then will I ſtretch out mine hand vpon it, and will breake the ſtaffe of the bread thereof, and will ſend famine vpon it, and I will deſtroy man and beaſt forth of it.

14 Though theſe three men, Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they ſhould deliuer but their owne ſoules by their righteouſſaſſe, ſaith the Lord God.

15 If I bring no ſome beaſtes into the land, and they ſpoyle it, ſo that it be deſolate, that no man may paſſe through becauſe of beaſts.

16 Though theſe three men were in the mids thereof, as I liue, ſaith the Lord God, they ſhall ſaue neither ſonnes nor daughters: they only ſhall be deliuered: but the land ſhall be waſte.

17 Or if I bring a ſword vpon this land, and ſay, Sword, goe through the land, ſo that I deſtroy man and beaſt out of it, 18 Though theſe three men were in the mids thereof, as I liue, ſaith the Lord God, they ſhall deliuer neither ſonnes nor daughters, but they only ſhall be deliuered themſelues.

19 Or if I ſend a peſtilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to deſtroy out of it man and beaſt,

20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the mids of it, as I liue, ſaith the Lord God, they ſhall deliuer neither ſonne nor daughter: they ſhall but deliuer their owne ſoules by their righteouſſaſſe.

21 For thus ſaith the Lord God, How much more when I ſend my ſonne ſore iudgements vpon Ieruſalem, euen the ſword, and famine, and the ſonne beaſt, 17.

beast and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

23 Yea behold, therein shall be left a remnant of them that shall be carried away both sonnes & daughters: behold, they shall come forth vnto you, and ye shall see their way, & their enterprises, and ye shall be comforted concerning the evil that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, even concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

24 And they shall comfort you when ye see their way, and their enterprises, and ye shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the unpreservable wood of the vine tree is burnt in the fire, so Ierusalem shall be burnt.

And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, what cometh of the vine tree about all other trees? & of the vine branch, which is among the trees of the forest?

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to doe any work? or will men take a pine of it, to hang any vessel thereon?

4 B-holde, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the ends of it, and the mids of it is burnt. Is it meet for any work?

5 Beholde, when it was whole, it was meete for no worke, how much lesse shall it bee meete for any worke when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As the vine tree that among the trees of the forest, which I haue given to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem:

7 And I wil set my face against them: they shall goe out from one fire and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them,

8 And when I make the land waste, because they haue greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefites of Gods word vnto Ierusalem. 15 Their unkindnes. 46 He iustifieth the wickednesse of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations, in o which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercy is promised to the repentant.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to knowe her abominations,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation & thy kined is of the land of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy maturity when thou wast borne, thy nauell was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swaddled in clouts.

5 None eye pitied thee to doe any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open fielde to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

6 And when I passed by thee, I sawe thee polluted in thine owne blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiply as the bnd of the fielde, and thou hast increased and waxed great, & thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fashioned, thine hayre is grown, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of Ioue, and I spread my skirts ouer thee, and covered thy filthynesse: yea, I swore vnto thee, and entered into a couenant with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I anoynted thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broidered worke, and shod thee with badgers skinne: and I girded thee about with fine linen, and I covered thee with silke.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine handes, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frootlet vpon thy face, and eare-rings in thine eares, and a beautilfull crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with gold & silver, and thy raiment was of fine linc and silke, and broidered worke: thou didst eat fine flower, and hony, and oyle, and thou wast very beautilfull, and thou didst grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beauty: for it was perfect throw my beauty, which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Now thou didst trust in thine own beauty, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowne, and hast powred out thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

16 And thou didst take thy garments, and deckedst thine high places with diuers colours, and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire jewels made of my golde, and of my silver, which I had given thee, and madest to thy selfe images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them,

18 And tookest thy broidered garments, and coveredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meat also which I gaue thee, as fine flower, oyle and hony, wherein I fed thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete sauour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Moreover, thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne vnto me, & these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, so bee deuoured: is that thy whoredome a small matter?

21 That thou hast slain my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe through fire for thee?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednes (woe, woe vnto thee, saith the Lord God.)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an high place, and hast made thee an high place in euery street.

25 Thou hast built thine high place at euery corner of the way, and hast made thy beautie to bee abhorred: thou hast opened thy feet to enerie one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast increased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.

17 Behold, therefore, did I stretch out mine hand over thee, and will diminish thine ordinary, and decline thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, Or, sister vnto the daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

18 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them; and yet couldst not be satisfied.

19 Thou hast moreover multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldee, and yet thou wast not satisfied therewith.

20 How wake is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou dost all these things, even the worke of a presumptuous whorish woman?

21 In that thou buildest thine high place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine high place in euery firtow, and hast not been as an harlot that despiseth afterward,

22 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

23 They giue gifts to all Or, she whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto al thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

24 And the contrary is in thee from Or, she other women in thy fornications, neither Or, she like fornication shalt thou after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

25 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

26 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy [shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered thou-row thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the kiddes of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children which thou didst offer vnto
them,

27 Behold, therefore I will gather all thy louers with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them, that thou hast loured, with all them that thou hast loated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.

28 And I will iudge thee after the maner of them that are harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath and ielousie.

29 I will also giue thee into their hands, and they shal destroy thine high place, and shall breake downe thine high places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, & leaue thee naked and bare.

30 They shall also bring vp a company against thee, & they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee thorow with their swords,

31 And they shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

32 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angry.

33 Because thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked mee with all these things, behold therefore I also haue brought thy way vpon thine head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

34 Beholde, all that vse proverbes, shall vse this proverbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter.

35 Thou art my mothers daughter, that hast cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

36 And thine elder sister is Samaria, & her daughters that dwell at thy left hand, and thy younger sister that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, and her daughters.

37 Yet hast thou not walked after their wayes, nor doest thou after their abominations: but as it had been a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more than they in all thy wayes.

38 As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done as thou nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

39 Behold this was the iniquity of thy sister Sodom, Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idleness was in her and in her daughters: neither did shee strengthen the hand of the poore and needie.

40 But they were hauty, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away as pleased me.

41 Neither hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sins, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abomi-nations, and hast iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations which thou hast done.

42 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine own shame for thy sinnes that thou hast committed more abominable then they, which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

43 Therefore I will bring againe their captiuity with the captiuiety of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuiety of Samaria, and her daughters, euen the captiuiety of thy captiues in the midst of them,

44 That thou maist beare thine owne shame, and maiest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them.

45 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

46 For thy sister Sodom was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride.

47 Before thy wickednesse was discouered as in that same time of the reproch of the daughters of Aram, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about her, which despise thee on all sides.

48 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednesse and thine abomination faith the Lord.

49 For thus saith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee as thou hast done: when thou didst despise the oath in breaking the couenant.

50 Neuertheless, I will remember my couenant made with thee in the dayes of thy youth, and I will conferme vnto thee an euertlasting couenant.

51 Then thou shalt remember thy wayes, and be ashamed when thou shalt receiue thy sisters, both thy elder and thy younger, and I will giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not by thy couenant.

52 And I will establish my couenant with thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

53 That thou maist remember, and be ashamed, and neuer open thy mouth any more, because of thy shame, when I am pacified toward thee for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Eagles.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me saying,

1 Sonne of man, put forth a parable, and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel.

2 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great Eagle with great wings, and long wings, and full of feathers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the highest branch of the cedar,

3 And brake off the top of his twig, and caried it into the land of merchants, and set it in a city of merchants.

4 He tooke also of the frede of the land, & planted it in a fruitful ground: hee placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

5 And it budded vp, and was like a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the roots thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

6 There was also another great eagle with great wings, and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, that shee might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

7 It was planted in a good soile by great waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruit, and be an excellent vine.

8 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall he not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the fruit thereof, and cause them to dry? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

9 Beholde, it was planed: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried vp, and wither? when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches where it grew.

10 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

11 Say now to this rebellious house, Know yee not what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the king of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken the king thereof, and the princes thereof, and ledde them with him to Babel, 12 And hath taken one of the kings seed, & made a couenant with him, and hath taken an oath of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land.

13 That the kingdome might bee in subiection, and not life it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant and stand to it.

14 But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadors into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape that doth such things? or shall he breake the couenant, and be deliuered?

15 As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the king, that had made him king, whose oath hee despised, and whose couenant hee brake with him, hee brake.

16 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mighty hoste, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the war, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

17 For he hath despised the oath, & broken the couenant, (yet lo, he had giuen his hand) because he hath done all these things: he shall not escape.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As I liue I will surely bring mine oath that he hath despised, and my couenant that hee hath broken, vpon his owne head,

20 * And I will spread my net vpon him, and he shall be taken in my net, & I will bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespass that he hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine shall be scattered toward all the winds: and ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the top of this high cedar, and will set it, and cut off the top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an high mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the high mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shall bring forth boughes, and beare fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birds, and euery soyle shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the trees of the field shall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the high tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

CHAP. XVIII.

Hee sheweth that euery man shall beare his owne sinne. 21 To him that assembleth in saluacion promised.

24 Death is prophecied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THE word of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying,

1 What meane ye that ye speake this prouerbe concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers haue eaten foure grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

2 As I liue, saith the Lord God, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

3 Beholde, all soales are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mines: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

4 But if a man bee iust, and doe that which is lawfull and right,

5 And hath not eaten vpon the mountaine, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, neither hath he defiled his neighbors wife, neither hath he lien with a *menstruous woman,

6 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his debtor: he that hath spoiled none by violence, *but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath conered the naked with a garment,

7 And hath not giuen forth vpon *usury, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawn his hand from iniquity, and hath executed true iudgement betweene man and man,

8 And hath walked in my statutes, & hath kept my iudgements to deale truly, he is iust, he shall surely liue, saith the Lord God.

9 If hee beget a son that is a schisme, or a shedder of blood, if he doe any one of these things,

10 Though hee doe not all these things, but eith^r he hath eaten vpon the mountaine, or defiled his neighbors wife,

11 Or hath oppressed the poore and needy, or hath spoiled by violence, or hath not restored his pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idols, or hath committed abomination,

12 Or hath giuen forth vpon usury, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? hee shall not liue: seeing hee hath done all these abominations, hee shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

13 But if he beget a sonne, that feeth all his fathers sins, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife.

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withhelden \S pledge, neither hath spoiled by violence, \S hath given his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment, 17 Neither hath withdrawn his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vsury nor increase, \S hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquity of his father, \S he shall surely liue.

18 His father, because hee cruelly oppressed and spoiled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, so, euen he dieth in his iniquity.

19 Yet say ye, Wherefore shall not the son beare the iniquity of the father? Because the son hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 * The same soule that sinneth shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquity of the sonne, but the righteousness of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednes of the wicked shall be vpon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his finnes that hee hath committed, and keepe all my statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that hee hath committed, they shall not bee \S mentioned vnto him, but in his righteousness that hee hath done, hee shall liue.

23 Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God? \S or shall hee not liue if hee returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousness, and commit iniquity, and doe according to all the abominations that the wicked man doeth, shall he liue? all his righteousness that he hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sin that he hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equall: heare now, O house of Israel, Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, he shall euen die for the same, hee shall euen die for his iniquity that he hath done.

27 Again, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednesse that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, hee shall saue his soule aliove.

28 Because he considereth, & turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, hee shall surely liue, and shall not die.

29 Yet sayeth the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, sayeth the Lord God: returne therefore, and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shall not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed, and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The captivity of the kings of Iudah signified by the lions whelps, and by the lion. 10 The prosperity of the cite of Ierusalem that is past, and the misery thereof that is present.

11 How also take vp a lamentation for the princes of Israel,

12 And say, Wherefore lay thy mother as a lionnesse among the lions? shee nourished her young ones among the lions whelps, 13 And shee brought vp one of her whelps, and it became a lion, and it learned to catch the pray, and it deuoured men.

14 The nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt.

15 Now when these saw that shee had waited, and her hope was lost, shee tooke another of her whelps, and made him a lion.

16 Which went among the lions, and became a lion, and learned to catch the pray, and he deuoured men.

17 And he knew their widowers, and hee destroyed their cities, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein by the noise of his roaring.

18 Then the nations set against him on euery side of the countreys, and laid their nets for him: so he was taken in their pit.

19 And they put him in prison, and in chaines, and brought him to the king of Babel, and they put him in holds, that his voyce should no more bee heard vpon the mountaines of Israel.

20 Thy mother is like a vine in thy blood, planted by the waters: shee brought forth fruit & branches by the abundant waters, 21 And shee had strong rods for the scepters of them that beare rule, and her stature was exalted among the branches, and shee appeared in her height with the multitude of her branches.

22 But shee was plucked vp in wrath: shee was cast downe to the ground, and the East wind dried vp her fruit: her branches were broken, and withered: as for the rod of her strength, the fire consumed it.

23 And now shee is planted in the wilderness in a drie and thirly ground.

24 And fire is gone out of a rod of her branches, which hath deuoured her fruit, so that shee hath no strong rod to be a scepter to rule: this is a lamentation, and shall be for a lamentation.

1 The Lord denieth that he will answer them when they pray, because of their unkindnes. 33 He promisseth that his people shall returne from captivity. 45 By the forest that should bee burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

And in the seventh yeere, in the fifth month, the tenth day of the month, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to inquire of the Lord, and sate before mee.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto mee, saying,

3 Son of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of mee? As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answer you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God,

In the day when I chose Israel, & lift vp mine hand vnto the seed of the house of Iakob, and made my selfe known vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayd, I am the Lord your God,

In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt into a land that I had promised for them, flowing with milke and hony, which is pleasant among all lands,

Then said I vnto them, Let every man cast away the abominations of his eyes, and defile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

But they rebelled against me, and would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the midde of the land of Egypt.

But I had respect to my Name; that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe known vnto them, in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

Now I carried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness.

I and I gave them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them.

Moreover, I gave them also my *Sabbaths to be a signe betweene me and them, that they might know that I am the Lord that sanctifie them,

But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them * in the wilderness to consume them.

But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

Yet neuertheless, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land which I had giuen them, flowing w milke and hony, which was pleasant aboue all lands,

Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

Neuertheless, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them; neither would I consume them in the wilderness.

But I said vnto their children in the wilderness, Walk ye not in the ordinances of your fathers, neither obserueth their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

I am the Lord your God; walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, and doe them.

And sanctifie my Sabbaths and they shall be a signe betweene me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

Neuertheless I withdrew mine hand, and had respect vnto my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen in whose sight I brought them forth.

Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them thorow the countreys,

Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles.

Wherefore I gave them also statutes that were not good, & iudgements wherein they should not liue.

And I polluted them in their owne gifts in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first hope-meth the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the end that they might know that I am the Lord.

Therefore sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed mee, though they had before grievously transgressed against me.

For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they saw euery hie hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and thither they presented their offering of pronocation; there also they made their sweete ssaour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

Then I said vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called Bamah vnto this day.

Wherefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the manner of your fathers? and commit ye not whore-dome after their abominations?

For when ye offer your gifts, and make your sonnes to passe thorow the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idols vnto this day: shall I answer you when I am asked, O house of Israel? as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will not answer you when I am asked.

Neither shall that be done that cometh into your minde, for ye say, We will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood and stone.

As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out,

And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand; and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

And I will bring you into the wilderness of the people, and there will I plead with you face to face.

Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Egypt, so will I plead with you, saith the Lord God.

And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the covenant.

And I will chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord.

As for you, O house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, Goyon, & serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts, & with your idoles.

For I mine holy Mountaine, which is the hie mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land serue me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings and the first fruits of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweet favour, when I bring you from the people, & gather you out of the countries, wherein ye have been scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted up my hand to give it to your fathers.

43 And there shall ye remember your wayes, and all your works wherein ye have been defiled, and ye shall judge your selves worthy to be cut off for all your evils that ye have committed.

44 And he shall know that I am the Lord, when I have respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt works, O yee house of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

46 Sonne of man, let thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward the South, and prophesie toward the forest of the field of the South,

47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, and it shall deuoure all the greene wood in thee, and all the dry wood: the continuall flame shall not be quenched, and every face from the South to the North shall be burnt therein.

48 And all flesh shall see that I the Lord haue kindled it, and it shall not be quenched. Then sayd I, Ah Lord God, they say of mee, Doth not he speake parables?

CHAP. XXI.

3 Hee threatneth the sword and destruction to Ierusalem. 25 Hee sheweth the fall of King Zedekiah, 28 Hee is commanded to prophesie the destruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to destroy Nibuchad-nezzar.

The word of the Lord came to me again, saying, 2 Sonne of man, set thy face toward Ierusalem, and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophesie against the land of Israel,

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I come against thee, and will drawe my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sword goe out of his sheath against all flesh from the South to the North.

5 That all flesh may know that I the Lord haue drawn my sword out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy reines, & mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they say vnto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? then answer, Because of the brut: for it commeth, and every heart shall melt, and all hands shall be weak, and all minds shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water: behold, it commeth, and shall be done, sayth the Lord God.

8 ¶ Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Say, A sword, a sword both sharpe and fourbished,

10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter, and it is fourbished that it may glitter: how shall we reioyce? for it contendeth the rod of my sonnes, as all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be fourbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe & is fourbished, that he may giue it into the hand of the slayer.

12 Crie and howle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come vnto all the princes of Israel: the errors of the sword shall be vpon my people: smite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a trial, and what shall this be, if the sword contendeth with the rod? it shall be no more, sayth the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophesie, and smite hand to hand, and let the sword be doubled: let the sword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entering into their priuie chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the sword into all their gates, to make their heart to faime, and to multiply their ruines. Ah, it is made bright, and it is dressed for the slaughter.

16 Get thee alone: goe to the right hand, or get thy selfe to the left hand, whithersoener thy face turneth.

17 I will also smite mine hands together, & will cause my wrath to cease: the Lord haue sayd it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came vnto me again, saying,

19 Also thou son of man, appoint thee two waies that the sword of the king of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one land & chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way that the sword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Iudah in Ierusalem the strong citie.

21 And the king of Babel stood at the parting of the way: the head of the two wayes, consulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: hee consulted with idolls, and looked in the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, & to lift up their voice with howling, to lay engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fortresse.

23 And it shall be vnto them as a false diuination in their fight for the oathes made vnto them: but he will call to remembrance their iniquity, to the intent they should be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye haue made your iniquity to be remembered, in discovering your rebellion, that in all your workes your sinnes might appeare: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whose day is come when iniquitie shall haue an ende, 26 Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the diademe, and take off the crowne: this shall be no more the same: I will exalt the humble, and will abase him that is high.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shall be no more until he come, whose right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is drawn forth and fourbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering:

29 Whiles they see vanity vnto thee, and prophesied a lie vnto thee to bring thee vpon the necks of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come when their iniquitie shall haue an end.

30 Shall I cause it to returne into his sheath? I will iudge thee in the place where thou wast created, even in the land of thine habitation.

31 And I will powre out mine indignation vpon thee, and will blow against thee in the fire of my wrath, & deliuer thee into the hand of beastly men, and skillfull to destroy.

32 Thou shalt be in the fire to be denoured: thy blood shall be in the mids of the land, and thou shalt be no more remembered: for I the Lord haue spoken it.

C H A P. XXII.

1 Jerusalem is reproved for crueltye. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and prestes, and of their vnfaulable couetousnesse. 27 The tyranny of rulers. 29 The wickednesse of the people.

MORCOUER, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

1 Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie, wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

2 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The citie sheddeth blood in the mids of it, that her time may come, and maketh idoles against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

3 Thou hast offended in thy blood that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idoles, which thou hast made, & thou hast caused thy daies to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen and a mocking to all countreies.

4 Those that bee neere and those that bee farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in name, and sore in affliction.

5 Behold, the princes of Israel enery one in thee was ready to his powe to shed blood.

6 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the mids of thee haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow

7 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths

8 In thee are men that eary tale to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

9 In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

10 And euery one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, even his fathers daughter.

11 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken vsury & the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

12 Behold, therefore I haue smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnesse that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood which hath bene in the mids of thee.

13 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong in the dayes that I shall haue to do with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

14 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreies, and will cause thy filthinesse to cease from thee.

15 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, & thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

16 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

17 Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto mee

as drosse: all they are brass, and tinne, and yron, and lead: in the mids of the fornace: they are as the drosse of siluer.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye are all as drosse, behold, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

19 As they gather siluer, and brass, & yron, and lead, and tinne into the middes of the fornace, to blow the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there, and melt you.

20 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall be melted in the mids thereof.

21 As siluer is melted in the mids of the fornace, so shall ye be melted in the mids thereof, and ye shall know that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

22 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

23 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vnclene, and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

24 There is a conspiracie of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue denoured sonnes: they haue taken the riches and pretious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

25 Her Priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy and profane, neither difference betweene the vnclene and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am profaned among them.

26 Her princes in the middles thereof, as like Micah 3 wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy couples for their owne couetous lucre.

27 And her prophets haue daubed them with vntempered morier, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord hath not spoken.

28 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoiling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy, yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

29 And I sought for a man among them, that should make vp the hedge, and stand in the gappe before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none.

30 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignation vpon them, and consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their owne wayes haue I rendred vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

C H A P. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ierusalem vnder the names of Aholah and Aholabah.

THE word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

1 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one mother,

2 And they committed fornication in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breasts pressed, and there they bruised the teats of their virginities.

3 And the names of them were Aholah the elder and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria & Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

4 And Aholah played the harlot: when shee was mine, and shee was set on fire with her lovers, as Micah 3

10. with the Assyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blew silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

7 Thus shee committed her whoredome with them; euen with all them that were the chosen men of Ashur, and with all on whom shee doted, & defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they lay with her, and they bruised the bacralls of her virginitie, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers euen into the hands of the Assyrians vpon whom she doted.

10 These discovered her shame: they tooke away her sons and daughters, and slew her with the sword, and she had an evil name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah saw this, shee marred her selfe with inordinate loue more then she, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines & princes clothed with diners suites, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant yong men.

13 Then I saw that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort.

14 And that she increased her fornications: for when she saw men painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermillion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with dierd attyre vpon their heads (looking all like princes, after the manner of the Babylonians in Caldea the land of their natiuitie)

16 As soone as she saw them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discovered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet the increased her whoredome more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For shee doted vpon their seruants whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednes of thy youth, when thy teares were braild by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, & I will bring them against thee on every side, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans Peked, and Shoaah, and Koa, & all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding vpon horses.

24 Euen these shal come against thee with charres, wagons and wheelles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield, & helmet round about: and I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shal cut off thy nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall carry away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shal be deuoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strip thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire icwels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednesse to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hand of them whom thou hatest, euen into the hands of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shall handle thee despitfully, and shall take away all thy labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications shall be discovered, both thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

30 I will do these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, & because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sisters: therefore will I giue her cup into thine hand.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large, thou shalt bee laughed to come and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt be filled with drunkennesse and sorow, euen with the cup of destruction and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out in the dress, & thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and reare thine owne brealls, for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast mee behind thee backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord said moreouer vnto me, Some of man, wilt thou indige Aholah and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their handes, and with their idoles haue they committed adultery, and haue also caused their sennes whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their meat.

38 Moreouer thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuary in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it, and loe, thus haue they done in the mids of mine house.

40 And how much more is it that they sent for men to come from farre, vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came? for whom thou didst wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And fatest vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her, and with the men, to make the company great, were brought men of Saba from the wilderness, which put bracelets vpon their handes, and beautiful crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I said vnto her, I was old in adulteries, Now shalt thou see and her fornications come to an end.

44 And they went in vnto her, as they goe to a comon harlot, so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiel's wife being dead.

A Gainie in the ninth yere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, even of the same day for the king of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepeate it, and also powre water into it.

4 Gather the peecees thereof into it, even euery good peece, as the thigh, and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

for, heape 5 Take one of the best sheepe, and burne also the bones vnder it, and make it boile well, and seeh the bones of it therein.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloody city, even to the pot, whose scum is therein, and whose scum is not gone out of it: bring it out peece by peece: let not fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the mids of her: shee set it vpon an high rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to conuert it with dust.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise and take vengeance: even I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke, that it should not be conuerted.

Neh. 3. 1. 9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, * Woe to bab. 1. 2. the bloody city, for I will make the burning great.

for, as 10 Heape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

for, lost 11 Then set it emptie vpon the coales thereof, that the brasie of it may be hote and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may bee molten in it, and that the scum of it may be consumed.

12 She hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great scum was not out of her: therefore her scum shall be consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse, and wickednesse: because I would haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged: thou shalt not bee purged from thy filthinesse, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy works shall they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

16 Sonne of man, behold, I take away from thee

the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague, yett shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares runne downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tire of thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shoes vpon thy feet, & couer not thy lips, and eat not the bread of men.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in the morning as I was commanded.

19 And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs, that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will pollute my Sanctuary, even the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

22 And ye shall doe as I haue done: ye shall not couer your lips, neither shall ye eat the bread of men.

23 And your tire shall be vpon your heads, and your shoes vpon your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall doe, and when this commeth, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the joy of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the desire of their heart: their sonnes and their daughters, for, he ing up of their soules.

26 That he that cleopeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake and bee no more dumbe, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistims.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them.

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou haidest, Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie,

4 Behold therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: thy shall eate thy fruit, and they shall drinke thy milke.

5 And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheeppasture, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands and stamped with the feet, and reioyced in heart with all thy despight against the land of Israel,

7 Behold, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to bee destroyed out of the countreyes, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen.

9 Therefore beholde, I will open the side of Moab, and of the cities of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-jeshimoth, Beal-meon and Kiriathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession: so that the Ammonites shall no more bee remembered among the nations.

11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done in it by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, & reuenged themselves with a despisefull heart to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, & I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

¶ For Propheseth that Tyrus shall be ouerthrowen because it reioyced as the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondering, and astonishment of the merchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

And in the eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

1 Some of man, Because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be replenished,

2 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vpon many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vpon his waues.

3 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towres: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

4 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the sea: for I haue spoken it saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoile to the nations.

5 And her daughters which are in the field shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will bring vpon Tyrus, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel a King of kings, from the North with horses, and with charets, and with horsmen, with a multitude, and much people, 8 He shall lay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and he shall make her fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 He shall set engines of war before him against thy walls, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen and of the wheelles, and of the charets when he shall enter into thy gates as into the entry of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hoofes of his horses shall hee tread downe all thy streets: hee shall slay thy people by the sword, and the pillars at thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall rob thy riches, and spoile thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walls, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones, and thy timber, and thy dust into the mids of the water.

13 ¶ Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harps shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall, and at the cry of the wounded, when they shall bee slaine and murdered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the Sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broidered garments, and shall clothe themselves with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground, and be astonished at every moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed that wast inhabited of the sea, the renowned city, which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to bee on all that haunt therein!

18 Now shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea the yles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, when I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit with the people of olde time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, like the old ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the land of the living, 21 I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be found againe, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXVII.

23 They of Haram and Canneh, and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Asshur, and Chilmad, were thy merchants.

24 These were thy merchants in all sorts of things, in raiment of blue filke, and of brodered worke, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with coards: chaines also were among thy merchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy merchandise, and all thy multitude, which was in the mids of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the yles shall be astonied at thee, and all their kings shall be sore aiaid, and troubled in their countenance.

36 The merchants among the people shall hiss at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt be againe more.

C H A P. XXVIII.

2 The word of God aga inst the king of Tyrus, for his pride. 21 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promisseth that hee will gather together the children of Israel.

THE word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

2 Soone of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast said, I am a god. I sit in the seat of God in the mids of the sea, yet thou art but a man, and not God, and though thou didst thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equal with God,

† Else, though thou see thine heart as the heart of God.

3 Behold, thou art wiser then Daniel: there is no secret that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisdom and thine vnderstanding as thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten golde, siluer into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisdom, and by thine occupying hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou didst thinke in thine heart that thou wast equal with God,

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers vpon thee, even the terrible nations: and they shall drawe their swords against the beauty of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightnesse.

8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, & thou shalt die the death of them that are slaine in the mids of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say thou before him that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt be a man, and no god, in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the vncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 ¶ Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the king of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God, Thou wast full of wisdom, and art full of wisdom, and perfect in beautie.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: encircled precious stones was thy garment, the rubie, the topaze, and the diamond, the crysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy timbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the anointed Cherub that couereth, and I have set thee in honour: thou wast vpon the Holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the mids of the stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy wayes from the day that thou wast created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise they have filled the mids of thee with crueltie, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the mountaine of God: and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub, from the mids of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the mids of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I will bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be a terror, and neuer shalt thou be any more.

20 ¶ Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

21 Sonne of man, set thy face against Zidon, and prophesie against it,

22 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall have executed iudgements in her, and she shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streets, and the flaine shall fall in the mids of her: the enemy shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall be no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grievous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, when I shall have gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shall be sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the land that I have given to my seruant Iacob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, and plant vineyardes: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I have executed iudgements vpon all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 He prophesies against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promiseth that he will restore Egypt after fourety yeeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Necho, because he hath laboured for the labour, which hee took against Tyru.

IN the tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great dragon that lieth in the mids of his riuers, which hath said, The riuer is mine, and I have made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put hookes in thy iawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will draw thee out of the mids of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leave thee in the wilderness, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field, thou shalt not bee brought together, nor gathered: for I have giuen thee for meat to the beastes of the field, and to the fowles of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they have bene a staffe of reed to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou didst breake and rent all their shoulder: and when they leane vpon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loines to stand wright.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shall be desolate and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord: because hee hath said, The riuer is mine, and I have made it.

10 Behold, therefore I come vpon thee, and vpon thy riuers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterly waste and desolate, from the towres of Secneh, euen vnto the borders of the blacke Moores.

11 No foot of man shall passe by it, nor foot of beast shall passe by it, neither shall it be inhabited fourety yeeres.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt desolate in the mids of the countreyes that are desolate, and her cities shall be desolate among the cities that are desolate for fourety yeeres: and I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreyes.

13 Yet thus saith the Lord God, * At the end of fourety yeeres will I gather the Egyptians from the people where they were scattered,

14 And I will bring againe the captiuitie of Egypt, and will cause them to returne into the land of Pathros into the land of their habitation, and they shall be there a small kingdome.

15 It shall be the smallest of the kingdomes, neither shall it exalt it selfe any more above the nations: for I will diminish more, that they shall no more rule the nations.

16 And it shall be no more the confidence of the house of Israel, to bring their iniquitie to remembrance by looking after them: so shall they know that I am the Lord God.

18 Son of man, Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel caused his armie to serue a great seruice against Tyrus: euery head was made balde, & euery shoulder was made bare: yet had he no wages, nor his armie for Tyrus, for the seruice that he serued against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will giue the land of Egypt vnto Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel, and he shall take her multitude, and spoile her spoile, and take her pray, and it shall be the wages of his armie.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that hee serued against it, because they wrought for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day will I cause the home of the house of Israel to grow, & I will giue thee an open mouth in the mids of them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The destruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto mee, saying,

1 Sonne of man, prophetic and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Howle and cry, Who be vnto this day.

2 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudy day: and it shall be the time of the heathen.

3 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall be in Ethiopia, when the flaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, and when her foundation shall be broken downe.

4 Ethiopia, and Phut, & Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

5 Thus sayth the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe from the tower of Seuen: they shall fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

6 And they shall be desolate in the mids of the countreies that are desolate, and her cities shall be in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

7 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

8 In that day shall their messengers goe fourth from me in shippes, to make the carelesse Moores afraid, and feare shall come vpon them as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it cometh.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

10 For he and his people with him, run the terrible nations shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their iwordes against Egypt, and fill the Land with the flaine.

11 And I will make the riuers dry, and tell the land into the hands of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that there in is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

12 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also destroy the idoles, and I will cause their idoles to cease out of Noph, and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, and I will send a feare in the land of Egypt.

13 And I will make Pathros desolate, & will set fire in it: and I will execute iudgement in No.

14 And I will be my wrath vpon Sin, for he is the strength of Egypt: & I will destroy the multitude of No.

15 And I will set fire in Egypt: Sin shall haue great sorrow, and No shall be destroyed, and Noph shall haue sorowes daily.

16 The young men of I Anen and of I Phibesech I Or, He shall fall by the sword: and these (men) shall goe in captiuitie.

17 At T ephaphnes the day shall reftaine his light, when I shall breake there the bars of Egypt: and when the pompe of her power shall cease in her, the cloud shall couer her, and her daughters shall goe into captiuitie.

18 Thus will I execute iudgements in Egypt: and they shall know that I am the Lord.

19 ¶ And in the eleventh yeece, in the first moneth, and in the seuen day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

20 Son of man, I haue broken the arme of Pharaoh king of Egypt: and loe, it shall not bee bound vp to be healed, neither shall they put a roule to bind it, and I make it strong to hold the sword.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against Pharaoh king of Egypt, & will breake his arme that was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

22 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them thorow the countreys.

23 And I will strengthen the arme of the king of Babel, and put my sword in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, & he shall cast out fightings as the fightings of him that is wounded before him.

24 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

25 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countreys, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians, so his prophetesha like destruction to them both.

AND in the eleventh yeece, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

1 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, and to his multitude, Whom art thou like in thy greatnesse?

2 Behold, Ashtar was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very high, and his top was among the thicke boughes.

3 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on lie with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her little riuers vnto all the trees of the field.

4 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters which the deepe sent out.

5 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beasts of the field bring forth their yong, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mightie nations.

6 Thus was hee faire in his greatnesse, & in the length of his branches: for his roote was neere great waters.

7 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no fire tree was like his branches, & the cheffnut

15 They haue made his bed in the mids of the flaine with all his multitudes: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are flaine by the sword: though they haue caused their feare in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pit: they are laid in the mids of them that be flaine.

16 There is Meshech, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graues are round about them: all these vncircumcised were flaine by the sword: though they caused their feare to bee in the land of the liuing.

17 And they shall not lie with the valiant of the vncircumcised that are fallen, which are gone down to the graue with their weapons of warre, and haue laid their swords vnder their heads: but their iniquity shall be vpon their bones, because they were the feare of the mighty in the land of the liuing.

18 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the mids of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are flaine by the sword.

19 There is Edom, his kings and all his princes, which with their strength are layd by them that were flaine by the sword: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, and with them that goe downe to the pit.

20 There be all the princes of the North with all the Zidonians, which are come down with the flaine with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that be slain by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.

21 Pharaoh shall see them, and he shall be comforted ouer all his multitude: Pharaoh and all his army shall be flaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.

22 For I haue caused my feare to bee in the land of the liuing: and he shall be laid in the mids of the vncircumcised, with them that are flaine by the sword, saith the Lord God, and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The office of the gouernours and ministers. 14 He strengtheneth them that despaire, and boldeneth them with the promise of mercie. 16 The word of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

A Gaine the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Son of man, speake to the children of thy people, & say vnto them, When I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man from among them, and make him their watchman:

3 If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, he blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet & will not be warned, if the sword come and take him away, his blood shall be vpon his owne head.

5 For hee heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished, therefore his blood shall be vpon him: but hee that receiueh warning shall save his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, & the people be not warned: if the sword come and take any person from among them, he is taken away for his iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 * So thou, O son of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man thou shalt die the death: if thou dost not speak and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquity, but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Neuertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquity, but thou hast delivered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus ye speake and say, if our transgressions and our sinnes bee vpon vs, and wee are consumed because of them, how should we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne ye, turne ye from your euil wayes, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The righteousness of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednes of the wicked shall catch him to fall therein in the day that he returneth from his wickednes, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousness in the day that he fineth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that hee shall surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousness, and commit iniquity, all his righteousness shall be no more remembered, but for his iniquity that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Again, when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if he turne from his sinne, and do that which is lawfull and right, 15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, & giue again that he had robbed, and walke in the statutes of life without committing iniquity, he shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his finnes that he hath committed shall be mentioned vnto him, because he hath done that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, * The way of the Lord is not equal: but their owne way is wiser. 25. equal.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked turne from his wickednes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal, O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of our captivity, in the tenth month, and in the first day of the month, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem came vnto me, and said, The citie is smitten.

22 Now the hand of the Lord had been vpon me in the evening afore he that had escaped came, and had opened my mouth vntill he came to me in the morning: and when he had opened my mouth, I was no more dumb.

23 Again the word of the Lord came vnto me, and sayd, 24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, Abraham was but one, and he possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shall be giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Ye cate with the blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and shed blood, should ye then possesse the land?

26 Yee leaue vpon your swords: yee worke abomination, and yee defile euery one his neighbours wife:

wife: should ye then possesse the land?

27 Say thus vnto them: Thus sayth the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field will I giue vnto the beasts to bee deuoured, and they that bee in the forts and in the towers, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and Esa. 7. 24 the * pompe of her strength shall cease: and the E. 21. 2. 1. mountaines of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall
E. 30. 6, 7 passe thorow.

29 Then shall they knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue laid the land desolate and waste because of all their abominations that they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that talke of thee by the wallles, and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you and heare what is the worde that cometh from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee as the people vnto come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy words, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make iels, and their heart goeth after their courtoisnesse.

10r. plea- 32 And lo, thou art vnto them as a lusting song of sant and one that hath a pleasant voice, and can sing well:
loue song. for they heare thy words, but they doe them not.

33 And when this cometh to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they knowe that a Prophet hath been among them.

C H A P. XXXIIII.

2 Against the shepheards that despoiled the flocks of Christ, and seeke their owne gain. 7 The Lord sayeth that he will visit his dispersed flocks: and gather them together. 23 He promyseth the true shepheard Christ, and wish him peace.

And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 3 Sonne of man prophesie against the shepheards of Israel, prophesie and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto the shepheards, * Woe bee vnto the shepheards of Israel, that feed themselves: should not the shepheards feed the flocks?

Jer. 23. 1.

3 Yee eate the fat, and yee clothe you with the wooll: ye kill them that are fed, but ye feed not the sheepe.

4 The weake haue yee not strengthened: the sicke haue yee not healed, neither haue ye bound vp the broken, nor brought again that which was driuen away, neither haue ye sought that which was lost: but with cruelty and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: and when they were dispersed, they were deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered thorow all the mountaines, and vpon euery high hill, yea, my flocke was scattered thorow all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore yee shepheards, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I liue, sayth the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoyled, & my sheepe were deuoured of all the beasts of the field, hauing no shepheard, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fed themselves, and fed not my sheepe.

9 Therefore heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepheards, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepheards feed themselves any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from their mouthes, & they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bin among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe, and will deliuer them out of all places where they haue bin scattered in the cloudy and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreys, and will bring them to their owne land, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the high mountaines of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in fat pasture shall they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feed my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will bind vp that which was broken, & will strengthen the weak, but I will destroy the fat and the strong, and I will feede them with iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betwene the rammes and the goats.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue gathered vp the good pasture, but ye must tread downe with your feete the residue of your pasture? and to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your feete?

19 And my sheepe eate that which ye haue troden vp the good pasture, but ye must tread downe with your feete, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feete?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Behold, I, when I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because yee haue thrust with side and with shoullder and putte all the weak with your hornes till ye haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therefore will I help my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoyled, & I will iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepheard ouer them, and he shall feede them, and my seruant Dauid, he shall feed them, and he shall be their shepheard.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shall be the prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a covenant of peace, and will cause the euill beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleep in the woods.

26 And I will set them as a blessing enen round about my mountaine: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shall bee raine of blessing.

27 And the tree of the field shall yeld her fruit, and the earth shall giue her fruit, and they shall abide safe in their land, and shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the coards of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the hands of those that serued themselves of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise vp for them a plant of renowne, nowme, and they shall bee no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, } I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, know the house of Israel are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheep, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Lord.

Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it,

3 And say vnto it, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their iniquity had an end,

6 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou hate blood, even blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cutt off from it him that passeth out, and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hilles, and in thy valleys, and in all thy rivers shall they fall that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not returne, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, These two nations and their two countreys shall be mine, & we will possesse them (seeing the Lord was there)

11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God, I will euen doe according to thy wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe known among them when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt know that I } Lord haue heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are giuen vnto be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye haue boasted against me, and haue multiplied your words against me: I haue heard them.

14 Thus sayeth the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce, when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou didst reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promisseth to deliuer Iffrael from the Gentiles.

23 The benefits done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed vnto the mercy of God, and not to their desertings. 24 God reneweth our hearts that wee may walke in his Commandementes.

16 So thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the } mountains of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the enemy hath said against you, Aha, euen the high places of the world are ours in possession.

3 Therefore prophesie & say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on every side, that ye might bea possesion vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lips and tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people.

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleyes, and to the waite and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Surely, in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which haue taken my land for their possession with the ioy of all their heart, and with despiering minds to cast it out for a pray.

6 Prophesie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hills, to the rivers and to the valleyes, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because ye haue suffered the shame of the heathen,

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, yett shall shoot forth your branches, and bring forth your fruite, to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For behold, I come vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shall be tilled and sown.

10 And I will multiply the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall increate and bring forth, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will bestow benefites vpon you more then at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse I you, and ye shall be their inheritance, and ye shall no more henceforth deprime them of men. for, the 13 Thus saith the Lord God, because they say vnto you, Thou land deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waister of thy people.

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither wast thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God.

15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shall thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither shall cause thy folke to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they desired it by their owne wayes, and by their deeds: their way was before me as the filthinesse of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, which they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were disperfed thorow the countreys: for according to their wayes, & according to their deeds I iudged them.

Isa. 52.5. 20 And when they entered vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I favoured mine holy Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen: whither yee went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom yee haue polluted it, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in [Or, your, you before] their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreys, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I poure cleane water vpon you, and ye shall be cleane: yea, from all your filthinesse, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

Isa. 32. 26 A new heart also will I giue you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stony heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, & cause you to walke in my statutes, and yee shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And yee shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for come, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiply the fruit of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall yee remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selues worthy to haue bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it known vnto you, that I doe not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: wherefore O ye house of Israel, be ashamed and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall haue cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shall be builded.

34 And the desolate land shall be tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 Forthye sayde, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall know that I the Lord builde the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of the house of Israel to perforce me vnto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feasts, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flocks of men, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He propheseth the bringing againe of the people being in captivity. 2 He sheweth the vision of the seruantes with the two.

The hand of the Lord was vpon me, and caryed me out in the Spirit of the Lord, and set mee downe in the midst of the field, which was full of bones.

2 And heled me round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and lo, they were very dry.

3 And he said vnto mee, Some of man can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Again he said vnto me, Prophesie vpon these bones, and say vnto them, O ye drie bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, & make flesh grow vpon you, and coner you with skine, and giue breath in you, that yee may liue, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophesied as I was commanded: and as I prophesied there was a noise, and behold, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinewes and the flesh grew vpon them, and about the skin conered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then sayd hee vnto mee, Prophesie vnto the wind: prophesi: sonne of man, and say to the wind, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from the foure winds, O breath, and beate it vpon these slaine, that they may liue.

10 So I prophesied as hee had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued and stood vp vpon their fette, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he said vnto me, Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. Behold, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore prophesie, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold my people, I will open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the land of Israel.

13 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue opened your graues, O my people, & brought you vp out of your sepulchres.

14 And shall put my Spirit in you, and yee shall liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then yee shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

16 Moreover, thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take another piece of wood, and write vpon it, vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the house of Israel his companions.

17 And thou shalt ioine them one to another into one tree, and they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speak vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shew vs what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answer them, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I will take the tree of Ioseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and wil put them with him, even with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall be one in mine hand.

33 Neither shall they be polluted any more with their idols, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will sanc them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will cleanse them, so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

34 And Dauid my *seruant shall be King over them, & they all shall haue one shepheard, they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them.

35 And they shall dwell in the land: I haue giuen vnto Iakob my seruaut, where your fathers haue dwelt, and they shall dwell therein, sum they & their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruaut Dauid shall be their prince for euer.

36 Moreover, I will make a *covenant of peace with them: it shall be an euermaking covenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my Sanctuary among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

3 Hee propheseth that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 21 Their destruction.

And the word of γ Lord came vnto me, saying, A Son of man, set thy face against Gog, and against the land of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech, and Tubal, and prophesie against him,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech, and Tubal.

4 And I will destroy thee, and put hooks in thy iawes, and will bring thee forth, and all thine host, both horses and hostemen, all clothed with all sorts of armor, sum a great multitude with bucklers and shields, all handling swords.

5 They of Paras, of Cush, and Phut with them, sum all they that beare shield and helmet.

6 Gomer, and all his bands, & the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bands, and much people with thee.

7 Prepare thy selfe, and make thee ready, both thou and all thy multitude that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their sassegard.

8 After many dayes thou shalt bee visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the lande that hath been destroyed with the sword, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet γ they haue been brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

9 Thou shalt ascend, & come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloud to couer γ land, both thou and all the bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus sayth the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke euill thoughts.

11 And thou shalt say, I will go vp to the land that hath no walles, towres: I will go to them that are at rest, and dwell in safety, which dwell all without wals, and haue neither barres nor gates.

12 Thinking to spoyle the pray, and to take a bootie, to turne thine hand vpon the desolate places that are sum inhabited, and vpon the people that are gathered out of the nations, which haue gotten cattell and goods; and dwell in the midst of the land.

13 Sheba, and Dedan, and the merchants of Tarshish, with all the lions thereof, shall lay vnto thee, Art thou come to spoyle the pray? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a bootie? to carry away silver and gold, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoyle a great pray?

14 Therefore sonne of man, prophesie, and say vnto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwelleth safe, shalt thou not know it?

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts thou and much people with thee? all sum ride vpon horses, sum a great multitude and a mighty army.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel as a cloud to couer the land: thou shalt be in the latter dayes, & I will bring thee vpon my land, that the heathen may know me, when I shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou hee, of whom I haue spoken in old time by the hand of my seruants the Prophets of Israel which prophesied in those dayes and yeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, sayeth the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation, and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the fowles of the beauen, and the beasts of the field, and all that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall be ouerthrowen, and the staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God, euery mans sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will plead against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people that are with him, a fore raue, and hailestones, fire and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be * magnified and sanctified, and known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know that I am the Lord. Chap. 38. 23 & 37. 28.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Hee sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog. 11 The graves of Gog and his host. 17 They shall be deuoured of birds and beasts. 21 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiue is promised.

Therelore thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee, and leaue but the sixth part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North parts, and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

9 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

10 Thou shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bandes and the people that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birds and to euery feathered foule and beast of the fildes to be deuoured.

11 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

12 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the yles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

13 So will I make mine holy Name knownen in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, the holy One of Israel.

14 Behold, it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

15 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall goe forth, and shall burne, and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shields & bucklers, vpon the bowes and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the stauies in their handes, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seven yeres.

16 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forrests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, & they shall rob those that robbed them, and spoyle those that spoiled them, saith the Lord God.

17 And at that same time will I giue vnto Gog a place there for buriall in Israel, even in the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by to stop their noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of Hamon Gog.

18 And seven moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

19 Yea, all the people of the land shall bury them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.

20 And they shall chuse out men to go continually eborow the land with them that trauel to bury those that remaine vpon the ground, to cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seven months.

21 And the traitors that passe thorow the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, til the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon Gog.

22 And also the name of the city shall be Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

23 And thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beastes of the fildes, Assemble your selues and come: gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice: for I do sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate flesh, and drinke blood.

24 Ye shall eat the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the wethers, of the lambs, and of the goats, and of bullocks, even of all fat beasts of Bashan.

25 And ye shall eat fat till you be full, and drinke blood till yee bee drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

26 Thus yee shall be filled at my table with horses and charets, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

27 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement that I haue executed, and mine hand which I haue laide vpon them.

28 So the house of Israel shall know, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth.

29 And the heathen shall know, that the house of Israel went into captivity for their iniquity, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

30 According to their transgressions, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

31 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Now will I bring againe the captivity of Iacob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ialous for mine holy Name.

32 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

33 When I haue brought them againe from the people, & gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am sanctified in them, in the sight of many nations, 34 Then shall they know that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there.

35 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

IN the five and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon me, and brought me thither.

1 Into the land of Israel brought hee mee by a diuine vision, and set mee vpon a very high mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South.

2 And he brought me thither, and behold, there was a man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a lianen threed in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

3 And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, & heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest vnto the house of Israel.

4 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reed to measure with of fixe cubites long by the cubit, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the building with one reed, and the height with one reed.

5 Then came hee vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the poste of the gate, which was one reed broad, and the other poste of the gate, which was one reed broad.

6 And euery chamber was one reed long, & one reed broad, and betweene the chambers were fixe cubits, and the poste of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reed.

7 He measured also the porch of the gate within with one reed,

Or, of the multitude of Gog.

Or, multitude.

Chap. 16. 23.

Or, with ones of God.

Or, three fold. Or, offer P. 116.

9 Then measured hee the porch of the gate of eight cubits, and the posts thereof of two cubits, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the posts had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And hee measured the breadth of the entry of the gate ten cubits, and the height of the gate thirteene cubits.

12 The space also before the chamber was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were six cubits on this side, and six cubites on that side.

13 He measured then the gate from the rooffe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was five and twenty cubits, doore against doore.

14 He made also posts of threecore cubits, and the posts of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fifty cubites.

16 And there were narrow windowes in the chambers, and in their posts within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes were round about within: and vpon the posts were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought hee mee into the outward court, and loe there were chambers, and a panement made for the court round about, and thirty chambers were vpon the panement.

18 And the panement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the panement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubits Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fifty cubites, and the breadth five and twenty cubites.

22 And their windowes, and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looked toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seven steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood ouer against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and hee measured from gate to gate an hundred cubits.

24 After that he brought me toward the South, and loe there was a gate toward the South, and hee measured the posts thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth five and twenty cubites.

26 And there were seven steps to goe vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the post thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and hee measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubits.

28 And hee brought me into the inner court by the South gate, and he measured the South gate according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fifty cubits long and five and twenty cubits broad.

30 And the arches round about were five and twenty cubits long, and five cubits broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the vnter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Again he brought me into the inner court toward the East, and hee measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the vnter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After he brought me to the North gate, and measured it according to these measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the posts thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the vnter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

38 And curry chamber, and the entry thereof was vnder the posts of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side which was at the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables, whereupon they slew their sacrifices.

42 And the four tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering of a cubite and a halfe long, and a cubit and a halfe broad, and one cubit high: whereupon also they layd the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the fingers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, having the prospect toward the North.

45 And he said vnto mee, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priests, that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priests that haue the charge to keepe the Altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Levi, which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court, an hundred cubits long, & an hundred cubits broad, euen fouresquare: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house and measured the posts of the porch five cubits on this side, & five cubits on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubits on this side, and three cubits on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleven cubits, and hee brought me by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple, and the other things thereto belonging.

Afterward hee brought mee to the Temple, and measured the postes six cubits broad on the one side, and six cubits broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entry was ten cubits and the sides of the entry were five cubits on the one side, and five cubits on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof forty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits.

3 Then went he in, and measured the postes of the entry two cubits, and the entry six cubits, and the breadth of the entry seven cubits.

4 So hee measured the length thereof twenty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits before the Temple: and hee said vnto mee, This is the most Holy place.

5 After he measured the wall of the house six cubits, and the breadth of every chamber four cubits, round about the house on euery side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirty foote high, and they entered into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might bee fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting vpward to the chambers: for the faire of the house was mounting vpward round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the middes.

8 I saw also the house high round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of sixe great cubits.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without was five cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the wide-nesse of twenty cubits round about the house on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubits round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was seuen cubits broad, and the wall of the building was five cubits thicke round about, and the length nine cubits.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubits long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundred cubits long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundred cubits.

15 And hee measured the length of the building

ouer against the separate place which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundred cubits with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And from aboue the doore vnto the inner house, and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made through all the house round about.

20 From the ground vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuary.

22 The Altar of wood was three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubits, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said vnto me, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets; two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thick planks vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes & palme trees on the one side and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke planks.

CHAP. XLIII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests and the holy things.

Then brought he me into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and he brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubits was the North doore, and it was fifty cubits broad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubits, which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pavement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallery of ten cubits wide, and within was a way of one cubit, and their doores toward the North.

5 Now the chambers aboue were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, so wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath, and from the middlemost, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront

front of the chambers, was fifty cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vnder court was fifty cubits, and loe, before the Temple was an hundred cubits.

9 And vnder these chambers was the entry on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thickeſſe of the wall of the court toward the East, ouer against the ſeparate place, and ouer againſt the building.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the North as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their faſhions and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, as the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then ſaid he vnto me, The North chambers and the South chambers, which are before the ſeparate place, they be holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approach vnto the Lord ſhall eate the moſt holy things: there ſhall they lay the moſt holy things, and the meat offering, and the ſinne offering, and the treſpaſſe offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they ſhall not goe out of the holy place into the vnder court, but there they ſhall lay their garments wherein they miniſter: for they are holy, and ſhall put on other garments, and ſo ſhall approach to thoſe things which are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of meaſuring the inner houſe, he brought mee forth toward the gate whoſe proſpect is toward the East, and meaſured it round about.

16 He meaſured the Eaſt ſide with the meaſuring rod, ſixe hundred reedes, euen with the meaſuring reed round about.

17 He meaſured alſo the North ſide, ſixe hundred reedes, euen with the meaſuring reed round about.

[Or, wind]

18 And he meaſured the South ſide ſixe hundred reedes with the meaſuring reede.

19 He turned about alſo to the Weſt ſide, & meaſured ſixe hundred reedes with the meaſuring reed.

20 He meaſured it by the ſoure ſides: it had a wall round about, ſixe hundred reedes long, and ſixe hundred broad, to make a ſeparation betwene the Sanctuary, and the profane place.

CHAPTER XLIII.

2 He ſeeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatry of the children of Iſrael, for the which they were conſumed and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

Afterward he brought me to the gate, even the A gate that turneth toward the Eaſt.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Iſrael came from out of the Eaſt, whoſe voyce was like a noiſe of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

Chap. 9.3.

3 And the viſion which I ſaw was like the viſion, euen as the viſion that I ſaw when I came to deſtroy the citie: and the viſions were like the viſion that I ſaw by the river Chebar: and I fell vpon my face.

4 And the glory of the Lord came into the houſe by the way of the gate whoſe proſpect is toward the Eaſt.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp, and brought mee into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the houſe.

6 And I heard one ſpeaking vnto me out of the houſe: and thereſtood a man by me,

7 Which ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the ſoles of my ſeete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Iſrael for ever, and the houſe of Iſrael ſhall no more deſile mine holy Name, neither they nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeiſes of their kings in their high places.

8 Albeit they ſet their thresholds by my thresholds, and their poſts by my poſtes (for there was but a wall betwene me and them) yet haue they deſiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue conſumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, & the carkeiſes of their kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou ſonne of man, ſhew this houſe to the houſe of Iſrael, that they may be aſhamed of their wickedneſſe, and let them meaſure the paterne.

11 And if they be aſhamed of all that they haue done, ſhew them the forme of the houſe, and the paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole faſhion thereof, and all the ordinance thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof, and write it in their ſight, that they may keepe the whole faſhion thereof, and all the ordinance thereof, and doe them.

12 This is the deſcription of the houſe, as ſhall be vpon the top of the mount: all the limits thereof round about ſhall be moſt holy. Behold, this is the deſcription of the houſe.

13 And theſe are the meaſures of the altar, after the cubits, the cubit is a cubit and an handbreadth, euen the bottoome ſhall be a cubit, and the breadth a cubit, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about ſhall be a ſquare: and this ſhall be the height of the Altar.

14 And from the bottoome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece ſhall be two cubits, and the breadth one cubit, and from the little piece to the great piece ſhall be ſoure cubits, and the breadth one cubit.

15 So the altar ſhall be ſoure cubits, and from the Altar vpward ſhall be ſoure hornes.

16 And the Altar ſhall be twelve cubits long, and twelue broad, and ſoure ſquare in the ſoure corners thereof.

17 And the frame ſhall be ſoueteene cubits long, and ſoueteene broad in the ſoure ſquare corners thereof, and the border about it ſhall be halfe a cubit, and the bottoome thereof ſhall be a cubit about, and the ſteps thereof ſhall be turned toward the Eaſt.

18 ¶ And he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, thus ſaith the Lord God, Theſe are the ordinances of the Altar in the day when they ſhall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and ſo ſprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou ſhalt giue to the Priests, and to the Leuites, that be of the ſeed of Zadoc which approach vnto me to miniſter vnto me, ſaith the Lord God, a young bullocke for a ſinne offering.

20 And thou ſhalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the ſoure hornes of it, and on the ſoure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus ſhalt thou cleaſe it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou ſhalt take the bullock alſo of the ſinne offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the houſe without the Sanctuary.

22 But the ſecond day thou ſhalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering and they shall cleanse the Altar as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a young bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, and the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering to the Lord.

25 Seven dayes shalt thou prepare every day an hee goat for a sinne offering: they shall also prepare a young bullocke, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

26 Thus shall they seven dayes purifie the Altar, and cleanse it, and † consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day, and sofoeth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings vpon the Altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reprooueth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the seruice of the Temple, and who to be refused.

Then hee brought me toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, as it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord vnto me, This gate shall be shut, and shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entered by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It appertaineth to the prince, the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eate bread before the Lord: hee shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought he me toward the North gate before the house: and when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

5 And the Lord said vnto mee, Some of man, † marke well, and behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares al that I say vnto thee concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entering in of the house with euery going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euens to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue ynough of all your abominations.

7 Seeing that ye haue brought into my Sanctuary, strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine house, when ye offer my bread, euens latte and blood: and they haue broken my covenent, because of all your abominations.

8 For ye haue not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set other to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel.

10 Neither yet the Leuitest that are gone backe from me, when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idols, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the house, and minister in the house, they shall slay the burnt offering, and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie, therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquitie.

13 And they shall not come neere vnto me, to do the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame, and their abominations which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the house for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Leuites, the soanes of Zadock that kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from mee, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my Table to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall bee clothed with linnen garments, and nowool shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonnets vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breches vpon their loynes: they shall not gird themselves in the sweating places.

19 But when they goe forth into the vtter court, euens to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people with their garments.

20 They shall not also shau their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long euens round their heads.

21 * Neither shall any Priest drinke wine when Leu. 10. 9. they enter into the inner court.

22 Neither shall they take for their * wives a widow, or her that is divorced: but they shall take Leuit. 21. 13, 14. maidens of the seede of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest.

23 And they shall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and profane, and cause them to discern betweene the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in countenance they shall stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my Lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.

25 * And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselves, except at their father or mother, or son, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband: Leuit. 21. 1, 2, 3, 4. in these may they be defiled.

26 And when he is cleansed, they shall reckon vnto him seven dayes.

27 And when he goeth into the Sanctuary vnto the inner court, to minister in the Sanctuary, hee shall offer his sinne offering, saith the Lord God.

28 * And the Priesthood shall be their inheritance, Deut. 18. 1, 2. I am their inheritance: therefore shall yee giue them no possession in Israel, for I am their possession.

29 They shall eate the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering, and euery Leu. 13. 2 & 22. 29. dedicate thing in Israel shall be theirs.

30 * And all the first of all the first borne, & euery Leu. 22. 29 & 23. 19 oblation, euens of euery sort of your oblations shall be the Priests. Ye shall also giue vnto the Priest Leu. 22. 29 the the first of your dough, that wee may canse the blessing to rest in thine house.

C H A P. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise as a shere separate foure portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priests and so the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the prince. 2 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights & measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.

Moreouer, when ye shall diuידe the land for inheritance, yee shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord, an holy portion of the land five and twentie thousand reeds long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

3 Of this there shall bee for the Sanctuary five hundred in length, with five hundred in breadth all square round about, and fifty cubits round about for the suburbs thereof.

4 And of this measure shall thou measure the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand: and it shall be the Sanctuary and the most holy place.

5 The holy portion of the land shall be the Priests which minister in the Sanctuary, which come neere to serue the Lord: and it shall bee a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

6 And in the five & twentie thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth, shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twenty chambers.

7 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the citie, five thousand broad and five and twenty thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

8 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

9 In this land shall be his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppress my people, and they of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it suffice you, O Princes of Israel: leaue off cruelty and oppression, and execute iudgment and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, saith the Lord God.

11 Ye shall haue iust ballances, and a true ephah, and a true bath.

12 The ephah and the bath shall be equal: a bath shall containe the tenth part of an homer, and an ephah the tenth part of an homer: the equality thereof shall be after the homer.

Exod. 30. 13 * And the shekel shall be twentie gerahs, and
31. leuit. twentie shekels and five and twentie shekels, and
37. 35. fiftie shekels shall be your maneh.

Num. 3. 47 14 * This is the oblation that yee shall offer, the fixt part of an ephah of an homer of wheate, and yee shall giue the fixt part of an ephah of an homer of barley.

15 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euen of the bath of oyle, yee shall offer the tenth part of a bath out of the Cor (ten baths are an homer: for ten baths fill an homer.)

16 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meat offering, and for a burnt offering, and for peace offerings to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

17 All the people of the land shall giue this oblation for the prince in Israel.

18 And it shall be the Princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meate offerings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts, and in the new moones, and in the Sabbaths and in all the high feasts of the house of Israel, he shall prepare the fume offering, and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

19 Thus saith the Lord God, In the first month, in the first day of the month thou shalt take a young bullocke without blemish, and cleanse the Sanctuary.

20 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the fume offering, and put it vpon the postes of the house, and vpon the four corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court.

21 And so shalt thou doe the seventh day of the month for euerie one that hath erred, and for him that is deceived, so shall you reconcile the house.

22 * In the first month in the fourteenth day of the month, yee shall haue the Pascheuer, a feast of seven dayes, and ye shall eate vneleavened bread.

23 And vpon that day shall the Prince prepare for himselfe, and for all the people of the land a bullocke for a fume offering.

24 And in the seven dayes of the feast, hee shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, euen of seven bullocks, and seven rams without blemish daily for seven dayes, and an hee goat daily for a fume offering.

25 And hee shall prepare a meate offering of an ephah for a bullocke, an ephah for a ramme, and an hin of oyle for an ephah.

26 In the seventh month, in the fifteenth day of the month, shall hee doe the like in the feast for seven dayes, according to the sin offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meate offering, and according to the oyle.

C H A P. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath, and of the new Moones. 8 Thorow which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

Thus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall be shut the sixe working dayes, but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new Moone it shall be opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after hee shall goe forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entry of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths and in the new Moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the Prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day, shall be sixe lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish.

5 And the meate offering shall be an ephah for a ram: and the meate offering for the lambs a gi't of his hand, and an hin of oyle to an ephah.

6 And in the day of the new Moone, it shall be a young bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambs and a ram: they shall be without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meate offering, euen an ephah for a bullocke, and an ephah for a ram: and for the lambes according as his hand shall bring an him of oyle to an ephah.

8 And when the Prince shall enter, he shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solempne feasts, hee that entereth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and hee that entereth by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate, hee shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in, but they shall goe forth over against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the mids of them: he shall goe in when they goe in, and when they goe forth they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solempnities, the meate offering shall be an Ephah to a bullocke, and an ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes the gift of his hand, and an hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a free burnt offering, or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate that turneth towards the East, and he shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, as hee did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the fixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shall be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering and the oyle, euery morning for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if hee giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruantes, then it shall bee his to the yeere of libertie: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

18 Moreover the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession, but hee shall cause his sonnes to inherite of his owne possession, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession.

19 ¶ After hee brought mee thorow the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests which stood toward the North, and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then said he vnto me, This is the place where the Priests shall see the trespass offering, and the fine offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the vter court, to sanctifie the people.

21 Then hee brought mee forth into the vter court, and caused me to goe by the square corners of the court, and beholde, in euery corner of the court there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourtie cubites long, and thirtie broad: these square corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wall about them, even about those toure and kitchins were made vnder the wals round about.

24 Then said hee vnto mee, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall see the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters that came out of the Temple. 23. The coast of the land of promise, and the division thereof by tribes.

AFTERWARD hee brought me vnto the doore of the Altar: and behold, waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stood toward the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the Altar.

2 Then brought he mee out toward the North gate, and led mee about by the way without vnto the vter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and hee brought mee thorow the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, & brought mee thorow the waters: the waters were to the knees: again he measured a thousand, & brought mee thorow: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a river that I could not passe over: for the waters were risen, and the water did flow as a river that could not be passed over.

6 And hee laid vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused mee to returne to the brinke of the river.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the river were very many trees on the one side & on the other.

8 Then said he vnto me, These waters issue out towards the East country, and run downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one sea: they shall run into another sea, and the waters shall be wholesome.

9 And euery thing that lieth, which moneth, where soeuer the rivers shall come, shall liue: and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall bee wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the river cometh.

10 And then the fishers shall stand vp n it, and from En-gedi euē vnto En-gelaim shall they spread out their nets: for their fish shall bee according to their kinds, as the fish of the maine Sea, exceeding many.

11 But the myrie places thereof and the marishes thereof shall not be wholesome: they shall be made salt-pits.

12 And by this river vpon the brinke thereof on this side and on that side shall grow all fruitfull trees, whose lease shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be meat, and the lease thereof shall be for medicine. Or for fruites and forest.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shall be the border whereby ye shall inherite the land according to the twelue tribes of * Israel: Ioseph shall haue Gen. 48. 22.

14 And yee shall inherite one as well as another * concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you for inheritance. Gen. 17. 7 and 18. 15. and 26. 4. and 29. 4.

15 And this shall bee the border of the land toward the North side, from the maine sea toward Hethlon as men goe to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berorah, Sibpaim, which is betwene the the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath: and Hazar, Marticon which is by the coast of Hamath.

17 And the border from the sea, shall be Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North Northward, & the border of Hamath: so shall be the North part.

18 But the East side shall ye measure from Hamath, and from Damascus, & from Gilead, and from the sheland of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the South side shall be toward Teman from Tamar to the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and the river to the maine sea: so shall be the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shall be the West part.

21 So shall ye diuise this land vnto you according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuise it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, & to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, they shall part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temp's, of the Levites, of the citie, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

Now these are the names of the tribes. From the North side, to the coast toward Hethlen, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward, the coast of Hamath, even from the East side to the West shall be a portion for Dan.

1 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side a portion for Asher.

2 And by the border of Asher from the East part even vnto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

3 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

4 And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

5 And by the border of Ephraim from the East part even vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

6 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

7 And by the border of Iudah, from the East part vnto the West part shall be the offering, which they shall offer of fine and twentie thousand reeds broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuary shall be in the mids of it.

8 The oblation that ye shall offer vnto the Lord, shall be of fine and twenty thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

9 And for them, even for the Priests, shall be this holy oblation toward the North, fine & twentie thousand long, and toward the West ten thousand broad, and toward the East tenne thousand broad, and toward the South fine and twenty thousand long, and the Sanctuary of the Lord shall be in the mids thereof.

10 It shall be for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray.

11 Therefore this oblation of the lande that is offered, shall be theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

12 And ouer against the border of the Priests, the Levites shall haue fine & twenty thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be fine and twenty thousand, & the breadth ten thousand.

13 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

14 And the fine thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fine and twenty thousand shall be a prophane place for the citie, for hausing and for suburbs, and the citie shall be in the mids thereof.

15 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part fine hundred and four thousand, & the South part fine hundred and four thousand, and the East part fine hundred and four thousand, and the West part fine hundred and four thousand.

16 And the suburbs of the citie shall be toward the North two hundred and fiftie, and toward the South two hundred and fiftie, and toward the East two hundred and fiftie, and toward the West two hundred and fiftie.

17 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shall be ten thousand Eastward, and ten thousand Westward, and it shall be ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food vnto them that serue in the citie.

18 And they that serue in the citie shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

19 All the oblation shall be fine and twenty thousand with fine and twenty thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the citie.

20 And the residue shall be for the prince on the one side, and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the city ouer against the fine and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, & Westward ouer against the fine & twenty thousand toward the West border, ouer against shall be for the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shall be in the mids thereof.

21 Moreover from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the city, that which is in the mids, shall be the princes: betweene the border of Iudah, and between the border of Benjamin shall be the princes.

22 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part Benjamin shall be a portion.

23 And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side vnto the West side, Simeon a portion.

24 And by the border of Simeon, from the East part vnto the West part, Issachar a portion.

25 And by the border of Issachar, from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

26 And by the border of Zebulun, from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

27 And by the border of Gad at the South side toward Temath, the border shall be euen from Tamar vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the river that runneth into the maine sea.

28 This is the land which ye shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

29 And these are the bounds of the citie, on the North side fine hundred, and four thousand measures.

32 And the gates of the citie shall be after names of the tribes of Israel, 7 gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, & one gate of Levi.

33 And at the East side five hundredth and foure thousand, and three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

34 And at the South side five hundredth and foure thousand measures, and three ports, one gate of Si-moon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

35 At the West side, five hundredth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Acher, and one gate of Naphtali.

OF DANIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe great providence of God, and his singular mercie towards his Church are most fully beere set forth, who neuer leaueh his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Daniel and Daniel, whom he adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel about all other had most speciall remissions of such things as should come to the Church, even from the time that they were in captiuitie to the last end of the world, and to the general resurrection, as of the foure Monarchies and Empires of all the world, so wit of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, and Romanes. Also of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Christ, when all Ceremonies and Sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplisment thereof: moreover he sheweth Christs office, and the cause of his death, which was, by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euermlasting life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he will still leaue this exercise to his Church vntill the death rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdom in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, 4 The King chooseth certaine young men of the Iewes to learne his Law. 5 They haue the kings ordinary appointed. 6 But they abstaine from it.

N the third yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel vnto Ierusalem, and besieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God, which he caried into the land of Shinar, to the house of his god, and hee brought the vessels into his godstreasure.

3 And the king spake vnto Ashpenaz, the master of the Eunuches, that hee should bring certaine of the children of Israel the Kings feede and of the the Princes:

4 Children in whom was no blemish, but well fauoured, and instructed in all wisdom, & well scene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and such as were able to stand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the learning, & the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed them prouision euery day of a portion of the kings meate, and of the wine which hee dranke, to nourish them three yeeres, that at the end thereof they might stand before the king.

6 Now among these were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

7 Vnto whom the chiefe of the Eunuches gaue other names: for he called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, Meshach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 But Daniel had determined in his heart, that he would not defile himselfe with the portion of the kings meate, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore hee required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not defile himselfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fauour and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches saide vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if hee see your faces worse liking then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall you make me lesse mine head vnto the king.

11 Then said Daniel to Melzar, whome the chiefe of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Proue thy seruants, I beseeche thee, ten daies, and let them giue vs pulse to eate, and water to drinke.

13 They let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eat of the portion of the kings meate: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruants.

14 So hee consented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.

15 And at the end of ten daies their countenances appeared fairer, and in better liking then all the childrens which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate and the wine that they should drinke, and gaue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge and vnderstanding in all learning and wisdom: also he gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all visions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was expired that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchadnezzar.

19 And the king commanded with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.

20 And in all matters of wisdom and vnderstanding that the king enquired of them, hee found them ten times better then all the inchanters and Astrologians that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto the first yeere of king Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchadnezzar. 23 The King commendeth all the wifemen of Babylon to bee slaine, because they could not interpret his dreames. 16 Daniel requirath time to solute the question. 24 Daniel brought vnto the King, and sheweth him his dreames.

dreams, and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the everlasting kingdoms of Christ.

And in the second yere of the reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed dreams, wherewith his spirit was troubled, and his sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the King commanded to call the inchanters and the Astrologians, and the Sorcerers, and the Caldians for to shew the king his dreames: so they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king laide vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldians to the king in the Aramites language, O king, line for euer: shew thy seruants the dreame, and wee shall shew the interpretation.

5 And the king answered and said to the Caldians, The thing is gone from me. If yee will not make mee vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shalbe drawn in pieces, and your houses shalbe made a takes.

6 But if ye declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of mee gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame, and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe and said, Let the King shew his seruants the dreame, and wee will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered, and said, I knowe certainly that ye would gaine the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for yee haue prepared lying and corrupt words to speake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell mee the dreame, that I may know, if yee can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldians answered before the king and said, There is no man vpon earth that can declare the kings matter: yea, there is neither King, nor prince, nor lord that asked such things at an inchanter, or Astrologian, or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not, with flesh.

12 For this cause the King was angry, and in great fury, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they sought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsell and wisdom to Arioch the Kings chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wisemen of Babel.

15 ¶ Hee answered, and said vnto Arioch the kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hasty from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that hee would giue him leasure, and that hee would shew the king the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house, and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah his companions.

18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secret spiciled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: wherefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said, ¶ The Name Psal. 113. of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisdom and strength are his.

21 And he changeth the times and seasons: hee taketh away kings: he setteth vp kings: hee giueth wisdom vnto the wise, & vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 He discovereth the deepe and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darkenesse, and the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisdom and strength, and hast shewed me now the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the kings matter.

24 Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the king had ordained to destroy the wise men of Babel: hee went and said thus vnto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the King, and I will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dreame which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded, can neither the wise, the Astrologians, the inchanters, nor the soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in heauen, that revealeth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchad-nezzar, what shall be in the latter dayes. The dreame, and the thing which thou hast seene in thine head, vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O king, when thou wast in thy bed, though he came into thy minde, what should come to passe hee realter, and he that revealeth secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30 As for me, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisdom that I haue more then any other liuing, but only to shew the king the interpretation, & that thou mightest know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and behold, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine gold, his breast and his armes of silver, his belly and his thighs of brasse.

33 His legges of yron, and his feete were part of yron and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his feete: that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the silver and the golde broken altogether, and became like the chaffe of the Summer floures, & the winde carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare before the king the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a Kings of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuenthee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory.

39 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen hath bee giuen into thine hand, god hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, inferior to thee, of silver, and another third kingdome shall be of braile, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall bee strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces and subdueth all things, and as yron subdueth all these things, so shall it breake in pieces and bruiſe all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shall be diuided, but there shall be in it the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome bee partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixt with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which shall neuer bee destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be giuen to another people, but it shall breake and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest that the stone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the braile, the clay, the silver and the gold: so the great God hath shewed the King what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, & commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Alſo the king answered vnto Daniel, & said, I know of a truth that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reuealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniela great man, & gaue him many and great gifts. He made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel made request to the king, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel saie in the gate of the king.

CHAPTER III.

1 The king setteth vp a golden image. 2 Certaine are accused because they despised the kings commandments, and are put into a burning oven. 3 By helpe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26. Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

Nebuchad-nezzar the king made an image of gold, whose height was threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof sixe cubits: hee set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent forth to gather together the Nobles, the princes, and the dukes, the iudges, the receiueurs, the counsellors, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receiueurs the counsellors, the officers, & all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cryed aloud, Be it knowne to you, O people, nations, and languages,

5 That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, ye fall downe and worship the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoever falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the mids of an hote fiery fornace.

7 Therefore as soone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and all instruments of musick, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grievously scolded the Iewes.

9 For they spake and said to the king, Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, haue for cuer.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, That euery man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, shall fall downe and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the mids of an hot fiery fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednego: so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worshipspe the golden image that I haue set vp?

15 Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, & all instruments of musike, to fall downe, and worship the image which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, ye shall bee cast immediately into the mids of an hot fiery fornace: for who is that God that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego answered and said to the king, O Nabuchad-nezzar, wee are not carefull to answer thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom wee serue is able to deliuer vs from the hote fiery fornace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it knowne vnto thee, O king, that we will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commanded that they should heat the fornace at once seuen times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, and to cast them into the hot fiery fornace.

21 So these men were bound in their coats, their hosen and their clothes, with their other garments, and cast into the mids of the hote fiery fornace.

22 Therefore, because the kings commandment was strait, that the fornace should bee exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the mids of the hote fiery fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king was astonished and rose vp in haste, and spake, and sayd vnto his counsellors, Did not wee cast three men bound into the mids of the fire? Who answered and sayd vnto the King, It is true, O King.

25 And hee answered, and said, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the Sonce of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fiery fornace, and spake, and said, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the seruants of the high God, goe forth, and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came forth of the mids of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the Kings counsellors came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burne, neither were their coats changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commandement, and yielded their bodies, rather then they would serue or worship any god, save their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be drawn in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no God that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar king, vnto all people, nations, and languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied vnto you.

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the high God hath wrought toward mee.

33 How great are his signes, and how mightie are his wonders: his kingdome is an euertlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 2 The Prophet declareth how of a proud King hee should become as a beast. 31 After hee confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

I Nebuchad-nezzar being at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Saw a dreame, which made me afraid, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before mee, that they might declare vnto mee the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans, and the soothsayers, to whom I told the dreame, but they could not shew mee the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I told the dreame, (gmg)

6 O Belteshazzar chiefe of the inchanters, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell mee the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed: and behold I saw a tree in the mids of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and thoo, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The bough thereof was faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heauen dwelt in the boughs thereof, and all beasts fed of it.

10 I sawe in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and behold, a watchman, and an Holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cryed aloud, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruit, that the beasts may flee from vnder it, and the fowles from his branches.

12 Neuertheless, leaue the stumpe of his roots in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse bind it among the grass of the field, and let it bee wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts among the grass of the field.

13 Let his heart bee changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart be giuen vnto him, and let seven times be passed ouer him.

14 The sentence is according to the decree of the watchman, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that lining men may knowe that the most High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whom soeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abied among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shew mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the Spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) held his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the king spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered and said, My lord, the dreame becom to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mighty, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof thorow all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beasts of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the fowles of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O King, that art great and mighty: for thy greatnes is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the King sawe a watchman, and an Holy one that came downe from heauen, and said, Hew downe the tree, and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe stump of the roots thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasle blade is among the grasse of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, till seven times passe ouer him.

31 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King.

32 That they shall drie thee from men, and thy dwelling shall bee with the beasts of the field, they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heauen, and seven times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowe, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giue it to whomsoeuer he will.

33 Whereas they said, that one should leaue the stump of the tree, roots: thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that thou shalt knowe that the heuens haue the rule.

34 Wherefore, O King let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and breake off thy finnes by righteousness, and thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: loe, let there bee an healing of thine error.

35 All these things shall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

36 ¶ At the end of twelue moneths, hee walked in the royall palace of Babel.

37 And the king spake, and said, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

38 While the word was in the kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, thy kingdome is departed from thee.

39 Add they shall drie thee from men, and thy dwelling shall bee with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the oxen, and seven times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giue it vnto whomsoeuer he will.

40 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heauen, till his haire was grown as Eagles feathers, and his nailes like birds claws.

41 And at the end of these dayes, I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, & I gaue thanks vnto the most High, and I prayed and honoured him that liueth for euer, whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

42 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his will hee worketh in the armie of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What dost thou?

43 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, & I returned to the honour of my kingdome, my glory and my beauty was restored vnto me, and my counsellors and my princes sought vnto me: and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.

44 Now therefore, I Nebuchad-nezzar praise and extoll, and magnifie the king of heauen, whose works are all truth, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar king of Babylon seeth a band writing on the wall, & The soothsayers called of the king, cannot expound the writing. 29 Daniel readeth it, and interprets it also. 30 The king is stricken. 31 Darius enuoyeth the eunuchs.

King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the thousand.

2 And Belshazzar while he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the king and his princes, his wines and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the king and his princes, his wines and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine, and praised the gods of gold and of siluer, of brasle, of yron, of wood, and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlesticke vpon the plaiter of the wall of the kings palace, and the king saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the loyns of his loynes were loosed, and his knees smote one against another.

7 Wherefore the King cried loude, that they should bring the Astrologians, the Caldeans, and the soothsayers. And the king spake, and said to the wise men of Babel, Whosoever can read this writing, and declare mee the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of gold about his necke, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were sstonied.

10 Now the Queene by reason of the talke of the King and his princes came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and said, O King, I beseech thee: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, but let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light, and vnderstanding, and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods was found in him: whom the king Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the inchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, and soothsayers.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding, (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were found in him, even in Daniel, whome the King named Belshazzar: now let Daniel bee called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake, and said vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captivity of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of lewry.

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding, and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wise men and Astrologians haue been brought before me, that they should reade this writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof: but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

Cha. 7. 14
mca. 4. 7
like 1. 33

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldst shew interpretations, and dissolve doubts: now if thou wast made the writing, & shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, & shalt have a chaine of gold about thy necke, and shalt bee the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and sayd before the King, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will read the writing vnto the king, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou, The most high God giue vnto Nabuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiesty, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiesty that he gaue: all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: he put to death whom he would, he smote whom he would, whom he would he set vp, & whom he would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed vp, and his mind hardened in pride, he was depozed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And hee was drinen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, & his dwelling was with y wild asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the heauen, til he knew that the most hie God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that hee appointeth ouer it whomsoever he pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things:

23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou & thy princes, thy wines and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer, and golde, of brasse, yron, wood, and stone, which neither see, neither heare nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is, and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath writte this writing.

25 And this is the writing that he hath written: MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weighed in the balance, and art found too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commaundement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of gold about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the King of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore and two yere old.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made a valer ouer the gouernours. 5 An alle against Daniel. 16 He is put into a den of lions by the commaundements of the king. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome an hundred and twenty gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accounts vnto them, and the king should haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, & the king sought to set him ouer the whole realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers & gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then said these men, We shall not find an occasion against this Daniel, except we find it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and said thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for ever.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors & dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the king, and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall aske a petition of any god or man within thirty dayes, salue of thee, O king, he shall be cast into the den of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, & stile the writing that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius sealed the writing, and the decree.

10 Now when Daniel vnderstood that hee had sealed the writing, he went into his house, & his window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, hee kneeled vpon his knees threentimes a day, and prayed, and praised his God as he did ascerime.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came and spake vnto the King concerning the Kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, That euery man that shall make request to any God or man within thirty dayes, salue to thee, O King, shall be cast into the denne of lions? The King answered, and sayd, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and said vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captivity of Iudah regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition threentimes a day.

14 When the king heard these words, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel to deliuer him, and he laboured till the Sunne went downe to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king and said vnto the king, Vnderstand, O king, if the law of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth may be altered.

16 Then the king commanded, & they brought Daniel, and cast him into the den of lions: now the King spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Thy God whom thou alway seruest, can he deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layd vpon the mouth of the den, & the king sealed it with his own signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed concerning Daniel.

18 Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musick brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the den of lions.

20 And when he came to the den, hee cried with a lamentable voice vnto Daniel, and the king spake and said to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the lining God, is not thy God, (whom thou alway seruett), able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then said Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel, & hath shut the lions mouthes: that they haue not hurt me: for my iustice was found out before him, and vnto thee, O king, I haue done no hurt.

23 Then was the King exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the den: so Daniel was brought out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found vpon him, because he belonned in his God.

24 And by the commandement of the King these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were cast into the den of lions, and they, the children, and their wiues: and the lions had the mastery of them, and brake all their bones a peeces, or euer they came at the ground of the den.

25 ¶ Afterward King Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations, and languages that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all y^e dominion of my kingdom, men tremble and feare before the God of Daniel: for he is the liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdom shall not perishe, and his dominion shall be euermlasting.

27 He rescuerth and deliuereth, and hee worketh signes & wonder in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius, and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

CHAP. VII.

A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The ten hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euermlasting kingdome of Christ

IN the first yere of Belshazzar king of Babel, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head vpon his bed: and he wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

1 Daniel spake, and said, I sawe in my vision by night, and behold, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon the great sea:

2 And foure great beasts came vp from the sea, one differs from another.

3 The first was as a lion, and had egles wings: I beheld till the wings thereof were plucked off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feet as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

4 And behold, another beast, which was the second, was like a beare, & stood vpon the one side: and hee had three ribbes in his mouth betwene his teeth: & they sayd thus vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much fl. sh.

5 After this I beheld, and loe, there was another like a leopard, which had vpon his back foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and dominion was giuen him.

6 After this, I saw in the visions by night, and behold, the fourth beast was fearefull and terrible, and very strong, it had great yron teeth: it deuoured and brake in peeces, and stamped the residue vnder his feet: and it was vnlike the beasts that were before it: for it had ten hornes.

7 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another little horne, before whome there were three of the first hornes plucked away: and behold, in this horne were eyes like the eyes of a man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

8 I beheld, till the thrones were set vp, and the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, & the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheels as burning fire.

9 A fiery streame issued and came forth before him: thousand thousands ministered vnto him, & ten thousand thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the booke opened.

10 Then I beheld, because of the voice of the presumptuous words which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

11 As concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion, yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

12 ¶ As I beheld in visions by night, behold, one like the Son of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

13 And he gaue him dominion and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euermlasting dominion which shall neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

14 ¶ Daniel was troubled in my spirit, in the middle of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

15 Therefore I came vnto one of them that stood by, & asked him the truth of all this: so he told me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things.

16 Their great beasts which are foure, are foure kings, which shall arise out of the earth.

17 And they shall take the kingdome of the saints of the most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

18 ¶ After this I would knowe the truth of the fourth beast, which was so vnlike to all the others, very fearefull: whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in peeces, and stamped the residue vnder his feet.

19 Also is knowe of the ten hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose look was more stout then his fellows.

20 I beheld, and the same horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them, 21 Vntill the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

22 Then he sayd, The fourth beast shall bee the fourth kingdome of the earth, which shall be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall tread it downe, and breake it in peeces.

23 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome, are ten kings that shall rise, and another shall rise after them, and he shall be valike the first, and he shall subdue three kings, 24 And shall speake words against the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that he may change times and lawes, & they shall be giuen into his hand vntill a time and times, and the diuiding of time.

25 But the iudgment shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

26 And the kingdome and dominion, & the greatness of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen, shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euermlasting kingdome, and all powers shall serue and obey him.

28. Even this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled me, and my conscience changed in me: but I kept the matter in my heart.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battell between a ramme and a goat. The smother slaying of the bishop.

IN the third yere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee: thus vnto mee Daniel, after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

1. And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the river of Vlai.

2. Then I looked vp, and saw, and beheld, there stood before the river a ram, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were high: but one was higher then another, and the higher came vp last.

3. I saw the ram pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no beast might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

4. And as I considered, behold, a goat came from the West over the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goat had an horse that appeared between his eyes.

5. And he came vnto the ram that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the river, and ran vnto him in his fierce rage.

6. And I saw him come vnto the ram, and being moued against him, he smote the ram, & brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ram to stand against him, but hee cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ram out of his power.

7. Therefore the goat waxed exceeding great, and when hee was at the strongest, his great horn was broken: and for it came vp foure that appeared toward the foure winds of the heauen.

8. And out of one of them came forth a little horn, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land.

9. Yea, it grew vp into the host of heauen, and it cast downe some of the host, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them.

10. And extolled himselfe against the prince of the host, from whom the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast downe.

11. And a time shall be given him over the daily sacrifice for the iniquitie: and it shall cast downe the trueth to the ground, and thus shall it doe, and prosper.

12. Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of thy daily sacrifice, and the iniquity of the desolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the army vnder foot?

13. And he answered me, Vnto the evening, and the morning, two thousand & three hundred: then shall the Sanctuary be clenfed.

14. ¶ Nowe when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, behold, there stood before me like the similitude of a man.

15. And I heard a mans voice between the banks of Vlai, which called and said, Gabriel, make this man vnderstand the vision.

16. So he came where I stood: and when he came I was afraid, and fell vpon my face: but he said vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man, for in the last time shall the vision.

17. Now as he was speaking vnto mee, I being a-leep, fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.

18. And he sayd, Behold, I will shew thee what shall be in the last wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come.

19. The tyme which thou sawest having two hornes, are the kings of the Medes and Persians.

20. And the goat is the king of Grecia, & the great horn that is betweene his eyes, is the first king.

21. And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand vp of that nation, but not in his strength.

22. And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious shall be consumed, a king of fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shall stand vp.

23. And his power shall be mighty, but not in his strength: and he shall destroy wonder fully, and shall prosper, and prouide, and shall destroy the mighty, and the holy people.

24. And thorow his policy also he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand vp against the Prince of princes, but hee shall be broken downe without hand.

25. And the vision of the evening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shall be after many daies.

26. And I Daniel was stricken, and felle certaine dayes: but when I rose vp I did the kings business, and I was astonishd at the vision, but none vnderstood it.

CHAP. IX.

Daniel desireth to haue that persecuted of God, which hee had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel appeareth vnto him the vision of the seuentie weeks. 24 The coming of Christ. 25 The building againe of ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

IN the first yere of Darius the son of Ahasuerus of the seed of the Medes, which was made king over the realme of the Caldeans,

1. Even in the first yere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by books the number of the yeres, whereof the Lorde had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seuentie yeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.

2. And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes,

3. And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, & made my confession, saying, O Lord God, which art great and fearefull, and keepst couenant and mercy toward them which loue thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandments,

4. We haue sinned and haue committed iniquitie, and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

5. For we would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

6. O Lord, righteousnesse belongeth vnto thee, & thou shalt be open shame, as appeareth this day, vnto all men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel both nere and farre off, thorow all the countreies, whether thou hast driven them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs appeare open thine eare, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.

9 Thy compassion & forgiveness is in the Lord our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him.

10 For we haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord our God, to walke in his Lawes, which he had layd before vs by the ministry of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea all Israel haue transgressed thy law, & are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voice: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the oath that is written in the Law of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.

12 And he hath confirmed his wordes, which he spake against vs, & against our Iudges, that I iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bin the like, as hath bin brought vpon Ierusalem, 13 All this plague is come vpon vs as it is written in the law of Moses; yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord thy made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his workes which he doeth: for we would not heare his voice.

15 And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renowne, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy righteousness, I beseech thee, let thine anger & thy wrath be turned away from thy city Ierusalem thine holy mountain: for because of our finnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Now therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lieth waste for the Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare, and heare: open thine eyes, and behold our desolations, and the city wherupon thy name is called: for we do not present our supplications before thee for our owne righteousness, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord heare, O Lord forgive, O Lord consider, and do it: deferre not for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy city, and vpon thy people.

20 And while I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God for the holy mountaine of my God.

21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man Gabriel, whom I had seen before in the vision came flying, and touched me about the time of the evening oblation.

22 And he informed mee, & talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications by commandement came forth, & I am come to shew thee: for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter, and consider the vision.

24 Seventy weekes are determined vpon thy people, and vpon thine holy city, to finish the wickednes, and to seale vp the finnes, and to reconcile the iniquity, and to bring in euerlasting righteousness, and to seale vp the vision and prophesie, and to anoynt the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from the going forth of the commandement, to begin against the people, and to build Ierusalem, vnto Messiah the Prince shall be seuen weekes and threescor, and two weekes, and the streetes shall be builded againe, and the wall, euen in a troublous time.

26 And after threescor and two weekes shall Messiah be slaine, and shall haue nothing, and the people of the Prince that shall come, shall destroy the citie and the Sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be with a flood: and vnto the end of the battell it shall be destroyed by desolations.

27 And he shall confirme the covenant with many for one weeke: and in the mids of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation, so cease, and for the ouer spreading of the abominations, hee shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

CHAP. X.

Ther appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linen, 11. which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

IN the third yere of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was revealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Belteshazzar) and the word was true: but the time appointed was long, and hee vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

1 At the same time, I Daniel was in becalme for three weekes of dayes.

2 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoynt my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

3 And in the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, as I was by the side of the great river, euen Hiddekel,

4 And I lift vp mine eyes, & looked, and behold, there was a man clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold, & a Vphaz.

5 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eyes as Lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voice of his words was like the voice of a multitude.

6 And I Daniel alone sawe the vision: for the men that were with mee, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away, and hid themselves.

7 Therefore I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in mee, for my strength was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no power.

8 Yet heard I the voice of his words: and when I heard the voice of his words, I lepton my face: and my face was toward the ground.

9 And he behelde, as a hand touched me, which set me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands.

10 And he said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when hee had said this word vnto mee, I stood trembling.

11 Then said hee vnto me, Feare not, Daniel: for from the first day that thou didst see thine heart to vnderstand, & to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy words were heard, & I am come for thy words.

12 But the prince of the kingdom of Persia withstood me one and twenty daies: but lo, Michael, one of the chiefe princes came to helpe me, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

13 Now I am come to shewe thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the vision vision a few many dayes.

17 And when he spake these words vnto me, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

18 And behold, one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth and spake, & said vnto him that stood before me, O my Lord, by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon me, and I haue repented no strength.

19 For now can the seruant of his my Lord talke with my Lord, being such one as for as for me, straightway there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in me.

20 Then there came againe and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened mee.

21 And said, O man greatly beloved, feare not: peace be vnto thee: be strong, and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, I was strengthened, and said, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

22 Then he said, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe the Prince of Grecia shall come.

23 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

CHAP. XI.

Prophecie of the kingdomes which shall be euil vnto the Church of God, as of Persia 3 Of Greece, 3 of Egypt, 28 of Syria, 36 and of the Romans.

Alio in the first yere of Darius of the Medes, a flood to encourage & to strengthen him.

2 And now will I shew thee the truth, behold, there shall stand vp yet three kings in Persia, and the fourth shall be farre richer then they all: and by his strength and by his riches he shall stirre vp all against the realme of Grecia.

3 But a mighty king shall stand vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleasure.

4 And when hee shall stand vp, his kingdom shall be broken, & shall be diuided toward the foure winds of heauen: and not to his posteritie, nor according to his dominion which hee ruled: for his kingdom shall be plucked vp, even so bee for others besides these.

5 And the king of the South shall bee mighty, and one of his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

6 And in the end of yeeres they shall be ioyned together: for the kings daughter of the South shall come to the king of the North to make an agreement: but shee shall not retriene the power of the arme, neither shall hee continue, nor his arme: but shee shall be delivered to drubb, and they that brought her, and he that begate her, and hee that comforted her in these times.

7 But out of the bud of her rootes shall one stand vp in his stead, which shall come with an army, and shall enter into the fortress of the king of the North, and do with them as he list, and shall preuaile.

8 And shall also carry captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of gold, and hee shall continue more yeeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdom, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his sonnes shall be stirred vp, and shall assemble a mighty great armie, and one shall come, and ouerflow, and passe thorow: then shall hee returne, and hee stirred vp as his force.

11 And the king of the South shall be angry, and shall come forth and fight with him, dwelling in the King of the North: for hee shall set forth a great multitude, and the multitude shall be giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall be proude, and their heart shall be lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but hee shall not fall preuaile.

13 For the king of the North shall returne, and shall sit fourth a greater multitude then before, and shall come forth (after certaine yeeres) with a mighty armie, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall many stand vp against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of thy people shall exalte themselves to establish the vision, but they shall fall.

15 So the king of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armies of the South shall not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there bee any strength to withstand.

16 But he that shall come shall do vnto him as he list, and none shall stand against him: and hee shall stand in the pleasant land, which by his hand shall be consumed.

17 Again hee shall see his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdom, and his confederates with him: thus shall hee doe, and hee shall giue him the daughter of women to destroy her: but the shall not stand on his side, neither before him.

18 After this shall hee turne his face vnto the yles, and shall take many, but a prince shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that hee shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon himselfe.

19 For hee shall turne his face toward the fount of his owne land: but hee shall be ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more found.

20 Then shall stand vp in his place in the glory of the kingdom, one that shall raise stakes: but after few dayes hee shall be destroyed, neither in wrath nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand up a vile person to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdom: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdom by flatteries.

22 And the armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the covenant.

23 And after the league made with him, hee shall worke deceitfully: for hee shall come vp and ouercome with a small people.

24 Hee shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and hee shall do that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: hee shall diuide among them the pray, and the power, and the substance, yea, and hee shall forecalt his deuices against the strong holds, euen for a time.

25 Also hee shall stirre vp his power & his courage against the king of the South, with a great army, and the king of the South shall be stirred vp to battell with a very great & mighty armie: but hee shall not stand for they shall forecalt and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feed of the portion of his meat, shall destroy him, and his armie shall ouerflow: and many shall fall and be slaine.

27 And both these kings hearts shall bee to doe mischief, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auail, for yet the ende shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall hee returne into his land with great substance: for his heart shall bee against the holy Covenant: so shall hee doe and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships of Chitim shall come against him: therefore he shall before, and returne, and fight against the holy covenant: so shall hee doe, hee shall even returne and have intelligence with them that forsake the holy Covenant.

31 And armes shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable defolation.

32 And such as wickedly breake the Covenant, shall be cause to sin by flattery: but the people that doe know their God, shall perseuere and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among the people, shall instruct many: yet they shall fall by sword, and by famine, by captiuitie, and by spoyle many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a little helpe; but many shall cleane vnto them faimely.

35 And some of them of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out, for there is a time appointed.

36 And the king shall doe what him list: he shall exalt himselfe and magnifie himselfe against all that is God, and shall speake marvellous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the wrath be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall he regard the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any god: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the god Manzim: and the god whome his fathers knew not shall he honour with golde and with siluer, and with precious stones and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in the holdes of Manzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall increase his glory and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the end of time shall the king of the South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlwind with charrets, and with horsemen, and with many ships, and hee shall enter into the countreys, and shall ouerflowe and passe thorow.

41 He shall enter also into pleasant land, and many countreys shall be ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, even Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the Children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hands also vpon the countreys, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of gold, and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe.

44 But the ridings out of the East, and the North shall trouble him: therefore he shall goe forth with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.

45 And he shall plant the Tabernacles of his palace betwene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

CHAP. XII.

Of the deliurance of the Church by Christ.

1 And at that time shall Michael stand vp, the great Prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shall be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to bee a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shall be deliuered, euery one that shall bee found written in the booke.

2 And many of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to euerslasting life, and some to shame and perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that bee wise, shall shine as the brightnesse of the firmament: and they that turne many to righteousnesse, shall shine as the starrs for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, shut vp the words, and seale the booke till the end of the time: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased.

5 Then I Daniel looked, and beheld these stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the river, and the other on that side of the brinke of the river.

6 And one said vnto the man clothed in linnen, which was vpon the waters of the river, When shall be the end of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linnen, which was vpon the waters of the river, when he held vp his right hand and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it should not be for a time, two times and an halfe, and when he shall haue accomplished to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: then said I, O my Lord, what shall be the ende of these things?

9 And hee said, Goe thy way Daniel: for the words are closed vp and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shall be purified, made white, and tryed: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wife shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the dayly sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abominable defolation set vp, there shall bee a thousand two hundred and ninetie dayes.

12 Blessed is he that waiteth and commeth to the thousand three hundred and five and thirty dayes.

13 But goe thou thy way till the ende bee: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot at the ende of the dayes.

HOSEA. THE ARGUMENT.

After that the iene tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtil counsell of Ieroboam the son of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commanded by his word, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselves to most vile idolatry and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euer worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefits. Therefore now when their prosperity was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ieash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiah & Micah to them of Iudah) to condemn them of their ingratitude: and to warn them they should themselves to be greatly in the sinners of God, and so be his people, people, the Prophet casteth them husbands and children borne in adultery, and sheweth forth with them that God would take away their kingdoms, and give them to the Assyrians to be led away captives. Thus Hofeas (chiefly) executed his office for the space of seventy years, though they remained still in their vices and wickedness, and derided the Prophets, and consumed Gods judgments. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings only, nor yet flatter themselves by the sweet words of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principal parts of the Law, which are the promise of salvation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part, he discovereth the faithfull to Misfiah, by whom only they should have true deliverance: and for the second, he sheweth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked manners and vices, and his is the chief scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be good, or else by threatnings of his judgments to scare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law contains these two points, yet the Prophets moreover use peculiarly both the time of Gods judgments, and the manner,

C H A P. I.

1 The time wherein Hofeas prophesied. 2 The idolatry of the people. 3 The calling of the Gentiles. 4 Christ is the head of all people.

He word of the Lord that came vnto Hofeas the sonne of Beeri, in the daies of Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, and in the daies of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hofeas, and the Lord said vnto Hofeas, Go, take vnto thee a wife of fornications and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

3 So he went and tooke Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name Izreel: for yet a little, and I will visite the blood of Israel vpon the house of Iehn, and will cause to cease the kingdom of the house of Israel.

5 And at that day will I also breake the bow of Israel, in the valley of Israel.

6 She conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pitié vpon the house of Israel: but I will utterly take them away.

7 Yet I will haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and will saue them by the Lord their God, and will not saue them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemén.

8 Now when she had waigned Lo-ruhamah, shee conceived and bare a sonne.

9 Then said God, Call his name, Lo-ammi, for ye are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the childre of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was said vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall bee said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the living God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, & the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint themselves one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the day of Israel.

C H A P. II.

1 The people called to repentance. 2 He sheweth their idolatry, & threatneth them except they repent.

SAY vnto your brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,

3 Plead with your mother: plead with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries from betwene her breasts,

4 Left I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was borne, & make her as a wildeines, and leaue her like a dry land, and lay her for thirst.

5 And I will haue no pitié vpon her children for they be the children of fornications.

6 For their mother hath plaid the harlot: shee that conceived them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will goe after my louers that giue mee my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

7 Therefore beholde, I will stop thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that she shall not finde her paths.

8 Though she follow after her louers, yet shall she not come at them: though shee seeketh them, yet shall she not find them: then shall she say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

9 Now she did not know that I gaue her corne and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her silver, and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

10 Therefore will I retaine, and take away my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recover my wooll and my flaxe, to couer her shame.

11 And now will I discouer her lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

12 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast daies, her new Moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feasts.

13 And I will destroy her vines and her figtrees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me, and I will make them as a Forrest, and the wilde beasts shall eate them.

14 And I will visit vpon her the dayes of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and she decked her selfe with her eare-rings, and her iewels, and shee followed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord.

15 Therefore, beholde, I will allure her, and bring her into the wildeines, and speake friendly vnto her.

16 And I will giue her her vineyards from thence, and the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and shee shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

17 And at that day saith the Lord, thou shalt call me Ishi, and shalt call me no more Baal.

18 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembered by their names.

19 And in that day will I make a covenant for them with the wilde beasts, and with the fowles of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth, and I will breake the bow, and the sword, and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.

20 And I will marry thee vnto me for ever: yea, I will marrie thee vnto me in righteousness and in iudgement, and in mercy and in compassion.

21 I will euen marry thee vnto mee in faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord.

22 And in that day I will beare, saith the Lord, I will euen beare the heauens, and they shall beare the earth, 12 And the earth shall bear the tithes, and the wine, and the oile, and they shall heare Israel.

13 And I will sowe her vnto me in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her that was not pitied and I will say to them which were not my people, Thou art my people. And they shall say, thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

1 The teares shall be cast off for their idolatry. 5 Afterward they shall retorne to the Lord.

Then said the Lord to me, Go yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the love of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and loued the wine bottles.

2 So I bought her to me for fifteen pieces of silver, and for an homer of barley, and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with me many dayes: Thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt bee to none other man, and I will bee so vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shall remaine many dayes without a king, and without a Prince, and without an offering, and without an image, & without an Ephod and without a Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel comect, and seeke the Lord their God, & David their king, and shall feare the Lord and his goodnesse in the latter dayes.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priests of Israel.

Heare the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a contumacie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercie, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they brake out, and bloud toucheth bloud.

3 Therefore shall the land incurme, and every one that dwelleth therein shall be cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the soules of the men, and also the fishes of the sea shall bee taken away.

4 Yet let none rebuke nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the day, and the prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to mee: and seeing thou hast forgotten the law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 They eat vp the finnes of my people, and lift vp their mindes in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall be like people like priest: for I will visite their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deeds.

10 For they shall eat and not haue enough: they shall commit adultery, & shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heede to the Lord.

11 Whoredome and wine, and new wine take away their heart.

12 My people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the tops of mountains, and burne incense vpon the hills vnder the oke, and the poplar tree, and the ridge, because the shadow thereof is good, therefore your daughters shall be harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not visit your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselves are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not visitant, shall fall.

15 Though thou Israel play the harlot, yet let not Iddah grieve: come not ye vnto Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to Beth-aen, nor Iweare, The Lord lieth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnruy heifer. Now the Lord will feed them as a lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to Idols: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennesse sinketh, they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to lay with shame, bring yee.

19 The wind hath bound them vp in her wings, and they shall be ashamed of their sacrifices.

CHAP. V.

Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. 13 The hope of man is vaine.

O ye Priests, heare this, and hearken yee, O house of Israel, and giue yee ease, O house of the king: for iudgement is toward you, because you haue bin a snare of Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from mee: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is delided.

4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the midst of them, and they haue not knowne the Lord.

5 And the pride of Israel doth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie. Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lord, but they shall not finde him: for he hath withdrawn himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten strange children: now shall a moneth denour them with their perditions.

8 Blow yee the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shame in Ramah: cry out at Beth-aen, after thee, O Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebukes among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to know the truth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that remoued the bound: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in iudgement, because he willingly walked after the commandment.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sicknesse, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto Ashur, and sent vnto king Iarebye: could hee not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lion, and as a lions whelp to the house of Iudah: I will spoile and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and retorne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

C H A P. VI.

1 As I have caused a man to turne to God: so I have caused the Egyptians to be brought.

Come, and let vs returne to the Lord: for hee hath spoiled us, and hee will heale vs: hee hath wounded us, and hee will binde vs vp.

2 After two dayes will hee reuaine vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and wee shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, and euidently our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I intreat thee? for your goodnesse is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dewe it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I cut downe by the Prophets, I haue slaine them by the words of my mouth, and thy iudgements were at the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desire mercie and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they like men haue transgressed the Covenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 Gilead is a cilde of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as they see wait for a man, so the companie of priests murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischief.

10 I haue seene villany in y^e house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a plant for thee, whilste I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

C H A P. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

When I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discovered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt fallily, and the thiefe commeth in, and the robber spoileth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remeber all their wickednesse: now their own inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the king glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, & as a very ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, & from kneading the dough vntill it be leauened.

5 This is the day of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to corners.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen, whilst they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth all the night in y^e morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue deuoured their Iudges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath mixt himselfe among the people, Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, gray haire are here & there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face: and they do not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a doie deceived, without heart: they call to Egypt: they goe to Ashur.

12 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chastise them as their congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fledde away from mee, destruction shall be vnto them, because they haue transgressed against mee: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against mee.

14 And they haue not cryed vnto mee with their hearts, when they howled vpon their beds: they assembl themselves for corne and wine, and they rebell against mee.

15 Though I haue bound & strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischief against mee.

16 They returne, but not to the most High, they are like a deceitfull bow: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

C H A P. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah, and of Israel, because of their idolatry.

See the trumpet to thy mouth, he shall come as an Eagle against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my Covenant, and trespassed against my Law.

2 Israel shall cry vnto mee, My God, wee know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemy shall pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a king, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their golde haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy cause, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without inuocencie!

6 For it came euen from Israel, the workman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calke of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they haue sowne the wind, and they shall reape the whirlwinde: it hath no stalle: the bud shall bring forth no meale: if so bee it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shall they bee among the Gentiles, as a vessell wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Ashur: they are as a wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired liquors.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorrow a little for the burden of the King and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law, but they were counted as a strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and visit their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his Maker, & buildeth temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon the cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

C H A P. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

Remooue not O Israel for ioy, as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued a reward vpon euery corne floore.

2 The sower and the winnecrosse shall not feede thee, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Towrs land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Ashur.

4 They shall not offer wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shall vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eat thereof shall be polluted: for their bread for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will yee doe then in the solelem day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For lee, they are gone from destruction, but Egypt shall gather them vp and Memphis shall burye them, the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shall be in their Tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come, the dayes of recompense are come: Israel shall know it: the prophet is a fool: the spiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim should bee with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a sculer in all his wayes, and hatred in the House of his God.

9 They are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore hee will remember their iniquitie, he will visit their finnes.

10 I found Israel like grapes in the wilderness: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figger at her first time: but they went to Baal-peor, and separated themselves vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth, and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will deposite them from being men: yea, wo to them when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I saw, was as a tree in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the butcherer.

14 O Lord giue them: What wilt thou giue them? Giue them a barren wombe, & drie breasts.

15 All their wickednes is in Gilgal: for there do I hate them: for the wickednesse of their inuentions I will cast them out of mine House: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is spitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euery the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and her idols. 14 Destruction for the same.

Israel is an empty vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof hee hath increased the altars: according to the goodnesse of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is diuided: now shall they bee found faultie: hee shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, We haue no king because we feared not the Lord: and what should a King doe to vs?

4 They haue spoken words, swearing falsly in making a covenant: thus iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall feare because of the calfe of Beth-anen: for the people thereof shall mourne quiet, and the Chemarims thereof that reioyced on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also brought to Ashtar, for a present vnto king Iared: Ephraim shall receive shame, and Israel shall be ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the King thereof is destroyed, as the stone vpon the water.

8 The high places also of Auen shall be destroyed, even the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall grow vpon their altars, and they shall fly to the mountaines, Couerres, and to the hills. Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not touch them.

10 It is my desire that I should chastise them, and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather themselves in their two furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vnto delight in the thing: but I will passe by her faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plough, and Iacob shall breake his clods.

12 Bow to your selues in righteousness: reape after the measure of mercy: breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till he come and raine righteousness vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickednesse: yee haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men.

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as Shallman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Beth-el doe vnto you because of your malicious wickednesse: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

2 The benefits of the Lord toward Israel. 3 Their ingratitude against him.

When Israel was a childe, then I loved him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

3 They called them, but they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

4 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not: I heaked them.

5 I led them with cordes of a man, even with bands of Ioue, and I wasto them, as he that taketh out the yoke from their iawes, and I laide the meate vnto them.

6 Hee shall no more returne into the lande of Egypt: but Ashtar shall be his King, because they refused to conuert.

7 And the sword shall fall on his cities, & shall consume his barres, and deuoure them because of their owne counsells.

8 And my people are bent to rebellion against mee: though they called them to the most high, yet none at all would exalt him.

9 How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee Israel? how shall I make thee, as Admah? how shall I set thee, as Zeboim? mine heart is turned vnto me my repentings are rouled together.

10 I will not execute the fiercenes of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God and not man, the Holy one in the mids of thee, and I will not enter into the cite.

11 They shall walke after the Lord: he shall roare like a Lion: when he shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

12 They shall feare as a sparow out of Egypt: & as a dove out of the land of Ashtar, and I will place them in their houses, faith the Lord.

13 Ephraim compasseth me about with lies, and he house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with God, and is faithful with the Saines.

CHAP. XII.

He admonisheth by Jacobs example to trust in God and not in man.

Ephraim is fed with the winde, and followeth after the East winde: hee increaseth dayly lyes and destruction, and they do make a covenant with Ashur, and oyle is caried into Egypt.

3. The Lord hath also a controuersie with Iudah, and will visit Iacob according to his wayes: according to his workes will he recompense him.

4. Hee tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength hee had power with God,

5. And had power over the Angel, and preuailed: he wept and prayed vnto him: hee found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.

6. Yea, the Lord God of hosts, the Lord is himselfe his memoriall.

7. Therefore turnethou to thy God: keep mercy and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.

8. Hee is Canaan: the ballances of deceit are in his hand: hee leueth to oppress.

9. And Ephraim said, Notwithstanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall find none iniquitie in me, that were wickedesse.

10. Though I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the Tabernacles in the dayes of the solemne feasts.

11. I haue also spoken by the Prophets, & I haue multiplied visions, and vsed similitudes by the ministration of the Prophets.

12. Is there iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanities: they sacrifice bullockes in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

13. And Iacob fled into the country of Aram, and Iacob serued for a wife, and for a wife hee kept sheepe.

14. And by a Prophet the Lord brought Iacob out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was hee returned.

15. But Ephraim prouoked him with his places: therefore shall his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproch shall his Lord reward him.

CHAP. XIII.

1. The abomination of Israel, and cause of their destruction.

When Ephraim spake there was trembling: he exalted himselfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, and is dead.

2. And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idols according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftsmen: they say one to another while they sacrifice a man, Let them kisse the calves.

3. Therefore they shall bee as the morning cloud, and as the morning dew that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4. Yet I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but mee: for there is no Saviour beside me.

5. I did know thee in the wilderness, in the land of drought.

6. As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7. And I will be vnto them as a very lion? and as a leopard in the way of Ashtur.

8. I will meete them as a beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I will breake the caule of their heart, and there will I demoure them like a lion: the wilde beaust shall teare them.

9. O Israel, one hath destroyed thee, but is mee it thine helpe.

10. I am: where is thy king, that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy iudges of whom thou saidst, Give me a king, and princes?

11. I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.

12. The iniquitie of Ephraim is bound vp: his sinne is hid.

13. The sorrowes of a traunling woman shall come vpon him: hee is an vnwife sonne, else would he not stand still at the time, euen at the breaking forth of the children.

14. I will rediecthem from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O death I will be thy death: O graue, I will be thy destruction: repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15. Though he grow vp among his brethren, an East winde shall come, euen the winde of the Lord shall come vp from the wilderness, and dry vp his veine, and his fountaine shall be dried vp: hee shall spoile the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

CHAP. XIII.

1. The destruction of Samaria. 2. Hee exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requirerh praise and thanks.

Samaria shall be desolate, for shee hath rebelled against her God: they shall kill by the sword: their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with child shall be ript.

3. O Israel returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

4. Take vnto you words and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him. Take away all iniquitie, and retriue vs graciously: so will wee render the calnes of our lips.

5. Ashur shall not saue vs, neither will we ride vpon horses, neither will wee say any more to the worke of our hands, Ye are our gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercy.

6. I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely, for mine anger is turned away from him.

7. I will bee as the dew vnto Israel: hee shall grow as the lillie, and fasten his rootes, as the trees of Lebanon.

8. His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall bee as the oliue tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

9. They that dwell vnder his shadow, shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and flourish as the vine: the scent thereof shall bee as the wine of Lebanon.

10. Ephraim shall say, What haue I doo any more with idols? I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon me is thy fruit found.

11. Who is wise, and hee shall vnderstand these things? and prudent, and hee shall know them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

JOEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Joel first bewaileth them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, yet remaine still obstinate. Secondly, he threateth greater plagues, because they grow daily to a more hardness of heart, and rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly, he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceed from the heart, because they had grievously offended God, and so doing, hee promisseth that God will be mercifull and not forget, but content that he made with their sinners: but will send his Christ, who shall gather the scattered sheep, and restore them to life and liberty, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophesie against the Iewes. 2 Hee exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting for the misery that was at hand.

He word of the Lord that came to Joel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare ye this, O Elders, & hearken yee all inhabitants of the land, whether such a thing hath beene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grasshopper eaten, and the residue of the grasshopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake yee drunkards, and weepe and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the new wine: for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

6 Yea, a nation commeth vpon my land, mighty, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and he hath the iawes of a great lion.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barks of my figtree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe, the branches thereof are made white.

8 Moorne like a virgine girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth.

9 The meate offering and the drinke offering is cut off from the house of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers moorne.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Be ye ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers, for the wheate, and for the barley, because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the figtree is decayed: the pomegranate tree, and the palme tree, and the apple tree, even all the trees of the field are withered: surely this ioy is withered away from the soones of men.

13 Gird your selues and lament, yee Priests: howle yee ministers of the altar: Come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a feast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord.

15 Alas, for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand, and it cometh as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meate cut off before your eyes? and ioy and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The feed is rotten vnder their clods: the green weeds are destroyed, the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beasts moorne? the herds of cattell pine away, because they have no pasture: & the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beasts of the field cry also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness.

CHAP. II.

He prophesieth of the coming and cruelty of three enemies. 13 An exhortation to moorne there, to comfort. 18 The love of God toward his people.

Let the trumpet in Zion, and shoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

2 A day of darknesse and of blacknesse, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spied vpon the mountaine, so is there a great people and a mighty, there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it vnto the yeeres of many generations.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behind him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of Eden before him: and behind him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shall escape him:

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horsemens, so shall they runne.

5 Like the noise of charrets in the toppes of the mountaine, that they leape, like the noise of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mightie people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces shall gather blacknesse.

7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and every man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their pathes.

8 Neither shall one thrust another, but every one shall walke in his path, and when they fall vpon the sword they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall run to and fro in the city, they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall climb vp vpon the houses, & enter in at their windows like thieves.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the Sunne and the Moone shall be darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

11 And the Lord shall utter his voice before his host: for his host is very great: for he is strong that doeth his word: * for the day of the Lord is great Ier. 30. 7 and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also now the Lord saith. Turne you 18. rps. vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and 1. 15. with weeping and with mourning, 13 And girt your heart, and not your clothes, and turne vnto the Lord your God: for hee is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repenteth him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth, if he will retorne and repent, and leane a blessing behind him, euery a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, for aise a fast, call a solemne assembly.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation: gather the elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breasts: let the bridegroome goe forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bryde chamber.

17 Let the Priests the ministers of the Lord, weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproch, that heathen should rule ouer them. * Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord bee jealous ouer his land, and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will answer and say vnto his people, Behold, I will send you come and wine and oyle, and you shalbe satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen, 20 But I will remooue farre off from you the Northern armie, and I will dripe him into a land barren and desolate, with his face toward the East sea, and his end to the utmost sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himselfe to doe thus.

21 Feare not, O land, for be glad and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beards of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness are Greene: for the tree beareth her fruit: the figtree and the vine doe giue their force.

23 Be glad then ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for hee hath giuen you the raine of righteousness, and he will cause to come downe for you theraine, euery the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth.

24 And the barnes shalbe full of wheat, and the presses shal abound with wine and oyle.

25 And I will render you the yeeres that the grasshopper hath eaten, the cankerworme and the caterpillar, and the palmer worme, my greathoste which I sent among you.

26 So you shal eate, and be satisfied, and praise the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt maruclously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Ye shal also know that I am in the mids of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God: and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And afterward will I powre out my spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shal prophesie: your old men shal dreame dreames, and your young men shal see visions.

29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maides in those dayes will I powre my spirit.

30 And I will shew wonders in the heauens, and in the earth, blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The sunne shall be turned into darkness, and the moone into blood before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But whosoener shall call on the Name of the Lord shalbe saved. for in mount Zion, and in Ierusalem shall be deliueance, as the Lord hath said, and in the remnant whom the Lord shall call.

C H A P. III.

Of the iudgements of God against the enemies of his people.

Behold, in those dayes, & in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah, and Ierusalem,

I will also gather all nations, and will bring them downe into the valley of Iehoshaphat, and will plead with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

And they haue cast lots for my people, and haue giuen the child for the harlot, and sold the girl for wine, that they might drinke.

Yea, and what haue yee to doe with me, O Tyrians and Zidon, and all the coasts of Palestina? will ye render me a recompence? and if yee recompense me, swiftly & speedily will I render your recompense vpon your head.

For ye haue taken my silver and my gold, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.

The children also of Iudah, and the children of Ierusalem haue yee sold vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.

Behold, I will raise them out of the place where ye haue sold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head.

I will sell your sonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, and they shall sell them to the Sabaeans, to a people far off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mightie men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come vp.

Breake your plowshares into swordes, and your sithes into speares: let the weake say, I am strong.

Assemble your selues, and come all yee heathen, and gather your selues together round about: there shall the Lord call downe thy mightie men.

Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about.

Put in your sithes, for ye harvest is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the winepresse runneth ouer, for their wickednes is great.

O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord a neere in the valley of threshing.

The sunne and moone shalbe darkened, and the starres shall withdraw their light.

The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and venter his voice from Ierusalem, & the heauens and the earth shall shake: but the Lord will be the hope of his people, & the strength of the children of Israel.

So shal ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy mountaine: then shall Ierusalem be holy, and there shall no strangers goe thorow her any more.

And in that day shall the mountaines droppe downe new wine, & the hills shall flow with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shal run with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the house of the Lord, and shal water the valley of Shittim.

Egypt shalbe waste, & Edom shalbe a desolate wilderness, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

But Iudah shal dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.

For I will cleane their blood that I haue not cleaued, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

AMOS.

THE ARGUMENT.

AMONG many other Prophets that God raised up to admonish the Jews of his plagues for their wickedness and idolatry, he stirred up Amos, who was an herdsman or shepherd of a poore tribe, and gave him both knowledge and conscience to reprove all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible judgments against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them, that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had lived as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes will punish them, that they should looke for nothing but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by unfeigned repentance. And finally he comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Messias, by whom they should have perfect deliverance and salvation.

CHAP. I.

The time of the prophesie of Amos. 2 The word of the Lord against Damascus, 6 The Philistines, Tyrus, Idumea, and Ammon.

HE words of Amos who was among the herdsman at Tecoa, which he saw vpon Israel, in the daies of Vziaah king of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ierooboam the sonne of Ioaah king of Israel, two yeeres before the earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord shall reare from Zion, and utter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepherds shall perish, and the top of Carmel shall wither.

3 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure I will not turne to it, because they haue threshed Gilead with threshing instruments of iron.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into thy house of Hazael, and it shall deuour the palaces of Ben-hadad.

5 I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-amen: & him that holdeth the scepter of Beth-edem, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lord. For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure I will not turne to it, because they caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shutthem vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walls of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I wil cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines shall perish, saith the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembered the brotherly covenante.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the wallles of Tyrus, and it shall deuour the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did cast off all pitie, and his anger spoiled him euermore, and his wrath watched him alway.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuour the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue ript vp the women with child of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuour the palaces thereof with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind.

15 And their king shall goe into captiuitie, hee and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah and Israel.

THUS saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, & for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the found of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Law of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandments, and their liues caused them to erre, after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuour the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Israel, and for foure I will not turne to it, because they fouled therighteous for siluer, and the poore for shoes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore in the dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will goe in to a maide to dishonour my holy Name.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes laide to pledge by euery altar: and they drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from aboue, and his root from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fortie yeeres thorow the wilderness to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophecie not.

13 Behold, I am pressed vnder you as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaves.

14 Therefore the swift shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty saue his life.

15 Nor he that handleth the bow shall stand, and he that is swift of foot shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse saue his life.

16 And he that is of a mighty courage among the strong men, shall see away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

† Ev. corrupts his compassant.

C H A P. III.

*He reproveth the house of Israel of Ingratitude. 21
For the which God will punish them.*

HEare this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, now against the whole family which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

3 You onely haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they bee agreed?

4 Will a lion roare in the forest when hee hath no pray? or will a lions whelpc crie out of his den, if he haue taken nothing?

5 Can a bird fall in a snare vpon the earth, where no fowler is? or will he take vp the snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

6 Or shall a trumpet be blown in the cite, and the people be not afraid? or shall there be euill in a cite, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe nothing, but he reuerealeth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.

8 The lion hath roared: who will not be afraid? the Lord God hath spoken, who can but prophesie?

9 Proclaime in the palaces of Ashdod, and in the palaces of the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so behold the great tumults in the mids thereof, and the oppressed in the mids thereof.

10 For they knowe not to doe right, sayth the Lord: they store vp violence and robbetrie in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, An aduersary shall come euen round about the country, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoyled.

12 Thus saith the Lord, As the shepheard taketh out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an eare, so shall the children of Israel bee taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in Damascus, as in a couch.

13 Heare, and testifie in the house of Iakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hosts.

14 Surely in the day that I shall visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will smite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of yuory shall perish, and the great houses shall be consumed, sayth the Lord.

C H A P. Iiiii.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

HEare this word, yee king of Basan that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppress the poore and destroy the needy, and they say to their masters, Bring and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath sworne by his Holinesse, that loe, the dayes shall come vpon you, that he will take you away with thornes, and your posterity with fishhookes.

3 And ye shall go out at the breaches, euery Cow forward: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.

4 Come to Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiplie transgression, & bring your sacrifices in the morning, and your titties after three yeeres.

5 And offer a thankesgiving of leauen, publish, and proclaime the free offerings, for this liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and fearnes of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there was yet three moeths to the harvest, and I caused it to raine vpon one cite, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another cite: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece wherupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandred vnto one cite to drinke water, but they were not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

9 I haue smitten you with blasting and mildew: your great gardens, and your vineyards, and your figtrees, and your olive trees did the palmer worne deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto mee, saith the Lord.

10 Pestilence haue I sent among you after the maner of Egypt: your young men haue I slaine with the sword, and haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stinke of your tents to come vp euen into your nostrils: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodome and Gomorah: yet haue ye a firebrand pluckt out of the burning, and haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore thus will I do vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to meete thy God, O Israel.

13 For loe, he that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought, which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hosts is his Name.

C H A P. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

HEare ye this word, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.

2 The virgin Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: shee is left vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The city which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an hundredth: and that which went forth by an hundredth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye mee, and ye shall liue.

5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, and goe not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall go into captiuitie, and Beth-el shall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shall liue, lest he breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph, and deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They truce iudgement to wormewood, and leaue off righteousness in the earth.

8 He maketh Pleiades and Orion, and becometh the shadow of death into the morning, and hee maketh the day darke as night: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 Hee strengtheneth the destroyer against the mighty: and the destroyer shall come against the forteffe.

10 They haue hated him that rebuked in the gates: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.

11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and ye take from him burdens of wheate, yee haue built houses of hewen stone, but yee shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I knowe your manifold transgressions and your mighty fins: they afflict the iust, they take awards, and they oppress the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore the prudent shall keepe silence in that time: for it is an euill time.

14 Seeke good and not euill, that yee may line:
and the Lord God of hostes shall be with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Haue the euill, and loose the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lord God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord saith thus Mourning shall bee in all streets: and they shall say in all the hie wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines shall be lamentation: for
I will passe thorow thee, saith the Lord.

18 Woe vnto you that desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to doe with it? the day of the Lord is darkenesse and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lion, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord bee darkenesse, and not light: euen darkenesse, and no light in it?

21 I hate and abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smel in your solemne assemblies.

22 Though you offer me burnt offerings and meat offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melodie of the viols)

24 And let iudgement raine downe as waters, and righteousness as a mighty river.

25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty yeeres, O house of Israel?

26 But you haue borne Siccuth your king, and Chim your images, and the statute of your gods which ye made to your selues.

27 Therefore will I cause you to goe into capti-uety beyond Damaskus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hostes.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Israel living in pleasure.
WOe to them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountaine of Samaria, which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Go you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: see they better then these kingdomes, or the border of their land greater then your border.

3 Ye that put farre away the euill day, and ap-proch to the seate of iniquitie?

4 They lie vpon beds of yuory, and stretch themselues vpon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calves out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viole: they inuent to themselves instruments of musick like Da-uid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, and anoint themselues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is sorry for the afflictions of Ioseph.

7 Therefore now shall they goe captiue, and the sorrow of them that stretched themselves is at hand.

8 The Lord God hath sworn by himselfe, saith the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre the excellencie of Yaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deli-uer vp the citie with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his vncle shall take him vp, and burne him, to carry out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? and hee shall say, None.
Then shall he say, Hold thy tongue: for wee may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For behold the Lord commandeth, and hee will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall horses runne vpon the rocke? or will one plow the earth with oxen? for ye haue turned iudgment into gall, and the fruit of righteousness into wormewood.

13 Ye reioyce in a thing of nought: ye say, Haue not we gotten vs homes by our owne strength?

14 But behold, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lord God of hostes:
and they shall afflict you from the entering in of Hamath, vnto the riuer of the wilderness.

CHAP. VII.

Gods wrath certaine visitant, whereby hee signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10. The false accusation of Amariah. 11. His crafty counsell.

THUS hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, & behold, he formed grasshoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the later growth: and loe, is was in the later growth after the kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an ende of eating the grasse of the land, then I sayd, O Lord God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Yaakob?
for he is small.

3 So the Lord repeated for this. It shall not be,
saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called vnto iudgment by fire, and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eate vp a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Yaakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repeated for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 ¶ Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stood vpon a wall made by line with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said vnto mee, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in the mids of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the high places of Ithak shall be desolate, and the Temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ Then Amariah the Priest of Beth-el sent to Ieroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspi-red against thee in the mids of the house of Israel:
the land is not able to beare all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall bee led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also Amariah said vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread, and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth-el: for it is the kings chappell, and it is the Kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amariah,
I was no Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an herdsman, and a gatherer of wild figs.

15 And the Lord tooke mee as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto me, Goe, prophesie vnto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore heare thou the words of the Lord. Thou sayest, Prophecie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Iſaak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Thy wife shall be an harlot in the city, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be divided by lot: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Iſrael shall surely goe into captivity for ever of his land.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the shepherds of Iſrael. 2 The Lord ſpeaketh.

11 The ſame of the word of God.

THIS hath the Lord God ſhewed unto mee, and behold, a basket of ſummer fruit.

2 And he ſaid, Amos what ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid, A basket of ſummer fruit. Then ſaid the Lord unto mee, The end is come upon my people of Iſrael, I will paſſe by them no more.

3 And the ſongs of the temple ſhall be howlings in that day, ſaith the Lord God: many dead bodies ſhall be in every place, they ſhall caſt them forth with ſilence.

4 Heare this, O ye that ſwallow vp the poore: that ye may make the needy of the land to faile.

5 Saying, When will the new month be gone, that we may ſell corne, & the Sabbath, that we may ſet forth wheate, and make the ephah ſmall, and the ſhekel great, and falſifie the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for ſilver, and the needy for ſhoes: yea, & ſell the reſidue of the wheate.

7 The Lord hath ſworne by the excellencie of Iaſakob, Surely I will never forget any of their words.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourn that dwelleth therein? and it ſhall riſe vp wholly as a flood, and it ſhall bee caſt out, and drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day, ſaith the Lord God, I will rene the Sunne to goe downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

10 And I will turne your feaſtes into mourning, and all your ſongs into lamentation: & I will bring ſackcloth vpon all loynes, and baldneſſe vpon every head: and I will make it as the mourning of an only ſonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, ſaith the Lord God, that I will ſend a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirſt for waſter, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they ſhall wander from ſea to ſea, and from the North euen unto the Eaſt ſhall they runne to and fro to ſeek the word of the Lord, and ſhall not find it.

13 In that day ſhall the faire virgines and the young men periſh for thirſt.

14 They that ſwear by the Gune of Samaria, and that ſay, Thy god, O Dan, lieth, and the manner of Beer ſheba lieth, euen they ſhall fall, and neuer riſe vp againe.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatnings againſt the Temple. 9 and againſt Iſrael. 11 The reſtoring of the Church.

I ſaw the Lord ſtanding vpon the Altar, and hee ſaid, Smite the liſtell of the doore, that the poſts may ſhake, and cut them in pieces, & the heads of them all: and I will ſlay the laſt of them with the ſword: hee that ſleeth of them ſhall not flee away: and he that eſcapeih of them, ſhall ſomewhat be ſtripped.

2 Though they digge into the hell, thence ſhall mine hand take them: though they climbe vp to the heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themſelues in the top of Carmel, I will ſearch and take them out thence: and though they be hid from my ſight in the bottoome of the ſea, thence will I command the ſerpent, and hee ſhall bite them.

4 And though they go into captivity before their enemies, thence will I command the ſword, and it ſhall ſlay them: and I will ſet mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hoſtes ſhall touch the land, and it ſhall melt away: & all that dwell therein ſhall mourne, and it ſhall riſe vp wholly like a flood, and ſhall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 Hee buildeth his ſpheres in the heauen, and hath layd the foundation of his globe of elemens in the earth: hee calleth the waters of the ſea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are ye not as the Ethiopians vnto me, O children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord? Haue not I brought vp Iſrael out of the land of Egypt? and the Philiftines from Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

8 Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the ſmall kingdome, and I will deſtroy it, cleane out of the earth. Neuertheleſſe I will ſortly deſtroy the houſe of Iaſakob, ſaith the Lord.

9 For Ioe, I will command, and I will ſit the houſe of Iſrael among all nations, like as corne is ſifted in a ſieve: yet ſhall not the laſt ſtore fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the finners of my people ſhall die by the ſword, which ſay, The euill ſhall not come, nor haſten for vs.

11 In that day will I riſe vp the Tabernacle of Dauid that is fallen downe, and cloſe vp the breaches thereof, and I will riſe vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of old.

12 That they may poſſeſſe the remnant of Edom and of all the heathen, becauſe my Name is called vpon them, ſaith the Lord, that doeth this.

13 Beholde, the dayes come ſaith the Lord, that the plowman ſhall touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that ſoweth ſeed: and the mountaines ſhall drop ſweet wine, and all the hills ſhall melt.

14 And I will bring againe the captivity of my people of Iſrael: & they ſhall build the waſte cities, and inhabite them, and they ſhall plant vineyards, and drinke the wine thereof: they ſhall alſo make gardens, and eat the fruits.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land, & they ſhall no more be pulled vp againe out of their land which I haue giuen them, ſaith the Lord thy God.

COBADIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Iudgments which came of Iſau, were not all enemies alwayes to the Iſraelites, which came of Iaſakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with ſundry kindes of cruelty, but alſo ſtirred up others to fight against them. Therefore when they were in y^e in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised up his Prophet to comfort the Iudahites, for as much as God had now determined to destroy their adversaries, which did so sore vex them, and to find them such as should deliver them, and set up the kingdom of Iudah which he had promised.

12 He vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lord God against Edom. Wee have heard a rumour from the Lord, and an Ambassador is sent among the heathen: arise, and let vs rise vp against her to battell.

13 Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art utterly despised.

14 The pride of thine heart hath deceived thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitation is high, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?

15 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the Eagle, and make thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

16 Camest thoues to thee, or robbers by night? how wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stolen till they had found? if the grapegatherers came to thee, would they not leave some grapes?

17 How are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?

18 All the men of thy confederacy haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue decieued thee, & pretailed against thee: they that eat thy bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

19 Shall not I, in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

20 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, because euerie one of the mount of Esau shall be cut off by slaughter.

21 For thy cruelty against thy brother Iakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

22 When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers carried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

23 But thou shouldest not haue beheld the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made a stranger: neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

24 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue laid hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

25 Neither shouldest thou haue stood in the crosse wayes to cut off them that should escape: neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

26 For the day of the Lord is vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

27 For as ye haue drunke vpon mine holy mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shall be as though they had not been.

28 But vpon mount Zion shall be deliuerance, and it shall be holy, and the house of Iakob shall possesse their possessions.

29 And the house of Iakob shall be a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, & the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

30 And they shall possesse the South side of the mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistines, and they shall possesse the fields of Ephraim, & the fields of Samaria, and Benjamin shall haue Gilead.

31 And the captiuitie of this host of the children of Israel, which were among the Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

32 And they that shall faue, shall come vpon mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shall be the Lords.

I O N A H.

THE ARGVMENT.

When Iouah had long prophesied in Israel, and had little profited, God gaue him expresse charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because he had appointed that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mightie power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching, this Israel might see how terribly they had provoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Prophets, and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Iouah and Ieroboam, as 2. Kings. 14. 25.

C H A P. I.

1 Iouah said when hee was first to preach. 2 A tempest arose, and hee cast into the sea for his disobedience.

3 He word of the Lord came also vnto Iouah the sonne of Amittai, saying, 4 Arise, and go to Nineueh that great city, and crie against it: for their wickednes is come vp before me.

5 But Iouah rose vp to flee into Tarslish from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to Iapho, and he found a ship going to Tarslish: so he payed the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that hee might goe with them vnto Tarslish from the presence of the Lord.

6 But the Lord sent out a great wind into the sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

7 Then the mariners were afraid, and cried euerie man vnto his god, & cast the wares that were in the ship into the sea, to lighten it of them: but Iouah was gone downe into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

8 So the shipmaster came to him, and said vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? arise, call vpon thy God, if so bee that God will thinke vpon vs that we perish not.

7 And they said every one to his fellow, Come, and let vs cast lots; that wee may know for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Iouah.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? what is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And hee answered them, I am an Hebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea and the drie land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraide, and sayde vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that he fledde from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neurrelesse, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cried vnto the Lord, and said, We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Iouah, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, & made vowes.

17 Now the Lorde had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Iouah: and Iouah was in the belly of the fish three dayes and three nights.

CHAP. II.

1 Iouah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

Then Iouah prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the fishes belly,

2 And saide, I cried in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly of hell cried I, and thou heardest my voice.

3 For thou hadst cast mee into the bottome in the middes of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy furies, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I said, I am cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about vnto the fowle: the depth closed mee round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within me, I remembered the Lord, and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that waite vpon lying vanities, forsake their owne mercy.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voice of thanksgiving, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lorde spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Iouah vpon the drie land.

CHAP. III.

1 Iouah is sent againe to Nineueh. 2 The repentance of the king of Nineueh.

And the word of the Lord came the vnto Iouah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great cite, and preach vnto it the preaching which I bid thee.

3 So Iouah arose, & went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a great and excellent cite, of three dayes journey.

4 And Iouah began to enter into the city a daies iourney, and he cried, and said, Yet forty dayes, and Nineueh shall be overthrown.

5 So the people of Nineueh beleued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them, euen to the least of them.

6 For word came to the king of Nineueh, & he rose from his throne, & hee laid his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And hee proclaimed, & sayd thorow Nineueh, (by the counsell of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man nor beast, bullock nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feed nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and crie mightily vnto God: yea, let every man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 Who can tell, if God will turne, and repent, and turne away from his fierce wrath, that wee perish not?

10 And God saw their workes that they turned from their euill wayes: and God repented of the euill that hee had said that hee would doe vnto them, and hee did it not.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnes of God toward his creatures.

Therefore it displeased Iouah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying when I was yet in my country? therefore I purposed it to flee vnto Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull slow to anger, and of great kindeesse, and repeatest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from me: for it is better for me to die, then to liue.

4 Then said the Lord, Doeest thou well to be angry?

5 So Iouah went out of the city, and sate on the East side of the cite, and there made him a boothie, and sate vnder it in the shadow, till hee might see what should be done in the cite.

6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, & made it to come vp ouer Iouah, that it might be a shadow ouer his head, and deliuer him from his griefe. So Iouah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day, and it smote the gourd, that it withered.

8 And when the Sun did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the Sun beat vpon the head of Iouah that hee fainted, & wished in his heart to die, & said, It is better for me to die then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Iouah, Doeest thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he said, I doe well to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pity on the gourd, for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night, 11 And should not I spare Nineueh that great city, wherein are sixscore thousand persons, that cannot discern between their right hand and their left hand, and also much cattell?

MICAH

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah served in the works of the Lord concerning Iudah and Israel as the least thirty years: at what time Isaiah prophesied. He declareth the destruction first of the one kingdom, and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednes, but chiefly for their idolatry. And in this end he noteth the wickedness of the people, the cruelty of the princes and governors, and the permission of the false prophets, and the delighting in them. Then he setteth forth the coming of Christ, his kingdom, and the felicity thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resisted Ahab and all his false prophets, as 1. King. 22. but another of the same name.

C A A P. I.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatry.

THe word of the Lord that came vnto Michah the Morashite, in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah kings of Iudah, which he saw concerning Samaria and Ierusalem.

2 Heare all ye people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lorde God bee witnesse against you, even the Lorde from his holy Temple.

3 For beholde, the Lorde commeth out of his place, and wil come downe and tread vpon the hie places of the earth.

4 And the mountiines shal melt vnder him (so shal the valleys cleaue) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downe ward.

5 For the wickednes of Iaaokob is all this, and for the finnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednesse of Iaaokob? Is not Samaria? and which are the hie places of Iudah? is not Ierusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the field, and for the plauting of a vineyard, and I will cause the frownest thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the graven images thereof shalbe broken, and all the gifts thereof shal be burnt with the fire, and all the idols thereof will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shal returne to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I wil mourne and howle: I will go without clothes and naked: I wil make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemy is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.

10 Declare yee it not at Gath, neither weepe ye: for the house of Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at Shaphir, go together naked with shame: she that dwelleth at Zaanan shal not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel, the enemy shal receiue of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth wayted for good, but euil came from the Lord vnto the gate of Ierusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, bind the charet to the beasts of price: she is the beginning of the sin to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth Gath: the houses of Achizib shal be as a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Marethlah, he shal come vnto Adullam, the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee bald: and shawe thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the Eagle, for they are gone into captivity from thee.

C H A P. II.

1 Threatnings against the wanton & aduorise people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

Woe vnto them that imagine iniquitie, and work wickednes vpon their beds: when the morning is light they practise it, because their hand hath power.

2 And they couet fields, & take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppress a man and his house, even man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, against this family haue I decyded a plague, wherout ye shal not plucke your necks, and ye shal not go so proudly: for this time is euill.

4 In that day shal they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, We be vtterly wasted: he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he taken it away to restore it vnto me? he hath diuided our fields.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shal cast a cord by lot in the congregation of the Lord.

6 They that prophesied, Prophecie ye not. They shal not prophetic to them, nether shal they take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iaaokob, is the Spirit of the Lord shortened? are these his works? are not my words good vnto him that walketh vprightly?

8 But he that was yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enemy: they spoyle the beaustifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue yee cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue ye taken away my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shal destroy you, even with a fore destruction.

11 If a man walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, I will prophetic vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, he shal euen be the Prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather thee wholly, O Iaaokob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, even as the flocke in the mids of their fold: she eates shalbe full of bruit of the men.

13 The breaker vp shal come vp before them: they shal breake out and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king shal goe before them, and the Lord shalbe vpon their heads.

C H A P. III.

1 Against the tyranny of princes and false prophets.

Not I said, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaaokob, and yee princes of the house of Israel: should not power.

not ye know iudgement?

2 But they hated the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their skynes from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eate also the flesh of my people, and flay off their skin from them, and they breake their bones and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the cauldron.

4 Then shall they crie vnto the Lord, but hee will not heare them: hee will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the Prophets that deceiue my people, and bite them with their teeth and cry peace, but if a man put not into their mouths, they prepare warre against him.

6 Therefore night shall bee vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse shall be vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shall be darke ouer them.

7 Then shall the Seers bee ashamed, and the Soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer their lips: for they haue none answer of God.

8 Yet now withstanding, I am full of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength, to declare vnto Iakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the priests thereof teach for hire, and the prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet will they leane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the high places of the forest.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the Kingdome of Christ, and felicitie of his Church.

BVt in the last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and it shall be exalted aboue the hilles, and people shall flow vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come, and say, Come and let vs goe vp to the mountaine of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Iakob, and he will teach vs his wayes, and wee will walke in his paths: for the Law shall goe forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem.

3 And he shall iudge among many people, and rebuke mighty nations as a ree, and they shall breake their swords into mattocks, and their speares into fishes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation: neither shall they learn to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figtree, and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hosts hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke, euery one in the name of his God, and we will walke in the Name of the Lord our God for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, saith the Lord, will I gather her that halseth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halted, a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mighty nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in mount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O tower of the flocke, the strong hold of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen the first dominion, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Now why dost thou cry out with lamentation, Is there no king in thee? is thy counsellor perished? for sorrow hath taken thee as a woman in travail.

10 Sorrow and mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in travail: for now shalt thou goe forth of the city and dwell in the field, and shalt go into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall be condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they know not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaves in the barn.

13 Arise and thresh, O daughter Zion: for I will make thine home yron, & I will make thine hooves brass, & thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem, 2 The excellencie of Beethlehem.

NOW assemble thy garisons, O daughter of garisons: hee hath laid siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a ioude vpon the cheek.

2 And thou Beth-lehem Ephrathah art little to be among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall he come forth vnto me that shall be the ruler in Israel: whose goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerslating.

3 Therefore will hee giue them vp vntill the time that he which shall beare, shall traueil: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And he shall stand and feed in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God, and they shall dwell still: for now shall he be magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And hee shall be our peace, when Asur shall come into our land: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall wee raise against him seven shepherds, and eight principall men.

6 And they shall deliroy Asur with the sword, & the land of Nimrod with their swords: thus shall he deliuer vs from Asur, when he cometh into our land, & when he shall tread within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Iakob shall bee among many people, as a draw from the Lord, and as the shewes vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the lonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iakob shall bee among the Gentiles, in the mids of many people, as the lion among the beasts of the forest, and as the lyon whelp among the flocks of sheepe, who when hee goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall be lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, sayth the Lord, that I will cut off thine horses out of the mids of thee, and I will destroy thy charats.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and overthrow all thy strong holds.

12 And I will cutt off the enchanterers out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp thy growes out of the mids of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath, and indignation vpon the heathen, which they haue not heard.

C H A P. VI.

An exhortation to the dumbe creatures to beare the iudgement against Iſrael being vnknde. & What manner of sacrifices doe please God.

HEarken ye now, what the Lord saith, Arise thou and contend before the mountaines, and let the hills heare thy voyce.

1 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarell, and yee mighty foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarell against his people; and he will pleade with Iſrael.

2 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieved thee? testifye against me.

3 Surely I brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruans, and I haue feare before thee Moles, Aaron, and Miriam.

4 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had deuised, & what Balaam the son of Beor an uered him, from Shittim vnto Gilgal, tharey may know the right counsell of the Lord.

5 Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bow my selfe before the high God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calves of a yere olde?

6 Will the Lord bee pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my first borne for my transgression, euen the fruit of my body for the sinne of my soule?

7 Hee hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: surely to do iustly, and to loue mercy, and to humble thy selfe to walke with thy God.

8 The Lords voyce crieth vnto the citie, and the man of wisdom shall see thy name: heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

9 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure that is abominable?

10 Shall I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bagge of deceitfull weights?

11 For the rich men thereof are full of cruelty, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

12 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in fining thee, and in making thee desolate because of thy finnes.

13 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and thy casting downe shall be in the mids of thee, and thou shalt take hold, but shalt not deliuer: & that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sword.

14 Thou shalt sow, but not reape, thou shalt tread the olives, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oyle, and make sweet wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

15 For the statutes of Omri are kept, and all the manner of the house of Ahab, and yee walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore yee shall beare the reproch of my people.

C H A P. VII

A complaint for the small number of the righteous. & The wickednesse of those times. 14 The prophesie of the Church.

Woe is me, for I am as the Summer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eat: my soule desired the first ripe fruits.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: they all lie in wait for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net,

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the prince asked, and the Iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them is a bribe, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen, and thy visitation commeth: then shall be their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keep the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughterteriseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore I will looke vnto the Lord: I will waite for God my Saviour: my God will heare mee.

8 Reioyce not against mee, O mine enemies: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkness the Lord shall be a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, vntill he pleade my cause and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring mee forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousness.

10 Then shew that is mine enemy, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall come her, which said vnto mee, Where is the Lord thy God? mine eyes shall behold her: now shall she be troden downe as the mire of the streets.

11 Thus the day, that thy walles shall be built: this day shall driue farre away the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from Asshur, and from the strong cities, & from the strong holdes, euen vnto the riuer, and from sea to sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding the land shall bee desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of their inuentions.

14 Feeds thy people with thy rod, the stocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitary in the wood) in the mids of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilcad as in old time.

15 According to the dayes of thy coming out of the land of Egypt, will I shew vnto him marueilous things.

16 The nations shall see and bee confounded for all their power: they shall lay their hand vpon their mouth their eares shall be deafe.

17 They shall like the dust like a serpent: they shall mooue out of their holes like wormes: they shall be afraid of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie. and passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage! Hee retaineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.

19 He will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all their finnes into the bottom of the sea.

20 Thou wilt performe thy truth to Iakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in old time.

INAHVM.

THE ARGUMENT.

As they of Nineveh showed themselves prompt and ready to receive the word of God at Ieremias preaching, And so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certain time, rather giving themselves to worldly pleasures to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the favour of God, and made whereto they had begun, they cast off the care of Religion, and so returned to their vices, and provoked Gods just indignation against them in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineveh was destroyed, and Merodach-baladan King of Babel (or as some think, Nabuchad-negar) enjoyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, he stirreth up his Prophet to comfort the good, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should be for their consolation. And as it seemeth, he prophesied about the time of Herod, and not in the time of Manasse his sonne, as the Jewes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliverance of Israel.

He burden of Nineveh. The booke of the vision of Nahum the Elkeshite.

1 God is elous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lord of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his adversaries, & he reuereth wrath for his enemies.

2 The Lord is slow to anger, but hee is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked, the Lord hath his way in the whirlwinde, and in the storme, and the clouds are the dust of his feete.

3 He rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, and he drieth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted, and Carmel, and the floare of Lebanon is wasted.

4 The mountains tremble for him, and the hills melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world and all that dwell therein.

5 Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenes of his wrath? his wrath is powdered out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.

6 The Lord is good, and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and hee knoweth them that trust in him.

7 But passing ouer as with a flood, hee will utterly destroy the place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.

8 What doe ye imagine against the Lord? hee will make an utter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

9 For he shall come as vnto thornes falden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennes: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dried.

10 There cometh one out of thee, that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellor.

11 Thus saith the Lord, Though they be quiet, and alowmany, yet thus shall they be cut off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will assist thee no more.

12 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burth thy bonds in funder.

13 And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be sowne: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the graven and the molten image: I will make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

14 Behold vpon the mountaines the fecte of him that declareth and publisheth peace: O Iudah keepe thy solemn feasts, performe thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe thorow thee: hee is utterly cut off.

CHAP. II.

Hee describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

The destroyer is come before thy face: keepe thee in manition, looke to the way: make thy loynes strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 The Lord hath turned away the glory of Iacob, as the glory of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mightie men is made red, the valiant men are in scatter: the charrets shall bee as in the fire, and flames in the day of the preparation, and the fire trees shall tremble.

4 The charrets shall rage in the streets: they shall run to and fro in the high wayes: they shall seeme like lamps: they shall shoot like the lightening.

5 Hee shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the wals thereof, and the defence shall be prepared.

6 The gates of the riuier shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.

7 And Huzzab the Queene shall be ledde away captiue, and her maides shall leade her as with the voyce of doves, smiting vpon their breasts.

8 But Nineveh is of old like a poole of water: yet they shall see away. Stand, stand, shall they cry: but none shall looke backe.

9 Spoyles ye the silver, spoyle the gold, for there is none end of the store, and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 She is empty, and void, and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorow is in all loines, and the faces of them all gather blackenesse.

11 Where is the dwelling of the Lions, and the pasture of the Lions whelpes? where the Lion and the lionesse walked, and the lions whelpes, and none made them afraid.

12 The lion did teare in pieces enough for his whelpes, and worried for his lionesse, and filled his holes with pray, and his dens with spoyles.

13 Behold, I come vnto thee, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will burne her charrets in the smoke, and the sword shall deuoure the yong Lions, and I will cut off thy spoile from the earth, and the voice of thy messengers shall no more be heard.

CHAP. III.

Of the fall of Nineveh. 8 No power can escape the hand of God.

1 Bloody citie, it is all full of lies and robbery: the pray departedth not:

2 The noyle of a whip, and the noyse of the moaning of the wheelles, and the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charrets.

3 The horseman lieth vpon both the bright sword and the glittering spere, and a multitude is slaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none end of their corpses: they stumble vpon their corpses.

4 Because of the multitude of the fornications of the harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistress of witchcraft, & selleth the people through her whoredome, and the nations through her witchcrafts.

5 Behold, I come vpon thee, saith the Lord of hostes, and will discover thy skirts vpon thy face, and will shew the nations thy filthinesse, and the kingdomes thy shame.

6 And I will cast filth vpon thee, and make thee vile, and wilt set thee as a gazing stocke.

7 And it shall come to passe, that all they that looke vpon thee shall flee from thee, and say, Nineveh is destroyed, who will haue pite vpon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better then No, which was full of people? that lay in the rivers, and had the waters round about it? whose ditch was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none end: Put and Labim were her helpers.

10 Yet was she caried away, and went into captiuitie: her yong children also were dashed in peeces at the head of all the streetes: and they cast lots for her noble men, and all her mightie men were bound in chains.

11 Also thou shalt be drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, & shalt seeke helpe because of the enemy,

12 All thy strong cities shall be like figges with the first ripe figs: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Behold, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shall be opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire shall deuoure thy harres.

14 Draw thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holds, goe into the clay, and temper the mortar: make strong bricke.

15 There shall the fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee vp like the locusts though thou be multiplied like the locusts, and multiplied like the grasshopper.

16 Thou hast multiplied thy merchants aboute the starres of heauen, the locusts spoileth, and fleeth away.

17 They princes are as the grasshoppers, and thy captaines as the great grasshoppers which remaine in the hedges in the cold day: but when the Sunne ariseth they flee away, & their place is not knowne where they are.

18 Thy shepherdes doe sleepe, O king of Asshur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wound thy plague is grievous: all that heare the bruit of thee, shall clap their hands ouer thee: for vpon whom hath not thy malice passed continually?

CHABAKKVK.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicity of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the goodly, which endure all kind of affliction and cruelty, and yet can see none end. Therefore hee had this reuelation shewed him of God, That the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbornnesse and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the goodly should despayre, seeing this horrible confusion, hee comforteth them by this, That God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and cruelty shall be as high as: wherefore hee exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherein they should comfort themselves.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

The burden which Habakkuk the prophet did see.

2 O Lord, how long shall I cry, and thou wilt not heare: euen cry out vnto thee for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

3 Why doest thou shew me iniquitie, and cause me to behold sorow? for spoiling and violence are before me: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.

4 Therefore the Law is dissolved, and iudgement doeth neuer goe forth: for the wicked doeth compasse about the righteous: Therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Behold among the heathen and regard, and wonder, and maruile: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: yee will not beleue it, though it be told you.

6 For lo, I raise vp the Caldeans that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the breadth of the land, to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

7 They are terrible and fearefull, their iudge-ment & their dignitie shall proceede of themselves.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards and are more fierce then the wolves in the evening: and their horsemen are many, and their horsemen shall come from farre: they shall flee as the eagle hasting to meat.

9 They come all to spoile: before their faces shall be an East wind, and they shall gather the captiuities as the sand.

10 And they shall mocke the kings, & the princes shall be a scorn vnto them: they shall deride euery strong holde: for they shall gather dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they take a courage, & transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

12 Are not thou of old, O Lord my God, mine holy one? wee shall not die: O Lord, thou hast ordained them for iudgement, and, O God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euill: thou canst not behold wickednesse: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressours, and holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the fishes of the sea & as the the creeping things that have no ruler over them?

 17 They take vp all with the angle, they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, wherof they reioyce and are glad.

18 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous.

19 Shall they therefore stretch out their net, and not spare continually to slay the nations?

C H A P. II.

Against pride, conuersione, drunkennesse, and idolatrie.

I will stand vpon my watch, and set mee vpon the tower, and will looke and see what he would say vnto mee, and what I shall answer to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that hee may runne that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the last it shall speake and not lie, though it tary, wait, for it shall surely come, and shall not lye.

4 Behold, hee that lieth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith.

5 Yea indeed the proude man is as he that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, & is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him alluasions, and heareth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a taunting prouerbe against him, and say, Ho, hee that increaseth that which is not his? how long and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall they not rise vp suddenly that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoile thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, hee that couereth an euill conuentionnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on high, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou hast consulted shame to thine owne house by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the stone shall cry out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answer it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Beholde, is it not of the Lord of hosts that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall euen wary themselves for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shall bee filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour drinke: thou ioyntest thine hate and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priorities.

16 Thou art filled with shame for glory: drinke thou also & bee made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and shame shall spue thee for thy glory.

17 For the crueltye of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoile of the beasts which made them afraide, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though hee that made it trust therein, when he maketh dumbe idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that sayeth to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: behold, it is laid ouer with golde and silver, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

C H A P. III.

A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the ignominies.

1 O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afraide, O Lord, reuiue thy worke in the middes of the people, in the middes of the yeeeres make it knowne: in wrath remember mercy.

2 God commeth from Teman, and the Holy one from mount Paran, Selah, His glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise.

3 And his brightnesse was as the light: he had hornes coming out of his hands, & there was the hiding of his power.

4 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feet.

5 He stood and measured the earth: hee beheld and dissolved the nations, & the euerslasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hills did bow: his wayes are euerslasting.

6 For his iniquitie I saw the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

7 Was the Lord angry against the riuers? or was thine anger against the flood? or wast thy wrath against the sea, that thou didst ride vpon thine horses? thy charrets brought saluation.

8 Thy bow was manifestly reuelled, and the othes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah, Thou diddest cleane the earth with riuers.

9 The mountaines saw thee, & they trembled: the streame of the water passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on high.

10 The Sonne and Moone stood still in their habitation: at the sight of thine arrows they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

11 Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and didst thresh the heathen in displeasure.

12 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, even for saluation with thine annoynted: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoveredst the foundations vnto the necke, Selah.

13 Thou diddest strike thorow with his owne flames the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlwinde to scatter mee: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

14 Thou didst walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

15 When I heard, my belly trembled: my lips shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in the day of trouble, for when he commeth vp vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

16 For the figtree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit bee in the vines: the labour of the olive shall faile, and the fields shall yeeld no meat: the sheepe shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no bullocke in the stables.

17 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy in the God of my saluation.

18 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feet like hinds feet, and hee will make mee to walke vpon mine high places. To the chief singer on Neginothai.

ZEPHANIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, he denounceth the severe iudgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their country should utterly bee destroyed, and they carried away captives by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies the Philistines, Moabites, Assyrians, and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care over them. And as the wicked should be punished for their finnes and transgressions: so bee exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham, and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of soas grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

4 Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem because of their idolatry.

THe word of the Lord, which came vnto Zephaniah the sonne of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of Iosiah, the sonne of

* Amouring of Iudah,

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shall be to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chematims with the Priests,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house toppes, and them that worship and swear by the Lord, and swear by Malcham,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his gifts.

8 And it shall be in the day of the Lords sacrifice that I will visite the princes, and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparrell.

9 In the same day also will I visit all those that dance vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by cruelty and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall bee a noyse, and cry from the fish gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hills.

11 Howle yee inhabitants of the low plate: for the company of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer are cut off.

12 And at that time I wil search Ierusalem with lights, and visite the men that are frozen in their dregs, and say in their hearts, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shall bee spoiled and their horses waste: * they shall also builde houses, but not inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere, and halseth greatly, as the voyce of the day of the Lord: the strong man shall cry there bitterly.

15 That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauines, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscuritie and darkenesse, a day of clouds and blackenesse.

16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong citie, and against the high towres.

17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall bee poured out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

18 * Neither their siluer nor their gold shall bee able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the * whole land shall be deuoured by the fire of his ieioultie: for he shall make euen a speedy iudgement of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

Hee mouth to reuenge to God, 5 prophesying destruction against the Philistines, Moabites, and others, Gather your selues, euen gather you, O nation not worthy to be loosed.

2 Before the decree come soorth, and yee be as chaffe, that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lord all the mecke of the earth, which haue wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousness, seeke lowlinesse, if so be that yee may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

4 For Azzah shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall drie out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shall be rent vp.

5 Woe vnto the inhabitants of the sea coasts: the nation of the Cherechims, the word of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the land of the Philistines, I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the Sea coast shall be dwellings and cottages for shepherds and sheepsfolds.

7 And the coast shall be for the remnant of the house of Iudah, to feed thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God shall visite them, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vbraided my people, and magnified themselves against their borders.

9 Therefore, as I liue, saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Surely Moab shall be as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, euen the breeding of nettles, and salt pits, and a perpetual desolation: the residue of my folke shall spoile them, and the remnant of my people shall possess them.

10 This shall they haue for their pride, because they haue reproched, and magnified themselves against the Lord of hosts people.

11 The Lord will be terrible vnto them: for hee will consume all the gods of the earth, and euery man shall worship him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen.

12 Yee Morians also shall be slaine by my sword with them.

13 And hee will stretch out his hand against the North, and destroy Assur, and will make Nineveh desolate, and waste like a wilderness.

14 And flocks shall lie in the middes of her, and all the beasts of the nations, and the pelisane, and the Iowle shall abide in the vpper posts of it: the voice of birds shall sing in the windowes, and desolations shall be vpon the posts: for the cedars are vacuenced.

15 This is the reioycing citie that dwelt carelesse, that said in her heart, I am, and there none besides mee: how is the made waste, and the lodging of the beasts! euery one that passeth by her, shall hiss and wag his hand.

CHAP. III.

8 Against the gouernours of Ieru'sal'm. 8 Of the calling of the Gentiles. 13 A comfort to the residue of Israel.

Woe to her that is filthie and polluted, to the robbing citie.

2 Shee heard not the voyce: shee received not correction: she trusted not in the Lord: shee drew not neere to her God.

3 Her princes within her are as roaring lions, her Iudges are as wolues in the evening, which leaue not the bones till the morrow.

4 Her prophets are light, and wicked persons: her priests haue polluted the Sanctuary: they haue wreited the Law.

5 The iust Lord is in the mids thereof. he will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doth hee bring his iudgement to light: hee faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be ashamed.

6 I haue cut off the nations: their towres are desolate, I haue made their freetrees waste that none shall passe by: their cities are destroyed without man and without inhabitant.

7 I said, Surely thou wilt feare mee: thou wilt receiue instruction: so their dwelling should not be destroyed howeouer I willed them, but they rose earely and corrupted all their workes.

8 Therefore waite ye vpon me, saith the Lord, vntill the day that I rise vp to the pray: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will assemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, even all my fierce wrath: for all the earth shall be deuoured with the fire of my iellousie.

9 Surely then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lord, to serue him with one consent.

10 From beyond the riuers of Ethiopia, the daughter of my dispersed praying vnto mee shall bring me an offering.

11 In that day shalt thou not be ashamed for all thy workes wherein thou hast transgressed against me: for then will I take away out of the middes of thee, them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou shalt no more be proud of mine holy mountaine.

12 Then will I leaue in the mids of thee an humble and poore people: and they shall trust in the Name of the Lord.

13 The remnant of Israel shall doe none iniquitie, nor speake lies: neither shall a deceitfull tongue be found in their mouth: for they shall be fed and lie downe, and none shall make them afraid.

14 Reioyce, O daughter Zion: be ye ioyfull, O Israel: bee glad and reioyce with all your heart, O daughter Ierusalem.

15 The Lord hath taken away thy iudgements: he hath cast out thine enemy: the king of Israel, when the Lord is in the mids of thee: thou shalt see no more euill.

16 In that day it shall be said to Ierusalem, Feare thou not, O Zion. let not thine hands be faint.

17 The Lord thy God in the middes of thee is mighty: he will saue, he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy: he will quiet himselfe in his loue: he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy.

18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that hate the reproch for it.

19 Behold, at that time will I bruiſe all that afflict thee, and I will saue her that halteth, and gather her that was cast out, and I will get them praise and fame in all the lands of their shame.

20 At that time will I bring you againe, and then will I gather you: for I will giue you a name, and praise among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, saith the Lord.

HAGGAI.

THE ARGVMENT.

When the time of the seuentie yeeres captiuitie prophesied by Ieremiah was expired, God raised up Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi to comfort the Iewes, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spirituall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stand in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures and conuolutes, hee declareth that this plague of famine which God then sent among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods bountie, who had deliuered them. Its be comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicity, forasmuch as the Lord will finish the worke that he hath begun, and send Christ whom he had promised, and by whom they should attaine to perfect ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

In the second yeere of King Darins, in the fixt moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai, vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah. and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, saying. This people say, The time is not yet come, that the Lords house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministry of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for you Ielues to dwell in your felled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore, thus saith the Lord of hosts, Consider your owne wayes in your hearte.

6 Ye haue sown much, and bring in little: ye cate, but ye have not enough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled: ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and hee that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe vnto the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this house, and I will bee fauourable in it, and I will be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and loe is come to little, and when ye brought it home, I did blow vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? Because of mine house that is waste, and yee runne eueryman vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dew, and the earth stayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men, and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the son of Iehozadak the hie Priest, with all the remnant of the people, heard the voyce of the Lord their God, and the words of the Prophet Haggai (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the Lord of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

He sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceede the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the sixt moneth in the second yere of king Darius, 20 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministration of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake now vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you that saw this house in her first glory, and how doe you see it now? is it not in your eyes in comparison of it, as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and be of good comfort. O Iehoshua sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest: and bee strong all ye people of the land, saith the Lord, and doe it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hostes.

6 According to the word that I covenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: for my Spirit shall remaine among you, saith the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, Yet a little while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and these, and the dry land.

8 And I will moue all nations, and the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this house with glory, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 The siluer is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

10 The glory of this last house shall be greater then the first, saith the Lord of hostes: and in this place will I giue peace, saith the Lord of hostes.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the sixth moneth, in the second yere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Aske now the Priests concerning the Law, and say, 13 If one beare holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt doe touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, shall it bee holy? And the Priests answered and said, No.

14 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vnclene? And the Priests answered and said, It shall be vnclene.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before mee, saith the Lord, and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vnclene.

16 And now, I pray you, consider in your minds from this day and afore, when afore a stone was laide vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to the winepresse far to drawe out fifty vessels out of the presse, there were but twenty.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not me, saith the Lord.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your minds, from this day and afore, from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, even from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laide, consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the seed yet in the barn? as yet the vine, and the figtree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bleesse you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying, 22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I will shake the heauens and the earth.

23 And I will ouerthrow the throne of kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the chariots, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe euery one by the sword of his brother.

24 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a founteyne: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hostes.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

TWELVE moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to help him in the labours, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore he putteth them in remembrance for what cause God had so fore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them if they will repent vnfeignedly, and not abuse this great benefite of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue beene from sinne and death by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednes and obduracy to set forth Gods glory, & were not yet made better by their long banishment, he rebuketh them most sharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he neuer misseth the promise of grace, thus they might by this means bee prepared to receive Christ, in whom all should bee sanctified to the Lord.

C H A P. I.

3 He exhorted the people to returne to the Lord, and sheweth the wickednesse of their fathers. 16 Hee signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath bene sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom the for-

5 Your fathers, where are they? and doeth the Prophets liue for euil?

6 But did not my wordes and my statutes which I commanded by my seruants the Prophets, take hold of your fathers? and they returned, and sayd, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, according to our workes, so hath he dealt with vs.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleventh moneth, which is the moneth Shebat. in the second yere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I saw by night, and beheld, a man riding vpon a red horse, and hee stood among the myrthe trees that were in a bottom, and behind him were three red horses speckled and white.

9 Then said I, O my Lord, what are these? And the Angel that talked with mee, said vnto me, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrthe trees answered, and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord that stood among the myrthe trees, and said, Wee haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the Angell of the Lord answered, and said, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou bee vnmerefull vnto Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeres?

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable wordes.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto me, Cry thou, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I am ienialous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angry against the careless heathen: for I was angry but a litle, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie: mine house shall be builded in it, saith the Lord of hostes, and a line shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Cry yet, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet be broken with plenet: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and sawe, and beheld, foure hornes.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Irael, and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed mee foure carpenters.

21 Then said I, what come these to doe? And he answered and said, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their hornes ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

C H A P. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I lift vp mine eyes againe, and looked, and beheld, a man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then said I, Whither goest thou? And hee said vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And beheld, the Angel that talked with mee, went forth: and another Angel went out to meet him,

4 And laid vnto him, Run, speake to this young man, and say, Ierusalem shall be inhabited without wals, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of fire round about, and will bee the glory in the mids of her.

6 Ho, ho, come forth and see from the land of the North, saith the Lord, for I haue scattered you into the foure windes of the heauen, saith the Lord.

7 Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this glory hath he sent vnto me the nations, which spoiled you, for he that toucheth you, toucheth the apple of his eye.

9 For behold, I will lift vp mine hand vpon them: and they shall be a spoile to those that serued them, and yee shall know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me.

10 Reioyce and be glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the mids of thee, saith the Lord.

11 And many nations shall be ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the mids of thee, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherite Iudah his portion in the holy land, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

C H A P. III.

A prophetic of Christ and of his kingdom.

And he shewed me Iehoshua the hie Priest, standing before the Angell of the Lord, and Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

2 And the Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord reprobeth thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reprobeth thee. Is not this a brand taken out of the fire?

3 Now Iehoshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered, and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And vnto him he said, Behold, I haue caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

5 And I said, Let them let a faire diadem vpon his head. So they set a faire diadem vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keep my watch, thou shalt also ingo mine House, and shalt also keepe my courts, and I will giue thee place among these that stand by.

8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the high Priest, thou and thy fellows that sit before thee: for they are monstrous persons: but behold, I will bring forth the Branch my seruant.

9 For loe, the Stone that I haue laid before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shall be seuen eyes, behold, I will cut out the graining thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day saith the Lord of hostes shall yee call euery man his neighbour vnder the vine, and vnder the figtree.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlesticks, and the exposition thereof.

And the Angel that talked with me, came againe and waked me, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe,

And I said vnto me, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, and behold, a candlesticke all of golde, with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen pipes to the lampes which were vpon the top thereof.

3 And two olīue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, answered, and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto mee saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by an armie, nor strength, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.

7 Who art thou, O great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt be a plaine, and hee shall bring forth the head stone thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The hands of Zerubbabel haue laid the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of time in the hand of Zerubbabel: these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two olīue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreover, and said vnto him,

What be these two olīue branches, which thorow the two golden pipes empte themselves into the golde?

13 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two olīue branches that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

CHAP. V.

The vision of the flying booke signifying the course of tribunes, and such as abuse the Name of God, & by the vision of the measure is figured the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

Then I turned me, and lifted vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, VVhat seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then said he vnto me, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that stealeth shall be cut off, as well on this side, as on that: and euery one that sweareth shall bee cut off, as well on this side, as on that.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him that falsely sweareth by my Name, and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, went forth, and said vnto me, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an Ephah that goeth forth. He said moreover, This is the sight of them through all the earth.

7 And behold, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the mids of the Ephah.

8 And he said, This is wickednesse, and he cast it into the mids of the Ephah, and he cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there came out two women, and the wind was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a flook) and they lift vp the Ephah betwene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doeth hee beare the Ephah?

11 And he said vnto mee, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charres bee described the foure monarchies.

Again I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came foure charres out from betwene two mountaines, and the mountains were mountaines of brasie.

2 In the first charre were red horses, and in the second charre blacke horses,

3 And in the third charre, white horses, and in the fourth charre horses of diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, & said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What are these, my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and said vnto mee, These are the foure spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went south into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, them, and they of diuers colours went south toward the South country.

7 And the reddish went out, and required to go and passe thorow the world, and he said, Geepasse thorow the world. So they went throughout the world.

8 Then cried he vpon mee, and spake vnto mee saying, Beholde, these that goe toward the North Country, haue pacified my Spirit in the North Country.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

10 Take of them of the captivity, euens of Heldai and of Tobiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come then the same day, and goe vnto the house of Ioshiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen silver and gold, and make crownes and set them vpon the head of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, 12 And spake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, and saith, Behold the man whose name is the Branch, and he shall growe vp out of his place, and he shall build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen he shall build the Temple of the Lord, and hee shall beare the glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shall bee a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shall be betwene them both.

14 And the crownes shall be to Helem, and to Tobiah, and to Iedaiah, and to Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are farre off shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and yee shall know that the Lord of hosts hath sent mee vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if yee will obey the voice of the Lord your God.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people in the cause of their affliction.

AND in the fourth yere of King Darius, the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth month, euen in Chilleu.

2 For they had sent vnto the house of God Shazer, and Regem-melech, and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to speake vnto the Priests which were in the house of the Lord of hosts, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I weepe in the fifth moneth, and separate my selfe as I haue done these so many yeeres?

4 Then came the word of the Lord of hosts vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land and to the Priests, and say, When yee fasted and mourned in the fifth and seuenth moneth, euen these seuentie yeeres, did yee fast vnto me? doe I examine is?

6 And when yee did eat, & when yee did drinke, did ye noteate for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should yee not heare the words which the Lord hath cried by the ministry of the former Prophets, when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, saying, Execute true iudgment, and shew mercie, and compassion euery man to his brother.

10 And oppresse not the widow nor the fatherlesse, the stranger, nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they should heare the Law and the words which the Lord of hosts sent in his Spirit by the ministry of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hosts.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, saith the Lord of hosts.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate after them, and no man passed thorow, nor returned: for they layd the pleasant land waste.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercie of God towards them. 16 Of good works.

20 The calling of the Gentiles.

AGAINE the word of the Lord of hosts came to me, saying,

3 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I was ielous for Zion with great ielousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the mids of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called, A citie of truth, and the Mountaine of the Lord of hosts, the holy Mountaine.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, There shall yet old men and old women dwell in the streets of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streetes of the citie shall bee full of boyes and girles playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus sayth the Lord of hosts, Though it be vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vnpossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hosts?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East country, and from the West country.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the mids of Ierusalem, and they shall bee my people, and I will be their God in truth and in righteousness.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Let your handes be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these wordes by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day, that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hosts was layd, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out or came in, because of the affliction: for I set all men euery one against his neighbour.

11 But now I will not intreate the residue of this people, as aforesime, saith the Lord of hosts.

12 For the seed shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruit, and the ground shall giue ber increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and yee shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your handes be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, As I thought to punish you, when your fathers provoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hosts, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iuda: saie ye now.

16 These are the things that ye shal doe. Speake ye euery man the truth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly and wrightly in your gates.

17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false oathe: for all these are the things that I hate, sayth the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth shall bee to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnes, and prosperous iie feasts: therefore loue the truth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall goe to another saying, * Vp, let vs goe and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people, and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, euen take hold of the skirt of him that is a lew, and say, Wee will goe with you: for wee haue heard that God is with you.

C H A P. I X.

1 The threatening of the Gentiles. 9 The coming of Christ.

THe burden of the word of the Lord in the land of Hadrach: and Damascus shall be his rest: when the eyes of man, out of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shal border thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and gold as the myre of the streetes.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoyle her, and hee will smite her power in the sea, and the shal be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorrowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the stranger shal dwell in Ashdod, and I wil cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betwene his teeth: but he that remaineth, euen hee shall be for our God, and hee shall be as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall be as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now haue I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King cometh vnto thee: he is iust and saved himselfe, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the bachel shal be broken, and he shal speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall be from sea vnto sea, and from the riuer to the end of the land.

11 Thou also shalt bee saved through the blood of thy covenant: I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the strong hold, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes. O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a giants sword.

14 And the Lord shall be seene ouer them, and his arrow shal goe forth as the lightaing: and the Lord God shal blowe the Trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirlewinds of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shal defend them, and they shal deuoure them, and subdue them with slingstones, and they shal drink, and make a noise as thorum wine, and they shal be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall bee as the stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodness! and how great is his beauty: come shall make the young men chereful, and new wine the maids.

C H A P. X.

1 The vanity of idolatry. 3 The Lord promisetb to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

ASke you of the Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lord make white clouds, and giue you shoures of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely the idoles haue spoken vanity, and the fourthayers haue scene a lie, and the dreamers haue told a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore they went away as sheepe: they weretroubled because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepherds, and I did visite the goates: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as his beautifull horse in the battel.

4 Out of him shal the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bow of battel, and out of him euery appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shal be as the mightymen, which tread downe their enemies in the mire of the streetes in the battel, and they shal fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shal bee confounded.

6 And I wil strengthen the house of Iudah, and I wil preferue the house of Ioseph, and I wil bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shal bee as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them,

7 And they of Ephraim shal be as a giant, and their heart shal reioyce as through wine: ye, their children shal see it, and be glad: and their heart shal reioyce in the Lord.

8 I wil hide for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shal increase, as they haue increased.

9 And I wil sow them among the people, and they shal remember me in far countreys: and they shal lue with their children, and turne againe.

10 I wil bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Ashur: and I wil bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon, and place shal not be found for them.

11 And hee shal goe into the sea with affliction, and shal smite the waves in the sea, and all the depths of the riuer shal drie vp: and the pride of Ashur shal be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 2 The care of the faithful is committed to Christ. 3 A grievous vision against Jerusalem and Judah.

Open thy dores, O Lebanon, and the fire shall devour thy cedars.

2 Howle fire trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mighty are destroyed: howle ye, O oaks of Bashan, for the defended forest is cut downe.

3 There is the voice of the howling of the shepherds: for their glory is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lions whelps: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feed the sheepe of my slaughter.

5 They that possesse them slay them, and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, Blessed bee the Lord: for I am rich, and their own shepherds spare them not.

6 Surely I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but lo, I will deliuer the men every one into his neighbors hand, and into the hand of his king, and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will no deliuer them.

7 For I fedde the sheepe of slaughter, even the poore of the flocks, and I tooke vnto me two staves, the one I called Beauty, & the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 Three shepherds also I cut off in one moeth, and my soule loatheth them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feed you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish, and let the remnant eate, every one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, even Beauty, and brake it, that I might dissuall my Covenent, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If yee thinke it good, giue me my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirty pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the potters: a goodly price that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirty pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potters in the house of the Lord.

14 Then I brake mine other staffe, even Bands, that I might dissolve the brotherhood betwene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord said vnto me, Take to thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepherd.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepherd in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambs, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feed that that standeth vp: but he shall eat the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

17 O idole shepherd that leauest the flock: the sword, shalbe vpon his arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shalbe cleane dried vp, and his right eye shalbe utterly darkened.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

The burden of the word of the Lord vpon Israel. Faith the Lord, which spread the heavens, and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will be in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lord, I will smite every horse with astonishment, and his rider with madness, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will visite every horse of the people with blindness.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem shall see my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coales of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall devour all the people round about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalem shall be inhabited againe in her owne place, even in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preterme the tents of Iudah as aforetime: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shall not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, & he that is feeble among them, in that day, shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, spirit of grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon mee, whom they haue pierced, and they shall lament for him, as one mourneth for his only sonne, and be sorry for him as one is sorry for his first borne.

11 In that day shall there be a great mourning in Ierusalem, as the mourning of Hadradrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the land shall bewaile every family apart, the family of the house of Dauid apart, and their wives apart, the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wives apart.

13 The family of the house of Leui apart, & their wives apart: the family of Simeon apart, and their wives apart:

14 All the families that remaine, every family apart, and their wives apart.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountain of grace. 2 Of the cleane ridance of idolatrie. 3 The reule of the godly against false prophets.

In that day there shall be a fountain opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem for siue and for vncleaneesse.

2 And in that day, saith the Lord of hosts, I will cut off the names of the idoles out of the land: and they shall no more be remembered: and I will cause the Prophets, and the vncleane spirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any shall yet prophesie, his father and his mother that begate him, shall say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, shall thrust him thorow when hee prophesie.

4 And in that day shall the Prophets bee ashamed every one of his vision, when he hath prophesied: neither shall they weare a rough garment to decieve.

5 But hee shall say, I am no Prophet: I am an husband-his hand must for man's sake to be an herdsman from my youth vp.

6 And one shall say vnto him, What are these wounds in thine hands? Then he shall answer, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 ¶ Arise, O sword, vpon my shephard, and vpon the man that is my fellowe: sayth the Lord of hostes: smite the shephard, and the sheepe shalbe scattered: and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, saith the Lord, two parts therein shalbe cut off, and die: but the third shalbe left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part thorowe the fire, and will fine them as the siluer is fined, & will try them as gold is tried: they shal call on my name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

CHAP. XIII.

8 Of the doctrine that shall procede out of the Church, and of the reformation thereof.

BEhold, the day of the Lord cometh, and thy Spoile shalbe diuided in the midst of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Ierusalem to battell, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoiled, and the women desiled, and halfe of the citie shall goe into captiuitie, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then shall the Lord goe forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feete shall stand in that day vpon the mount of olives, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of olives shal cleane in the mids thereof: toward the East, & toward the West there shall be a very great valley, & halfe of the mountaine shall remoue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And ye shall see vnto the valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reach vnto Azal: yea, ye shall see like as ye fled from the earthquake, in the dayes of Vzziah king of Iudah: and the Lord my God shall come, and all the Saints with thee.

6 And in that day shall there be no cleare light, but darke.

7 And there shall be a day, (it is known to the Lord) neither day nor night, but about the euening time, it shalbe light.

8 And in that day shall there waters of life goe out from Ierusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the vntermost sea, and shalbe both in summer and winter.

9 And the Lord shalbe King ouer all the earth:

in that day shall there be one Lord, and his Name shalbe one.

10 All the land shall be turned as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ierusalem, and it shalbe lifted vp, and inhabited in her place, from Beniamin gate, vnto the place of the first gate vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Haniel vnto the kings wine presses.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shalbe no more destruction, but Ierusalem shalbe safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all people that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feet, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongues shall consume in their mouth.

13 But in that day a great tumult of the Lorde shalbe among them, & euery one shal take the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah also shall fight against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall bee gathered round about with gold and siluer, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this shalbe the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel, and of the asse, and of all the beastes that be in these tents as this plague.

16 But it shall come to passe that euery one that is left of all the nations which came against Ierusalem, shal goe vp from yeere to yeere to worship the King the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of tabernacles.

17 And who so will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euery vpon them shall come no raine.

18 And if the family of Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shalbe the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shalbe the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there bee written vpon the bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lord, and the pots in the Lords house shall bee like the boules before the Altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Ierusalem and Iudah shalbe holy vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice shal come and take of them, and seethe therein: and in that day there shall bee no more the Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hostes.

¶ MALACHI.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more until John Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more seruent desires looke for the coming of Messiah. He confirmeth the same doctrine that the two former doe, but chiefly he reprooueth Priests for their couisonnes, and for that they serued God after their own fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his word. He also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wives, murmuring against Gods patience, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would yete for his promise make vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the Covenant should be accomplished: whose coming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and joy vnto the godly.

C. A. P. I.

Assemble againſt Iſrael, and charge the Priests.
He burden wth the word of the Lord to Iſrael by the miniſtery of Malachi.

1 I have loved you, ſaith the Lord yet you ſay, Wherein haſt thou loved vs? Was not Eſau Iſaaks brother, ſaith the Lord? yet I loved Iſaak.

2 And I hated Eſau, and made his mountaineſ waſte, and his heritage a wilderness for dragons.

3 Though Edom ſay, We are impoſterhed, but we will returne and build the deſolate places, yet ſaith the Lord of hoſts, They ſhall build, but I will deſtroy it, and they ſhall call them, The border of wickednes, and the people wiſh whom the Lord is angry for ever.

4 And your eyes ſhall ſee it, and ye ſhall ſay, The Lord will be magnified vpon the border of Iſrael.

5 A ſervant ſpouſeth his father, and a ſervant his maſter. If then be a father, where is mine honour? and if I be a maſter, where is my feare, ſaith the Lord of hoſts vnto you. O Priests, that deſpiſe my Name? and ye ſay, Wherein haue we deſpiſed thy Name?

7 Ye offer vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you ſay, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye ſay, The table of the Lord is not to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the bloud for ſacrifice, it is not euill: and if ye offer the lame and ſicke, it is not euill: offer it now vnto thy prince: will he bee content with thee, or accept thy perſon, ſaith the Lord of hoſts?

9 And now I pray you, pray before God, that he may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: that he regard your perſons, ſaith the Lord of hoſts?

10 Who is there euens among you? would ſhat the dores and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleaſure in you, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the riſing of the Sun, vnto the going down of the ſame, my Name is great among Gentiles, and in euery place incenſe ſhalbe offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

12 But ye haue polluted it in that ye ſay, The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meat is not to be regarded.

13 Ye ſaid alſo, Behold, if we wearineſſe, and ye haue ſuſt: at it, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and ye offered that which was torne, and the lame, and the ſicke: thus ye offered an offering: ſhould I accept this of your hand, ſaith the Lord?

14 But curſed be the deceiver, which hath in his ſheeke a male and voweth, and ſacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrup thing: for I am a great King, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

C. H. A. P. II.

The ſayings againſt the Priests being ſeuerall of the people.

And now, O ye Priests, this commandement is for you.

2 If you will not heare it, nor conſider it in your heart, to give glory vnto my Name, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I will euen ſend a curſe vpon you, and will curſe your bleſſings: yea, I haue curſed them already becauſe ye doe not conſider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt your ſeed, & caſt dung vpon your faces, euen the dung of your ſolemne feaſts, and you ſhall be like vnto it.

4 And ye ſhall know, that I haue ſent this commandement vnto you, that my covenant which I made with Levi, might ſtand, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

5 My covenant was with him of life and peace, and I gaue him feare, and he feared me, and was a ſtand before my Name.

6 The law of truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lip: he walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests lips ſhould preferre knowledge, and they ſhould ſeek the law at his mouth: for he is the meſſenger of the Lord of hoſts.

8 But ye are gone out of the way: ye haue cauſed many to fall by the Law: ye haue broken the covenant of Levi, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

9 Therefore haue I alſo made you to be deſpised and vile before all the people: becauſe ye kept not my wayes but haue bene partiall in the Law.

10 Haue we not all one father? hath not one God made vs? why doe we tranſgreſſe euery one againſt his brother, and breake the covenant of our fathers?

11 Iudah hath tranſgreſſed, and an abomination is committed in Iſrael and in Ieruſalem: for Iudah hath deſiled the holineſſe of the Lord, which he loved, and hath married the daughters of a ſtrange people.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doth this: both the maſter, and the ſervant out of the Tabernacle of Iſaak, and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hoſts.

13 And this haue ye done againe, & covered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping & with mourning: becauſe the offering is no more regarded, neither received acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet ye ſay, Wherein? Becauſe the Lord hath been witneſſe betweene thee, and the wiſe of thy youth, againſt whom thou haſt tranſgreſſed: yet is he thy companion, and the wife of thy covenant.

15 And did not he make one? yet had he abundance of ſpirit: and wherefore one? becauſe hee ſought a godly ſeeder: therefore keepe your ſelues in your ſpirit, and let none treſpaſſe againſt the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hateſt her, put her away, ſaith the Lord God of Iſrael, yet he conuerth the iniurie vnder his garment, ſaith the Lord of hoſts: therefore keepe your ſelues in your ſpirit, and tranſgreſſe not.

17 Ye haue wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye ſay, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye ſay, Euery one that doth euill, is good in the ſight of the Lord, and he deligheteth in them, Or where is the God of indigement?

C. H. A. P. III.

Of the meſſenger of the Lord, John Baptiſt, and of Chriſts office.

Behold, I will ſend my meſſenger, and hee ſhall prepare the way before me: and the Lord whom ye ſeek, ſhall ſpeedily come to his Temple: euen the meſſenger of the Covenant whom ye deſire: behold, he ſhall come, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

2 But who may abide the day of his coming? and who ſhall endure when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers ſope.

3 And he ſhall ſit downe to trie and fine the ſiluer: he ſhall euen fine the ſons of Levi, and purifie them as gold and ſiluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in right conſcience.

4 Then ſhall the offerings of Iudah, and Ieruſalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time and in the yeres afore.

5 And I will come nerre to you to indigement.

and I will be a swift witness against the fleshyers, and against the adulterers, & against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and yet the widow and the fatherles, and oppress the stranger, and feare not to challenge the Lord of hosts.

6 For I am the Lord I change not, and ye sons of Israhel are not consumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and have not kept: howe returne vnto mee, and I will returne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes: but ye said, Wherein shall wee returne?

8 Will a man spoile his gods? yet have ye spoiled mee: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoiled thee? In riches and offering.

9 Ye are curst with a curse, for ye haue spoiled mee, saith the Lord of hosts.

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, & proue me now herewith, saith the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windows of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing without measure.

11 And I will rebuke y^e deuoerer for your sakes, and hee shall not destroy the fruite of your ground, neither shall your vine be barren in the field, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hostes.

13 Your words haue bene stout against me, saith the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?

14 Ye haue said, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profit is it, that we haue kept his commandment, and that wee walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore we count the proud blessed: euen they that worke wickednes, are set vp, and they that tempte God, yet they are deliuered.

16 Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkned, and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shall be to me, saith y^e Lord of hostes, in that day that I shall do this, for a stocke, and I will spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discern betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that feareth God, and him that serueth him not.

CHAP. III.

1 The day of the Lords, before the which Elijah should come.

FOR behold, the day cometh that shall burne as an oven, and all the proude, yea, and all that doe wickedly shall be stubble, & the day that cometh shall burne them vp, saith the Lord of hostes, and shall leaue them neither root nor branch.

2 But vnto you that feare my Name, shall the Sunne of righteousness arise, and health shall be vnder his wings, and ye shall go forth and grow vp as far as calves.

3 And ye shall tread downe the wicked; for they shall be dust vnder the soles of your feet in the day that I shall do this, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 Remember the law of Moses my seruant, which I commanded vnto him in Horeb for all Israel with the statutes and iudgements.

5 Beholde, I will send yon Elijah the Prophet before the coming of the great and fearefull day of the Lord.

6 And hee shall turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with cursing.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGVMENT.

THese Booke that follow in order after the Prophet unto the new Testament are called Apocrypha, that is, Booke which were not received by a common consent to be read and expounded publicly in the Church, neither set forward to procure any point of Christian religion, so in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonical to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as booke proceeding from godly men, were received to be read for the advancement, & furtherance of the knowledge of the history, and for the instruction of godly manners: which booke declare that at all times God had an especial care of his Church, and left them not utterly destitute of teachers, and ministers to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witness that those calamities which God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both so threatened by his Prophet, and so brought in to passe for the chastisement of their iniquities, and for the triall of his children.

CHAP. I.

Iosias appointeth Priests and keepeth the Passover. 7. Offerings for the Priests and the people. 12. The order of the Levites. 23. The captivity of Iosias. 25. His death, and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34. Joachaz appointed king. 35. The destruction of Jerusalem.

AND Iosias kept the Passover to his Lord in Jerusalem, and offered the Passover in the fourteenth day of the first month.

2 And appointed 7 Priests according to their daily courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord

3 And he spake to the Levites the holy ministers of Israel that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lord to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the house which Salomon the sonne of King David had built.

4 And said, Ye shall no more beate the Arke upon your shoulders: now therefore serve the Lord your God, & take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes.

5 After the writing of David king of Israel, and according to the maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple according to the order of the dignity of your fathers the Levites which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passover, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren and keepe the Passover after the Lords commandment given to Moses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirty thousand lambes and kids, with three thousand calves.

8 These were given of the kings possessions according to the promise to the people, and to the Priest, and to the Levites. Then gaue Hilias and Zacharias and 7 Svelus the gouernours of the Temple to the Priests, for the Passover, two thousand six hundred sheepe, and three hundred calves.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias & Samaias & Nathanael his brethren, and 7 Sabias, and 7 Chiebus, and 7 Ioram captaiues gaue to the Levites for the Passover, five thousand sheepe, and seven hundred calves.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests and the Levites stood in order, having vntuned bread according to the scripture.

11 And after the order of the dignity of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as they written in the booke of Moses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they roasted the Passover with fire, as appointed, and they lodg their offerings with perfumes in gaudrons and pots.

13 And set it before all them that were of 7 people, & afterward they prepared for themselves and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered 7 fat into the evening, and the Levites did make ready for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy fingers the house of Alaph, were in their orders according to the appointed ordinations of David, to witte, Alaph, and Azarias, and Edquins, which was of the kings appointment.

16 And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull that any should passe his ordinary watch: for their brethren the Levites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appointed to the sacrifice of the Lord were accomplished that they might offer the Passover.

18 And offer sacrifices upon the Altar of 7 to witte, according to the commandment of king Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel which were present at that time kept the Passover, and the feast of unleavened bread seven dayes.

20 And there was no such a Passover kept in Israel, since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the kings of Israel did not offer such a Passover as did Iosias, and the Priests and the Levites, and the Levites, and all Israel which were found to remaine in Jerusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yeare of the reigne of Iosias was this Passover kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were wrought before the Lord, with an heart full of good will.

public in his time, they are written before, is not, of those that sinned, and did wickedly against the Lord, about every nation and kingdom, and grievous him with I sensible things, so that the words of the Lord stood up against Israel.

25 ¶ Now after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharaoh king of Egypt came to moone waite at Carchamis upon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

26 But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying, What have I to doe with thee, O King of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee, but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with me, and the Lord hasteneth mee forward; depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his charret from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the words of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But hee set himselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megeddo, and the princes came downe to king Iosias.

30 And the king said to his seruants, Conney me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gat eue vpon his second chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem, hee changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours, and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordained in all the kingdome of Israel to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the Kings of Iudea, and euery one of the acts that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the Law of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things now rehearsed are re- gistered in the booke of the Kings of Israel & Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Ioachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in stead of his fa- ther Iosias, when he was three and twenty yere old.

35 And hee reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He taxed all the people of an hundred ta- lents of siluer, and one talent of gold.

37 And the king of Egypt made Ioachim his bro- ther king of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And hee bound Ioachaz and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twenty and nine yere old was Ioachim when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabucho- dor king of Babylon, who when he had bound him with a chaine of brasse, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy ves- sels of the Lord, and caried them away, and set them in his temple at Babylon.

42 Battall bracts, and his profanation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles, of the Kings.

43 And Ioachim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made king he was eighteen yere old.

44 And he reigned three moneths and ten daies in Ierusalem, & he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ie-rusalem, when hee was one and twenty yere olde, and he reigned eleven yeres.

47 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord, nei- ther did he feare the wordes spoken * by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

48 For after that hee was sworn to king Naba- chodonosor, hee forswore himselfe by the Name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord which was sancti- fied in Ierusalem.

50 Neuertheless, the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them backe, because hee spa- red them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that he being mooued to anger against his people for their great wickednesse, commanded the kings of the Caldeans to invade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sword round about the holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man, nor maiden, neither old man, nor childe among them.

54 But he deliuered them all into their hands, & all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great & small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke and caried away the kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the House of the Lord, and brake down the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also al y precious things ther- of, and brought them to nought, & those that were left by the sword, he caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of * Ieremias, 58 And that the land might enjoy her Sabbaths all the time that it was desolate till seventy yeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus came to the times to returne. 10 He sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returned. 16 Their aduersaries did let their building, and the kings letters for the same.

IN * the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the month of Ieremias.

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians, and he made proclamation thorowout all his kingdome, even by expresse letters.

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus king of the Persi- ans, The Lord of Israel, even the most high Lord, hath made me king ouer the whole world.

4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there bee shresholde any of you of his peo- ple, let the Lord, euen his Lord be with him, and let him go vp to Ierusalem which is in Iudea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them help him with gold and siluer,

7 With gifts, w horres, & cattel, & other things, which shalbe brought according to the vowes, into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iu- dea.

dea, and of the tribe of Benjamin and the Priests and Levites, and all whose minds the Lord had moved to goe vp, and build an house to the Lord in Ierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with silver and gold, with horses and cattell, & with divers rows of many, whose minds were stirred up.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had carried out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the temple of his idols.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, he delivered them to Michadates his treasurer, 12 By whom they were given unto Abasir the gouernour of Iudea.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand silver cups, basins of silver for the sacrifices nine and twentie, vials of gold thirtie, and of silver two thousand foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of gold and silver, which they carried away, were five thousand, foure hundred threecore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, Belemus, and Michadates, and Tabellios, and Rathumus, and Beelsethmus, and Semellius the Secretary, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle besefollowing, against them that dwell in Iudea and Ierusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the Secretary, and the rest of their consell, and the Iudges, which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowne to our lord the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked city, and build the market places, and make vp the wall thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this city be built, and the walls be finished; they will not only not endure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple goe forward, we thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing.

21 But to declare it to our lord the king, that if it be thy pleasure, it may be fought out in the books of thy fathers.

22 And thou shalt find in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this city did alwayes rebell, and did trouble both kings and cities.

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising many wayes warres therein: for the which cause also this cite was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the king, we declare it, that if this cite be built, and the wall thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, & to Beelsethmus, and to Semellius the Secretary, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria, and Phenice, these things that follow.

26 Thus read the Epistle, which ye haue receiued, therefore I commaunded that it should be kept out, and it was found that this city hath alwayes resisted against kings.

27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and know that neither king, and nor serce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which took tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commaunded to forbid these men to build vp the city, and that it be taken herde that no more be done.

29 And that those wicked things which should molest the king goe out forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the Secretary, and the rest which were ioyned with them had read the things, which king Artaxerxes had written, they moued their hearts with speed to Ierusalem, with horses and men as many.

31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yeere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

C. H. A. P. XII.

1 The fall of Darius. 2 The three wife Semesters.

Now when Darius reigned, hee made a great least to all his subjects, and wall those of his owne house, and to all the princes of Media, and Persia.

2 And to all the gouernours and captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia, of an hundred and seven and twenty provinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed; and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept till hee wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane tyme these young men of the guard, keepers of the kings body, said one to another,

5 Let every one of vs speake a sentence, and hee that shall ouercome, & whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the king shall giue him great gifts and great things in token of victory.

6 As to we are purple, & to drinke in gold, & to sleepe in gold, & a chariot with bridles of gold, an headire of fine linnen, & a chaine about his necke.

7 And hee shall sit next to Darius for his wisdom, and shall be called Darius counsellor.

8 Then every man wrote his sentence, and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of king Darius.

9 And said, when the king rose, they would giue him the writings, and whose sentence the king and the three princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victorie be giuen as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The Wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The King is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but Truth ouercometh all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they rooke the writings, and gaue them to him, and he read them.

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia, and of Media, and the gouernours, and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls.

15 And sate him downe in the counsell, and the writing was read before him.

16 Then he said, Call the young men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto me the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine,

And hold on this manner One man, how long
 10. It maketh merry heart rich, so that one remembereth neither king nor governor, and causeth to speake all things by iudgement.
 11. When men haue drunke they haue no mind to loue either friends or brethren, and a little after they draw out swords.
 12. But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.
 13. O ye men, it is not wine strongest, which com-pellethe to doe such things: and hee held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. III.

Of the strength of a King. 13. Of the strength of women. 34. Of the strength of Truth, which sentence is appoynted. 47. and his prynces answered.
 Then the second, which had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say.
 1. O ye men, are not men strongest, which haue rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?
 2. But the king is yet greater: for hee ruleth all things, & is lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commandeth them.
 3. If he bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if he bid them ouercome the enemies, they goe, and breake downe mountaines, and walles and towres.
 4. They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commandement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, as well the spoiles as all other things.
 5. And those also, which goe not to warre and battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowne it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the king; and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.
 6. Yet hee is better man: if hee bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.
 7. If he bid, Smite, they smite: if hee bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate, if he bid, Build,
 they build.
 8. If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.
 9. So all his people and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, hee eateth, and drinketh, and sleepech.
 10. For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne businesse, neither are they disobedient vnto him.
 11. O ye men, how should not the king be strongest, seeing hee is thus obeyed! So hee helde his tongue.
 12. ¶ Then the third, which had spoken of women and of the Truth, (this was Zozobabel) began to speake.
 13. O ye men, neither the mighty king, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them, or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?
 14. Women haue borne the king, & all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.
 15. Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.
 16. They also make mens garments, & make men honourable, neither can men be without women.

 17. And if they haue gathered together, gold and silver as any goodly thing, doe they not lose a faire and beautifull woman?
 18. Doe they not leaue all those things, and giue themselves wholly vnto her, and gaze and gaze vpon her, and all men desire her more then golde, or silver, or any precious thing?
 19. A man leaueh his owne father, which hath nourished him, and his owne country, and is ioyned with his wife.
 20. And for the woman hee reioycedh his life, and neither remembereth father nor mother, nor countrey.
 21. Therefore by this ye may know that the women beareth rule ouer you: doe yee not labour and trauaile, and giue, and bring all to the women?
 22. Yea a man taketh his sword, and goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon rivers.
 23. And hee for the lyon, and goeth in darknesse, and when he hath slayen, rauished and spoiled, hee bringeth it to his loue.
 24. Wherefore a man ioyeth his owne wife more then father or mother.
 25. Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.
 26. Many also haue perished and haue erred, and sinned for women.
 27. Now therefore doe you not beleaue mee? is not the king great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?
 28. Yea I saw him, and Apage the Kings concu-bine the daughter of the famous Bartsas, sitting on the right hand of the King.
 29. And she tooke the crowne off the kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and stroke the king with her left hand.
 30. Yet in the meane season the king gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, hee laughed: and if she were angry with him, hee did flatter her, that he might be reconciled with her.
 31. How then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?
 32. ¶ Then the king and the princes looked one vpon another, & he began to speake of the Truth.
 33. O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is high, and the Sunne is swift in his course: for he runneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.
 34. Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the Truth is greater and stronger then all.
 35. All the earth calleth for Truth, and the heauen blesteth it: & all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.
 36. The wine is wicked, the king is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are such, and there is no truth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.
 37. But truth doeth abide, and is strong for e-uer, and sheweth and reigneth for euer and euer.
 38. With her there is no receiuing of persons, nor difference: but she doeth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.
 39. Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudge-ment, and she is the strength and the kingdom, and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed bee the God of Truth.
 40. So hee ceased to speake, & then all the people cryed.

cried, and said, Truth is great and strongest.

43 Then the king said vnto him, Alike what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by mee, and shalt bee called my counsell.

44 ¶ Then hee said to the King, Remember the vow that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdom.

45 And to fend againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vow to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

46 Thou hast also vowed to build the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Iudea was destroyed by the Caldeans.

47 And now, O Lord the king, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence which I require of thee: I require therefore, that thou wouldest accomplish the vow which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of Heauen.

48 Then king Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards & lieutenants and captaines, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

49 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring Cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the city with him.

50 And hee wrote far all the Iewes which went vp out of his kingdom vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no prince, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward should enter into their doores,

51 And that all the region which they kept should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes which they held, 52 And that euery yeere there should bee giuen for the building of the Temple: twentie talents, vntill it were built.

53 And to maintaine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuentee) other ten talents euery yeere, 54 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the city should haue libertie, as well they as their posterity, & all the Priests that went away.

55 He wrote also touching the charges, and the Priests gacment wherein they should minister.

56 And hee wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges vntill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

57 Also hee wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the cite.

58 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoever Cyrus had commanded to doe, hee also commanded to doe it, and to send to Ierusalem.

59 And when the young man was gone forth, hee lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gave thanks to the king of heauen, 60 Saying, Of thee is the victorie, and of thee is wisdom, and of thee is glory, and I am thy servant.

61 Blessed be thou which hast giuen me wisdom: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

62 ¶ So hee tooke the letters, and went out, and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren.

63 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because hee had giuen them freedom and libertie

64 To goe vp and to build Ierusalem, and the Temple where his Name is renowned, and they reioyced with instruments of musike and ioy for euery day.

59 And the Priestes stood clothed with their long garments with muscull instruments and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbals.

60 Singing and blessing the Lorde according to the ordinance of Dauid King of Israel.

61 And they sung with loude voyce songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercie and glorie is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cryed with loud voyce, praying the Lorde for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priestes and Leuites, and chiefe men, so wis, the ancients which had seene the former House,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets and ioy cryed with loud voyce,

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda and Benjamin heard it, they came to knowe what noise of trumpets it was.

67 And they knewe that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families, said vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For wee obey our Lord as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of Asbafareth king of the Assyrians which brought vs hither.

70 Then Zorobabel and Iesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel said to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs and to you, to builde an House to the Lord our God.

71 For wee alone will build to the Lord God of Israel, as it becometh vs, and as * Cyrus the king of the Persians bade vs.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Iudea, & letted them to build the worke, and by their ambushments, and seditions, and conspiracies hindered the finishing of the building.

73 All the time of king Cyrus life: so that they were let from the building two yere vnto the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Sisinnus would let them. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23 The kings answer to the contrary.

¶ Vnto * in the second yere of the reigne of Darius, D Aggeus and Zacharias the sonnes of Addo the Prophets prophesied to the Iewes, euen vnto them that were in Iudea and Ierusalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called † vpon.

3 Then Zorobabel son of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosede stood vp, and began to builde the house of † Lord, which is in Ierusalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Sisinnus the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them,

4 And saide vnto them, By whose commandement build you this House, and this building, and enterprise all these other things? and who are the builders that enterprise such things?

5 But the ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord, after that he had visited the captiuitie,

6 That they were not letted to build vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answer was receiued.

7 ¶ The copy of the epistle which hee did write and send to Darius, SISINNUS gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute king Darius.

8 It may please the king our master plainely to vnderstand, that when we came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the cite of Ierusalem, we found in the city of Ierusalem the ancients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie.

9 Building an house to the Lord great & new, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber all ready laid vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great speede, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hand, so that it will bee finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then wee asked their ancients, saying, By whose commandement build you this House, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 We asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee denaunded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, We are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

14 And * this House was built vp many yeeres 1. King. 6. 2. agoe by a king of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heauen, * he deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Caldeans, 16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue into Babylon.

17 But in the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, king Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of gold & of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house of Ierusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne temple, Cyrus the king tooke out of the temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to † Sanabassar ruler.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he should cary away those vessels, & put them in the temple at Ierusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should be built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanabassars, being come hither, laid the foundations of the house of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building and is not finished.

21 Now therefore, if it please the king, let it bee sought vp in the kings libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it bee found that the building of the House

House of the Lord at Ierusalem hath bene done by the consent of King Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the Lord our King, let him make vs answer concerning these things.

23 Then King Darius commanded to search in the kings libraries that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a towne in the region of Media, a place where such things were layd vp for memorie.

24 In the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, king Cyrus commanded the house of the Lord at Ierusalem to be builded where they did sacrifice with the continual fire.

25 Of the which the height should bee of threescore cubites, the bredth of threescore cubites with threerowes of hewen stones, and one row of new wood of that country, and that the coasts should be payed out of the house of king Cyrus.

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, aswell those of gold as of siluer, which Nebuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Ierusalem, and brought into Babylon, should be restored to the House, which is in Ierusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also he commanded that Sisimnes gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan, and their companions, and those which were constitute captaynes in Syria and Phenice, should take heed to retrain from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Iewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And also he commanded to build it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord be finished.

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelofyria and Phenice should be diligently given to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Also corne and fale, and wine, and oile continually eury yere without faile, as the Priests which are in Ierusalem shall testifie to be spent eury day.

31 That offerings may be made to the hie God for the king and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commanded, that whosoever should transgress any thing afore spoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession, and hee bee hanged thereon, and that his goods should be the kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose Name is there called vpon, destroy every king and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or do euill to that house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

Eyr. 6. 13. 34 * I Darius the king haue ordained that it should be diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sisimnes and his companions follow the Kings commandements, and help the Iewes to build the Temple. 2 The time that it was built. 3 They keepe the Passouer.

Eyr. 6. 13. 4 Then Sisimnes the gouernour of Coelofyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzan, and their companions obeying king Darius Commandements, 5 Assisted diligently the holy workes, working with the Ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuarie.

6 And the holy workes prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophesied.

7 So they finished all things by the commaun-dement of the Lord God of Israel, & with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the Persians.

8 Thus the holy house was finished in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar, in the first yeere of Darius king of the Persians.

9 And the children of Israel, and the Priests and the Leuites and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyse.

10 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundred bulles, two hundred rammes, four hundred lambes, 11 And twelue goats for the fiane of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

12 And the Priests, and the Leuites stood according to their kindreds clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyse, and also the porters in eury gate.

13 And the children of Israel offered the Passouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and the Leuites were sanctified.

14 But all the children of the captiuitie were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

15 And they offered the Passouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their bretherne the Priests and for themselves.

16 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had separated them selves from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

17 And they kept the feast of vneleuened bread seven dayes, reioicing before the Lord.

18 Because he had turned the counsell of the king of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their hands in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Esdras cometh from Babylon to Ierusalem. 2 The copy of the commission giuen by Artaxerxes. 3 Esdras giueth thanks to the Lord. 4 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 5 His prayer and confession.

And after these things, when Artaxerxes king of the Persians reigned, Esdras the sonne of Sarias, the sonne of Ezerias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salum, 6 The sonne of Sadoe, the sonne of Achirob, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Ezias, the sonne of Memeroth, the sonne of Zazarias, the sonne of Sarias, the sonne of Boccas, the sonne of Abisum, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Elcazar, the sonne of Aaron was the high Priest.

7 This Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a Scribe well taught in the Law of Moyse, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

8 Also the king gaue him great honour, and hee found grace in his sight in all his requests.

9 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priests and Leuites and of the holy singers and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem,

10 In the seventh yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the first moneth: this was the seventh yeere of the king, (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth, 11 And came to Ierusalem, according as the Lord gaue them speed in their iourney.)

12 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that that he would let nothing passe that was in the law of the Lord, and in the Commandements; and hee taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the commission written by king Artaxerxes was given Eldras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord: the copy thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Eldras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

11 Forasmuch as I consider things with pity, I have commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, and of the Priests and Leuites which are in our kingdome, should goe with thee vnto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as bee willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me & my fewen friends the counsellors.

13 That they may visite the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord.

14 And eary the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friends haue vowed: also all the gold and siluer which shall be found in the countrey of Babylon, appertaining to the Lord in Ierusalem.

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord thy God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, as wel siluer as gold for buls and rammes and lambes, and things thereunto pertaining.

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpon the altar of the Lord thy God which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren will do with the gold or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vie of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things fouer thou shalt remember for the vie of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the kings treasure.

20 And I also king Artaxerxes haue commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoever Eldras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Higheft God, shall send for, they should giue it him with all speed, euen to the summe of an hundred talents of siluer.

21 And likewise vnto an hundred cores of corne, and an hundred peeces of wine, and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the higheft God according to the Law of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the king and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy fingers, or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor taxe be taken, nor that any haue power to taxethem in any thing.

24 Thou also Eldras according to the wisdom of God, ordeine Iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the law of thy God, and teach those which are not instructed.

25 And let all those that shall transgresse the law of God & the king, be diligently punished, either with death or other punishment, either with penaltie of money or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Eldras the scribe said, Blessed be the only Lord God of my fathers which hath put this in the heart of the king to glorifie his house which is in Ierusalem.

27 And hath honoured me before the king, and the counsellors, and all his friends and gouernours.

28 ¶ Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gatkeied men of Israel to goe vp with me.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with me out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the king.

30 Of the sonnes of Phinees, Gersom, of the sons of Ithamar, Gamael, of the sonnes of Dauid, ¶ Letrus.

31 Of the sons of Shechenias, of the sons of Phares, Zacharias, and with him were counted an hundred and fiftie men.

32 Of the sonnes of ¶ Salomon, Abeliacnias, the sonne of Zacharias, and with him two hundred men.

33 Of the sonnes of Zathor, Sechenias the sonne of ¶ Iezolus, and with him three hundred men: of the sonnes of Adin, ¶ Obeth sonne of Ionathas, and with him two hundred and fiftie men.

34 Of the sonnes of Elam, ¶ Icfias sonne of Getholias, and with him seuentie men.

35 Of the sonnes of Saphatias, Zarias sonne of ¶ Machael, and with him seuentie men.

36 Of the sonnes of Ioab, ¶ Badias sonne of Iezolus, and with him two hundred and twelue men.

37 Of the sonnes of ¶ Banid, Assalimoth sonne of Ionaphias, and with him an hundred and threescore men.

38 Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias sonne of Bebai, and with him twentie and eight men.

39 Of the sonnes of ¶ Aftath, Iohannes sonne of Acatan, and with him an hundred and ten.

40 Of the sonnes of Adoniam the last: and these are the names of them, Eliphlat, ¶ Iecoul and ¶ Iarias, and with them seuentie men: of the sonnes of ¶ Bagouth sonne of Iscacorus, and with him seenty men.

41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called ¶ Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbred them.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites, 43 I sent to Eleazar, and behold, there came ¶ Maafnan, and ¶ Alnothan, and ¶ Samajan, and ¶ Ionibon, and ¶ Nathan, ¶ Ennaton, ¶ Zacharian, and ¶ Mosollomon the chiefe and best learned.

44 And I bade them to goe to Daddus the captaine, which was in the place of the treasure.

45 With charge to bid Daddus and his brethren and the treasurers that were there, to send vs them, which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mighty hand of our Lord, learned men of the sonnes of Moisi, the sonne of Leui the sonne of Israel, ¶ Sisebebran and his sonnes and his brethren, being eightene.

47 And ¶ Alebia, and ¶ Amon, and ¶ Ofatan his brethren of the sonnes of ¶ Cananias, with their sonnes, twentie persons.

48 And of the ministers of the Temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, ¶ Ieremias, ministers of the Temple, two hundred and twentie, of whom all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And ¶ there I proclaimed a fast for the yong men before the Lord to aske of him a good iourney both for vs and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the king footmen or horsemen, or conduct for safeguard against our enemies.

51 Because wee had said to the king, that the power of our Lord should be with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lord againe according to these things whom we found fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, so was, I Eleberas and Asanias, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the silver and the gold, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them fixe hundred and fifty talents of silver, and silver vessels of an hundred talents, and an hundred talents of gold.

56 And twentie golden basins, and twelue vessels of bras, of fine bras shining like gold.

57 And I said to them, Ye are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold and the silver is a vow to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch & keepe them, till that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Leuites, and captaiues of the families of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the silver and the golde, and the vessels, and caried them to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Ierusalem according to the mightie power of our Lord with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Ierusalem.

61 And three dayes beeing past there, in the fourth day the silver that was weighed, & the gold was deliuered in the house of our Lord to J. Marmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri.

62 And with him to Elcazar the sonne of Phinees, and there were with them Iolabad the sonne of Iesus, and Jmoth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, even twelue buls for all Israel, rammes fourescore and sixtene, 65 Lambes threescore and twelue, twelue goats for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandements of the king to the kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria and Phenice, who honoured the people and the Temple of God.

Ezra 9.1. 67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the princes and the Priests, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, so was, of the Canaanites, and Chetites, and Phereites, and Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, & the holy seed is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue bin partakers of this wickednes from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soon as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire of mine head, and of my beard, and sat mee down sorrowfull and very sad.

71 Then also they that were mowed with the word of the Lord God of Israel came to mee, whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sat very sad till the evening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And said, * O Lord, I am ashamed and confounded before thy face. Ezra 9.6.

74 For our finnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, even from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our finnes therefore, and our fathers, wee with our brethren, with our kings and priests haue bin giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercy becom, O Lord, that there should be left vs a roote, and name in the place of thine holieste!

78 And that thou shouldst reucale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meat in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage wee were not left of our God, but hee gaue vs fauour before the kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meat.

80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, & raise vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea and Ierusalem.

81 And now O Lord what shall we say, hauing these things? for we haue transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruants the Prophets, saying, 82 * Because the land which ye go to inherit, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land which haue filled it with their filthieesse. Deut. 7.1.

83 Therefore now ye shall not ioyne their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes:

84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may be made strong, and eat the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workes and for our great finnes: yet Lord thou hast forborne our finnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but we againe haue turned back to transgress thy law, & to mixe vs with the vncleaneesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldst neither leaue vs a roote nor seed, nor name?

88 But, O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, even vnto this day.

89 Behold, wee are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can wee endure before thee for these things.

90 ¶ And * as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men and women, and young children: for there was a great lamentation among the multitude. Ezra 10.1

91 Then Iechonias the sonne of J. Ieel of the sons of Israel, crying out, said, O Esdras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: we haue taken in marriage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an oth concerning this to the Lord to put away away all our wines which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp, and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it appertaine, and we are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Eldras arose, and made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests and Leuites of all Israel to sweare that they would doe thus: & they sware.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Eldras had read the Law for the strange wines, 10 They promise to put them away.

17. 10. 6 Then * Eldras rose from the Court of the Temple, and went into the chamber of Ioannan the sonne of Eliasib.

2 And being lodged there, hee did eat no bread nor dranke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Ierusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Ierusalem.

4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or three dayes according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and hee cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda and Benjamin came together within three daies into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sat in the broad place of the temple, shaking because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Eldras arose, and said to them, Ye haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wines, so that ye haue augmented the finnes of Israel.

8 Now therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers.

9 And do his will, & separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wines.

10 Then all the multitude cried out, and sayd with a loud voice, We will do so as thou hast sayd.

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that we cannot stand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter.

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wines of four families, tary:

13 And let the Priests & iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

10r, 7a. 14 Then Ionathas Asahels son, & Ezecias sonne of Ithean were appointed concerning these things, and Mosollam and Sabbataus did helpe them.

10r, The. 15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

16 Eldras the Priest also chose him certaine men chiefe of their families all by name: and they satte together in the first day of the tenth moneth, to examine this matter.

17 And they made an end of the things pertaining to them that had married strange wines in the first day of the first moneth.

18 And there were found of the Priests, which had married strange wines.

19 Of the sonnes of Iesus, the sonne of Iosidec, and of his brethren, [Mathelias, and Eleazar, and Ioribus, and] Ion. dan.

20 Who also gaue their hands to cast out their wines, and offered a ramme for their reconciliation in their purgation.

22 And of the sonnes of [Phaziu, Ellionas, Macsias, Elmaclius, and Nathanael, and] Ocideias, and Talias.

26 Of them of Israel, of the sonnes of Phorus [Hiermas, and Eddias, and Melchias, and Maclius, and Eleasar, and Asbias, and] Banaia.

27 Of the sonnes of [Ela, Matthanias, Zacharias, and] Hierielas, and [Hieremoth, and Aedias.

28 And of the sonnes of [Zamoth, Eliadas, Elisimus, Othonias, Jerimoth, &] Sabbataus, & Sardus.

29 Of the sonnes of [Bebai, Ionnas, and Ananias, and] Iosabad, and Emathas.

30 Of the sonnes of [Mani, Olmus, Mamuchus, Iedaia, Isabus, Isasel, and] Jeremoth.

31 And of the sonnes of [Addi, Naathus, Moosias, Laccunus, and Naidas, and Mathanias, and] Seichel, and Balmus, and Manassas.

32 And of the sons of Annas, Elionas, and Afeas, and Melchias, and Sabbatus, & Simon, & Chosamire.

33 And of the sonnes of [Asom, Alcanus, and] Mathias, and Banaia, Eliphalat, and Manassas, and Semei.

34 And of the sonnes of [Maani, Jeremias, Mordis, Omarius, Incl, Mamai, and Pacias, and Amos, Carabasion, and Enasibus, and Mammatanaius, and Elisafas, Vamus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathanias, and of the sonnes of Ozoras, Sefis, Ezril, Azailus, Samaras, Sambis, Iosiphus.

35 And of the sonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes Incl, Banaia.

36 All these married strange wines, and put them away with their children.

37 And the Priests and the Leuites dwelt in Ierusalem, and in the country, the first day of the tenth moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houles.

38 * Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East.

39 And spake to Eldras the Priest, and reader, that he should bring the Law of Moyses which had been giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

40 Then brought Eldras the chiefe Priest the Lawe to all the multitude, both man and woman, and to all the Priests, that they might heare the Law the first day of the tenth moneth.

41 And hee read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to mid day before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Law.

42 So Eldras the Priest and reader of the Lawe, stood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there stood by him [Margathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezecias, Balasamus at his right hand.

44 And at his left hand [Phaldaius, and Sail, Melchias, Aochasaplus, Nabarius.

45 Then Eldras tooke the booke of the Law before the multitude (for hee fate honourably before them all)

46 And they all stood vpright when he expounded the Law, and Eldras blessed the Lord the most High God the most mighty God of hosts.

47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.

48 Then Iesus & Aua, & Sarabias, and Adimus, and 35 Your houses will I give vnto a people to come who shal belceue me though they heare me not, and they vnto whom I seene thew d miracle shall doe the things that I commaund them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene mee with bodily eyes, yet in heart they belceue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, beholde what great glory, and see the people that come from the East.

39 Vnto whom I will giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Iochi, Abdias, Ionas, 40 Nahum, Habacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias and Malachias (which is called also the * messenger of the Lord.)

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her own children. 18. The Gentiles are called.

¶ Thus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage, I gaue them also my cō mandements by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widowe and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnes, but with sorrow and heauinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widow & forsaken: go ye, O my children, and aske mercy of the Lord.

5 And thee, O Father, I cal for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my covenant,

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kined bee not continued.

7 Let their names be scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my covenant.

8 Woe vnto thee Affar: for thou hidest the vnrighteous in thine: O wicked people, remember

* what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorrha,

9 Whose land is mixed with cloudes of pitch, and heaps of ashes: so will I do vnto them that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 ¶ Thus saith the Lord vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Ierusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get mee glory by them, and giue them the euermlasting Tabernacles which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life, smelling of oymment: they shall neither labour nor be weary.

13 Goe ye, and ye shall receive it: pray that the time which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to wimes: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make thy feet as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that bee dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for

I haue known my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Esay and Ieremy to helpe thee, by whose counsell I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruits, 19 And as many fountaines flowing with milke and hony, and seuen mighty mountaines wherupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widow: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked:

21 Heale the wounded and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the creeple, and let the blind come into the light of my clearenesse.

22 Keepe the old and the young that are within thy walles.

23 * Wherefore thou findest the dead, take them and bury them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse: stablish their feet.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.

27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse cometh, other shal weepe & be sorrowfull, but thou shalt be merry and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuy thee, and shall do nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine hands shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Be ioyfull, O thou mother with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, & will shew mercy vnto them: for I am merciful, saith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children vntil I come, and shew mercy vnto them: for my fountaines run ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lord vpon the mount Horeb, that I should go vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O ye heathen that heare and vnderstand, Wait for your shepherd, who shall giue you euermlasting rest: for hee is neere at hand, that shall come in the end of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of thy kingdome: for the euermlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadow of this world: receive the ioy of your glory: I testifie my Saviour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, & be glad, giuing thanks vnto him that hath called you to the heavenly kingdome.

38 Arise and stand vp and behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord.

39 Which are departed from the shadow of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whose thou longest for, is fulfilled: perfect the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue been called from the

the beginning may be sanctified.

Gen. 7. 9 42 * Elders law vpon mount Sion a great people, whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs.

43 And in the midst of them there was a young man higher in stature then them all, and vpon every one of their heads he set crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much marvelled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, & said, Who are these my Lord?

45 Who answered and said vnto me, These be they that haue put off the mortall clothing, & haue put on the immortall, and haue confessed the Name of God: nowe are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then said I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it that setteth crowns on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he answered and said vnto me, It is the Son of God, who they haue confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them that had stood so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel sayd vnto me, Go thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

1 The wondrous works which God did for the people, are recited. 2 * Elders marvelled that God iustified the Babylonians to haue rule over his people, which yet are sinners also.

IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the city, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to mine heart.

3 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

4 So my spirit was fore moued, so that I began to speake fearefull wordes to the most High, and sayd,

5 O Lord, Lord, thou spakst at the beginning when thou alone plantest the earth, and gauest commandment vnto the people,

Gen. 2. 7 6 * And a body vnto Adam without soule, who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee,

Or. went forward. 7 And ledst him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth brought forth.

8 Euen then thou gauest him commaundment to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediately appointedst death to him & to his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kindreds out of number.

Gen. 6. 12 9 * And euerie people walked after their owne will, and did wonderful things before thee, and despised thy commandments.

Gen. 7. 10 10 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyedst them.

11 So that by the flood that came to euery one of them, which came by death vnto Adam.

1. Pet. 3. 20. 12 Yet thou leftest one, euen * Noe, with his household, of whom came all righteous men.

13 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth began to multiply, & the number of the children, people, and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

Gen. 12. 1 14 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, thou diddest chuse thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham.

15 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whom onely thou shewedst thy will,

16 And madest an euertlasting couenant with him, promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seed.

Gen. 31. 2. 3. 17 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Jacob, & Esau, * and didst chuse Jacob, and cast off Esau, and so Jacob became a great multitude. Gen. 25. 21, 26.

18 And when thou ledst his seed out of Egypt, thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina, Mal. 1. 2, 3

19 And inclinedst the heavens, and bowedst downe the earth, and didst mooue the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and diddest astonish the world. rom. 9. 13

20 And thy glory went through foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seed of Jacob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue. Exo. 19. 1

21 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy law might bring loath fruit in them. den. 4. 19.

22 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was overcome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him. Gen. 3. 6.

23 Thus remained weaknes ioyned with the law in the hearts of the people, with the wickedness of the root: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

24 So the times passed away, and the yeeeres were brought to an ende, * till thou didst raise thee vp a seruant called David. 1. Sam. 16. 13.

25 * Whom thou commandedst to build a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice. 2. Sam. 5. 1

26 When this was done many yeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee, 7. 5, 13

27 Following the waie: of Adam, and all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

28 Therefore thou gauest thy city ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

29 But do they that dwell at Babylon any better, that they should haue dominion of Sion?

30 For when I came thither, & saw thy wicked deeds without number (for this is the thirtieth yeere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

31 For I saw how thou sufferdest them that sinne, and sparedest the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preferred thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

32 I cannot perceiue how thy commandment to passe, At the deeds of Babylon better then them of Sion?

33 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleueed thy testimonies as Jacob?

34 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone here and there thorowout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandments.

35 Weigh thou therefore our wickednes now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

36 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy commandment?

37 Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The Angel reprimeth Elias, because hee seemed to enter into the prophesies of God.

AND the Angel that was sent vnto mee, whose name was Vriel, answered,

2 And sayde, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend prehend the wayes of the Highest.

3 Then said I, Yea my Lord. And he answered me and said, I am fene to shew thee three wayes, and to set forth three similitudes before thee.

4 Whereof if thou canst declare me, I will shew thee also the way that thou desirest to see, and I will shew thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I said, Tell on my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Go thy way: weigh me the weight of the see, or measure me the blast of the wind, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, & said, What man is borne, that can doe that which thou requirest mee, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto me, If I should aske thee how deep dwellings are in the middes of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise.

8 Peradventure thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet the hell, neither did I euer climbe vp to heauen.

9 But nowe haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue mee none answer of them.

10 Hee said moreover vnto mee, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know?

11 How should thy vessel then be able to comprehend the wayes of the highest, & now outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption that is euident in my sight?

12 Then said I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that wee should liue in wickednes, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And he answered me, and said, * I came to a forest in the plaine, where the trees held a counsell.

14 And said, Come, let vs go fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell, and said, Come, let vs goe vp, and fight against the trees of the wood, that wee may get another country for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the sand stood vp and stopped them.

18 It thou were iudge between these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie, or whom wouldest thou condemn?

19 I answered and said, Verily it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue denied: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and said, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgeth thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea for his floods: so they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are about the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and said, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to inquire of thine high things, but of such as wee daily meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whome thou hast loosed, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, & why the law of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why wee are tolled to and fro through the world as the grasshoppers, & our life is a very scare, and we are not thought worthy to obtaine mercy.

25 But what will he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked thee question.

26 Then answered hee me, and said, The more thou searcest, the more thou shalt maruaile, for the world hasteth fast to passe away.

27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrightheousnes and weaknesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowne, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is sowne, be not turned vpside downe, and if the place where the euill is sowne, passe not away, then cannot the thing come, that is sowne with good.

30 For the corne of euill saine hath bene sowne in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath bee brought vp vnto this time, and how much shall he bring forth vntill the harvest come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe how much fruit of wickednes the corne of euill feed bringeth forth.

32 And when the stalkes shall be cut downe, which are without number, how great an harvest must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and said, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yerres few and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Hasten not to be aboute the most High: for thou labourst in vaine to bee aboute him, though thou endeavour neuer so much.

35 Did not the sonnes also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shall I thus hope? and when cometh the fruit of my barne, and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and said, When the number of the seedes is filled in you: for he hath weighed the world in the ballance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not be moued or shaken, till the measure thereof bee filled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, wee are all euen full of sinne.

39 And for our sake peradventure the harvest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon the earth.

40 So he answered mee, and said, Goe and aske a woman with child when she hath fulfilled her nine months, if her wombe may keep the birth any longer within her.

41 Then said I, No, Lord, she cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as she that is with child hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauel, so doe these places haile to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall be shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it bee possible, and if I be meete therefore, 45 Shew me whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past then are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stood, and beholde, a hote burning oven passed before me; and when the flame was gone by, I looked, & beholde, the smoke had the upper hand.

49 After this there passed before mee a watry cloude, and sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormy raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then sayde he vnto mee, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past hath the upper hand. And the drops and the smoke were much.

51 Then I prayed, and sayd, May I line, thinke it thou, vntill that time? or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered me, & said, Of the tokens, wherof thou askest me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy lier for I do not know it.

us outers and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world.*

*11 Ifrael reuelled, and God deliuereth them. 35
God doeth all in his seasons.*

N Euer helpeless, concerning the tokens, beholde, the time shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shall be taken in great number, and the way of the truth shall be hid, and the land shall be barren from faith.

1 And * iniquity shall bee increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past.

2 And it shall come to passe, that one shall set in foote, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneith.

3 Yea, if God graunt thee to line, thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the Sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, and the Moone three times a day.

4 Blood shall drop out of the wood, & the stone shall giue his voice, and the people shall be moued.

5 And he shall rule, of whom they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the foules shall change place.

6 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which many shall not know, but they shall all heare the voice thereof.

7 There shall be a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, and the wilde beastes shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beare monsters.

8 And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all riuers shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and vnderstanding depart into his secret chamber.

9 It shall be fought of many, & yet not be found: then shall vnrighteousnes and voluptuousnes haue the upper hand vpon earth.

10 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorow thee? and it shall say, No.

11 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

12 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe and weep, as now, and last seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

13 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefullnesse went through all my body, and my mind was feeble, and fainted.

14 But the Angel ¶ was come to talke with me, held me, comforted me, & set me vp vpon my fette.

15 And in the second night Salathiel ¶ captain of the people came vnto me, saying, Where hast thou bin? and why is thy countenance so heavy?

16 Knowest thou not that Iſraell is committed vnto thee in the hand of their captiuitie?

17 Vp then, and care, and forlake vs not as the shepheard that leaueh his flock in the hands of the cruell wolues.

18 Then said I vnto him, Go thy wayes from me and come not nere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

19 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning and weeping, as Vriel the Angel had commanded me.

20 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grievous vnto me againe.

21 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe.

22 And said, O Lord, Lord, of euery forest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

23 And of all landes of the world thou hast chosen thee one pit, and of all the floures of the ground, thou hast chosen thee one lillie.

24 And of all the depths of the sea, thou hast filled thee one river, & of all builded cities, thou hast sanctified Zion vnto thy selfe.

25 And of al the foulest that are created, thou hast named thee one dowe: and of all the cattell that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

26 And among all the multitude of people, thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou lovest, thou gauest a law, that is proued of all.

27 And now, O Lord, why hast thou given this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one root thou hast set o' hers, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

28 They tread them down, which haue withstood thy promises, and beleene not thy testimonies.

29 And if thou didst so much hate thy people, they should haue beene punished with thine owne hands.

30 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 31 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

32 And I said, Speake on my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art fore vexed and troubled for Iſraels sake. Louest thou them better then he doeth that made them?

33 And I said, No, Lord: but of very sorow haue I spoken: for my teines paine me euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgment.

34 And he said vnto me, Thou canst not. And I said, Wherefore, Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Iakob, and the griefe of the stocke of Iſrael.

35 And hee said vnto me, Number vnto me the things that are not yet come, or gather me ¶ drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

36 Open me the places that are closed, and bring me forth the winds that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voice, & then will I declare thee the thing that thou askest, and labourst to know.

37 And

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things whereof thou askest me?

40 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst doe none of these things that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefit that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I said, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue been before mee, or wee that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And hee said vnto mee, I will compare my Iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so is there no slacknesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and said, Couldst thou not make at once those that haue been, & those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered he me, The creature, said he, cannot preuent the Creator, neither can the world hold them at once that shall be created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou, which giuist strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now also containe all men at once.

46 And hee said vnto mee, Aske the wombe of a woman, & say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth? require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot but by distance of time.

48 Then said he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seede is sown vpon it.

49 For as a yong childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordained the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and said, Seeing thou hast now shewed mee the way, I will proceede to speake before thee: for our mother whom thou hast told me is yong, draweth she aere vnto age?

51 Hee answered mee, and said, Aske a woman that tranaieth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shall answer thee, Some were borne in the floure of youth, others were borne in the time of age when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that yee are lesse of stature then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you lesse then ye, as the creatures which now begin to be old, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shew thy seruant, by whom dost thou gouerne thy workmanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath for secret all things in his secret counsell, and is author thereof, and hath created them for his children. 25 The felicity of the age to come.

And hee said vnto me, In the beginning when the round world was made, and before the borders of the world were set, and before the windes blew one against another:

2 Before the noise of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did thine forth, before the foundations of paradise were laid:

3 Before the false flowers did appeare, before the innumerable powers were established, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the ayre, were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimneys in Sion were hote:

5 Before the present yeres were fought out, and before the affections of them that now sine, were turned away, and they that haue laid vp the treasure of faith were sealed.

6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me also they shall be ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and said, What shall be the diuision of times? or when shall be the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And hee said vnto mee, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Iacob and Esau were borne of him, ^{Gen. 1} 12. Iacob's hand held first the heele of Esau.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Iacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing, Eldras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, and said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an end to shew thy seruant thy tokens, whereof thou shewdest mee part the last night.

13 So hee answered me, and said, Stand vp vpon thy seate, and heare a mighty founding voice.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shall not be mooued.

15 And therefore when hee speaketh, be not afraid: for of the end shall be the word, and of the foundation of the earth shall it be vnderstood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth, and is moued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vpon my seate, and hearkened: and behold, there was a voice that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters.

18 And it said, Behold, the dayes come that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth

19 And when I begin to inquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnes haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled,

20 And the world that shall vanish away, shall be sealed, then will I shewe these signes: the bookes shall be opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a yere old shall speake with their voices: the women with child shall bring forth vtinely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall liue that are raised vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the sower places appeare as the vn'owen, and the full storehouses shall suddenly bee found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

24 At that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies, & the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

25 Whosoever remaineth from all these things that I haue told thee, shall be saved and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall bee changed and turned to another meaning.

17 For euill shall be put out, and deceit shall be quenched.

18 But faith shall flourish: corruption shall bee overcome, and the truth which hath been so long without fruit, shall come forth.

19 And when hee talked with mee, behold, I looked a little vpon him before whom I stood.

20 And these words he said vnto me, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

21 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen dayes more, I will tell thee more things and greater then these which I haue heard in the day.

22 For thy voyce is heard before the Highest: surely the mighty hath seene thy righteous dealing: he hath seene also thy chastity, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

23 Therefore hath he sent mee to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not.

24 And haiste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the later times.

25 And after this I wept againe, and fasted seuen dayes in like manner, that I might fulfill the three weekes which he had appointed me.

26 And in the eighth night was my heart vexed within me againe: and I began to speake before the most High.

27 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

28 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (even the first day) and commandedst * that the heauen and the earth should bee made, and the worke followed thy word.

29 And then was there the spirit, and the darkness was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voice as yet created of thee.

30 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might gine light to thy worke.

31 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenly ayre, & commandedst it, that going betwene it should make a diuision betwene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

32 Vpon the third day thou commandedst, that the waters should bee gathered together in the seventh part of the earth: sixe parts diddest thou drie, and kept them to the intent that of these there should bee that should serue thee, being sowne of God, and tilled.

33 As soone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

34 For immediately great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diners pleasures for the taste, and flowers of vnchangeable colours, and odours of a most wonderfull smell, and these things were created the third day.

35 Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order of the Starres, 36 And gauest them a charge to doe * seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

37 And vpon the fifth day thou saydest vnto the seventh part, * where the waters were gathered: that it should bring forth beasts, as foules and fishes: and it was so.

38 For the dumbe waters, and without life, brought forth liuing things at the commandment of God, that the nations might praise thy wondrous worke.

39 Then didst thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Lemnathan,

40 And diddest separate the one from the other for the seventh part: where the water was gathered could not hold them.

41 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part wherein are a thousand hilles.

42 But vnto Lemnathan thou gauest the seventh part, that is swet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

43 Vpon the sixth day thou gauest commandment vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, cattell, and creeping things.

44 And besides this Adam, whom thou madest lord ouer all the workes which thou hast created, of him come we all, and the people also whom thou hast chosen.

45 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

46 As for the other people which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessell.

47 And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue been reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

48 And we thy people (whome thou hast called thy first borne, the only begotten, and thy seruient louer) are giuen into their hands.

49 If the world then be created for our sakes, why haue wee not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie, 12 God aduersitise th all in time, 28 The coming and death of Christ, 32 The resurrection and last iudgement, 43 after which all corruption shall cease, 48 All fill in Adams, 59 The true life, 63 The mercies and goodnesse of God.

And when I had made an end of these wordes, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had been sent downe to me the nights afore.

1 And hee said vnto me, Vp, Eldras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

2 And I said, Speake on my God. Then said he vnto me, The sea is set in a wild place, that it might be deepe and great.

3 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow and like the riuers,

4 Who could goe into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule? If hee went not thorow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

5 There is also another thing: a citie is builded and set vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things.

6 The entrance thereof is narrow, and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

7 And there is but one path betwene them, euen betwene the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there.

8 If this citie were giuen to a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorow the perill before it, how could he receive his inheritance?

9 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he, So is the portion of Israel.

10 Surely for thir sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

11 Then were the entrances of the worlde made narrow, full of sorrow and trauell: they are but few and euill, and full of perils and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the foreworld were wide and large, and brought immortall fruit.

14 If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these strait and brittle things, they cannot attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thyselfe, seeing thou art corruptible? And why art thou moored, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

Deut. 8. 1.

17 Then said I, O Lord-Lord, seeing thou hast ordeined in thy Law, that y^e righteous should inherit these things, & that the vngodly should perishe, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he said vnto me, there is no Iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perishe in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue to auoyde punishment.

22 Neuertheles they were not obediēt vnto him but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselves by their wicked deeds, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they haue ynfaihtfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his workes.

25 And therefore, Elias, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.

26 Behold, the time shall come that these tokens which I haue told thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and she shall come soorth, and be seene that now is vnder the carth, 27 And whosoer shall escape these euils, hee shall see my wonders.

28 For my Sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine shall reioyce within foure hundred yeres.

29 After these same yeeeres shall my Son Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shall be turned into the old silence for seven dayes, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is the yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die, that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seat of Iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an end.

34 Iustice onely shall continue: the truth shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The worke shall follow, and the reward shall be shewed: the good deede shall be of force, and vngodlynesse shall beare no rule.

Gm. 18.

Exod. 32.

3. 11.

36 Then said I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomiters, and * Moses for the fathers that sinned in the wilderness,

37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz and Samucl,

38 And * David for the destruction, and * Salom. 3. 5. mon for them that came into the Sanctuary,

39 And * Elias for those that receiued raine, and 3. Cor. 1. 17. for the dead that he might liue, 40 And * Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diners others for many.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherfore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then he answered me, and said, This present life is not the end, oft times honour is retained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weakes.

43 But the day of iudgement shall bee the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancie shall passe away: infidelitie shall be cut off: righteousnesse shall grow vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man be able to fane him: that is destroyed, nor oppress him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I answered then, & said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bin better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that he should not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to bee in heauen, &c. and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but she fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee. Rom. 5. 18.

49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there bee promised, an immortall life, when wee doe the workes that bring death?

50 And that an euertlasting hope should bee promised vs, seeing that we betide our selues to deadly vanitie?

51 And that these should be appointed vs dwellings of health & safety, if wee haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High should be kept to defend them, which haue led a patient life, if wee haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And y^e eternal paradise should bee shewed whose fruit remaineth incorruptible wherein is safety and health, if we will not enter into it?

54 (For we haue bene conuerfant in vnpleasant places)

55 And that the face of them which haue abstained, should shine more then starres, if our faces bee blacker then darkenes?

56 For while we liued, wee did not remember when we did vnrighteously, that wee should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the manner of the battell, which man that is borne in the earth, shall fight, 58 That if he be overcome, he should suffer as thou hast said: but if hee gett the victorie, he should receiue the thing that I said.

59 For this is the life whereof Moses spake vnto the people while he liued, saying, * Chuse thee life that thou mayest liue. Deut. 30. 19.

60 Neuerthelesse, they beleened him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauineesse should not be so to their destruction, as joy should come vnto them, to whom saluation is perswaded.

62 I answered then & said, I know, Lord, that the most he is called mercifull, in that he hath merie upon them which are not yet come to that world.

63 And that he hath pitie on those that walke in his Law.

64 And that he is patient, for he long suffereth those that haue sinned as his creatures.

65 And that he is liberrall: for hee will giue as much as needeth.

66 And that he is of great mercie: for hee overcommeth in mercie those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 He pardoneth also: for if hee gaue not of his goodnesse, that they which haue done euill might be reliev'd from their wickednesse, the ten thousand part of men should not remaine alive.

69 And if he being iudge forgave not those that be healed with his word, and tooke away the multitude of finnes.

70 There should peradventure bee very few left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is small. 6 The works of God are excellent. 20 Esdras prayer for him and for his people. 29 The promise of salvation to the iust. 55 The destruction of the uniuers.

ANd hee answered me, saying, The most High Amade this world for many, but the world to come for few.

3 I will tell thee a similitude. O Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shall say vnto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pots, but little dust that gold commeth of, so is it with the worke of this world.

3 * There bee many created, but few shall bee saved.

4 Then answered I, and said, Then swallow vp the wit, O my soule, and deuoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giueth thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that wee may intreat thee that thou mayest giue seede vnto our heart, & prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruit of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may line, who canner himselfe for nigh?

7 For thou art alone, and we all are one workmanship of thine hands, as thou hast said.

8 For when the body is fashioned now in the wombe, and thou hast giuen it members, thy creature is preferred by fire and water, and the worke created by thee doth suffer nine moneths the creature which is fashioned in it.

9 But the thing that containeth, & that which is congeined, shall both be preferred, & when time is come, the wombe being preferred, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast conuainced the members euen the breasts, to giue milke vnto the fruit appointed to the breasts.

11 That the thing which is created may hee nourished for a time, till thou disposest it to thy mercy.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousnesse, nurturest it in thy Law, and reformest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou sayest it as thy creature, and giueth it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy commandement, that the thing also which is made might be preferred.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I will speake (as touching men in general thou shalt rather provide) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am sorie, 16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne: for Israel for whom I am wisfull, and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieved.

17 For them will I pray before thee, as well for my selfe as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the sudden coming of the Iudge which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, and vnderstand my words which I will speake before thee. The beginning of the words of Esdras before he was taken vp:

20 O Lord that lineest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the aire,

21 Whose throne is ineffimable, and his glory incomprehensible, before whom the hoste of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde and fire, whose word is true, and saying stedfast, whose commandement is strong, and gouernment tenible, 23 Whose looke drieth vp the depths, & wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away, as the thing beareth witness.

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answer.

26 Looke not vpon the finnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Think not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let it not beethy will to destroy them which haue lined like beasts, but looke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure with them which appeare worse then beasts, but loue them that alway put their trust in thy righteousness and glory.

31 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sickness: but because of vs that are sinners thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull toward vs which haue no workes of righteousness.

33 For the righteous which haue laid vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest be so grieved toward it?

35 * For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousness and thy goodnesse shall be praised, if thou be mercifull vnto them which haue not the substance of good workes.

37 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, some things hast thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy words it shall be.

38 For I will not verely consider the workes of them before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

39 But * I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation and the reward that they shall haue.

42. Like as I haue spoken now, so shall it come to passe.

43. For as the husbandman soweth much seede vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sown cometh not vp in time, neither yet doth all that is planted take root: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world be saved.

44. I answered then, and said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

45. Like as the husbandmans seed perisheth; if it come not vp, and receiue not raie in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raie:

46. So perisheth man which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his father, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, & likened him vnto the husbandmans seed.

47. Bee not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercie vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

48. Then answered hee me, and said, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

49. For thou art farre off, that thou shouldst looe my creature aboue me: but I haue oft times drawn neere vnto thee, and vnto it: but neuer to the vnrighteous.

50. In this also art thou marueilous before the Highest,

51. In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becometh thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

52. For many miseries and calamities remaine for them that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

53. But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

54. For vnto you is Paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared: plenteousnes made ready: the citie is builded, and rest is prepared: perfitt goodnes and absolute wisdome.

55. The roote of euill is sealed vp from you, the weaknesse and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell lieth corruption to be forgotten.

56. Sorowes are vanish away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

57. Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

58. For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his Law, and forooke his wayes.

59. Moreover, they haue troden downe his righteousnes,

60. Saying in their heart, That there was no God, though they knew that they should die.

61. For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish:

62. But they after they were created, haue defiled the name of him that made them, and are vnthankefull vnto him which prepared life for them.

63. Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

64. These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and said,

65. Behold now, O Lord, thou hast shewed mee the many wonders which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

1. All things in this world haue a beginning, and an end. In Turnments for the wicked after the life.

2. The number of the wicked is more then of the good.

3. The fewer in number: 34. Therefore they perish.

35. The vision of a woman lamenting.

36. He answered mee then and said, Measure the time with thy selfe: and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe which I haue told thee before,

37. Then shalt thou vnderstand that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visite the world which he made.

38. Therefore when there shall be seen an earthquake in the world, and an vprize of the people.

39. Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things, from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

40. For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest:

41. So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effects and miracles.

42. And every one that shall escape life, and shall be deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleueed,

43. Shall be preserved from the said perils, & shall see my saluation in my land, and within my borders: for I haue kept me holy from the world.

44. Then shall they haue pite of themselves which now haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully shall dwell in paines.

45. For such as in their life haue receiued benefites, and haue not thanked me.

46. But haue abhorred my Law, while they were yet in libertie, & whē they had yet leasure of amendment, and would not vnderstand but despised it.

47. They must be troubled it after death by paine.

48. And therefore bee thou no more carefull to know how the vngodly shall bee punished, but enquire how the righteous shall be saved, and whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

49. Then answered I, and said,

50. I haue afore said that which I sayd now, & will speake it hereafter, that there be many moe of them which perish, then of them that shall be saved.

51. As the sound is greater then a drop.

52. And hee answered me saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers bee, so are the colours: as for such as the workman is, such is the worke: and as the husband man is, so is his husbandrie: for it was the time of the world.

53. Surely, when I prepared the world which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now liue, no man spake against mee.

54. For then every one obeyed, but now the manners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall feed, and by a Law whereout they cannot rid themselves.

55. So I considered the world, and beheld, there was perill, because of the deuises that were spring vp into it.

56. Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, & haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

57. Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant which I haue dressed with great labour.

58. Neuertheles, if thou wilt cease seven dayes moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

59. But shalt go into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eat onely of the floures of the feldes, and este no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the floures onely, 32 And pray vnto the most High continually, then wilt I come and talke with thee.

33 So I went my way, as hee had commanded mee, into the field which is called Ardath, and there I sate among the bowres, and did cate of the herbes of the field, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

34 And after seuen daies as I sate vpon the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore.

35 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most High, and to say, rod. 19. and 24. Gen. 4.

36 O Lord, when thou wouldst shew thy selfe vnto vs, * thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wilderness in a place where no man dwelleth in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt, 37 And expressly spakest vnto them, saying, Heare me, O Israel, and marke my wordes, thou seed of Iacob.

38 For behold, I sowe my Law in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that yee may be honoured by it for ever.

39 But our fathers which received the Law, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appaere, neither could it, for it was thine.

rod. 32.
40 * For they that receiued it perished, because they kept not the thing that was sown in them.

41 And Joe, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seed, or the Sea a ship, or a vessell meate and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sownen, or wherein any thing is put,

42 Likewise the thing that is sownen, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, doe not remaine with vs, but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

43 For we that haue receiued the Law perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it.

44 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

chap. 10.
45 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about mee, and vpon the right side * I saw a woman which mourned sore, and lamented with a loud voice, and was grieved in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.

46 Then I left my thoughtes wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 47 And said vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sorie in mind?

48 And she said vnto me, Sir, let mee alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorrow: for I am sore vexed in my mind, and brought very low.

49 Then I said vnto her, What aileth thee? tell me.

50 And she said vnto mee, I thy seruant haue bin barren, and haue had no childre, hauing an husband thirtie yeeres.

51 And euery houre and euery day these thirtie yeeres, I pray to the most High day and night.

52 And after thirtie yeeres, God heard mee thine handmaid, and looked vpon my misery, considered my trouble, and gaue mee a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my country, and wee gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

53 And I nourished him with great trauaile.

54 So when he grew vp and came to take a wife I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

Elfdas and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

¶ When my sonne went into his chamber, hee fell downe and died.

55 Then we all ouerthrow the light, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort mee: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

56 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fled, and am come into this field as thou seest.

57 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eate nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast vntill I die.

58 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angrily, and said, 59 Thou foolish woman aboue all other, seest thou not our heinaines, and what commeth vnto vs?

60 For Sion our mother is all wofull, and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extreamely.

61 Seeing wee be all now in heinaines, and make our mone (for wee be all sorrowfull) art thou sorie for one sonne?

62 Demaund the earth, and shee shall tell thee that it is shee which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

63 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and behalde, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

64 Who should then rather mourne, shee that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sorie but for one?

65 But if thou wouldst say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruit of my wombe which I brought forth with heauynesse, and bare with sorrowes.

66 But the earth is according to the manner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

67 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with tranell, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

68 Now therefore withholde thy sorrow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

69 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

70 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

71 ¶ Then she said vnto me, I will not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

72 So I continued to speake more with her, and said, 73 Doe not so, but be counselled: for how many fallas hath Sion? be of good comfort because of the sorow of Ierusalem.

74 For thou seest that our Sanctuary is layed waste: our Altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:

75 Our Psalterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, and the light of our candlelicke is quenched, and the Ark of our covenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priests are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgines are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoiled, and our children destroyed, and our young men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weakes.

76 And which is the greatest of all, Sion the scale hath lost her worship, for shee is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

34 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, and put away the multitude of sorrowes, that the Almighty may bee mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

35 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraide of her, and mused what it might be.

36 And behold, immediately shee call out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noyse of the woman.

37 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto me no more: but there was a city builded, and a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraide, and cryed with a loude voyce, and said,

Chap. 1.1. 38 Where is Vriel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for hee hath caused me to come into many & deepe considerations, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

39 And as I was speaking these words, beholde, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

40 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he tooke me by the right hand, and comforted me, and set me vpon my feete, and said vnto me, 41 What altheth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sorie?

Chap. 1.2. 42 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken mee, and I haue done * according vnto thy words: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse.

43 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

44 Then said I, Speake vnto mee my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

45 For I haue seene that I knew not, and heare that I doe not know, 46 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doth my mind being haunie, erre?

47 Now therefore I beseech thee, that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

48 Then he answered mee and said, Heare mee, and I will enforme thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most High hath reuealed many secret things vnto thee.

49 Hee hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sorie continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

50 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision which appeared vnto thee a litle while agoe.

51 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganest to comfort her.

52 But now seest thou the likenes of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

53 And whereas shee told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution.

54 This woman which thou sawest, shee is Sion, and whereas shee told thee (euen shee which thou seest now as a citie builded.)

55 And as touching that shee said vnto thee, that shee was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there were euen thirtie yeeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

56 But after thirtie yeeres Salomon built the citie and offered offerings, then bare the barren a sonne.

57 And whereas shee told thee that shee nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem.

58 But whereas shee told thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died, when she came vnto her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Ierusalem.

59 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou beganest to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced, these are to be opened vnto thee.

60 For now the most High seeth that thou art sorie in thy minde, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, hee shewed thee the clearnesse of her glory, and the fairenesse of her beautie.

61 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

62 For I knew that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

63 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the field, where no foundation nor building is.

64 For the worke of mans building cannot stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed.

65 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but goe in, and see the beautie and greatnesse of the building, as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

66 And after this thou shalt heare as much as thine eares may comprehend.

67 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the few.

68 But to morow at night thou shalt remaine here.

69 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High will do vnto them that dwell vpon earth in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another, as he had commanded mee.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an Eagle comming forth of the sea, and of her feathers. 27 Of a lion comming out of the forest.

Then saw I a dreame, and beholde, there came vp from the sea an Eagle, which had twelue feathered wings and three heads.

1 And I saw, and beholde, shee spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the ayre blew on her, and gathered themselves.

2 And I behelde, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became litle feathers and small.

3 But her heads remained still, and the head in the mids was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

4 Moreover, I saw that the Eagle flew with his feathers, and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

5 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, nor was one creature vpon earth.

6 I saw also that the Eagle stood vp vpon her claws, and spake to her feathers, saying,

7 Watch not altogether, sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

8 But lett the heads be preferred for the last.

9 Neuertheless, I saw that the voice went not out of her heads, but from the mids of her body:

10 Then I numbered her contrary feathers, and beholde, there were eight of them.

11 And I looked, and beholde, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

12 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp, and reigned: it continued a long time.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voyce vnto it and said,
16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long:
this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to ap-peare no more.

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the other one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and behold, in proceesse of time the feathers that followed, stood vpon the right side that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and beholde, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the Eagles be-die, but two heads that reled, and fixe wings.

24 Then saw I also that two wings diuided themselves from the fixe, and remained vnder the head that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and beholde, the vnderwings thought to set vp themselves, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there ouer set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second was sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I behelde, and loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselves to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, beholde, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the mids, for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I saw that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And beholde, the head was turned with them that were with it; and did care vpon the two vnder wings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, and bare rule in it ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth, with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and beholde, the head that was in the mids, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I behelde, and loe, the head vpon the right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which said vnto mee, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I saw, and beholde, as it were a Lyon that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I saw that hee sent out a mans voyce vnto the Eagle, and spake and said,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, & the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that that of the foure beasts re-mainest, whom I made to reigne in my world, that by them the end of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath overcome all the beasts that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearfulness, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou hast not iudged the world with truth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the mecke, whom hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast ioned hyars, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought foorth fruit, and hast cast downe the wallies of such as did thee no harme.

43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto the Mighty.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proude times, and behold they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more thou Eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked claws, nor all thy vaine body,

46 That all the earth may bee refreshed, and come againe as one deliuered from thy violence, and that the may hope for the iudgement and mercy of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

And when the Lion spake these words to the Eagle, I saw,

2 And beholde, the head that had the vpper hand appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more that came to it, and set vp themselves to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vprours.

3 And I sawe, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Eagle was burnt so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and from the great feare, and said vnto my spirit,

4 Lo, this thou hast done vnto mee, in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

5 Loe, yet am I weary in my minde, and very weake in my spirit, and little strength is there in me for the great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore now I will beseech the most High, that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayr indeede be come vp before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and shew me thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule,

9 Seeing thou hast iudged mee worthy to shew me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision.

11 The Eagle whom thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the * kingdome, which was seene in the Dan. 7. 7.
vision of thy brother Daniel.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Behold, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall be feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue kings reigne one after another.

15 Whereof the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie which thou sawest.

17 As for the voyce that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not goe out from the heades, but from the mids of the body thereof, this is the interpretation,

18 That after the time of that kingdome there shall shall arise great strife, and it shall bee in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall bee restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnder wings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation.

20 In him shall arise eight Kings, whose time shall be but small, and their eeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time commeth: there shall be foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall bee kept vnto the end.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation.

23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth.

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much grieue aboute all those that were before them: these foue are they called the heads of the Eagle.

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sword shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last shall he fall by the sword himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnder wings that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation.

30 These are they whom the most High hath preferred for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble, as thou sawest.

31 And the Lion whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the words that thou hast heard, 32 This is the winde which the most High hath kept for them, and for their wickednesse vnto the end, and hee shall reprove them, and cast before them their spoiles.

33 For he shall set them aliuie in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them, and correct them.

34 For hee will deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preferred vpon my borders, and he shall make them ioyfull vntill the coming of the day of iudgement whercof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely hast bene mee to know this secret of the most High.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene, in a booke, and hide them.

38 And teach them the wise of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

39 But waite thou here yet seven dayes moe, that it may be shewed thee whatsoever it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee: and with that hee went his way.

40 And when all the people perceived that the seven dayes were past and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them altogether from the least vnto the most, and came vnto me, and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue we offended thee? or what euill haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, & as a candle in a darke place, and as an haire or shippe preferred from the tempest.

43 Are not the eails which are come vnto vs, sufficient?

44 If thou then forsake vs, how much better had it bene for vs that we had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt?

45 For wee are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a loud voice. Then answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie, O thou house of Iacob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the deuolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercie for the low estate of your Sanctuarie.

49 And now go your way home euery man, and after these dayes, I will come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them.

51 But I remained still in the field, seven dayes, as he had commanded me, and did eate only of the flowers of the field, and had my meate of the herbs in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII

The vision of a winde coming forth of the sea, & which became a man. & his prophecies and power against his enemies. & the declaration of his vision.

And after the seven dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a winde from the sea, and it moued all the waves thereof.

3 And I looked, and behold, there was a mighty man with the thousands of heauen: and when hee turned his countenance to looke at the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it seeth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the lower windes of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and behold, hee graued himselfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place wherewith the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I saw after these things, and behold, all they which came to fight against him were sore afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Nevertheless, when hee sawe the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, hee lifted not vp his hand: for he held no sword nor any instrument of warre.

10 But onely as I saw he sent out of his mouth as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue hee cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, & this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and fell with violence vpon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust, and smell of smoke.

When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 Afterward saw I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ierfall countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered: and I was sick through great feare, and awaked, and said,

14 Thou hast shewed thy seruants these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted mee worthy to receiue my prayer, 15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, Wo vnto them that shal be left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behind.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauenes.

18 Now vnderstand I the things that are layd vp in the latter dayes, which shall come both vnto them, and to those that are left behind, 19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easer that he that is in danger should fall into these, and forsee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shewe thee, and I will open vnto thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behind, this is the interpretation.

23 He that shall beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that bee fallen into danger, are such as haue works and faith towards the most Mightie.

24 Know therefore, that they which be left behind, are more blessed than they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, Whereas thou sawest a man coming vp from the mids of the sea, 26 The same is hee whom the most High hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliuer his creatures, and hee shall order them that are left behinde.

27 ¶ And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blast with fire and storme, 28 And that he neither hold sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse hee destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation.

29 Behold, the dayes come that the most High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And hee shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shal prepare to fight against another, Mat. 24 7 cite against cite, and place against place, * and nations against nation, and realme against realme.

32 When this cometh to passe, then shal the tokens come that I shewed thee before, and then shal my sonne bee reuealed, whom thou sawest go vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euery man shall in their owne land leaue the battel that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shall bee gathered as one as they that bee willing to come, and to fight against him:

35 But hee shall stand vpon the toppes of mount Sion.

36 And Sion shall come, and shall bee shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as then sawest the hill grauen out without any hands,

37 And this my sonne shall rebuke the wicked inventions of these nations, which for the wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shall be tormented: and without any labour will hee destroy them, euen by the Lawe, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that hee gathered an other peaceable people vnto him, 40 Those are the tribes which were caried away captiues out of their owne land, * in the time of Ofeasthe king, whom Salmanafor the King of the Assyrians tooke captiue, & caried them beyond the river: so were they brought into another land. 2 King. 17-3.

41 But they tooke this counsell to themselves, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into another countrey, where neuer mankind dwelt,

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entered in at the narrow passages of the river Euphrates.

44 For the most High then shewed them signes, * stayed the springs of the flood till they were passed ouer. Exod. 14. 21-22.

45 Forthorow the countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a yere, and a halfe, and the same region is called Ararat.

46 Then dwell they there vncill the latter time: and when they come forth againe, Or. Ararat.

47 The most High shall hold still the springs of the iuer againe, that they may goe thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that be left behind of thy people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Now when hee destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, hee shall defend the people that remaine, 50 And then shall hee shew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, shewe mee this, wherefore haue I feared the man coming vp from the mids of the sea?

52 And he said vnto me, As thou canst neither see out, nor know these things, that are in the deep of the sea, so can no man vpon earth see my Sonne, or those that be with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightned.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne lawe, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisdom, and hast called vnderstanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I shewed thee the rewardes with the most High: and after three other dayes I will speake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.

57 Then I went forth into the field glorifying, and praising the most High for the wonders which hee did in time, 58 Which hee governeth, and such things as come in their seasons: and there I ate three dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

3 How God appeared to Moyses in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter time is worse then the former. 29 The ingratitudes of Israel. 35 The resurrection and iudgements.

Vpon the third day I ate vnder an oke, and behold, there came forth a voyce vnto mee out of the bush, and said, Eldras, Eldras, Exod. 3.

3, 8.

2 And I said, Here am I, Lord, and stood vp vpon my feet.

3 Then said he vnto me, * In the bush I reuealed my selfe, and spake vnto Moyses, when my people serued in Egypt.

4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long season.

5 And I told him many wonders, and shewed him the secrets of the times, and the end, and commanded him, saying,

6 These wordes shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou hide.

7 And now I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations which which thou hast heard.

8 For thou shalt bee taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine henceforth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.

9 For the world hath lost his youth, and the times begin to waxe old.

10 For the world is diuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as bee in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature.

14 And set aside thy most grieuous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from thesetimes.

15 For greater evils then those which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the evils be increased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the truth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and sayd before thee,

19 Behold, O Lord, I will goe as thou hast commanded mee, and reforme the people which are present: but they that shall bee borne afterward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the world is set in darknesse, and they that dwell therein are without light.

21 For thy law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that shall be done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, sende the holy Ghost into mee, and I will write all that hath beene done in the world sincke the beginning, which was written in thy Lawe, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the later dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe, and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for forty dayes,

24 But prepare thee many boxe tables, and take with thee these five, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly, 25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out till the things bee performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfect men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wife: to morrowe this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and said, 28 Heare these wordes, O Israel.

29 * Our fathers at the beginning were strangers Gen 47-49

in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered,

30 And receiued y law of life, * which they kept After 7.

not, which ye also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot, but your fathers and yee also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes which the most High commanded you.

32 And forasmuch as he is a righteous Iudge, he tooketh from you in tyme the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now yee are here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that yee will subdne your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, yee shall be kept aliove, and after death shall ye obtaine mercie.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when we shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous be manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these forty dayes.

37 So I tooke the five men as hee commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, behold, a voyce called mee, saying, Eldras, * open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and behold, he reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had drunke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisdom grew in my breast: for my spirit was strengthened in memory.

41 And my mouth was opened, & that so more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the five men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In forty dayes they wrote two hundred and foure booke.

45 And when the forty dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vnworthy may reade it.

46 But keepe the seuenthy last, that thou mayest giue them to the wife among the people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisdom, and the riser of knowledge, and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophesie of Eldras is certain. 2 The cists that shall come: ou the world. 3 The Lord will avenge the innocens blood. 4 Egypt shall lament. 5 Sedition. 6 And punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 7 Cursed ere they that sune. 8 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 9 God is the reuenger of his elect.

Behold, I speake thee in the cares of my people the wordes of prophesie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord.

2 And canst them to be written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfithfulness of the speakers trouble thee thas that spake against thee.

4 For every vnsaithfull shall die in his vnsaithfulness.

5 Behold, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death, and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore saith the Lord, I wil hold my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer him in the things that they doe wickedly.

Rev. 6. 10 8 Behold, the innocent and righteous blood and 19. 2. crieth vnto me, and the soules of the iust cri continually.

9 I will surely avenge them, saith the Lord, and receive vnto mee all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is ledde as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt.

11 But I will bring them out with a mighty hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the laude thereof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall be smitten with the plague and punishment that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile thorow the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Woe vnto the world, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sword and their destruction draweth neere, and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swords in their hands.

16 For there shall bee sedition among men, and one shall insaue another: they shal not regard their king, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to go into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall be afraid, men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no pitee vpon his neighbor, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shall be spoyled for lacke of bread, and because of their great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I call together all the kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them, & to repay the things that they haue done to them.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompense them in their boosome, thus saith the Lord God, 22 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shed innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandement, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children from the power: desile not my Sanctuary.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth hee them vnto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the world, & ye shal remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because ye haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible vision cometh from the East.

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many chariots, and the multitude of them shall be caried as the wind vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the bores of the forest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and shal turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shal be troubled, and keep silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemies besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their host shall bee feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Behold, cloudes from the East, and from the North vnto the South; and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, and the blood shalbe from the sword vnto the belly.

36 And the dung of man vnto the camels litter.

37 And there shall bee great fearefulnesse and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shall bee afraid, and a trembling shal come vpon them.

38 And then there shal come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shal windes arise, and shall open it with the cloud, which he raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West wind, shalbe destroyed.

40 And the great and mighty cloudes shall be life vp full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afraid, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out our currency hie place, and lifted vp; au horrible constellation.

41 As fire and haile, and flying swords, and many waters: that all fields may be full, and all riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and trees of the wood, and the grasse of the meadowes, and their corne.

43 And they shall go with a straight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraid.

44 They shall come to her and besiege her, and shall powre forth the constellation, & all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shal bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall doe seruice vnto them that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia that art partaker of the hope of Babylon and the glory of her person, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her: and hast deckt thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glory in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God,

49. I will fend plagues vpon thee, widowhood, poverty and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50. And the glory of thy power shall be dried vp, as a flower when the heate riseth that is sent vpon thee.

51. Thou shalt bee sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mightie and the lowly shall not be able to receiue thee.

52. Whould I thus hate thee, saith the Lord.

53. If thou hadst not alway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine handes, and said ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54. Set forth the beauty of thy countenance?

55. The reward of thy whoredome shall be in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56. As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57. And thy children shall die of hunger, & thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the fi eld.

58. And they that be in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eate their owne flesh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread, and thirst of water.

59. And thou as vnhappy, shalt come thorow the sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60. In the passage they shall cast downe the slaine citie, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61. When thou shalt bee cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall be to thee as fire.

62. And they shall destroy thee, & thy cities, thy land and thy mountaines: all thy woods, and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63. Thy children shall they carry away captiue, and shall spoile thy substance, and mane the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1. Against Babylon, Asia, & Egypt, and Syria. 2. Of the euils that shall come vpon the world, with admonition how to gouerne themselves in afflictions. 3. To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commend themselves to the Lord, 4. whose mighty prouidence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WOe to thee, Babylon and Asia: we to thee, Egypt and Syria.

5. Gird you selues with sack and hairecloth, and mourne your children, and be sory for your destruction is at hand.

6. A sword is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

7. Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

8. May any man driue away an hungry lion in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrow that is shot of a strong archer?

9. The mightie Lord lendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

10. He shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?

11. The Lord shall threaten, & who shall not vtterly be broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quake, and the foundation thereof: the sea arise, and the waves thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord, and the glory of his power.

12. For strong is his right hand that bendeth the bow: his arrowes, that he shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

13. Behold, the plagues are sent, & shall not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

14. The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.

15. As an arrow which is shot of a mighty archer returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

16. Wo is me, wo is me: who will deliuer me in these dayes?

17. The beginning of sorrowes and great mourning, the beginning of famine and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things when the plagues come?

18. Behold, famine, and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.

19. But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednes, nor be alway mindfull of the scourges.

20. Behold, viuals shall be so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselves to be in good case: but then shall the euils be sent forth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine, and great confusion.

21. For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

22. And the dead shall be cast out as dung, & there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

23. There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

24. The grapes shall be ripe, but who shall tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voice.

25. For of one city there shall be ten left, and two of the field, which shall hide themselves in the thick woods, and in the clefts of rocks.

26. As when there remaine three or foure oliues in the place where oliues growe, or among other trees,

27. Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought trow the vineyard:

28. So in those dayes there shall be three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword,

29. And the earth shall be left waste, and the fields thereof shall waxe olde, and her wayes, and all her pathes shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall trauell therethrough.

30. The virgins shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

31. In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, & their husbands shall perish with famine.

32. But ye seruants of the Lord, heare these things and marke them.

33. Behold the word of the Lord, receiue it, beleeue not the gods of whō the Lord speaketh: behold, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

34. As a trailling woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth forth her foale, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines gins come vpon her body, and when the childe cometh to the birth, they tary not a whit.

33 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorow shall come vpon it on every side.

34 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

35 He that selleth, let him be as he that selleth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that will lose.

36 Who so occupieth merchandise, as hee that winneth not: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein.

37 Hee that soweth, as one that shall not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as hee that shall not gather the grapes:

38 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marry not, so as the widowes.

39 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine,

40 For strangers shall reape their fruit, & spoile their goods, and ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

41 And they that occupy their merchandise with countresses, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 42 So much more will I be angry against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

43 As an whore smutch an honest and vertuous woman,

44 So shall righteousness hate iniquity, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when she shall come that shall bridle the author of all sin vpon earth.

45 And therefore be ye not like therunto, nor to the workers thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquitie shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousness shall reigne among you.

46 Let not the sinner say that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which faith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

Zule 16. 47 Behold, the Lord * knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts, and their hearts.

Gen. 1. 1. 48 * For as soone as hee said, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

49 By his word were the starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them.

Ps. 147. 50 Hee searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

51 Hee hath shut the sea in the mids of the waters, and with his word hath hee hanged the earth vpon the waters.

52 Hee spreadeth out the heauen like a vail vpon the waters: hath hee founded it.

53 In the desert he hath made springs of water, and pooles vpon the toppes of the mountaines, to poure out floods from the high rocks, to water the earth.

54 He made man, and put his heart in the mids of the body, and gaue him breath, life, and vnderstanding.

55 And the Spirit of the Almighty God, which made all things, & hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth.

56 He knoweth your inuentions, and what you imagine in your heart, when ye sin and would hide your finnes.

57 Therefore hath the Lord searched and sought out all your works, and will put you all to shame.

58 And when your finnes are brought forth before men, ye shall be confounded, & your owne finnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

59 What will ye doe, or how will ye hide your finnes before God and his Angels?

60 Behold, God himselfe is the Iudge, feare him: cease from your finnes, and forger your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them, so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

61 For behold, the beate of a great multitude is kindled against you, & they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meat to the idoles.

62 And they that consent vnto them, shall bee had in derision, and in reproch, and troden vnder foot.

63 For in euery place and cities that are neere, there shall bee great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

64 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoile and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

65 For they then shall waste and spoile their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

66 Then shall the trial of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tried by the fire.

67 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord: behold, the daies of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not ye afraid: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

68 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, sayeth the Lord God, let not your finnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselves vp.

69 Woe vnto them that are bound with their finnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, and the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to bee deuoured with fire.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobits parentsage. 2 His godlines. 3 His equity. 4 His charity and prosperity. 5 He seeketh for his goods are confiscated. 6 And after restored.

THe booke of the words of Tobit, sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Adul, the sonne of Gabael, of the seed of Asael, and of the tribe of Nephthalim.

2 Who in the time of I Enemessar king of the Affyrians was * ledde away captiue out of Thisbe, 2 Kings 17.3. which is at the right hand of that city, which is called properly Nephthalim in Galilee about Afer.

3 (Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of truth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren which were of my nation, and came with me to Nineue into the land of the Affyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne Countrey in the land of Israel, being but young, all the tribe of Neph.

Nephthimany father fell from the house of Ierusalem, which was chosen out of all Tribes of Israel, that all the Tribes should remember there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most High was consecrated and built up for all ages.

Now all the Tribes which fell from God, you and my father Nephthimany house offered to the heifer called Baal.

But I, as he was ordained to all Israel by an everlasting decree, went alone often to Jerusalem at the Feast, bringing the first fruits and the tithes of bread, with that which was first borne, and offered them at the altar to the Priests, the children of Aaron.

The first tenth part I gave to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Jerusalem; the other tenth part I sold, and eat and bellowed it every year at Jerusalem.

The third tenth part I gave unto them to who it was meete, as Debora my father's mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupill.

Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of mine own kindred, and of her I begat Tobias.

But when I was led captive to Nineue, all my brethren and those which were of my kindred, did eat the bread of the Gentiles.

But I kept my selfe from eating,

Because I remembered God with all my heart.

Therefore the most High gave me grace and favor before Enemessar, so that I was his purveyor.

And I went into Media, and I delivered ten talents of silver to Gabael the brother of Gabrias in the land of Media.

But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I could not goe into Media.

But in the time of Enemessar, I gave many almes to my brethren, and I gave my bread to them which were hungry.

And my clothes to the naked: and if I saw any of my kindred dead, or call about the walls of Nineue, I buried him.

And if the King Sennacherib had slaine any when he was come and fled from Iudea, I buried them privily for in his wrath hee killed many; but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the king.

Therefore when a certaine Nineuite had accused me to the king, because I did bury them, I hid my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

Then all thy goods were spoiled, neither was there any thing left me besides my wife Anna, and my sonne Tobias.

Nevertheless, within sixe & fifty dayes two of his sons killed him, and they fled into the mountains of Arrarath, and Sarchedonus his son reigned in his stead, who appointed over his fathers accounts, and over all his domesticall affaires, Achicharus, my brother Anders sonne.

And when Achicharus had made a request for me, I came again to Nineue: now Achicharus was cupbearer & keeper of the signet, and steward, and oversaw the accounts: so Sarchedonus appointed him next unto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

CHAP. II.

Tobias with the fish sits on his table. He leaveth the feast to bury the dead. How hee becometh blinde. His wife laboureth for his healing. He becometh againe his father's friend.

Now when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored unto me with my son Tobias in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seven weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I ate downe to eat.

And when I saw abundance of meat, I said to my sonne, Goe and bring what power thou shalt see thou shalt find of our brethren which doth remember God, and lo, I will say for thee.

But he came againe, & said, Father, one of our nation is strangled & is cast out in a market place.

Then before I had tasted any meat, I turne up and brought him into mine house, untill the going downe of the Sunne.

Then I returned, and washed, and ate my meat in heavinesse.

Remembering that prophesie of Amos, which had said, Your solemne feasts shall bee turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wailing.

Therefore I wept, & after the going down of the Sun, I went and made a grave, and buried him.

But my neighbors mocked me, and said, Dost hee not feare to die for this cause, who fled away, and yet lo, hee burieth the dead againe?

The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house, because I was polluted, and having my face vnsoiled,

And I knew not that sparrows were in the wall, and as mine eyes were open, the sparrows cast down warme dung into mine eyes, and a whitenesse came in mine eyes, and I went to the physicians, but they helped me not. Moreover, Achicharus did nourish me, untill I went into Helimias.

And my wife Anna did take widens works to doe.

And when shee had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gave a kid.

Which when it was at mine house, she began to bleat, I said unto her, From whence is this kid? is it not stolen? tender it to the owners: for it is not lawfull to eat any thing that is stolen.

But she said, It was given for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleue, and baile her to render it to the owners, and I did blush, because of her. Furthermore the Gid, Where are thine almes and thy righteousness? Behold, they all now appeare in thee.

CHAP. III.

The prayer of Tobias. Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came unto her. Her prayer heard. The Angel Raphael sent.

Then I being sorrowfull, I did weep, and in my sorrow prayed, saying,

O Lord, thou art iust and all thy workes, and all thy waies are mercy and truth, and thou iudgeth truly and iustly for ever.

Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my sinnes, nor mine ignorances, or my fathers which have sinned before thee.

For they have not obeyed thy commandments: wherefore thou hast delivered vs for a spoile, and vnto captiuitie, and to death, and for a prophesie of a reproch to all them among whom we are disperfed, and now thou hast in my and iust causes.

To do with me according to my sinnes & my fathers, because wee haue not kept thy commandments, neither haue walked in truth before thee.

Now therefore deale with me as seemeth best vnto thee, and command my spirit to be taken from mee, that I may be dissolved, and become earthe: for it is better for mee to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorrowful: command therefore that I may be disloined out of this distress, and goe into the euertlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day, that in Ecobane a cite of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maids.

8 Because she had been married to seven husbands, whom Asmodeus the euill spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Dost thou not know, said they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had now seven husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore dost thou beseech us for them? If they be dead, go thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When he heard these things, she was very sorrowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled her selfe. And she said, I am the onely daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the grave with sorrow.

11 Then he praied toward the window, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.

12 And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes and my face toward thee.

13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captivity: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath he any man child to be his heire, neither any neere kinsman or child borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seven husbands are now dead, & why should I liue? But if it please not thee that I should die, command to looke on me, and to pittie me, that I doe no more heare reproch.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the Maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that hee might take away the whiteness of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to bind Asmodeus the euill spirit, because he belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entered into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

C H A P. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his soune.

¶ CHA. 14. IN that day Tobit remembered * the siluer which he had deliuered to Gabael in Rages at the death of Media,

2 And said with himselfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias, that I may admonish him before I die?

3 And when he had called him, he said, My sonne, after that I am dead, bury mee, and despit not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which shall please her, and anger her not.

4 Remember my sonne, how many dangers shee sustained when thou wast in her wombe.

5 And when she dieth, bury her by me in the same graue.

6 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will be set to sinne, or to transgresse the commandements of God. Doe vp rightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vngodly counsels: for if thou dole truly, thy doings shall prosperously succede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

7 Giue * almes of thy substance: & when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye be enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 * Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, be not afraid to giue a litle almes.

9 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessity.

10 * Because that almes doth deliuer from death, and suffreth not to come into darkenesse.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most hie, to all them which vset it.

12 Beware of all * whoredome, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seede of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke: for we are the children of the Prophets. Noe, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my sonne, that they married wiues of their owne kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shall inherite the land.

13 Now therefore, my sonne, I omit thy brethren, and despit not in thine heart thy brethren, the sons and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction and much trouble, and in fiercenesse is scarcity and great pouerty: for fiercenesse is the mother of famine.

14 Let not the * wages of any man which hath wrought for thee, tary with thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: be circumspect my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be well instructed in all thy conversation.

15 * Do that thou see no man which thou hatest: drink not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drunkenesse goe with thee in thy iourney.

16 * Giue, of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked, and * of all thine abundance giue almes, and let not thine eye be enuious when thou giuest almes.

17 ¶ Powre out thy bread on the buriall of the iust, but giue nothing to the wicked.

18 Aske counsell alway of the wife, and despit not any counsell that is profitable.

19 Bless the Lord God alway, and desire of him that thy wayes may be made straight, and that all thy purposes and counsels may prosper: for euery nation hath not counsell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and hee humbleth whom hee will, as hee will: now therefore, my sonne, remember my commandements, neither let them at any time bee put out of thy mind.

20 * Furthermore I signify this to thee, that I deliuered ten talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabriael at Rages in Media.

21 And feare not, my sonne, for as much as we are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God and flee from all sinne, and do that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

C H A P. V.

1 Tobias sent to Rages: 4 Hee meeteth with the Angel Raphael, which did command him.

Tobias then answered, and said, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the handwriting, and said vnto him, Seeke thee a man which may goe with thee, while I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and Therefore when he was gone to seek a man, behind Raphael the Angel.

But he knew not, and said vnto him, May I go with thee into the land of Media, and knowest thou those places well?

To whom the Angel said, I will go with thee:
for I have remained with our brother Gabael.

Then Tobias said to him, Tary for me till I tell my father.

Then he said vnto him, Go, and tary not: so hee went in, and said to his father, Behold, I have found one which will goe with me. Then he said, Goe him with thee, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to goe with thee.

So he called him, and hee came in, and they saluted one another.

Then Tobias said vnto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe and family thou art.

To whom he said, Dost thou seeke a stocke or family, or an hired man to goe with thy sonne?
Then Tobias said vnto him, I would know, brother, thy kindred and thy name.

Then he said, I am of the kindred of Azarias, and Ananias the great, and othy brethren.

Then Tobias said, I Thou art welcome brother, be not now angry with me, because I have enquired to know thy kindred & thy family: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke; for I know Ananias and Iocathas, sonnes of that great Samaïas: for wee went together to Ierusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenths of the fruits, and they were not dectined: with the errors of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

But tell me, what wages shall I giue thee?
with thou a great day, and things necessarie as to mine owne soune?

Yea moreover, if ye returne safe, I will adde something to the wages.

So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and go you on Gods Name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father said, Goe thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen prosper your iourney, & the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both, and departed, and the dogge of the yong man with them.

But Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobias, Why halt thou sent away our sonne? Is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

Would to God wee had not laid money vpon money, but that it had begone call away in respect of our sonne.

For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doeth suffice vs.

Then said Tobias, Be not carefull my sister: he shall returne in safety, and thine eye shall see him.

For the good Angel doeth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and hee shall returne safe.

Then shee made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

Tobias delivered from the fish. 7 Raphael sheweth him certain medicines. 10 He could teach him how to see.

As when they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tigris, and there abode.

And when the yong man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the river, and would haue devoured him.

Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish, and the yong man took the fish, and drew it to land.

To whom the Angel said, Cut the fish and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

So the yong man did as the Angel commanded him: and when they had roasted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

Then the yong man said to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what aileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

And hee said vnto him, Touching the heart, and the liuer, if a deuill or an euill spirit trouble any, wee must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and he shall be no more vexed.

As for the gall, anoint a man that hath white nebbish eyes, and he shall be healed.

And when they were come neere to Rages,

The Angel said to the yong man, Brother, today we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin:
he also hath one only daughter named Sara: I will speake for her, if she may be giuen thee for a wife.

For to thee doth the right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kindred.

The maid is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, and I will speake to her father; that we may make the marriage when wee are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another according to the law of Moyses: for he should detour death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee, then to any other man.

Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maye hath bene giuen to seven men, who all died in the ma-riage chamber.

I am the only begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid, lest I goe in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit loneth her, which hurteth no body but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare lest I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life, because of me, to the graue with sorrow: for they haue no other son to bury them.

Then the Angel said vnto him, Dost thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldst marry a wife of thine owne kindred? wherefore heare me, O my brother: for shee shall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shall she be giuen thee in marriage.

And when thou shalt goe into the marriage chamber, thou shalt rake of the hote coales for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish.

Which if the spirit doe smell, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, & pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pity on you, and saue you: feare not, for shee is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and shee shall goe with thee: moreover, I suppose that shee shall beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard these things, hee loved her, and his heart was effectually ioyced to her.

CHAP. VII.

Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this young man to Tobit my cousin?

And Raguel asked, Whence are you, any brethren? To whom they sayd, That they were of the tribe of Nephthali, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

Then he said vnto them, Doe ye know Tobit our kinsman? And they sayd, We know him. Then said he, Is he in good health?

And they sayd, He is both alieue, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father.

Then Raguel leaped & kissed him, and wept,

And blessed him, and said vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was sorrowfull and wept.

And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreover they receiued them with a ready mind, and after that they had killed a ram of the flocke, they set much meate on the table. Then said Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakst in the way, that this businesse may be dispatched.

So hee communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel said to Tobias, Eat, and drinke, and make merry.

For it is meet that thou shouldest marry my daughter: neuerthelesse, I will declare vnto thee the truth.

I haue given my daughter in marriage to few men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuerthelesse, be thou of good courage and merry. But Tobias said, I will eat nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, and betroth her to me.

Raguel said then, Marrie her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine, God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

Then he called his daughter Sarra, and shee came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Beholde, take her after the * law of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and he blessed them.

And called his wife Edna, and he tooke a booke, and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

Then they began to eat.

After Raguel called his wife Edna, and said vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, & bring her in thither.

Which when she had done as he had bidden her, she brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares.

And said vnto her, Bee of good comfort, my daughter, the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy sorrow: bee of good comfort my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4. Hee prayeth to God with his wife. 11. Raguel prepares a graine for his sonne in law. 16. Raguel blesteth the Lord.

And when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

And as he went, he remembered the words of Raphael, and tooke coales for perfumes, and put the heart and the liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

The which smell when the euill spirit had smelled, hee fled into the y most parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, and said, Sister arise, and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thy holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauen bless thee, and all thy creatures.

Thou madest Adam, and gauest him * Gen. 1. 7. his wife for an helpe and stay: of them came man- 18. 21. kinde: thou hast said, It is not good that a man should be alone, let vs make vnto him an aide like vnto himselfe.

And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly, therefore grant me mercie, that we may become aged together.

And she said with him, Amen.

So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graine, Saying, Is not he dead also?

But when Raguel was come into his house,

He said vnto his wife Edna, Send one of the maides, and let them see whether hee be alive: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

So the maid opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleepe,

And came forth and told them that hee was alieue.

Then Raguel praised God, and said, O God, thou art worthy to be praised with all pure and holy praise: therefore let thy Saints praise thee with all thy creatures: and let all thine Angels and thine elect praise thee for euer.

Thou art to be praised, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercie.

Thou art to be praised, because thou hast had mercy of two that were the only begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercie, O Lord, and finish their life in health, with ioy and mercie.

Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graine,

And hee kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

For Raguel had said vnto him by an oath, that hee should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the marriage were expired,

And then hee should take the halfe of his goods, and returne in safety to his father, & should haue the rest when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabriel to Tobias marriage.

Then Tobias called Raphael, and said vnto him,

Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes, to Gabael, and bring mee the money, and bring him to the wedding.

For Raguel hath sworne, I shall not depart.

But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very fory.

So Raphael went out, & came to Gabael, and gaue him y hand writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed vp, and gaue them to him.

And in the morning they went soorth both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with childe.

CHAP. X.

Tobias and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10. Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

Now Tobit his father counted every day, and when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

Tobit sayd, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue them the money?

3. Thierd.

3. Therefore he was very fow.
 4. Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, feeling he taryeth: and she began to bewaile him,
 and said,

5. Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6. To whom Tobit sayd, Hold thy peace: be not carefull: for he is safe.

7. But she said, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not: my sonne is dead, and he went out euery day by the way which they went, neither did she eate meate on the daytime, and did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias, vntill the foureteeen dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworn that he would tary there.
 Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let mee goe, for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8. But his father in law said vnto him, Tary with me, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9. But Tobias said, No, but let me goe to my father.

10. Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and money.

11. And he blessed them, and sent them away saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12. And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father, and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and hee blessed them. Edna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, and grant that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Behold, now I commit thee to my daughter as a pledge: doe not intreat her euill.

CHAP. XI.

1. The returne of Tobias to his father. 2. How he was received. 3. His father hath his sight restored, and praiseth the Lord.

After these things Tobias went his way, praising God that he had giuen him a prosperous iour-ney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew neere to Ninue.

2. Then Raphael sayd to Tobias, Thou knowest brother, how thou didst leaue thy father.

3. Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house.

4. And take in thine hand the gall of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

5. Now Anna late in the way looking for her sonne.

6. Whom when he saw comming, then said to his father, Behold, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7. Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.

8. Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rub and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9. Then Anna ran forth, and fel on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die:
 and they wept both.

10. Tobias also went forth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him,

11. And tooke hold on his father, and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Bee of good hope, my father.

12. And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them,

13. And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, he fell vpon his necke.

14. And hee wept, and said, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15. For thou hast scourged me, and hast had pitie on me: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne being glad, went in, and tolde his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16. Then Tobit went out to meet his daughter in law, reioyng and praising God to the gate of Ninene: and they which saw him goe, marvelled because he had receiued his sight.

17. But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pitie on him. And when he came neere to Sarra his daughter in law, hee blessed her, saying, Thou art welcom daughter: God be blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father:
 and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Ninene.

18. And Achiacharus and Nasbas his brothers sonne came.

19. And Tobias marlage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

1. Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him, 2. the which he would recompence. 3. 4. 5. Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

Then Tobit called his son Tobias, and said vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man which went wth thee, and thou must giue him more.

2. And he said vnto him, O father, it shall not grieve me to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3. For he hath brought me again to thee in safety, & had made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4. Then the old man said, It is due vnto him.

5. So he called the Angel, and sayd vnto him, Take halfe of all that ye haue brogght, and goe away in safety.

6. But he tooke them both apart, and sayd vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, and praise him for the things which hee hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shew forth his euident works with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7. It is good to keepe close the secrets of a king, but it is honourable to reueale the works of God:
 doe that which is good, & ne euill shall touch you.

8. Prayer is good with fasting and almes and righteousness. A little with righteousness is better then much with varietie of goodnesse: it is better to giue almes then to lay vp gold.

9. For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doeth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes and righteousness, shall be filled with life.

10. But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11. Surely I will keepe close nothing from you:
 neuerthelesse, I sayd it was good to keepe close the secret of a king, but that it was honorable to re-ueale the workes of God.

12. Now therefore when thou didst pray, and Sarra thy daughter in law, I did bring to memory your prayer before the Holy one: and when thou didst bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13. And when thou wast not grieved to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good

14 And now God hath sent mee to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael one of the seven holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe forth before his holy Maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their faces: for they feared.

17 But he said vnto them, Feare not, for it shall goe well with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

Gen. 12. 3 19 *All these daies I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eat nor drinke; but you saw it in vision.

10 Now therefore give God thanks: for I goe vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they arose, they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderful workes of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared vnto them.

A thanksgiving of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

Then Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, & said, Blessed be God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his kingdome.

Ps. 137. 1 *For he doeth leaues, and hath pity, he leadeth to hell, and bringeth vp: neither is there any that can auoid his hand.

2 Confesse him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

3 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before all the lining: for hee is our Lord and our God, and our Father for euer.

4 Hee hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercys againe, and will gather vs out of all nations among whom we are scattered.

5 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vprightly before him, then will he turne vnto you, & will not hide his face from you, but ye shall see what he will do with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, & praise the Lord of righteousness, and extoll the euerslasting King. I will confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and will declare his power and greatnesse to a sinnefull nation. O yee sinners, turne & doe iustice before him: who can tell if he will receiue you to mercy, and haue pity on you?

6 I will extoll my God, and my soules shall praise the King of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnesse.

7 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousnesse.

8 O Ierusalem the holy city, hee will scourge thee for thy childrens workes: but he will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

9 Give praise to the Lord dailie, and praise the euerslasting King, that his Tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that are miserable.

10 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lord God, with gifts in their hands, & euil gifts to the King of heauen: all generations shall praise thee, and giue signes of ioy.

11 Cursed are all they which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

12 Reioyce and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shall be gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue been sorrowfull for all thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Ierusalem shall be build vp with sapphires, and emerauds, and thy walls with precious stones, and thy towres and thy bulwarks with pure gold.

17 And the streets of Ierusalem shall be paved with Beryl and Carbuncle, and stones of Opall.

18 And all her streets shall say, I Halleluiah, and they shall praise him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled I I I for euer.

CHAP. XIII.

2 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4. Hee prophesieth the destruction of Nineue, 7 and the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit, and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an end of praising God.

2 And he was eight and fifty yere old when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeres, and he gaue almes, and he continued to loue the Lord God, and to praise him.

3 And when hee was very aged, hee called his sonne, and fixe of his sons sonnes, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for beheld, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life).

4 Goe into Media; my sonne: for I utterly beleue those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather be in Media, and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from that good land, and Ierusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shall be burned, and shall be desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe the Lord will haue pity on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and build vp Ierusalem gloriously, & the house of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall come and feare the Lord God truly, and shall bury their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord: and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, and all those which loue the Lord in truth and iustice shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercy to our brethren.

8 And now, my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, and the Commandements, and shew thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And bury me honestly, and thy mother with me: but tary no longer at Nineue. Remember my son, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of light he brought him into darkness, & how he rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saved, but the other had his reward: for he went downe into darkness. Manasse gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death which he had set for him: but Aman fel into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doth, and how righteousness doeth deliuer: I Or, he when hee had said these things, I shew you vp the soule that ghost in the bed, being an hundred and eight and led him in fifty yere old, and he buried him honourably. the bed.

Esa. 2. 3.
and 6. 14.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife & children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in law.
13 Where he became old with honor, & he buried his father and mother in law honourably, and he inhabited their substance, and Tobias his father.

14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundred and seven and twentie year old.
15 But before hee died, he heard of the destruction of Ninus, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death hee rejoiced for Niveus.

G I V E T H.

C H A P. I.

1 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and overcame him.
12 He threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yere of the reigns of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Ninus the great citie (in the dayes of Arphaxad which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the wals round about of hewen stone three cubits broad, and fixe cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuentie cubites, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the towres thereof in the gates of it of an hundred cubites, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threecore cubites,

4 And made the gates thereof, even gates that were lifted vp on high seuentie cubites, and the breadth of them fortie cubites, for the going forth of his mightie armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen.)

5 Even in those dayes king Nabuchodonosor made warre with king Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coasts of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountains, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris, and Hydaspes, and the country of Ariocho the king of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselves to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galad, and the higher Galile, and the great field of Eldrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and the citie thereof, and beyond Iorden vnto Ierusalem, and Betane, and Chellus, and Kades, and the river of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Ramesse, and all the land of Gesem, 10 Vntill one come to Tanis, and Memphis and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and till one come to the mountains of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this country did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him, yea, he was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this country, and (ware by his throne and kingdom, that hee would surely be auenged vpon all those coasts of Cilicia & Damascus, and Syria, and that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudea, and all that were in Egypt till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then hee marched in battell aray with his power against king Arphaxad in the seuenteenth yere, and hee prevailed in his battell: for hee overthrowall the power of Arphaxad, and all his horsemen, and all his charres.

14 And hee wan his cities, & came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towres and spoiled the streets thereof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame.

15 He tooke also Arphaxad in the mountains of Ragau, and smote him therow with his darts, and destroyed him utterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Ninus, both he and all his company with a very great multitude of men of war, and there hee passed the time and banketted, both he, and his armie an hundred and twenty dayes.

C H A P. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that all people should be brought in subjection, & to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes army. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

AND in the eighteenth yere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talk in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that hee should avenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoke.

2 So he called vnto him all his officers, and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe Capitaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great King, the lorde of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen an hundred and twenty thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand.

6 And thou shalt go against all the West country, because they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will go forth in my wrath against them, and will cover the whole face of the earth with the feare of my armie, and I will giue them as a spoile vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleys, and the riuers, and the flood shall overflow being lled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuitie to the vtmost parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their country: and if they yield vnto thee, thou shalt rescue them for mee vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebel, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoile them wheresoever thou goest.

12 For as I live and the power of my kingdom, whatsoever I have spoken, that will I doe by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou transgresse not any of the commandments of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I have commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Asur.

15 And he mustered the choise men for the battell as his lord had commanded him, vnto a hundred and twentie thousand, and twelue thousand Archers on horsebacke.

16 And he set them in aray according to the manner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And he tooke camels and asses for their burdens a very great number, and sheepe and oxen, and goats without number for their provision.

18 And victuall for every man of the armie, and very much gold and silver out of the kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to goe before in the viage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their flagges, and horsemen, and chosen footemen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sorts came with them like grasshoppers, and like the grauel of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Ninene three dayes journey towards the countrey of Betileth, and pitched from Betileth neere the mountaine which is on the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then hee tooke all his armie, his footmen, & horsemen, and chariots, and went from thence into the mountaines.

23 And he destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Rassas, and the children of Himacl which were toward the wilderness at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then he went ouer Euphrates, and went throu Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the hie cities that were vpon the river of Arbouai, vntill one come to the Sea.

25 And hee tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, & came to the borders of Iapheth, which were toward the South, and ouer against Arabia.

26 Hee compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their Tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

27 Then hee went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheate harvest, and burnt vp all their fields, and destroyed their flockes, and the heards: he robbed their cities, & spoiled their countrey, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coast which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Semnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus, and Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. & Hee destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might onely be worshipped.

SO they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

Beholde, we are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great king: wee lie downe before thee:

wee shall be good in thy sight.

Beholde, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheate, and our flockes, and our herds, and all our lodges, and tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.

Beholde, euen our cities, and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come and take them: setteth good to thee.

So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this manner.

Then came hee downe toward the sea coast, both hee and his army, and set garisons in the hie cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

So they and all the countrey round about reioiced them with crownes, and dances and with timbrels.

Yet he brake downe all their borders, & cut downe their woods: for it was enuyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor onely, & that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

Also hee came against Esdracelon, neere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great strait of Iudea.

And he pitched betwene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, and there bariet a month, that he might affaible all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. III.

The Israelites were afraid and desended their countrey. & Ioachim the Priest writeth in Bethulia, that they should fortifie themselves. & They cryed to the Lord, and humbled themselves before him.

Now the children of Israel that dwelt in Iudea heard al that Olofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God.

For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled in Iudea, and the vessels & the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

Therefore they sent into all the coasts of Samaria and the villages, and to Bethora & Belmen, and Iericho, and to Choba, and Esora, and to the valley of Salem,

And tooke all the tops of the hie mountains, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in victuals for the provision of war, for their fields were of late reaped.

Also Ioachim the hie Priest which was in thole dayes in Ierusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Esdracelon toward the open countrey neere to Dothaim, Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entry into Iudea, and it was easie to let them that would come vp, because the passage was strait for two men at the most.

And the children of Israel did as Ioachim the hie Priest had commanded them with the Ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Ierusalem.

Then cryed every man of Israel to God with great seruencie, and their soules with great affliction.

Both they and their wives, & their children, and their cattell, and every stranger and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackcloth vpon their luyes.

11 Thus every man and woman, and the children and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: alio they put sackcloth about the altar, 12 And cryed to the God of Israel, all with one consent, most earnestly, that hee would not gine their children for a pray, & their wines for a spoile, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Iudea and Ierusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Iosacub the hie priest, and all the priests that stood before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loines girt with sackcloth, and offered the continuall burnt offering with prayers; and the free gifts of the people.

15 And had ashes on their miters, and cryed vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that he would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the manner of the Israelites.

Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the tops of the high hills, and had laid impediments in the champion country.

2 Wherewith he was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he said vnto them. Shew me, O ye sonnes of Canaan, who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they in-habite? and what is the multitude of their armie?
and wherein is their strength? & their power? and what king or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meet mee, more then all the inhabitants of the Welt?

Chap. 11. 5 ¶ Then said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, and I will declare vnto thee the truth concerning this people that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest and there shal no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chal-deans.

Gen. 11. 7 And they dwell before in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancesters, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knew: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

Gen. 12. 9 Then their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt and were increased with gold and silver, and with very much cattell.

10 But when a famine covered all the lande of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so y one could not number their sange.

11 ¶ Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them low with labouring in brick, and made them singes.

12 And they cried vnto their God, and hee more all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the Egyptians cast them out of their sight.

13 And God dried y red sea in their presence.

14 And brought them into mount Sina, and Cades barnei, and cast forth all that dwell in the wildernesse.

15 So they dwell in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esodon, and passing ouer Iordan they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they cast forth before them the Canaanites, and the Phereites, and the Iebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that country many dayes.

17 And whilest they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie was with them.

18 But when they departed from the way, which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, and were led captiues into a land that was not theirs, and the Temple of their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering, wherein they were scattered, and haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines, which were desolate.

20 Now therefore my lord and gouernour, if there be any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and wee become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people standing round about the tent, mournered, and the chiefe men of Olofernes, and all that dwell by the sea side and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, we feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe vp, O lord Olofernes, and they shall be meat for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God, whom Achior confessed. 14 Achior is deliuered into the han is of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians cry vnto the Lord.

And when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell was ceased, Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, said vnto Achior before al the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, & of them that were hired of Ephraim,

1 Because thou hast prophesied among vs today, and hast said that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, because their God will defend them:
and who is God but Nabuchodonosor?

2 He will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but wee his seruants will destroy them as one man, for they are not able to sustaine the power of our horses.

For we will tread them vnder feet with them, and their mountaines shall be drunken with their blood, and their fields shall be filled with their dead bodies, & their footsteps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall vitterly perish.

5 The King Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth hath said, euen hee hath said, None of my words shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior a hieling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these words in the day of mine inquiry, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntill I take vengeance of the people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that ferme me, passe thorow thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put thee to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carie thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hig cities: but thou shalt not perish till thou bee destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy minde that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.

10 Then commanded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the camp into the plaine: and they went out from the mids of the plaine into the mountaines, & came vnto the fountains that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie saw them from the top of the mountaine, they took their armour, and went forth of the citie vnto the toppes of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from coming vp by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and let him lying at the foot of the hill, and returned to their lewd.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stood about him, and loosed him, and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie,

15 Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, & Chabris the son of Gethouiel, and Charimis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the mids of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And hee answered and declared vnto them the words of the counsell of Olofernes, and all the words that he had spoken in the mids of the princes of Assur, and whatsoever Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying, 19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercy on the baseness of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and prayed him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, & made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Olofernes doth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and others against the Idumites. 29 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

The next day Olofernes commanded all his army & all his people which were come to take his part, that they should remoue their campe against Bethulia, and that they should take all the straits of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their camps in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundred thousand, and fenezie footemen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were afoste among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine nere vnto Bethulia, by the fontaine, and they spread abroad toward Dothaim, vnto Belbairn, and in length from Bethulia, vnto Simon, which is ouer against Edraclon.

4 Now the children of Israel when they saw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and said euery one to his neighbour, Now will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the high mountaines, nor the valleys, nor the hills are able to abide their burthen.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towres, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day, Olofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fontaines of their waters, and tooke them, and set garrison of men of warre ouer them, and remoued towards his people.

8 Then came vnto him all y^e chiefe of the children of Esau, & all the gouernours of the people of Moab, & all the capitaines of the sea coast, and said, 9 Let our capitaine now heare a word, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore, my lord, fight not against them in battell array, and there shall not so much as oae man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keep all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe still the water of the cuntry, that commeth forth at the foot of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them: and they shall giue vp their citie: and we and our people will go vp to the tops of the mountaines that are nere, and wil campe vpon them, and watch that none go out of the citie.

14 So they and their wines and their children shall be consumed with famine, & before the sword come against them, they shall be ouerthrowen in the streets where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euil reward, because they rebelled, and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these words pleased Olofernes & all his souldiers, & he appointed to do as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them five thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fontaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Israel went up, with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountains over against Dothaim, and they sent some of themselves toward the South, and toward the East, over against Rebebel, which is now Chusi, that is up on the tiner Mochemur: and the rest of the army of the Assyrians camped in the field, and covered the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderful good place.

19 Then the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, & there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Assur remained about them, both their footmen, chariots, and horsemen, foure and thirte dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were empty, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gave them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, and their wities and yong men failed for thirst, & fell down in the streets of the cite, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the cite, both yong men and women, and children, and cryed with a loud voice, and said before all the Elders, 24 The * Lord iudge betwene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue not required peace of the children of Assur.

25 For now we haue no helper: but God hath fold vs into their hands, that we should be thrown down before them with thirst & great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliver the whole cite for a spoile to the people of Olofernes, and to all his arme.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a spoile vnto them, then to die for thirst: for wee will be his seruants that we may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 We take to witness against you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers, which punisheth vs according to our sinnes and the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great crie of all with one consent in the mids of the assembly, and they cried vnto the Lord God with a loud voice.

30 Then said Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet fise dayes, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he will not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towres of their cite, and sent their wiues and their children into their houses, and they were very low brought in the cite.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life and conversion of Iudeth. 11 She rebuketh the fawninge of the gouernours. 12 She sheweth that they should not tempt God, but waite vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

NOW at that time Iudeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Ox, the sonne of Ioseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elia, the sonne of Annias, the sonne of Gedcon, the sonne of Hapmim, the sonne of Aclon, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nachmuel, the son of Samael, the sonne of Saladai, the sonne of Ismael.

1 And Manafes was her husband, of her stocke and kindred, who died in the barley harvest.

2 For as he was diligent over them that bound fowles in the field, the heat came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed, and died in the cite of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betwene Dothaim and Balamo.

3 So Iudeth was in her house a widow three yeeves, and foure moneths.

4 And she made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackcloth on her loines, and wore her widowes apparell.

5 And she fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, save the day before the Sabbath, & the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feasts and solemne daies of the house of Israel.

6 Shee was also of a goodly countenance, and very beautifull to behold: and her husband Manafes had left her gold and silver, & men seruants and maide seruants, and cattell and possessions where she remained.

7 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for she feared God greatly.

8 Now when she heard the euill words of the people against the gouernour because they fainted for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the wordes that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had *sworne vnto them to deliuer the cite vnto the Assyrians within fise dayes.)

9 Then she sent her maide, that had the gouernment of all things that he had, to call Ozias, and Chabris and Charmis the Ancients of the cite.

10 And they came vnto her, and shee said vnto them, Heare me, O yee gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your wordes that yee haue spoken before the people this day, are not right touching this oath which yee made and pronounced betwene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the cite to the enemies, vntill within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.

11 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

12 So now yee seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.

13 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceiue the things that he thinketh: then how can ye search out God that hath made all these things, & know his mind, or comprehend his purpose? Nay, my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

14 For if he will not helpe vs within these fise dayes, he hath power to defend vs when hee will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

15 Doe not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that hee may be threatned, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

16 Therefore let vs waite for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and hee will heare our voice if it please him.

17 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor city among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath becene aforetime.

18 For the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoyle, and had a great fall before our enemies.

30 But we know none other God: therefore we trust that he will not despise vs, nor any of our lineage.

31 Neither when we shalbe taken, shal I denie be so famous: for our Sanctuary shalbe spoyled, & he will require the propitiation thereof at our mouth.

32 And the feare of our brethren and the captiuitie of the country, and the desolation of our inheritance, will be turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, where soeuer we shall be in bondage, and we shalbe an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

33 For our seruitude shal not be directed by fauour, but by Lord our God shal turne it to dishonor.

34 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the sanctuary, and the house, and the altar rest vpon vs.

35 Moreover, let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God which trieth vs, euen as he did our fathers.

Gen. 31.1 36 Remember what things he did to Abraham, Gen. 28.7 and how he tryed Isaac, & all that he did to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when hee kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brothers.

37 For hee hath not tryed vs as hee did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doth he take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

38 ¶ Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy words.

39 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is known, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue known thy wisdom: for the deuile of thine heart is good.

40 But the people were very thirlike, & compelled vs to do to them as we haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an oath which we may not transgresse.

41 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art a holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisterns, and that we may faint no more.

42 Then said Iudith vnto them, Heare me, and I will do a thing which shall be declared in all generations to the children of our nation.

43 You shall stand this night in the gate, and I will goe forth with mine handmaid: and within the dayes that ye haue promised to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

44 But enquire not you of mine acte: for I will not declare it vnto you till the things bee finished that I doe.

45 Then said Ozias and the princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

46 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

C H A P. I X.

1 Iudith humbleth herselfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliurance of her people.

2 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 3 God is the helper of the humble.

¶ Then Iudith set vpon her face, & put ashes vpon her head, & put off the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed. And about the time that y incense of the evening was offered in Ierusalem in the house of the Lord, Iudith cryed with a loud voice, & said,

3 O Lord God of my Father* Simeon, to whom thou gapest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the mayd, and desied her, and discovered the thigh with flame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou hadst commanded that it should not so be).

4 Yet they did things for the which thou gapest their princes to the slaughter: for they were decelued and washed their beds with blood) and hast stricken the seruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thessors.

5 And hast giuen their wines for a pray, & their daughters to be captiues, and all their spoyles for a booy to the children that thou lowdest: which were moored with thy scale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayd, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

6 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shalbe after, & thou condescendest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

7 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, & say, Behold, we are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknown.

8 Behold, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselves w horsies and horsemen: they glory in the strength of their weapons: they trust in shield, speare and bow, & sling, and do not know that thou art the Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

9 Breake thou thy strength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to desile thy sanctuary, and to pollute the tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast downe with weapon the hornes of the altar.

10 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand, which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceiued.

11 * Smite by the decree of my lips the seruant Judg. 4. 11. with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: 2. 11. and bate their height by the hand of a woman. 5. 26.

12 * For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helper of the humble & little ones, the defender of the weak, and the protectour of them that are forsaken, and the Saniour of them that are without hope.

13 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer,

14 And grant me words and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprise cruell things against thy covenant, and against thine holy House, and against the top of Sion, and against the House of the possession of thy children.

15 Shew evidently among thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art y God of all power and strength, and y there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

C H A P. X.

1 Iudith declareth her selfe and goeth forth of the citie. 2 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians, and brought to Holofernes.

¶ Now after she had ceased to cry vnto the God of Israel, and had made an end of all these words,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her maid, and went downe into the house, in the which she abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the seail dayes.

anointed it with much ointment: and dressed the haire of her head, and put a tirc vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith she was clad during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and sleeves, and rings and earerings, and all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely so allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gave her maid a bottell of wine, & a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with flour, and with dry figs, and with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together, and laid them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the citie, of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they sawe her that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marvelled greatly at her wonderfull beauty, and said vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee honour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Command the gates of the citie to be opened vnto mee, that I may goe forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken vnto mee. So they commanded the yong men to open vnto her as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, she and her maid with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill shee was gone downe the mountaine, and till shee had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went straight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her.

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she said, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall be giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes the chiefe captaine of your armie to declare him true things, and will shew before him the way whereby he shall goe and winne all the mountaines without loosing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her wordes, and beheld her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beauty, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saved thy life in that thou hast fled to come downe to the presence of our lordes: now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee, vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he will intreate thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundred men, and prepared a charet for her and her maide, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro thorough the campe: for her coming was bruited among the tents: and they came and stood round about her: for the flood without the tent of Olofernes, vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marvelled at her beauty, and wondered at the children of Israel because of her, and every one said vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might despoile the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes guard went out, and all his servants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed, vnder a canopie, which was woven with purple, and golde, and emeralds, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came forth vnto the entry of his tent, and they carried lamps of silver before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his servants, they all marvelled at the beauty of her countenance, and she fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his servants took her vp.

CHAP. XI.

Olofernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 and what she saith of her coming. 5 She decerneth him by her faire words.

Then said Olofernes vnto her, Woman, bee of good comfort: seane not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the king of all the earth.

3 Now therefore, if thy people that dwelleth in the mountains had not despised me, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselves.

4 But now tell me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night, and hereafter.

5 For none shall hurt thee, but intreate thee well, as they doe the seruants of King Nabuchodonosor my lord.

6 Then Iudeth said vnto him, Receive the wordes of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaid to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

7 And if thou wilt follow the wordes of thine handmaid, God will bring y thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

8 As Nabuchodonosor king of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shall be made subiect to him by thee: but also the beasts of the fields, and the cattell, and the fowles of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

9 For wee haue heard of thy wisdom and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feates of warre maruailous.

10 Now as concerning y matter which Achior did speake in the counsell, we haue heard his wordes: for the men of Bethulia did take him, & he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee.

11 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, reiect not his word, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sword preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

12 Now therefore, lest my lord should be frustrated, and voyd of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne, while they prouoke their God to anger, which a so oft times as they doe that which is not becomming.

13 (For because their victuals faile, and all these water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, & haue purposed to consume:) things that God had forbidden them to eate by his lawes:

14 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruits of the wheat & the tithes of the wine, and of the oile which they had reserved and sanctified for the Priests that serve in Ierusalem before the face of Gods: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreover, they that seat to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there have done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate.

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will do so, and they shall beginne thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore thine handmaid, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent mee to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whoeuer shall heare it.

17 For thy servant feareth God, & worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let mee remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God that hee may reuenge vnto mee when they shall commit their finnes.

18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will leade thee thorow the mids of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will set thy throne in the mids thereof, and thou shalt drile them as sheepe that haue no shepherd, and there shall be none of them that shall resist thee: for these things haue beene spoken vnto mee, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge and I am sent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her words pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they marvelled at her wisdom, and said, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beauty of face and wisdom of words.

22 Likewise Olofernes said vnto her, God hath done this to send thee before the people, that strength might bee in our hands, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, & witty in thy words: surely it thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt bee renowned throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

¶ Judeth would not pollute her selfe with the meats of the Gentiles. 5 Shee maketh her request that shee might goe and praye to pray. 11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

¶ Then he commanded to bring her in where his treasures were laid, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that shee should drinke of his owne wine.

¶ But Iudeth said, * I may not eate of them lest there should be an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

¶ Then Olofernes said vnto her, If the things that thou hast should faile, how should wee giue thee? like? for there is nowewith vs of thy nation.

¶ Then said Iudeth vnto him, As thy foole li- mber, my lord, thine handmaid shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that he hath determined.

¶ Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept vntill midnight, and rose at the morning watch.

¶ And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thine handmaid may go forth vnto prayer.

¶ Then Olofernes commanded his guard that they should not stay her, & thus shee abode in the camp three dayes, and went out in the morning into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, even in the water by the campe.

¶ And when she came out, she passed into the Lord God of Israel, that hee would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

¶ So she returned, & remained pure in the tent, vntill she came her meate at evening.

¶ And in the fourth day Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants only, and called none of them to the banquet that had the affaires in hand.

¶ Then said he to Bigas the eunuch, who had charge ouer all that he had, Goe, and perswade this Hebrew woman that is with thee, that shee come vnto vs, and eate and drinke with vs.

¶ For it were a shame for vs, if we should see such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, she will mocke vs.

¶ Then went Bigas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and said, Let not this faire maid make difficulty to goe in to my lord, and be honoured in his presence, and to drinke with vs joyfully, and to be increased as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remains in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

¶ Then said Iudeth vnto him, Whom I saw, that I should gaine say my lord? Surely whosoever please him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

¶ So shee arose, and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maid went, and spread forth her skines on the ground open against Olofernes, which he had receiued of Bigas for her daily use, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

¶ Now when Iudeth came and sat downe, Olofernes heart was ranshed with her, and his spirit was moued, and he desired greatly her company, for he had waited for the time to decubetur, from the day that he had seen her.

¶ Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now, and be merrie with vs.

¶ So Iudeth sayd, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

¶ Then she tooke, and ate and dranke before him the things that her maid had prepared.

¶ And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then he had dranke any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ Judeth prayeth for strength. 8 Shee senseth off Olofernes necke. 10 Shee returneth to Bethulia, and reioyces her people.

¶ Now when the evening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bigas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all weary, because the feast had been long.

¶ And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

¶ Now Iudeth had commanded her maid to stand without her chamber, & to wait for her coming forth as she did dayly: for she said she would goe according to her prayers: and she spake to Bigas according to the same purpose.

¶ So all went forth in her presence, & none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great, then Iudeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the works of mine hands for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

For now is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

Then she came to the post of the bed, which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his saw chin from thence,

And approached to the bed, and tooke holde of the haire of his head, and sayd, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel this day.

And she smote twise vpon his necke with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

And rolled his body down from the bed, and pulled downe the canopy from the pillars, and anon after she went forth, and gave Olofernes head to her maide.

And she put it in her scrip of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and pressing thorow the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

Then sayd Iudith as she off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, even our God is with vs to shew his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as hee hath euen done this day.

Now when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie,

And they ran all together both smal & great: for it was above their expectation that she should come. So they opened the gate and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.

Then she sayd to them with a loud voyce, Praise God, praise God: for he hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

So she tooke the head out of the scrip, and shewed it, and said vnto them, Behold the head of Olofernes, the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, and behold the canopy, wherein hee did lie in his drunkenesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

As the Lord liueth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and he hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or villeny.

Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselves, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God, above all the women aboue the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

Surely this thine hope shal neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

And God turne these things to thee for a perswauall praye, and visit thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our sinne, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people sayd, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIII.

Iudith canst not hang up the head of Olofernes. Achior inuoyeth himselfe to the people of God. The Assyrians goe out against the Assyrians.

Then said Iudith vnto them, Heare me also my brethren, and take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your walles.

And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the Sonne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth every valiant man out of the citie, and set on a capaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the field toward the ward of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

Then they shall take their armour, and shall goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the army of Assur, and they shall runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

So you, and all that inhabite the coasts of Israel, shall pursue them, and ouerthrow them, as they goe.

But before ye doe these things, call me Achior, or the Ammonite, that he may see and knowe him, that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come and saw the head of Olofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his face sit failed.

But when they had taken him vp, he fel at Iudiths feet, and reuerenced her, and sayd, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations which hearing thy name, shall be astonished.

Now therefore tell me all the things that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudith declared vnto him in the mids of the people all that she had done from the day that she went forth, vntill that houre that she spake vnto them.

And when she had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voice, and made a noise of gladnesse through their citie.

And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleueed in God vnfaignedly, and circumcised the foreskinne of his flesh, and was incorporated vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

As soone as the morning arose, they hunged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, & euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straits of the mountaine.

But when the Assyrians saw them, they fear to their captaines, which went to the goeours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

So they came to Olofernes tent, and sayd to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slauers haue bene bold to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Iudith.

But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floor, and his head was taken from him.

Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and mourning, and a mighty crie, and rent his garments.

After he went into the tent of Iudith, where he vsed to remaine, and found her not: then hee leaped out to the people, and cried,

These slauers haue committed wickednesse on a woman of the Hebrewes but brought shame vpon the house of king Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When

When the captiues of the Assyrian army heard their wordes, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a cry and a very great noyse throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

The Assyrians are afraid, and flee. The Israelites pursue them. A leane high place commeth to Bethulia for Iudith, and to praise God for her.

And when they that were in y^e tents heard, they were astonied at the thing that was done.

And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amased, they fled by euery way of the plains and of the mountaines.

They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them, gathered out vpon them.

Then sent Ozias to Bethomathem and to Re-bai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the coasts of Israel, Iudas should declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Ierusalem, and from all the mountaines. For men had told them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galile chased them with agrest slaughter, vntill they came to Da-mafcus and to the coasts thereof.

And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur, and spoyled them, and were greatly enriched.

And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages, and the cities that were in the mountaines & in the plains, had a great bootie: for the abundance was very great.

Then toscim the hie Priest, and the ancients of the children of Israel, that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth, and to salute her.

And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

Thou hast done all these things by thine hand:
thou hast done much good to Israel, & God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the Almighty Lord for euermore: and all the people said, So be it.

And the people spoyled the campe the space of thirty daies, & they gaue vnto Iudith Olofernes rent, and all his siliuer, and beds, and basins, & all his steele, and sheooke it and laid it on her mules, and made ready her charrets, and layd them thereon.

Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her: and she tooke branches in her hand, and gave also to the women that were with her.

They also crowned her with oliues, and her thirt was with her, and she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel folowed in their armour with crowns and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudith praiseth God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lord Olofernes flay. 23 Her continuance, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

Then Iudith began this confession in all Israel, & all the people sang this song with a loud voice.

And Iudith sayd, Begin vnto my God with timbrels: sing to my Lords, with symbols, and vnto him a Psalm: extol his praise and call vpon his Name.

For God breaketh the battels, and pieweth his campe in the mids of this people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecutors.

Assur came from the mountaines forth of the North, he came with thousands in his army: whose multitude hath flut vp the riuers, and their doctimen haue covered the valleys.

He said that he would burne vp my borders, and kil my yong men with the word, and dash the sucking children against the ground, & make mine infantes a pray, and my virgins a spoyle.

But the Almighty Lord, hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

For the mighty did notiall by the yong men, neither did the sonnes of Itean smite him, nor the hie giants invade him, but Iudeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beauty of her countenance.

For shee put off the garment of her widowhood for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound vp her harte in a coife, and tooke a linnen garment to decceine him.

Her suppers rauished his eyes: her beauey tooke his minde prisoner, and the fauchin passed thorow his necke.

The Persians were astonished at her boldnes, and the Medes were troubled with her hardnesse.

But mine afflicted reioycied, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voice, and turned backe.

The children of maidens pearled them, and wounded them as they fled away like children:
they perished by the battell of the Lord.

I will sing vnto the Lord a song and praiser:
Lord thou art great and glorious, marvellous and inuinible in power.

Let all thy creatures sseue thee: * for thou hast spoken, and they were made: thou hast sent thy spirit, and he made them vps and there is none that can resist thy voice.

For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rocks melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art merciful to them that feare thee.

For all sacrifice is too little for a sweet saour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kindred: the Lord almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall seele them and weepe for euer.

After when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lord, & assoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

Iudeth also offered all the fluffe of Olofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the cano-pie which he had taken off his bed for an oblation to the Lord.

So the people reioycied in Ierusalem for the Sanctuary for the space of three moneths, and Iudeth remained with them.

After this tme, euery one returned to his owne inheritance, and Iudeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

And many desired her, but none had her in company.

company all the dayes of her life, after that Manasse her husband was dead, and was gathered to his people.

23 But she increased more and more in honour, & waxed olde in her husbands house, being an hundred and six yeere old, and made her maid free: so she died in Bethsals: and they buried her in the grave of her husband Manasse.

24 And the * house of Israel lamented her seven daies, and before she died, shee did distribute her goods to a them that were neere of kinred to Manasse her husband, and to them that were the neere of her kinred.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the dayes of Iudath, nor a long time after her death.

ESTHER.

Certaine portions of the story of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations, which follow the tenth Chapter.

Hen Mardocheus said, God hath done these things.

For I remember a dreame, which I sawe concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little hountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the Sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther, whome the king married, and made Queene.

7 And, he two dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Jewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cried to God and are saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, & the Lord hath delivered vs from all these evils, and God hath wrought signes and great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.

11 And these two lots came before God, for all nations at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembered his owne people, and in-13 Therefore those dayes shall be vnto them in the month Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the same month, with an assembly and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yere of the reigne of Ptolemeus and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who saide hee was a Prielt and Lenite, and Ptolemeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of I Phurusi, which the said Lysimachus the son of Ptolemeus, which was at Ierusalem, interpreted, 10r, 10s.

2 In the second yere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes, in the first day of the month Nisan, Mardocheus the sonne of Iarus, the sonne of Senei, the son of Cis, of the tribe of Benjamin had a dreame,

3 A lew dwelling in the cite of Susa, a woble man that bare office in the kings court, 4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon brought from Ierusalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Behold, a noyse of a tempest with thunders, and earthquakes, and vprourse in the land.

6 Beholde, two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their cry was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people, 8 And the same day was full of darkness, and obscurity, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersity and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amazed, and being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the little well grew into a great riuer, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light and the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.

12 Now when Mardocheus had seen this dreame he awoke, and rose vp, and thought in his heart, until the night what God would do, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the kings court with Bagathas and Thara, the kings Eunuches, and keepers of the palace.

2 * But when hee heard their purpose, and their imaginations, he perceived that they went about to lay their hands vpon the king Artaxerxes, and so he certified the king thereof.

3 Then caused the king to examine the two Eunuches with torments, and when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the king caused to be put in the Chronicles. Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the King commaunded that Mardocheus should remaine in the court, and for the aduertisement he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the son of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the king, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two Eunuches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Jewes. 2 The prayer of Mardocheus.

THE copie of the letters was this. The great King Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes and gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia, in an hundred and senen and twentie prouinces.

2 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equity alway and gentleness to gouerne my subiects, and wholly to serue them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquillity, that men might safely goe thorow on euery file, and to renewe peace againe, which all men desire.

3. Now when I asked my Counsellors how these things might be brought to passe, one that was conueriant with vs, of excellent wise dome, and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to be of true fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdome, euen Aman,

4. Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroad a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway despised the commandements of kings, and so that this generall Empire that wee haue begun, cannot bee gouerned without offence.

5. Seeing now wee perceiue that this people alone are also together contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange and other manner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and about to stablsh wicked matters that our kingdom should not come to good estate,

6. Therefore haue we commanded that all they that are appoynted in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wines and children be destroyed and rooted out with the sword of their enemies without all mercy, and that none bee spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yere,

7. That they which of olde, and now also haue eney been rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust down into the hell, so the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles, and well gouerned in all points.

8. Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the works of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him,

9. Saying, O Lord, Lord the King Almighty (for all things are in thy power) & if thou hast appoynted to save Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.

10. For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wondrous things vnder the heauen.

11. Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

12. Thou knowest all things; and thou knowest Lord, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory that I did this, and not bow downe to proud Aman.

13. For I would haue bene content with good will, for the saluation of Israel, to haue kist the sole of his feet,

14. But I did it because I would not preferre the honor of a man aboue the glory of God, and would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15. And therefore, O Lord God and King, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine how they may bring vs to nought: yea they would destroy the inheritance that hath bene thine from the beginning.

16. Despise not the portion which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17. Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorrow into ioy, that we may liue, O Lord, and praise thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

18. All Israel in like manner cried most earnestly vnto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her and her people.

Q Vene Esther also being in danger of death, resorted vnto the Lord,

2. And laid away her glorious apparel, & put on the garments of sighing and mourning. In the stead of precious ointment, she scattered ashes and dung vpon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy filled shee with the haire that she plucked off.

3. And she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our King: help me desolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4. For my danger is at hand.

5. From my youth vp I haue heard in the kindred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among all people, and our fathers from their predecessors for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou diddest promise them.

6. Now Lord, we haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into the handes of our enemies,

7. Because we worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8. Neuerthelesse, it satisfieth them not that wee are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue strengthened their idoles,

9. That they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordained, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them that praise thee, and to quench the glory of thy Temple, and of thine altar,

10. And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, and to imagine a fleshly king for euer.

11. O Lord, giue not thy scepter vnto them that bee nothing, lest they laugh vs to scorne in our misery: but turne their deuice vpon themselves, and make him an example that hath begun the same againe vs.

12. Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

13. Giue me an eloquent speech in my mouth before the lion: turne his heart to hate our enemy, to destroy him, and all such as conent vnto him.

14. But deliuer vs with thine hand, and help me, that am solitary, which haue no defence but onely thee:

15. Thou knowest all things, O Lord: thou knowest that I hate the glory of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16. Thou knowest my necessity: for I hate this token of my preeminence which I beare vpon mine head, what time I must shew my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, & that I wear it hot when I am alone by my selfe.

17. And that I thine handmaide haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the Kings feast, nor dranke the wine of the drinke offerings,

18. And that I thine handmaide haue no ioy since the day that I was brought hither vnto this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19. O thou mighty God aboue all, heare the voice of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer mee out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1. Mardocheus moueth Esther to goe into the king, and make intercession for her people. 2. And she performeth his request.

Mardocheus also bade Esther to go in vnto the King, and pray for her people, and for her country.

2. Remember

2 Remember, sayth hee, the dayes of thy lowe estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman, which is new vnto the king, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, and speake for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when shee had ended her prayer, shee layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell.

5 And deckt her selfe goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder & Sauour of all things, and tooke two handmaids with her.

6 Vpon the one she leane her selfe, as one that wastender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the train of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beauty made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull and amiable, but her heart was sorrowfull for great feare.

9 Then she went in betwixt all the doores, and stood before the King, and the king fate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray all glittering with gold and precious stones, and hee was very terrible.

10 Then he lift vp his face that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leane her selfe vpon the head of the maide that went with her.

11 Neuertheless, God turned the kings minde, that he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till shee came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and said,

12 Ester, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare:

13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, and not thee, Come neere.

14 And so hee held vp his golden scepter, and laid it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and said, Talk with me.

16 Then sayd she, I saw thee, O lord, as an Angel of God; and mine heart was troubled, for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, shee fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the king was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XLV

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby hee remoueth those which he first sent forth.

The great king Artaxerxes, which reigneth from Iudia vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnesse of princes, and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And endenour not onely to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe them good.

4 And take not onely all thankfulness away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that be vniuersall of benefits, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oftentimes many which bee set in office, and vnto whom their friends causes are committed, by vaine intiments doe wrap them in calamities, that cannot be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood.

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie and gentlenesse of princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilent creatures, as are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therefore we must take heede hereafter, that we may make the kingdome peaceable for all men, what change sooner shall come,

9 And discern the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentlenesse.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being indeed a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnesse, was recciued of vs, 11 And hath proued the friendship that wee beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the king.

12 But he could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to depeiuve vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifold deceit also hath hee desired to destroy Mardocheus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Ester, the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his mind was, (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay wait for vs, and by this means to translate the kingdom of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we find that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man, that they might bee destroyed) are no euill doers, but vse most iust lawes,

16 And that they bee the children of the most high and Almighty, and eueryling God, by whom the kingdome hath become preserued vnto vs and our progenitors in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye shall doe well, if ye doe not put in execution those letters that Aman the sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For he that inuented them, hangeth at Susa before the gates with all his family, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deserving.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copie of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And ye shall aide them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may bee auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy & day where the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreover, among other solemne dayes ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse.

23 That both now and in time to come this day may bee a remembrance of deliuerance for vs, and all such as loue the prosperity of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditions vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not bee inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beasts, and soules for euer.

5 For the holy * spirit of discipline fleeth from deceit and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse commeth.

Gal. 3. 12

6 For the spirit of wifedome * is louing and will not absolue him that blaspheemeth with his lips, for God is a witness of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lord filleth all the world, and the same that maintaineth all things hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore he that speaketh vnrighteous things cannot be hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall be made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sound of his word shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the ease of ielousie heareth all things, and the noise of the grudgings shall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring which profiteth nothing, and retrain your tongue from slander: for there is no word so secret that shall goe for nought, and the mouth that speaketh lies slayeth the soule.

Dem. 4. 23

12 Seeke not death in the error of your life: destroy not your felues through the workes of your owne hands.

Ezek. 18.
23. and
33. 11.

13 * For God hath not made death neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all things that they might haue their being: and the generations of the world are preferred, and there is no poison of destruction in them, and the kingdome of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteousnesse is immortall, but vnrighteousnesse bringeth death.

16 And the vngodly callit vnto them both with hands and words: and while they thinke ye haue a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to bee partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

The imaginations and desires of the wicked, and their counsel against the faithfull.

Job. 7. 1.
and 14. 1
mat. 22.
23. 1. cor.
15. 32.

FOr the vngodly say as they falsly imagine with themselves. * Our life is short and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recovery, neither was any knownen that hath returned from the graue.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, and we shall bee hereafter as though we had neuer bene: for the breath is a smoke in our nostrils, and the words as a sparke raised out of our heart,

3 Which being extinguished, * body is turned into ashes, and the spirit vanisheth as the soft aire.

4 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloud, and come to nought as the mist that is drisen away with the beames of the Sunne, and cast downe with the heate thereof. Our name also shall be forgotten in time, and no man shall haue our workes in remembrance.

5 * For our time is as a shadow that passeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man commeth againe.

6 * Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleasures that are present, and let vs cheerefully vie the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill our felues with costly wine & ointments, and let not the floure of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our selues with rose buds afore they be withered.

9 Let vs all bee partakers of our wantonnesse: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in every place: for that is our portion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppresse the poore: that is righteous: let vs not spare the widow, nor reuerence the white haire of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our strength bee the law of vnrighteousnesse: for the thing that is feeble is reprooued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs deftaund the righteous: for he is not for our profit, & he is contrary to our doings: he checketh vs for offending against the law, and blameth vs as transgressors of discipline.

13 He maketh his boast to haue the knowledge of God: and hee calleth himselfe the soune of the Lord.

14 He is made * to reprooue our thoughts. 15 It grieveth vs also to looke * vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion.

16 He counteth vs as bastards, and hee withdraweth himselfe from our wayes as from filthinesse: he commendeth greatly the latter end of the iust, and boasteth that God is his Father.

17 Let vs see then if his wordes bee true: let vs proue what end he shall haue.

18 For if the righteous man bee the * sonne of God, he will helpe him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies.

19 Let vs * examine him with rebukes, and temptations, that wee may knowe his meekenesse, and proue his patience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shameful death: for he shall be preferred as he himselfe saith.

21 Such things doe they imagine, and go astray: for their owne wickednesse hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderstand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousness, nor can discern the honour of the soule that are faultlesse.

23 For God created man without corruption: and made him alter the * image of his owne likenes, and 24 * Nevertheless, through enuie of the deuil came death into the world: and they that holde of his side, proue it.

CHAP. III.

1 The conuersation and assurance of the righteous
2 The reward of the faithfull. 11 Who are miserable.

But

Dem. 33. 3 But the *soules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touch them.

Chap. 5. 4 In the sight of the wawife they appeared to die, and their end was thought grieuous.

3 And their departing from vs, destruction, but they are in peace.

Rom. 8. 4 And though they suffer paine before men, yet is their *hope full of immortalitie.

24. 1. cor. 5 They are punished but in few things, yet in many things shall they be well rewarded *for God proueth them, and findeth them meet for himselfe.

Exo. 16. 4 6 He trieth them as the gold in the furnace, and receiveth them as a perfect fruit offering.

Mat. 13. 43. 7 *And in the time of their vision they shall shine, & run thorow as the sparks among the stubble.

Mat. 19. 28. 1. cor. 8 They *shall iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lord shall reigne for ever.

9 They that trust in him shall vnderstand the truth, and the faithfull shall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercie is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.

Mat. 23. 41. 10 *But the vngodly shall be punished according to their imaginations: for they haue despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wisdom and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, and their works vnpromitable.

12 Their wises are vndiscrete, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

3/a. 51. 5 13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndesied, and knoweth not the sinfull bed: *the shall haue fruit in the visitation of the soules.

14 And the Eunuch, which with his hands hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall be giuen the especiall gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the roote of wisdom shall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shall not be partakers of the holythings, and the seede of the wicked bed shall be rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shall be without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

C H A P. IIII.

Of vertue, and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

Better is barrenne with vertue, for the memoriall thereof is immortal: for it is known with God and with men.

2 When it is present men take example thereat and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned, and triumpheth, and winneth the battell, and the vndesied rewards.

3 But the multitude of vngodly which abound in children, is vnpromitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deep roote, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud forth in the branches for a time, yet they shall be shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the winde they shall be rooted out.

Mat. 7. 9 5 For the vnprefect branches shall be broken, and their fruit shall be vnpromitable and fowre to eat, and meet for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witness of the wickedness: against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous be prevented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wisdom is the gray haire, and an vndesied life is the olde age.

10 *He pleased God, and was beloued of him, Gen. 5. 26 so that whereas he liued among sinners, he translated heb. 11. 13 him.

11 He was taken away, lest wickednes should alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his minde.

12 For wickednes by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, and the vulted astutenesse of concupiscence peruereth the simple minde.

13 Though hee was soone dead, yet fulfilled hee much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hastened hee to take him away from wickednesse.

15 Yet the people see, and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts: how that grace and mercie is vpon his Saints, and his providence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: and the youth that is soone brought to an end, the long life of the vnrighious.

17 For they see the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath desired for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preferred him in safetie.

18 They see him and dispiise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne.

19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, & shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voyce shall hee bury them & cast them downe, and shake them from the foundations, so that they shall be vterly wasted, and they shall be in sorow, and their memoriall shall perish.

20 So they being afraid, shall remember their finnes, and their owne wickednesse shall come before them to conuincethem.

C H A P. V.

1 The constancie of the righteous before their persecuters. 14 The hope of the vnfaithfull is vaine. 15 The blessednesse of the Saints and body.

Then shall the righteous stand in great boldnesse before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him they shall be vexed with horrible feare, and shall be amazed for his wonderfull deliuerance.

3 And shall change their mindes, and sigh for griefe of minde and lay within themselves. This is he whom we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproch.

4 *We fooler thought his life madnesse, and Chap. 3. 2 his end without honour.

5 How is hee counted among the children of God and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore we haue err'd from the way of truth, and the light of righteousness hath not shined vnto vs, and the Sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and we haue gone thorow dangerous waies: but wee haue not known the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profit 1. Chron. 29. 11 hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All thoe things are *passed away like a shadow, chap. 2. 5 dow, and as a possie that passeth by:

10 As a ship that passeth ouer the wanes of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in the floods:

11 Or, as a bird that flieth throw in the aire, and no man can see any tokens of her passage but only heare the noyse of her wings, beating the light winde, parting the aire through the vehemencie of her going, and flieth on shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found:

12 Or, as when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the aire, which immediately cometh together againe, so that a man cannot know where it went throw.

13 Euen so we as soone as we were borne, we began to draw to our end, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednes.

14 For the hope of the vngodly is like the dust that is blown away with the winde, and like a thin foame that is scattered abroad with the storme, and as the smoke which is disperised with the winde, and as the remembrance of him passeth that tarieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, and the most Hie hath care of them.

16 Therefore shall they rescine a glorious kingdom and a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shall he couer them, and with his arme shall he defend them.

17 He shall take his iellousie for armour, & shall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shall put on righteousness for a breastplate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He will take holines for an inuincible sheild.

20 He will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, & the world shall fight with him against the vnwife.

21 Then shall the thunderbolts go straight out of the lightnings, & shall fly to the marke as out of the bent bow of the clouds, and out of his anger that throweth stones shall thicke haile bee cast, and the water of the sea shall be wrcke against them, and the floods shall mightily ouerflow.

22 And a mighty winde shall stand vp against them, and like a storme shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shall bring all the earth to a wilderness, and wickednesse shall overthrow the thrones of the mightie.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and iudges, which are also exhorted to searce wisdome.

Hear therefore, O ye kings & vnderstand: learne ye that be iudges of the ends of the earth.

1 Giue eare, ye that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of people.

2 For the rule is giuen you of the Lord: & power by the most Hie, which will try your workes, and search out your imaginations.

3 Because that ye be officers of his kingdom and haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the will of God,

4 Horribly and suddenly will he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

5 For hee that is most low is worthy mercie, but the mightie shal be mightily tormented.

6 For he that is Lord ouer all will soare no person neither shall hee care for any greatnesse: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike.

7 But for the mightie abideth the furer triall.

8 Vnto you therefore, O tyrants, doe I speake, that ye may learne wisdome, and not goe amisse.

9 For they that keepe holiness chollily, shall be holy, & they that are learned thereof, shall find a defence.

10 Wherefore set your delight vpon my words, and desire them, and ye shall be instructed.

11 Wisdome shinneth, and nearer fideth away, and is easily scene of them that loue her, and sound of such as seeke her.

12 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew herselfe vnto them.

13 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shall haue no great trauell: for hee shall finde her sitting at his doores.

14 To thinke vpon her then is perfect vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her shall bee sound without care.

15 For the goeth about, seeking such as are meet for her, & sheweth her selfe cheerfully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

16 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue.

17 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: & the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortality:

18 And immortality maketh vs seere vnto God.

19 Therefore the desire of wisdome leadeth to the kingdom.

20 If your delight be then in thrones and scepters, O kings of the people, honour wisdome, that ye may reigne for euer.

21 Now I will tell you what wisdome is, and whence it cometh, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seeke her out from the beginning of her naturie, & bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the trach:

22 Neither will I haue to doe with consuming enuy: for such a man shall not be partaker of wisdome.

23 But the multitude of the wife is the preservation of the world: and a wife king is the stay of the people.

24 Be therefore instructed by my words, and ye shall haue profite.

CHAP. VII.

Wisdome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My selfe am also mortall, and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to be flesh in ten months: I was broughttoge, & ther into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that cometh with sleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I receiued the common aire, & fel vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first, as all other doe.

4 I was nourished in swaddling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no thing that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All men then haue one entrance vnto life, & a like going out.

7 Wherefore I prayed, and vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, and the spirit of wisdome came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for gold is but a little grauell in respect of her, and silver shall be counted dunce before her.

10 I loded her aboue health and beauty, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

11 All good things therefore come to mee together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands.

12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the aire, which immediately commeth together againe, so that a man cannot know where it went thorow.

21 Then shal the thunderbolts go straight out of the lightninges, & shal fly to the marke as out of the bent bow of the clouds, and out of his anger that stroweth stones shal thicke haile bee cast, and the water of the sea shal be wroth against them, and the floods shal mightily overflow.

22 And a mightie winde shal stand vp against them, and like a storme shal scatter them abroad. This iniquitie shal bring all the earth to a wilderness, and wickednesse shal overthrow the thrones of the mightie.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and iudges, which are also exhorted to searck wifedome.

Hear therefore, O ye kings & vnderstand: learne ye that be iudges of the ends of the earth.

2 Give care, ye that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of people.

3 For the rule is given you of the Lord, & power by the most Hie, which will try your workes, and search out your imaginations.

7 For he that is Lord ouer all wil spare no person, neither shal hee care any greatnesse: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike.

10 For they that keepe themselves holily, shal be holy, & they that are learned thereof shal find a defence.

11 Wherefore set your delight vpon my words, and desire them, and ye shal be instructed.

12 Wifedome shinneth, and neuer fadeth away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, and sound of such as seeke her.

13 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew her selfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shal haue no great trauell: for her shal finde her sitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfite vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her shal bee foone without care.

16 For the goeth about, seeking such as are meet for her, & sheweth her selfe cheerfully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in enery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue.

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: & the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortality.

19 And immortality maketh vs euer vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wifedome leadeth to the kingdom.

22 Now I will tell you what wifedome is, and whence it commeth, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seeke her out from the beginning of her natiuitie, & bring the knowledge of her into light, and wil not keepe backe the truth:

23 Neither wil I haue to doe with confuming enuy, for such a man shal not be partaker of wifedome.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the preservation of the world: and a wise king is the stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my words, and ye shal haue profite.

CHAP. VII.

Wifedome ought to be preferred aboue all thing.

I My selfe am also mortall, and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to be flesh in ten months: I was brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure thereof commeth with sleepe.

3 And when I was borne, I receined the common aire, & fel vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first, as all other doe.

4 I was nourished in swaddling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out.

7 Wherefore I prayed, and vnderstanding was given me: I called, and the spirit of wifedome came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for al gold is but a little grauell in respect of her, and silver shal be counted but clay before her.

10 I loved her aboue health and beauty, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

11 All good things therefore come to mee to, together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisdom was the author thereof, and I knew not that she was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned unfeignedly, and communicated without enuie, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For shee is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so wise, become partakers of the love of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledg.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the things that are given mee: for he is the leader vnto wisdom, and the director of the wife.

16 For in his hand are both wee and our words, and all wisdom, and the knowledge of the works.

17 For hee hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I know how the worlde was made and the powers of the elements.

18 The beginning and the ende, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, and the change of the seasons.

19 The course of the yeere, the situation of the starres, 20 The nature of lining things, and the fierceness of beasts, the power of the winds, and the imaginations of men, the diversities of plants, and the vertues of roots.

21 And all things both secret and known doe I know: for wisdom, the worker of all things hath taught me it.

22 For in her is \S spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the only begotten, manifold, subtile, moueable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, not hurtful, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good.

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hating all power, circumspect in all things, and passing thorow all intellectuall pure and subtile spirits.

24 For wisdom is nimble then all nimble things, shee goeth thorow & attaineth to all things, because of her purenesse.

25 For shee is the breath of the power of God, and pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almighty, therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

Hebr. 1.3. 26 *For she is the brightnesse of the euertlasting light, the vndefiled mirrour of the Maiestie of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being one, shee can doe all things, and remaining in herselfe reneweth all, and according to the ages shee entreteth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if hee dwell not with wisdom.

29 For shee is more beautifull then the Sun, and is aboute all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night cometh vpon it, but wickednesse cannot overcome wisdom.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisdom.

She also teacheth from one end to another mightily, and cometh doth the order all things.

1 I haue loved her, & sought her fro my youth, I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beauty.

3 In that shee is conuerfant with God, it commendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loveth her.

4 For she is the schoolemistres of the knowledge of God, and the cluster out of his workes.

5 If riches bee a possession to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom that worketh all things?

6 For if prouidence worketh, what is it among all things, that worketh better then she?

7 If a man lose rightconscience, her labours and vertuous: for she teacheth sobernesse, and prouidence, rightconscience and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, & discerneth things to come, she knoweth the subtilities of wordes, and the solutions of darke sentences: shee foreseeeth the signes & wonders or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that shee would counsell mee good things and comfort me in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, and honour among the Elders, though I be yong.

11 I shall be found of sharpe indgement, so that I shall be maruileous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shall abide my leisure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreover, by her I shall obtaine immortality, and leaue an euertlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shall bee afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mightie in battell.

16 When I come home, I shall rest with her: for her companie hath no bitterness, and her fellowship hath no tediousnesse, but mirth and ioy.

17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to be ioyned vnto wisdom is immortalitye.

18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her handes are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her, is prouidence, and glory by communing with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie child, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled body.

21 Neuertheless, when I perceived that I could not enioy her except God gaue her (and that was a point of wisdom also to know whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obtaine wisdom.

O God of fathers and Lord of mercy, which hast made all things with thy word,

3 And ordained man through thy wisdom, that he should haue * dominion ouer the creatures Gen. 1. v. which thou hast made, 28.

3 And gouerne the world according to equity and rightconscience, and execute indgement with an vpriight heart,

4 Giue * me that wisdom, which fitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children. 1. Kings 3.9.

5 For I * thy seruant and sonne of chine hand, maid, am a feeble person & of a short time, and yet lesse in the vnderstanding of iudgment & the lawes. Psal. 116.

6 And though a man be neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdom be not with him, he shall be nothing regarded. 1. Chron. 28.5.2.

7 * Thou hast chosen me to be a King of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters. 1. Chron. 29.1.9.

8 Thou hast commanded me to builde a Temple vpon thine holy Mount, and an altar in the citie wherein thou dwellest, a likeness of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

9 And thy * wisdom with thee which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandments.

10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, and send her from the throne of thy Maicstie, that shee may be with mee, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For she knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and she shall lead me soberly in my workes, and preserve me by her glory.

12 So shall my workes be acceptable, and then shall I gouerne the people righteously, and be meete for my fathers throne.

13 For * what man is hee that can knowe the counsell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is?

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are fcarefull, and our conceits are vncertaine.

15 Because a corruptible body is heauy vnto the soule, and the earthly mansion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares.

16 And hardly can wee discern the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour finde wee out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things that are in heauen?

17 Who can know thy counsel, except thou giue him wisdom, and send thine holy spirit to aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserved thow wisdom.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and destruction of the enemies commeth through wisdom.

Shee preserved the first father of the world that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of his offence.

2 And * gaue him power to rule all things.

3 * But the variegates in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie.

4 For whose cause the * earth was overflowen, but wisdom preserved it againe, gouerning the iust man by a little wood.

5 Moreover, * when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, she knew the righteous, & preserved him faultles vnto God, and I kept him safe, because she loued him tenderly as a son.

6 She preserved the righteous, * when the vngodly perished, when hee fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the five cities.

7 Of whole wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimony, and the tree that beareth fruit that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for the remembrance of the vnfaihtfull soule, there standeth a pillage of salt.

8 For all such as regarded not wisdom had not onely this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnesse, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisdom deliuered them that serued her.

11 * When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, shee ledde him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

11 Against the customes of such as deluded him, shee stood by him and made him rich.

12 Shee saved him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in wait, and shee gaue him the price in a mighty battell, that hee might knowe that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13 * When the righteous was sold, shee forooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: shee went 28. and went downe with him into the dungeon, 34. 7. affs

14 And failed him not in the bands, till shee had brought him the scepter of the Realme, and power against those that oppressed him, and them that had accused him, shee declared to be liars, and gaue him perpetuall glory.

15 * Shee deliuered the righteous people, & faultles seed from the nations that oppressed them. 28. 1. 10 & 12. 43

16 Shee entred into the soule of the seruant of the Lord, and stood * by him in wonders, and signes: 28. 5. 1 gainst the terrible kings.

17 Shee gaue the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them forth a marueilous way: on the day time shee was a shadow vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 * Shee brought them thorow the red Sea, and 28. 14. carried them thorow the great water. 21. 22.

19 But shee drawned their enemies, and brought 28. 14. 78. 23 them out of the bottome of the deepe.

20 So the righteous tooke the spoiles of the vngodly, * and praised thine holy Name, O Lord, and 28. 15. 8 magnified thy victorious hand with one accord.

21 For wisdom openeth the mouth of the dumb, and maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

1 The miracles done for Israel. 2 The vengeance of sinners. 3 The great power and mercy of God.

Shee prospered their workes in the hands of thine Holy Prophet.

2 * They went thorow the wilderness that was 28. 16. 1 not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

3 * They stood against their enemies, and were 28. 17. 10. 11. auenged of their aduersaries.

4 * When they werethirstie they called vpon thee, and water was giuen them out of the lie rocke, & their thirstie was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their need.

6 For in stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandment of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnto looked for:

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time, * how thou hadst punished thine aduersaries. 28. 17. 30

8 For when they were tried and chastised with mercie, they knew how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and pruned them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous king, when thou didst examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, & the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceived that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondered at him, whose alme they had cast out, denied and derided: for they had an other th first then the iust.

13 Because

13 Because of the foolish densities of their wickedness wherewith they were deceived, and worshipped serpents, that had not the vie of reason, & vile beasts, thou sendest a multitude of unreasonable beasts vpon them for a vengeance, that they might know that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

14 For vnto thine Almighty hand that made the world of nought, it was not vpossible to send among them a multitude of bears, or fierce lions;

15 Or furious beastes newly created, and vknown, which should breathe out blasts of fire, & call our smoke as a tempest, or shoute horrible sparks like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not onely destroy them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one wind being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength and might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme!

19 For as the small things that the ballance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dew, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercie vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, & makest as though thou sawest not the finnes of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou lovest all the things that are, and hatest none of them whome thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou hadst hated.

22 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? Or how could any thing be preferred, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of soules.

CHAP. XII.

2 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The works of God are vnrprouable. 19 God giueth leisure to repent.

For thine incorruptible Spirit is in all things.

3 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things, wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

4 * As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou didst hate them.

5 For they committed abominable workes, as sorceries, and wicked sacrifices,

6 And slaying of their owne children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banquetting, where theraging Priests shed abominable blood.

7 And the fathers were the chiefe murderers of the soules destitute of all help, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers.

8 That the land which thou lovest aboute all other, might bee a meet dwelling for the children of God.

9 * Neuertheless, thou sparedst them also, as men, and sendest the shepherders of thine holste, euen hornets to destroy them by litle and litle,

10 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

11 But in punishing them by litle and litle, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well that it was an vngracious nation, and wicked of manners, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

12 For it was a cursed seed from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou hearest any man.

13 For who dare say, * What hast thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men?

14 For there is none other God but thou, * that carest for all things, that thou myself declarest that thy iudgement is not vnright.

15 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight require accounts of them, whome thou hast punished.

16 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, * thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserved to be punished.

17 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

18 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfect power, thou declarest thy power, and reproouest the boldnesse of the wise.

19 But thou ruling the power, iudgeth with equitie, and goouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

20 By such workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

21 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserved death, with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednesse,

22 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworn and made covenants of Gods promises!

23 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when wee iudge wee should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when wee are iudged, wee should hope for mercie.

24 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

25 * For they went astray very farre in the waies of error, and esteemed the beasts which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the manner of children that haue none vnderstanding.

26 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they should be in derision as children without reason.

27 But they that will not bee reformed by those scornfull rebukes, shall feele the worthy punishment of God.

28 For in these things when they suffered, they disdained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they saw themselves punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God, whom afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idols are mocked.

1 Surely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, * and could not know him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes the workemaster.

* But

2 * But they thought the fire, or the winds, or the swift aires, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to bee generators of the world, and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie, that they thought them gods, yet should they haue known how much more excellent he is that made them: for the first author of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marvelled at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceived thereby, how much he made these things is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these that seeke God, and would finde him, and yet peradventure doe erre.

7 For *they goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are periwaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are lesse.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can know so much, that they can discern the world, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hands, gold and siluer, and the thing that is loued by aise, and the similitude of beausts, or any vaine stone that hath become made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 * Or, as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meet for the work, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessell profitable for the vse of life.

12 And the things that are cutt off from his work, he bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe.

13 And that which is left of these things which is profitable for nothing, (for it is a crooked piece of wood, and full of knots) he carueth it diligently at his leisure, and according as he is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man.

14 Or maketh it like some vile beaust, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and concreateth euery spot that is in it.

15 And when hee hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron.

16 Providing so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image which hath neede of helpe.

17 Then hee prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: hee is not ashamed to speake vnto it that hath no life.

18 He calleth on him that is weake, for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requieth him of helpe, that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his journey, him that is not able to goe, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affairs, hee requieth furtherance of him that hath no manner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The detestation and abomination of images. 2 A curse of sin, and of him that maketh them. 3 Whereof idolatry proceeded. 4 What euils come of idolatry.

5 Gaine, another man purposing to faile, and intending to passe thorow the raging wanes, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the ship that carieth him.

6 For as for [it, countenance of money hath found it out, and the craftines made it by cunning

3 But thy providence, O Father, governeth it: * for thou hast made a way, even in the sea, and a sure path among the wanes, Gen. 14.

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meane.

5 Nevertheless, thou wouldest not that the workes of thy wise dome should be vaine, and therefore doe men commit their lines to a small piece of wood, and passe ouer the stormie sea in a ship and are saved.

6 * For in the olde time also when the proud giants perished, the hope of the world went into a ship which was governed by thine hand, and so left seed of generation vnto the world. Gen. 6-9.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteousnes commeth.

8 But that is cursed that is made with hands, * both it, and he that made it: hee because he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god. Gen. 7-10.

9 * For the vngodly and his vngodlinesse are both like hated of God: so truly the worke, and he that made it shall be punished together. Psalm. 53.

10 Therefore shall there be a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and stumbling blockes vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the feet of the vnwise. 1st. 10-13.

11 For the inuention of idoles was the beginning of whoredom, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for euer.

13 The vainglory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grieuouly for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, whom now hee worshipping as a god, and ordained to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by proceesse of time this wicked custome preuailed and was kept as a lawe, and idoles were worshipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeite the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a king whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though he had been present.

17 Again, the ambition of the craftsman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For hee peradventure willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so through the beautie of the work the multitude was allured, and so tooke him now for a god, which a little afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men being in seruitude through calamitie and tyrannie, ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to bee communicate vnto any.

21 Moreover, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in great warres of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

22 For either *they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or vsed secret ceremonies, or raging diuinitie by strange rites.

23 And

13 And to keep neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one flow another by treason, or else vexed him by adultery.

14 So were all mixt together, blood and slaughter, theft, and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulness, tumults, perurie.

15 Disquieting of good men, vthankefulness, destituting of soles, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, adultery and vnclannesse.

16 For the worshipping of idoles that ought not to be named, is the beginning, and the cause, and the end of all euill.

17 For either they be mad when they bee merry, or prophetic lie, or line vngodly, or else lightly forswear themselves.

18 For inasmuch as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsly, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

19 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly bee punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, adding themselves vnto idoles, and because they sweare vniuently to deeuie, and despiise holinesse.

20 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voice of the faithfull, praising the mercie of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

BUt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercy.

1 Though we sinne, yet are wee thine: for wee know thy power: but we sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

2 For to know thee is perfect righteousness, and to know thy power is the roote of immortallitie.

3 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours,

4 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that he coueteth the forme that hath no life of a dead image.

5 They that lone such wicked things, are worthy to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

6 The potters also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth euery vessell with labour to our vse: but of the same clay he maketh both the vessels for seruice to cleane vses, & the contrary likewise: but whereto euery vessell serueth the potter is the iudge.

7 So by his wicked labour hee maketh a vaine god of the same clay: euen hee which a little afore was made of earth himselfe, & within a little while after goeth thither againe whence hee was taken * when he shall make account for the lone of his life.

8 Now withstanding he careth not for the labour he taketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striueth with the goldsmiths, and siluer smiths, and counterfeith the coppersmiths, and taketh it for an honour to make deecieable things.

9 His heart is ashes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

10 For hee knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power, and breathed in him the breath of life.

11 But they count our life to bee but a pastime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say, We ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euill meanes.

12 Now hee that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend about all other.

13 All the enemies of thy people, that holde them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then the very fooles.

14 For they indge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eyesight to see, nor noses to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to gripe, and their feet are slow to goe.

15 For man made them, and he that hath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto himselfe.

16 For seeing he is but mortal himselfe, it is but mortal that hee maketh with vnrighteous hands: he himselfe is better then they whom hee worshippeth: for he liueth, but they neuer liued.

17 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, & which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

18 Neither haue they any beauty to be desired in respect of other beasts: for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20 The benefis done vnto the faithfull.

Therefore by such things they are worthily punished, and * tormented by the multitude of beasts.

1 In stead of the which punishment thou hast bene fauorable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meate of a strange taste, open * quizes.

2 To the intent that they that desired meate, by the things which were shewed and set among them, might turne away their necessarie desire, and that they which had suffered penurie for apace, should also feele a new taste.

3 For it was requisite that they which used tyranny, should fall into extreame poverie, and that to these only it should be shewed, how their enemies were tormented.

4 * For when the cruell fierceness of the beasts came vpon them, & they were hurt with the stings of cruell serpents,

5 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a little season, that they might be reformed, hauing a * figue of saluation to remember the commaundement of thy Law.

6 For hee that turned toward it was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Sauour of all.

7 So in this thou shewest our enemies, that it is thou which deliuerest from all euill.

8 * For the biting of grasshoppers and flies killed them, and their was no remedie found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.

9 But the teeth of the venomous dragons could not overcome thy children: for thy mercy came to helpe them, and healed them.

10 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy words, and were speedily healed, lest they should fall into so deepe forgetfulness, that they could not be called backe by thy benefis.

11 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

12 For thou hast the power of life and death, and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, & bringest vp againe.

13 A man indeed by his wickednes may slay ano- ther, but when the spirit is gone forth, it turneth not againe, again, neither can he call againe the soule, that is taken away.

13 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

14 * For the vngodly that would not know thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, & were pursued with tempest, that they could not anioide, and were consumed with fire.

15 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quengeth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.

16 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the brasts which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that became they should see and knowe that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

17 And sometime burnt the fire in the mids of the water about the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.

18 * In stead whereof thou hast fedde thine owne people with Angels food, & sent them bread readie from heauen without their labor which had abundance of all pleasure in it, and was meete for all tastes.

19 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetnesse vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meete to that that eury man would.

20 Moreover the * snow and yce abode the fire and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the haile, and sparkling in the raine, destroyed the fruit of the enemies.

21 Against it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

22 For the creature that sermeth thee which art the maker, is fiesee in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

23 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashion to serue thy grase, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had neede thereof, 24 That thy children whom thou louest, O Lord, might know, * that it is not the increale of fruites that feedeth men, but that it is thy word, which preferueth them that trust in thee.

25 For that which could not bee destroyed with the fire, being only warmed a little with the sunne beames, melted.

26 That it might bee knowne that wee ought to preuent the sunne rising to giue thanks vnto thee, and to salute thee before the day spring.

27 For the hope of the vnrightheous (halt melt as the winter yce, & flow away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

For thy iudgements are great, and cannot be expressed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

1 For when the vnrightheous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darkenesse and long night, and being thrust vnder the roote, did lie there to escape the euerslaping prouidence.

2 And while they thought to bee hidde in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke concerning of forgetfulness, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

3 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull fights did appeare.

4 No power of the fire might quene light, neither might the cleare flames of the hartes lighten the horrible night.

5 For there appeared vnto them onely a sudden fire, very dreadfull: to that being afraid of this vision, which they could not see, they thought the things which they saw, to be worse.

6 And the illusions of the magical arts were brought downe, & it was a most shamefull reproch for the boasting of their knowledge.

7 For they that promised to drine away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

8 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraid at the beasts which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they died for feare, and said they saw not the ayre, which by no meanes can be auoided.

9 For it is a fearefull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimony: and a conscience that is touched doeth euer forsaith cruell things.

10 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the succours which reason offereth.

11 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doeth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing that tormenteth him, great.

12 But they that did endure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 13 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometimes they swooned as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare, not looked for, came vpon them.

14 And thus, who sooner fell downe, he was kept and shut in prison, but without chaines.

15 For whether hee was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if hee were taken, hee must suffer this necessitie, that hee could not anioide.

16 (For with one chaine of darkenesse were they all bound) whether it were an hissing winde, or a sweet song of the birds among the thick branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hasty running water, 17 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beasts that could not bee seene, or the noyse of cruell beasts that roared, or the sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

18 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindred in his labour.

19 Onely vpon them three fell an heauie night, an image of that darkenesse that was come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselves more grieuous then darkenesse.

7 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

4 But they were worthy to bee deprived of the light, and to be kept in darkness, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the vncorrupt light of the law should be given to the world.

5 * Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one child that was cast out, & preferred to reprove them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them altogether in the mighty waters.

6 Of that sight were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing unto what othes they had given credit, might be of good cheare.

7 Thus thy * people received the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly: and made a Law of righteousness by one consent, that the Saints should receive good and euill in like manner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.

10 But a disfiguring crye was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the * master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the king.

12 So they altogether had innumerable y died with one kinde of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to bury them: for in the twinkling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleene nothing because of the incantments, confessed this people to be the children of God in the destruction of the first borne.

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the mids of her swift course.

15 Thine Almighty word leaped downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a fierce man of warre in the mids of the land that was destroyed.

16 And brought thine vnfained commandement as a sharpe sword, and stood vp, and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached unto the heuens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreams vexed them suddenly, and fearefull queasie came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant wherefore they perished.

20 Now reuocation of death touched the righteous also: and * among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, but the wrath indured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, & defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministraton, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perswasie, and set himselfe against the wrath, and so brought the miserie roan end, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For hee overcame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word he subdued him that punished, alleging the oathes and covenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when y dead were fallen downe by heaps one vpon another, hee stood in the mids, and cut off the wrath, and parted it fro coming to the liuing.

24 * For in the long garment was all the ornament: and in the foure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers graven with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.

25 Vnto these the destroyers came place, and was afraid of them: for it was sufficient that they had tasted the wrath.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the vntowling of the Hebrewes. 11 The meate that was giuen as the desire of the people. 17 All the elements seru to the will of God.

2 As for cheyngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the end: for he knew what should conseruato them.

3 That they (when they had consented to let them go, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent and pursue them.

4 For while yet sorrow was before them, and they lamented by the granes of the dead, they deuised another foolishnes, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had cast out afore with prayer.

5 For the destinie whereat they were worthy, brought them to this end, & caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment which remained by toments.

6 Both that thy people might trie a marvellous passage, and that these might find a strange death.

7 For euery creature in his kind was fashioned of new, and seruand in their owne offices enioyned them, that thy children might be kept without hurt.

8 For the clowde ouerthadowed their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene field.

9 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seeing thy wondrous maruilles.

10 For they neighed like horses, and leaped like lambs, praising thee, O Lord, which hadst deliuered them.

11 For they were yet mindfull of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought forth flies in stead of cattail, and how the iuncer serualed with the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

12 * But at the last they saw a new generation of birds, when they were entised with luss, and desired delicate meates.

13 * For the quailles came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the fluners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednes, because they shewed a cruel hatred toward strangers.

14 For the one sort would not receive them when they were present, because they knew them not: the other sort brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

15 Beside all these things, some would not suffer, that any regard should bee had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.

16 Others that had receiued them with great banquetting, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

17 Therefore they were stricken with blindness, as in olde time certaine were at the doores of the * righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darkenes sought the entrance of his doore.

18 Thus the elements agreed among themselves in this change, as when one time is changed vpon as instrument of musike, and the melodie still remaneth, which may easily be perceiued by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water, contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kind to quench.

20 Again, the flames did not hurt the flesh of the corruptible beastes that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to bee yce, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortal meate.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in euery time and place.

¶ THE WISDOME OF IESVS THE sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This Argument was found in a certayne Greeke copie.

This Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirach his father was also called Iesus, and he lived in the later times after the people had bene led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets.
Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence and wisdom among the Hebrews, who did not only gather the good sentences of wise men that had bin before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdom. So this first Iesus died, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who took it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WISDOME, insinuating it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisdom to allure the reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences and similitudes, with certayne diuine histories, which are notable and auious, euen of men that were approued of God, and certayne prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreover, what benefits the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues hee had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deed.

¶ The Prologue of the Wisdome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

Wheras many and great things haue been giuen vs by the Law & the Prophets, and by others, that haue followed them (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine and wisdom, whereby the readers ought not only to become learned themselves, but also may be able by the diligent study thereof to be profitable vnto strangers, both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, & other books of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write something pertaining to learning and wisdom, to the intent that they which are desirous to learne, and would giue themselves to these things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Law. Wherefore I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though we seeme to come in some things not able to attaine vnto the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expressed: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themselves then when they are translated into another tongue, and not onely these things, but other things also, as the Law it selfe, and the Prophets, and other books haue no small difference when they are spoken in their own language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yere, when I came into Egypt vnder king Euergetes, and continued there,
I found a copie full of great learning, & I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence and trauel to interpret this booke. So for a certayne time with great watching and study, I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might applie themselves vnto good maners, and liue according to the Law.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisdome commeth of God. 11 A praise of the fear of God. 29 The meanes to come by wisdom.

11 wisdom ^{is} commeth of the Lord, and hath been euer with him, and is with him for euer.

2 Who can number the sand of the sea, and the drops of the raine, and the dayes of the world? who can measure the height of heauen, the bredth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisdom of God, which hath been before all things?

4 Wisdom hath been created before all things,
& the vnderstanding of prudence from euerlasting.

5 The word of God most high is the fountaine of wisdom, and the euerlasting Commandements are the entrance vnto her.

6 Vnto whom hath the root of wisdom been declared, or who hath knowen her wise counsels?

7 Vnto whom hath the doctrine of wisdom been discovered and shewed? and who hath vaderstood the manifold entrance vnto her?

8 There is one wise, euen the most high Creator of all things, the Almighty, the King of power, and very terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.

9 He is the Lord that hath created her through the holy Ghost, he hath seene her, numbered her, and measured her.

10 He hath powred her out vpon all his workes, and vpon all flesh according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glory and gladnes, and reioycing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a merry heart, and giueth gladnesse, and ioy and long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lord it shall goe well with him at the last, and he shall find fauour in the day of his death.

14 The loue of God is honourable wisdom, and vnto whom it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and so: the knowledge of the great workes thereof.

15 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: she goeth with the chosen women, and is known with the righteous and faithfull.

16 The feare of the Lord is an holy knowledge,

18 Who so feareth the Lord, shall prosper, and in the day of his end he shall be blessed.

19 Shee hath built her everlasting foundations with men, and is given to be with their seed.

20 To feare God is the fullness of wisdom, and filleth men with her fruits.

21 She filleth their whole house with all things desirable, and the garners with the things that the bringer forth, and both twaine are gifts of God.

23 Shee raineth downe knowledge and vnderstanding of wisdom, and hath brought vnto honour them that possessed her.

24 The feare of the Lord is the root of wisdom, and her branches are long life.

25 In the treasures of wisdom is vnderstanding, and holy knowledge, but wisdom is abhorred of sinners.

26 The feare of the Lord drineth out sinne: and when she is present, she drineth away anger.

27 For wicked anger cannot be iustified: for his rashnesse in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 He will hide his words for a time, and many mens lips shall speake of his wisdom.

30 In the treasures of wisdom are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisdom, keepe the commandments, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee, and will fill her treasures.

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdom & discipline: he hath pleasure in faith and meeknesse.

33 Bee not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 Be not an hypocrite, that men should speake of thee, but take heed what thou speakest.

35 Be not thy selfe, lest thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, & cast thee downe in the mids of the congregation, because thou wouldst not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

CHAPTER II.

Moune, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God, stand fast in righteousness and feare, and prepare thy soule to temptation.

2 Settle thine heart and be patient, bow downe thine eare, and receiue the words of vnderstanding, and shrinke not away when thou art assayed, but wait vpon God patiently.

3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayst be increased at the last end.

4 Whatsoeuer cometh vnto thee, receiue it patiently, and bee patient in the change of thine affliction.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall be fulfilled with his law.

18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 They that feare the Lord keepe his commandments, and will be patient till he see them.

CHAPTER III.

2 To our father and mother ought we to giue double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

The children of wisdom are the Church of the righteous, and of the spring is obedience and loue.

2 Heare your fathers indgment, O children, and doe theralter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authority of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his finnes shall be forgiven him, and he shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his daily desires.

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his own children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 He that honoureth his father, shall haue a long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doth seruiue vnto his parents as vnto lords.

9 * Honour thy father and mother in deed and in word, and in all patience, that thou mayest haue Gods blessing, and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.

10 For the blessing of the father establiseth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Receiue not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good treaty of thy father shal not be forgotten, but it shall be a fortress for thee against sinnes, and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall bee founded for thee in righteousness.

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt bee remembered: thy sinnes also shal melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee about the capacite of men.

25 The medling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceived their iudgment.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A stubborne heart shall fare euill at the last: and he that touch danger, shall perishe therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shal not prosper: and he that is froward of heart shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shalbe laden with sorowes: and the wicked man shal heape sinne vpon sinne.

2 Make not an hungry soule sorrowfull, neither vex a man in his necessity.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieved, and defferre not the gift of the needy.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside in anger from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in his bitterness of his soule, his prayer shalbe heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the company of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder, and bow downe thine head to a man of worship.

8 Let it not grieve thee to bowe downe thine care vnto the poore, but pay thy debt, and giue him a friendly answer.

9 Deliuere him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressour, and bee not iaine hearted when thou iudgeth.

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may doe good, neither hide thy wisdom when it may be famous.

24 For by the talk is wisdom knowne, & learning by the words of the tongue, and counsell, wisdom and learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the workes of righteousness.

25 In no wise speake against the word of truth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine own ignorance.

12 Trust not vnto thy riches, and say not, I haue enough for my life: for I shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.

13 Follow not thine own: minde & thy strength, to walke in the wayes of thine heart.

14 Neither say thou, How haue I had strength: or who will bring me vnder for my workes? for God the angerer will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

15 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euil hath come vnto mee: for the Almighty is a patient rewarde, but he will not leaue thee vnpunished.

16 Because thy sinne is forgiven, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

17 And say not, The mercy of God is great: hee will forgive my manifold sinnes; for mercy and wrath come from him; and his indignation cometh downe vpon sinners.

18 Make no tarying to taine vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake forth, and in thy security thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

19 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in the day of punishment & vengeance.

20 Be not caried about with euery wind, and goe not into euery way: for so doth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

21 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding, and in the way and knowledge of the Lorde, and haue but one manner of word, and follow the word of peace and righteousness.

22 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true answer with wisdom.

23 * Be swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answer.

24 If thou hast vnderstanding, answer thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, lest thou bee trapped in an vdiscreete word, and so bee blamed.

25 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man catcheth him to fall.

26 Be not counted a talebearer: & lie not in wait with thy tongue: for shame and repentance follow the thiefe, and an euill condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: but hee that is a backbiter shall be hated, enuied, and coufounded.

27 Doe not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the property of a sinner to be euill tongued. 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

BE not of a friend thy neighbours enemy: for such he shall haue an euill name, shame and reproch, and he shall be in infamy as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Be not proud in the denise of thine own mind, lest thy soule enter thee as a bull.

3 And eat vp thy leaues, & destroy thy fruit, and so thou be left as a drie tree in the wilderness.

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to bee laughed to come of his enemies, and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.

5 A friend multiplieth the friends, and posseth them that bee at variance, and a sweet tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 Hold friendship with many, neuertheless haue but one counsellor of a thousand.

7 If thou gettest a friend, proue him first, and be not hasty to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, and will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enmity, and taketh part against thee, and in contention he will declare thy shame.

10 Again, some friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperity hee will be as thou thy selfe, and will vse liberty ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou bee brought low, he will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and hee that findeth such an one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for anything, and the weight of gold and silver is not to be compared to the goodnes of his faith.

16 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life and immortalitie, and they that feare the Lord, shall find him.

17 Who so feareth the Lorde, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth: for thou shalt find wisdom, which shall indure till thine old age.

19 Go to her as one that ploweth and soweth, and wait for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but little labour in her worke: but thou shalt eate of her fruits right loone.

20 How exceeding sharpe is shee to the valiant: hee that is without iudgment, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one shee is as a fine touchstone, and hee catcheth from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisdom, but there be but few that haue the knowledg of her.

23 For with them that know her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.

24 Giue care my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsaill.

25 And put thy feet into her links, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bow downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not weary of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, and shee shall shew thee, and when thou shalt gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shall be turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, and a sure foundation, and her chaines a glorious raiment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honor, and shalt put her vpon thee as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt bee taught, and if thou wilt apply thy minde, thou shalt bee witty.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue doctine.

Crime, and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt bee wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of Elders which are wife, and ioyne with him that is wise.

36 * Desire to heare all godly talkes, and let not the grane sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou seekest a man of vnderstanding, get thee soon vnto him, and let thy foot weare the steps of his dorres.

38 Let thy minde be vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and be continually occupied in his Commandements: so shall hee establish thine heart, and giue thee wisdom at thine owne desire.

CHAP. VII.

1 Wee must forsake euill, and yet not iustifie our selues. 2 The behauiour of the wise toward his wife, his friend, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.

Doe no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee. Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, sowe not vpon the furrowes of vnrighteousnes, lest that thou reap them seuenfold.

4 Aske not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the king the seat of honour.

5 * Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: for he knoweth thine heart, and boast not thy wisdom in the presence of the king.

6 Seeke not to be made a iudge, lest thou be not able to take away iniquity, and lest thou, fearing the person of the mighty, shouldst commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a city, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 * Binde not two finnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most High God, he will accept it.

10 Bee not faint hearted when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

11 Laugh no man to scorne in the heauiness of his soule: for God which seeth all things, is he that can bring downe, and set vp againe.

12 Sow not a lie against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

13 Vse not to make any manner of lie: for the custome thereof is not good.

14 Make not many words when thou art among the Elders, neither repeat a thing in thy prayer.

15 Hate not laborious worke, neither the husbandry which the most High hath created.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy mind greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouerthy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the gold of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wife and good woman, that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord: for her grace is aboute gold.

20 * Whereas thy seruant worketh truely, in-treat him not euill, nor the hireling that bestoweth himselfe wholly for thee.

21 Let thy soule looe a good seruant, & defraude him not of liberty, neither leaue him a poore man.

22 * If thou haue cattell, looke well to them, and if they be for thy profit, keep them with thee.

23 * If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, and holde their necke from their youth.

24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their body, and shew not thy face cherefull toward them.

25 Marry thy daughter, and so shalt thou per-forme a weighty matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy mind, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to the base fall.

27 * Honor thy father from thy whole heart, and forget not the sorowes of thy mother.

28 Remember that thou wast borne of them, and howe canst thou recompense them the things that they haue done for thee?

29 * Feare the Lord with all thy soule, and honour his ministers.

30 Loue him that made thee, with all thy strength, and forsake not his seruants.

31 * Feare the Lord with all thy soule, and honor the Priests, and giue them their portion, as it is commanded thee, the first fruits, and purifications, and sacrifices for sinne, & the offerings of the shoul-ders, and the sacrifices of sanctification, and the first fruits of the holy things.

32 Stretch thine hand vnto the poore, & thy blessing and reconciliation may be accomplished.

33 Liberality pleaseth all men liuing, and from the dead restraineth it not.

34 * Let not them that weepe, bee without com-fort: but mourne with such as mourne.

35 * Be not slow to visite the sicke: for that shall make thee to be beloued.

36 Whatsoeuer thou takest in hand, remember the end, and thou shalt neuer do amisse.

CHAP. VIII.

Wee must take heed with whom we haue to doe. Strive not with a mighty man, lest thou fall into his hands.

1 * Make not variance with a rich man, lest he on the other side weigh downe thy weight: * for gold and siluer hath destroyed many, and hath subuerted the hearts of kings.

2 Strive not with a man that is full of words, and lay no sticks vpon his fire.

3 Play not with a man that is vntaught, lest thy kindred be dishonored.

4 * Despise not a man that turneth himselfe away from sinne, nor cast him not in the teeth withall, but remember that we are all worthy blame.

5 * Dishonour not a man in his old age: for they were as we which are not old.

6 Be not glad of the death of thine enemy, but remember that wee must die all, and so enter into ioy.

7 * Despise not the exhortation of the elders that bee wise, but acquaint thy selfe with their wise sentences: for of them thou shalt learne wisdom, and the doctrine of vnderstanding, & how to serue great men without complaint.

8 Goe not from the doctrine of the elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers, and of them thou shalt learne vnderstanding, and to make an-swer in the time of need.

9 Kindle not the coals of sinners, when thou rebukest them, lest thou be burnt in the fiery flames of their finnes.

10 Rise not vp against him that doth wrong, that he lay not wait as a spie for thy mouth.

11 * Lend not vnto him that is mightier then thy selfe: for if thou lendest him, count it but lost.

12 Be not surety aboue thy power: for if thou be surety, thinke to pay it.

13 Goe not to law with the Iudge: for they will giue sentence according to his owne honour.

14 * Trauaille not by the way with him that is, & rash

Be not jealous ouer thy wife of thy house, neither teach her by thy means an euill lesson.

fingier, and a dancer, neither heare her, lest thou bee taken by her craftinesse.

C. H. A. P. X.

1 Of kings and iudges. 7 Pride and countensaunce to be abhorred. 10 The wickedness of the wise iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

A Wise iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the Iudge of the people is himselfe, so are his officers, and what manner of man the ruler of the citie is, such are all they that dwell therein.

3 * An vnwise king destroyeth his people, but where they that be in authority are men of vnder-standing, there the citie prospereth.

4 The gouernment of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, and all iniquitie of the nation is to be abhorred, and when times is, hee will set vp a pre-table ruler ouer it.

5 In the hand of God is the prosperitie of man and vpon the Scribes will he lay his honour.

6 * Be not angry for any wrong with thy neighbour, and doe nothing by iniurious practices.

7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both doth one commit iniquity.

8 * Because of variegous dealing and wrongs, the riches gotten by deceit, the kingdome is translated from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worse then a countensaunce: why art thou proud, O earth and alhes? there is not a more wicked thing then to loue money: for such one would euen sell his soule, and for his life eary one is compelled to pull out his owne bowell.

10 All tyranny is of small indurance: and the dyscase that is hard to heale is grievous to the Physician.

11 The Physician cutteth off the fore dyscase, and he that is to dye a king, to morrow is dead.

12 Why is earth and alhes proud, seeing that when a man dieth, he is the heire of serpents, beasts and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the originall of flane, and hee that hath it shall powre out abomination, till at last hee be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the peruasiuous of the wicked to dishonour, and de-stroyeth them in the end.

15 The Lord hath * cast down the thrones of the proud princes, and set vp the meeke in their stead.

16 The Lord plucketh vp the rootes of the proud nations, and planteth the lowly with glory among them.

17 The Lord overthroweth the lands of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: hee causeth them to wither away, and de-stroyeth them, and maketh their memorial to cease out of the earth.

18 God destroyeth the memoriall of the proud, and leaueh the remembrance of the humble.

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a seed of man, which is an honourable seed: the honourable seed is they that feare the Lord: there is a seed of man which is without honour: the seed without honour, are they that transgresse the commandments of the Lord: it is a seed that remaineth, which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant that loue him: but they are a seed without honour, that despise the law, and a detestable seed that break the commandments.

22 The feare of the Lord is such that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by cruelty and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glory as well of the rich and the noble, as of the poor.

24 It is not meete to despise the poore man that hath vnderstanding, neither is it commend to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man, and the iudge, and the man of authority are honourable, yet is there none of them greater then he that feareth the Lord.

26 Vnto the seruant that is wise, shall they that are free doe seruice: * he that hath knowledge, will not grudge when he is reformed, and the ignorant shall not come to honour.

27 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldst do thy worke, neither be ashamed thereof for owpeide in the time of aduersitie.

28 * Better is he that laboureth, and hath plentifulnes of all things, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

29 My soune, get thy selfe praise by meeknesse, and esteeme thy selfe as thou de seruest.

30 Who will count him iust that sinneth against himselfe? or honour him that dishonoureth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge, and his feare, but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 He that is honourable in ponerty, how much more shall he be when he is rich? and he that is vn-honest being rich, how much more will bee bee so when he is in ponerty?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praise of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought we not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 19 All men are not to be brought into some house.

Wisdome lifteth vp the head of him that is low, and maketh him to sit among great men.

2 Commend not a man for his beauty, neither despise a man in his vtter appearance.

3 The Bee is but small among the soules, yet doth her fruit passe in sweetnesse.

4 Be not proud of clothing and raiment, * and exalt not thy selfe in the day of honor: for the works of the Lord are wonderfull and glorious, secret and vnkownen are his works among men.

5 Many tyrants haue sit downe vpon the earth, * and the vnlikely hath worne the crowne.

6 Many mighty men haue been brought to dishonour, and the honourable haue been deliuered into other mens hands.

7 * Blame no man before thou hast enquired the matter: vnderstand first, and then reforme righteously.

8 * Giue no sentence before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the middes of their tales.

9 Strive not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

10 My sonne, meddle not with many matters: * for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not be blamelesse, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape though thou flee from it.

11 There is some man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he hatheth, the more hee wanteth.

12 Again, there is some that is slothfull, and * hath needs of helpe, for he wanteth strength, and hath pouerty: yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his low estate.

13 And he lifteth vp his head: so that many men maraill at him, and giue honour vnto God.

14 * Prosperity and aduersitie, life and death, po. Job 1. 17. uerty and riches come of the Lord. Job 1. 8.

15 Wisdom and knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lord: loue and good workes come of him.

16 Error and darknesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselves in euill, waxe old in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly and his good will giueth prosperity for euer.

18 * Some man is rich by his care and niggardship, and this is the portion of his wages.

19 In that he saith, I haue gotten * rest, & now will I eate continually of my goods, yet hee considereth 19.

not that the time draweth neere, that he must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Scand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Maruell not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and hee maketh his prosperity soone to flourish.

23 * Say not, What profit and pleasure shall I haue, and what good things shall I haue hereafter?

24 Again say not, I haue enough and possesse many things, and what euill can come to mee hereafter?

25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperity.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to rewarde a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans ende his works are discouraged.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shall be known by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, and are like stomacks that belch stinkingly.

30 As a partridge is taken vnder a basket, and the Hind is taken in the snare, so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For hee lieth in wait, and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy praise hee will finde some fault.

32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire, and of one deceitfull man is blood increased: for a sinfull man layeth wait for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for hee imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and hee will destroy thee with vniuersalitie, and driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

2 Vnto whom we ought to doe good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

W hen thou wilt doe good know to whom thou dost it: so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefits.

2 * Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt find great reward, though not of him, yet of the most High.

3 He cannot haue good, that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: for the most High hateth the fixters, sinners, and hath mercy vpon them that repent.

4 Glue vnto such as feare God, and receive not a siner.

5 Do well vnto him that is lowly, but glue not to the vagaboly: hold backe thy bread, and glue it not vnto him, lest he auersome the therby: elsie thou shalt requite twice as much euill for al the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the moue High-hasteth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them againt the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Glue vnto the good, & receive not the siner.

8 A friend cannot be knowne in prosperitie, neither can an enemye be ynknowne in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, he praiseth his enuyous, but in heauynesse and trouble a man's very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust not thy enemy: for like as a byrton rusteth, so doeth his wickednesse.

11 And though hee make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware: of him, and thou shalt see to him as he that wyeth a glass, and then shalt knowe that all his tult hath not been well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thy selfe, lest he destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, lest hee seake thy roume, and thou at the last remember my words, and be pricked with my sayings.

Chap. x. 14 Bind not two sinners together: for there shall not one be vspunished.

15 Who will haue pitioun the charmer that is stung of the serpent, for of all such as come neere the beasts? so is it with him that keepeth company with a wicked man, and wrapeth himselfe in his sinnes.

16 For a lecher will see hide with thee: but if thou stumble, hee will not support thee.

17 An enemy is sweet in his lips: he can vake many good words, and speake many good things: yea, he can wepe with his eyes, but in his heart he smageth how he may throw thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitye, he will not be satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first: & though hee pretend to helpe thee, yett shall hee vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and slap his hand, and will make many words, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. xxiij.

The company of the proud, and of the rich are to be shunned. 1. The loue of God. 17. Like doe company with their like.

Dent. 7. 3. Like is that toucheth like: shall be defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proud, shall be like vnto him.

1 Burthen not thy selfe about thy power, whiles thou liuest, & company not with one that is mightier and richer then thy selfe: for how agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten againt the other, it shall be broken.

2 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, and threatneth with all, but the poore being oppressed, must intercede: if the rich haue done wrong, he must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, hee shall straightwayes be chastened.

3 If thou befor his profit, hee vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, hee will forsake thee.

4 If thou haue anything, hee will liue with thee: yea, hee will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

5 If hee haue need of thee, hee will defraud thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, & giue thee all good words, and say, What wantest thou?

6 Thus will hee shame thee in his heart, vntill hee hath spent these cleues vpon thee, or thirte, and at the last hee will laugh thee, so scotest afterwarde, when hee seeth thee, hee will forsake thee, and thine hee had at thee.

7 Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.

8 Beware that thou bee not deuoted in thine owne conceite, and brought downe by thy simplicity: be not too humble in thy wise dome.

9 If thou be called of a mightie man, absent thy selfe: so shall hee call thee the more oft.

10 Praise not thou vnto him: that thou beeest shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest hee forget thee.

11 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speech, but beleeue not his many words: for with much communication will hee teeme thee, and laughingly will hee gape at thee.

12 He is vaine full, that keepeth no promise: hee will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

13 Beware and take good heede: for thou wilt be in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this awake in thy sleepe.

14 Loue the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

15 Every beaust loneth his like, and euery man loneth his neighbour.

16 All flesh will reuerse to the like: & euery man will keepe company with such as hee is himselfe.

17 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

18 What fellowship hath Hyena with a dog?

19 And what peace is betwene the rich and the poore?

20 As the wilde ass doth the lions pray in the wilderness, so are poore men the meat of the rich.

21 As the proud hate humilitie, so do the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friends set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends desert him away.

23 If a rich man offend, hee hath many helpers: hee speaketh proud words, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, and though hee speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what hee sayeth, they praife it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this? and if hee do amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne in his conscience, & pouerty is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

27 A cheerefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hearding to know the secrets of the thought.
